The Orange and Blue.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY.

VOL. II. LEWISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1897. No. 1.

OPENING ADDRESS.

Delivered by President Harris in Bucknell Hall.

The opening address of the term was delivered Monday morning by President John Howard Harris in Bucknell Hall. The address was another one of those intellectual treats of which we are all so fond. The chapel was crowded and every man and woman listened attentively, for they knew that this was one of the occasions, altogether too few, upon which they have an opportunity to listen to words of truth and wisdom from one whom they hold in the greatest respect and highest reverence.

The Doctor's theme was: "The chief purpose of education." Following is an abstract of his address: "Education is a preparation for life. Now, what is life for? Or, what is the world for? A man who thinks must ask what it all means. Can it be merely a show? No! The purpose of the world is not a display of forms, but of worths; so says Lotze. All our education is for character. Character building is our supreme work. What is the race for? Surely it is no procession. The mechanism of society rests upon character says Herbert Spencer. Education's whole end is morality, is the conclusion of another great educator. All men decide alike, i. e., that morality is the end of all. Nothing can be conceived that can be called unconditionally good except a good will, says Kant; he means here the moral. Morality is the object-end-of the world itself. We must not strive after the means to morality for their sake, but for the end.

In College we are likely to become slaves of a perverting public opinion. We do things not obnoxious to college opinion, but which would be condemned by public opinion outside of the college community. But again, the reputation gained in college is of the greatest importance, for it goes out from college before us.

The acquisition of knowledge is not the end of our work here. Of course, we want to know this world and its history, but that is not the end. Character is what is wanted—manliness is that which is needed. Further, this character must not be negative, it must be positive. Man must do all he can for the enlargement of his fellow men; this is the legal aspect of the subject, but strict morality is the looking after the character itself. It is politic to be good, but goodness can not be gained thro policy. We must say, do and think the truth, even tho it seem to be a policy bringing the very worst results.

Obedience to a law must come from a sense of right, no matter what are the consequences. It is to be a free obedience, neither purchased nor forced. Man must conceive the universe as grounded in a person, and so he must have for a goal a perfect man; he must have Jesus Christ for his goal. The morality of philosophers is cold, but that of Jesus is warm, and has love for a motive.

Having chosen morality as a goal, we must (1) observe the element of self respect—as man's self respect is his salvation. (2) Must reverence the great men of history; we must make the acquaintance of their characters. We can not afford to have our moral characters belittled by association with little souls. (3) To see that which is good in our fellow men. (4) To consort with great, hopeful uplifting thoughts. We will take in the character of our surroundings. If we are with pessimists it is hard to be hopeful. If we are with those of faith, we gain a successful encouragement. Our trend of thought becomes like the habits of thought of our companions. It is a duty to have faith and hope. A man of faith can snatch success away from the jaws of failure. We must have a faith upon which we will risk our all.

The developing of character comes through doing, performing, acting. By conquering and not being conquered. We must master things; we can not afford to be mastered.

In morality there are no vacations. It is ruinous to allow anything to break the continuity of the development of our character."

Improvements at Bucknell.

The most gratifying thing to the students upon their return was the many improvements which greeted them on every hand. Steam heat has been introduced into the college dormitories; the Academy dining room has been renovated and at the Institute "metamorphos" has worked wonders. The hitherto dark and dreary entrance has been made bright and cheerful. The front lobby or foyer has been turned into a dainty reception hall. Large oak doors, veneered, with plate glass, take the place of the old ones. The school room was refurnished and many other improvements have been made. The work was planned by Mr. F. H. Dodge, a prominent New York architect, and a former Bucknell student.

Work on the cinder track was started about ten days before the 'Varsity opened and it is now well under way.

Quite a number of students witnessed the foot ball game at Muncy last Saturday.

ATHLETICS.

The Foot Ball Outlook for the Season of 1897.

Daily the college hill is alive with a crowd of interested spectators who come out in the afternoon to see the athletic practice. The familiar faces of our athletic enthusiasts, Judge McClure, Dr. Gerhart, Professors Rockwood, Hulley, Bartol, and others, scan with critical eyes the playing and, as the strong points of the candidates become evident, comment on the prospects for Bucknell's success this season.

Town and college friends sincerely hope and expect that every man whom we can muster in the battles on the gridiron will have one object in view—victory for the orange and blue. Manager Koch has well outfitted the men, and no one can complain that the team did not make a good start under the energetic coaching of Mr. Jennings and Captain Cober. Mr. Barclay, of Lafayette College, has also been with the team. This week the men went into hard training and began the daily scrimmage in preparation to meet the U. of P. regular eleven on Wednesday.

It is needless to mention more than the names of the candidates. Every man is out to do his duty as a member of the little army. The old 'varsity players in the game this season are Cober, Jennings, Elliot, Catterall, Rowe, Craig, Smith, Reimer and Jenkinson. Among the new men are Thompson, Hoffman, Laug, Dillon, Weymouth, Humeston, Sherwood, Pierson, Garner, Grimm and Conover. It is hoped that several more candidates will present themselves because the success of the 'varsity team depends on the strength of the reserves that daily line up for scrimmage.

The schedule of games shows a series of hard contests with University of Pennsylvania, State College, Lehigh, Franklin and Marshall, Gettysburg, and other college teams.

THE NEW TRACK.

No more agreeable sight met the eyes of our returning track athletes than the extensive preparations and active work commenced on the new quarter mile cinder track around the athletic field. As surveyed by Instructor Stewart and his assistants, the track measures 440 yards. 18 inches, from the pole. "Now," said Professor Bartol who with Registrar Gretzinger has been very active in securing and locating the track, "we ought to send out a relay team equal to the best of them." Some day we may see realized the hopes of enthusiastic field and track athletes who think it would be a great thing to have the Pennsylvania intercollegiate and interscholastic meetings at Bucknell.

U. of P. Game.

To-morrow afternoon at four o'clock the first game of foot ball this season will be played on the college campus with the U. P. 'Varsity. Though we cannot expect by any means to hold them down to a small score, nevertheless let every person come out and aid the players, and give them encouragement. With the new players, who can be chosen from the best material of those trying for the team, to strengthen the line and make an active back, Bucknell should make a good showing on the gridiron this fall. Let each student show his or her appreciation of the hard work of the Mgr., Capt. and Executive Com., and aid the finance committee in keeping down the debt which was lowered with great difficulty last spring, by purchasing a ticket. We can hardly see how any Bucknellite can keep his self-respect and maintain his college honor by encouraging the many dead beats who make a grand stand of the railroad track. As a student body do as State College does, eject these from the campus who do not have a ticket on their coat. As we do not have enclosed athletic grounds, many dollars are lost annually, which makes the burden heavier for all the association friends to bear.

Bible Work for Seniors and Juniors.

Prof. Phillips will teach the Y. M. C. A. Bible class for Seniors and Juniors. The course he has planned is interesting, instructive and helpful. The title is "The Mind of the Master." The text, The Four Gospels. The teachings of Christ will be studied in their chronological order and in their historical connection. In '97-'98, the class will take up, "Our Lord's Early Testimonies Concerning Himself and Principles of the Kingdom of Heaven." The aim of the course will be to grasp clearly the teachings of Christ as stated in the Gospels, to make a practical application of these teachings to the life of each student, to discover and follow Christ's method in applying his teachings to the world. The class will meet at 9 on Monday evenings.

R. T. Wiltbank, Jr., has received a call to the Elimsport and White Deer churches.

Those who desire to become subscribers to the O. & B. for the college year will please call on or address the Business Manager, Rush H. Kress.

It is gratifying to both professors and fellow students to notice that so many of the class of '97 have succeeded in obtaining honorable and profitable positions.

THE ORANGE AND BLUE extends a cordial welcome and a helping hand to the students who have just entered the different departments of the University. We can assure them that there is no occasion for apprehending any serious trouble arising from hazing, midnight depredations, or from any of the other relics of the dark ages, that are perpetrated upon new students at many colleges under the disguise of initiations. The hope of the ORANGE AND BLUE is that no old student will conduct himself towards his new schoolmates as a heathen in the midst of Christianity or like a savage in the midst of civilization, but that he will treat every person he comes in contact with in a manner becoming a gentleman and one now enjoying the benefits of higher education. The pages of Bucknell's history are clear of anything that savors of barbarism and the new arrivals will soon learn that the blood-curdling tales that go out from many colleges are unknown here.

In looking over the new registrations and admissions to all departments of the University, the increase in the number of students is readily noticed. The institution has opened most auspiciously. The number of new students in the college alone is 84. Every dormitory is occupied. Though great strides have been made in the past few years, no better showing in advancement has been set forth than in this year.

In all other departments those who are in charge, are especially pleased with the augmented numbers, also with the appearance and address of our latest friends. We welcome to the corps of our professors Mr. Heim, who is familiar to older students as he held the instructorship in Latin in the academic department a few years ago. In the ladies' Institute, a decided improvement has been made in the front hallway. A more pleasing impression is formed by the lately renovated vestibule. Miss Stanton, the new principal, has shown her ability to take charge of a ladies' Institute. In the curriculum, in all branches, studies have been adopted which will aid in the practical work and broaden the mind; set forth as inducements for a more varied course. The energetic work of our Registrar has been shown especially by the way his time is occupied and by the number of matriculations.

A sufficient number of recitations have already been made to convince us that the Freshman class, as a whole, is composed of students who will not be impeded in their career owing to an imperfect preparation, as there are less conditions in this class than any similar class in the past eight years, and it is hoped that every member of the class of 1901 will prove his or her loyalty to Bucknell by subscribing for the ORANGE AND BLUE.

The College Y. M. C. A.

The work for the opening of the college year has been well planned by the Pres., and different committees of the association last term, but during the summer Mr. Harvey accepted the appointment of College Secretary for the State, and Mr. Dutton was chosen President of the Association to succeed Mr. Harvey here. Mr. Dutton has taken it up and planned for thorough work during the opening days.

Rev. H. B. Rankin, pastor of the Broad St. Baptist Church, of Phila., and a former student of Bucknell, was procured to assist in this work. Also Mr. Harvey returned for a few days to help in the plans which he originated last Spring. Those who assisted in meeting trains, receiving new students, and conducting the bureau of information, did faithful work and made the opening year very pleasant for many of the new students.

Mr. Dutton is an experienced man in this line and has work well organized for the year but the leader can't do all. The association must stand by him in every department. It is the duty of each student, new and old, to join a Bible class for devotional study. The leaders are well prepared for their task and no one can afford to lose such an opportunity.

The annual Saturday night reception was postponed until Saturday night of this week on account of religious services. Every student should be present at the reception in the Gymnasium, for a good social evening. Within a few days the membership committee will call personally and invite all students new and old to join the association and take an active interest in the christian work of the college.

E. P. Gilchrist, '97, is teaching Latin and coaching the foot ball team at the Susquehanna University. "Gil" had a fine record last year on the gridiron.

L. B. Sinnette, '97, is teaching mathematics at the Kutztown Normal School. He succeeds the late Prof. Schuyler, also a former graduate of Bucknell.

An Interesting Lecture on the Negroes.

Dr. James, President of the Roger Williams University at Nashville, Tenn., delivered a very instructive and entertaining lecture before the students in Bucknell Hall, Saturday morning. He is thoroughly conversant with the negro question, having spent many years in the black districts of the South. He said in substance that the solution of this problem is the amalgamation of the negro with Americans, free communion of races at the polls and intermingling in industries. He claimed there was no need of mixture in social life.

In conclusion he said that the negro must be elevated, and this can only be done by education.

Dr. Aviragnet's Two Courses,

Dr. Aviragnet has arranged to deliver a regular course of lectures on scientific music, to be given every Saturday in Bucknell Hall, at 9:15 a. m. In this will be explained all the notations from the Greek to the present time, including the vibrations of each note of the scale and a complete course of scientific harmony.

A course in Colloquial French will be given in the Laboratory every day from 2.15 to 3.00 p. m. Both courses have been approved by President Harris and take their place among the regular college courses. Both will continue during the regular college year.

An Interesting Lecture on the Negroes.

Dr. James, President of the Roger Williams University at Nashville, Tenn., delivered a very instructive and entertaining lecture before the students in Bucknell Hall, Saturday morning. He is thoroughly conversant with the negro question, having spent many years in the black districts of the South. He said in substance that the solution of this problem is the amalgamation of the negro with Americans, free communion of races at the polls and intermingling in industries. He claimed there was no need of mixture in social life.

In conclusion he said that the negro must be elevated, and this can only be done by education.

Dr. Aviragnet's Two Courses,

Dr. Aviragnet has arranged to deliver a regular course of lectures on scientific music, to be given every Saturday in Bucknell Hall, at 9:15 a. m. In this will be explained all the notations from the Greek to the present time, including the vibrations of each note of the scale and a complete course of scientific harmony.

A course in Colloquial French will be given in the Laboratory every day from 2.15 to 3.00 p. m. Both courses have been approved by President Harris and take their place among the regular college courses. Both will continue during the regular college year.

U. OF P. FOOT BALL GAME

Bucknell Holds Down the Philadelphia Boys.

The Season Opened with Good Playing —Many Spectators on the Grounds —The Score 17 to 0.

The first foot ball game of the season was played last Wednesday afternoon between B. U. and the U. of P. team, on the Bucknell campus. The contest was witnessed by a large number of people. A full account of the game follows:

The game started at 4:11 o'clock with Bucknell defending the west goal. Morice kicked off for Pennsylvania and Catterall caught the ball on the twenty-yard line. Bucknell was forced to punt on the third down, Riemer falling on the ball out of bounds. Again Bucknell could not gain, the ball was fumbled in the attempt to punt; Hedges, getting inside the five yard line, carried the pig skin over for the first touchdown, two minutes and a half after playing had commenced. Overfield punted out to Morice and Minds secured an easy goal. Score 6–0.

Cober kicked off for Bucknell and Morice returned the kick, Pennsylvania getting the ball on Bucknell's failure to catch. After a few rushes, the red and blue stood directly in front of the goal where captain Minds made a pretty drop kick and secured a goal from the field. Score 11–0.

Cober kicked off, Jackson returning the ball. Hoffman gained five yards with poor interference. Bucknell was forced to punt. Minds caught the ball and was thrown without gain. Penn not advancing five yards, Minds again punted to Catterall, who failed to pick up the ball. Boyle was on hand to get the pig skin and carry it over for the second touchdown. Minds kicked the goal. Score 17–0.

Ten minutes of play had not passed and Bucknell's friends were getting discouraged when captain Cober kicked off. Catterall caught the return punt but was downed without gain until the last down when Catterall punted and Pennsylvania was stopped with no advance. Bucknell regained the ball on Penn's fumble. Bucknell's backs were thrown for a loss and Catterall punted. The punt was returned by Minds to Penn's advantage. Bucknell could not gain five yards and punted to Jackson who was thrown by Jenkinson after making a short gain. Penn fumbled and Bucknell fell on the ball, but was forced to punt. Weeks caught the ball and was thrown hard. Penn could not gain so. Minds punted out of

BUCKNELL HONORED.

Harvey, '99, Appointed College Secretary of Penna. State Y. M. C. A.

At the close of the last College year Hugh McA. Beaver, the beloved College Secretary of Pa., resigned his office to take up Y. M. C. A. work among the students of N. Y. City. His successor had not yet been decided upon at the time of his lamented death some weeks later.

The decision was finally made in favor of Chas. W. Harvey, of Bucknell, class of '99, who has accepted the position for one year with a view of returning at the end of that period and completing his course. His duties are mainly the supervision and extension of Christian work in the schools of higher learning throughout the State.

Mr. Harvey has been a constant and thorough Bible student from the time of his conversion, and this fact, together with his active Christian work in College and among young men under Y. M. C. A. auspices, gives him a peculiar fitness for the responsible work in which he is now engaged.

Dr. Aviragnet's Lectures.

Dr. Aviragnet's lectures on the "Science of Music" will begin next Saturday morning. These lectures are to be given weekly at 9:30 in Bucknell Hall. No student who aspires to that breadth of culture which characterizes the well rounded man of to-day can afford to miss these lectures. Dr. Aviragnet is a musician of marked ability, and has spent a great effort in the preparation of these lectures, even sending to Paris for documents of reference. Such a course of lectures as the Dr. intends giving would cost a great deal if taken anywhere else, but here they are absolutely free. Furthermore, and this may be an inducement, these lectures, if taken for a whole year, will count as a half study for the degree of Master of Arts. Let us show our appreciation of the Doctor's kindness by giving him a large audience each week.

Bucknell Talent Appreciated.

On Friday last the school taught by Prof. I. A. DeWitt closed after a very successful term of eight weeks. Seventeen scholars were enrolled and they all speak very highly of Mr. DeWitt as a progressive and enterprising teacher, and they say that the term has been one of advancement that will not be forgotten. Mr. DeWitt left last Wednesday for Bucknell University.—Boyle's Run correspondent in the Northumberland County Democrat.

Y. M. C. A. RECEPTION.

The Christian Workers Welcome New Students.

The Tustin Gymnasium Turned into a Reception Room.—Dr. Hulley's European Trip.

The annual reception of the Young Men's Christian Association of the college to the new students was held last Friday evening in Tustin gymnasium. The attendance was good. An excellent program had been prepared for the occasion, the first number of which was a cornet solo by Mr. Weymouth who was heartily encored. After a few introductory remarks by President Dutton the meeting was turned over to Prof. Hulley. In a few well-chosen words he announced a mandolin solo by Mr. Schilling, who was also encored.

The Doctor then proceeded to give an account of the trip to the continent which he and Mrs. Hulley made during the past summer. Beginning with his departure from New York, he described the voyage across the ocean, their arrival in England, the various places they visited there, their trip through France, Switzerland and Germany and finally return home. Although his address was of considerable length yet he only spoke of but few of the places which they visited. He held the perfect attention of his audience during his entire speech. Refreshments were then served. After the various college and class yells had been given, all departed well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

A Gift to the Ladies Institute.

Robert Lowery, D. D., class of '54, has presented to the University, for use in the chapel of the Ladies' Institute, fifty copies of the Gospel Hymn and Tune Book. It will be recalled that about five years ago Dr. Lowery presented a sufficient number of the above books for use in Bucknell Hall. The University desires to extend its thanks through the ORANGE AND BLUE to Dr. Lowry for his generous gift.

The Canvass Wall Discussed.

At the meeting of the Finance Committee of the Athletic Association the matter of putting up a canvass wall on the railroad side of the athletic field, was fully discussed. Action was deferred awaiting the scheduling of more foot-ball games at Lewisburg.

On account of sickness Prof. Freeman Loomis has been unable to resume his duties at Bucknell. At present he is at Allentown.

WILLIAMSPORT VS. BUCKNELL.

The High School Boys No Match For the 'Varsity Team.

Saturday afternoon the Williamsport High School boys who have been anxious to meet our College team, came down and in thirty minutes got enough experience in College foot-ball to last during this season. The orange and blue had an easy time scoring touch downs, but no one seemed able to kick a goal. The game was called at three o'clock by Coach Orbison, when a small crowd of spectators had assembled. Bucknell had the west goal and High School kicked off. Garner caught the ball and advanced it ten yards. Then Bucknell started in deliberately and systematically to walk over the visitors. First, Lang would be sent around the end for an eight or ten yard gain, then Hoffman would dash around the other end for a ten or twenty yard advance, and Catterall followed with an equal gain over the centre of the line. Bucknell was slow in starting plays and it was three minutes when Lang tried for a goal from the field inside the 25 yard line and failed. High School didn't get the ball until Riemer had fallen on it and scored the first touch-down. At intervals of three minutes thereafter, Bucknell men went over the line for touch-downs in the order named, Hoffman, Lang, Smith who was substituted for Lang when the big half-back broke his shoe, Smith again, and Catterall. Lang and Cober had succeeded in kicking a good goal each, making the score at the end of the twenty minute half, 28–0.

After ten minutes' play in the second half, the High School boys were quite willing to have Mr. Lesher call time on the game with the score 45–0. Jenkinson had scored a touchdown by picking up the ball when Weymouth blocked an attempted punt. Artie Smith went over the line after a twenty yard run, and Thompson fell on the ball behind the goal line when High School lost the ball. Elliot made the star play of the game by kicking a goal from the twenty yard line. No goals were kicked and the score ended, 45 to 0. In the last half Weymouth did some fine tackling. Rowe punted with good effect, and Hoffman had little difficulty advancing the ball. The line-up follows:

Bucknell 45.		High School 0.
Hunneston	Centre	Watson
Cober	Right guard	Fiemling
Craig	Left guard	Leidy
Thompson	Right tackle	Bell
Rowe	Left tackle	Worrall
Jenkinson	Right end	Harmon
Garner	Quarter back	Bailey
Lang, (Smith)	Right half back	Rissle
Catterall, (Elliot)	Full back	Hoagland

Academy Notes.

William Woodyear and William Gray have been pledged to Phi Kappa Psi.

A. N. Harmon, who attended the Academy two years ago, has returned to complete his course.

Wm. Devitt, Academy, '97, is spending a few days with the boys prior to leaving for Medical college.

The Cad boys listended to a very interesting address by Rev. Mr. Rankin, of Phila., on Friday evening.

All Academy students welcome the return of J. M. McCracken, who very successfully taught at the Normal at Kerrmoor, Pa.

C. H. Senn, formerly of the Academy, is circulating among his old friends here. Senn will attend Medical college in Phila. this year.

Institute Items.

Old students are glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds back to the Institute after an absence of two years.

The school year at the Institute has opened with very favorable prospects. A great increase in the number of pupils residing in the Institute is noted over last year.

Evening chapel and a change in the dinner hour from 12:30 to 6, are among the changes at the Institute; also much closer restrictions about leaving the grounds than formerly.

We are very sorry to note the absence of Miss Eddlemann on account of the death of her sister, a former student of the University. Miss Eddlemann expects to return early this week.

Miss Hanna, '97, who takes the place of Miss Armitage, is the only new teacher among the Institute faculty except, of course, Miss Stanton, the new principal, who is also a gradnate of Bucknell.

The usual Y. W. C. A. reception was much enjoyed and resulted in many new acquaintances and friends being made among the girls. These receptions are always held by the different Christian associations of Bucknell on the first Saturday evening of the school year.

Music School Notes.

Miss Crawford spent the summer with her sister in Syracuse, N. Y.

Miss Pretzman was engaged in teaching at Millersville, Pa., during the summer.

Dr. Aviragnet taught French during the Chautauqua season at Mt. Gretna, Pa.

Dr. Aviragnet and his assistants begin work with a very large music class.

Miss Elizabeth Walker, class of '96, is organist of the Parkhurst Memorial Church, of Elkland, Pa.

Miss Aikin and Mr. J. Brown Martin participated largely in the music at Mt. Gretna during July.

Miss Eleanor Potter and Mr. J. Brown Martin, class of '97, are teaching at Perkiomen Seminary this year.

To the Classes of the College.

Those in charge of this paper will consider it a great favor if the classes will elect their representatives as soon as possible. The aim of each class should be to secure the best possible material, in compliance with section three of the constitution, subject "Directors," which says:

Representation in the "Board of Directors" shall be as follows: One "director" shall be chosen from and by each General Greek Letter Fraternity having an active, chartered chapter at Bucknell; two "directors" shall be chosen from and by the Senior class of the college; two "directors" shall be chosen from and by the Junior class of the college; one "director shall be chosen by the Sophomore class of the college; one director shall be chosen by the Freshmen class of the college. No member of a General Greek Letter Fraternity having an active, chartered chapter at Bucknell shall represent his class in the "Board of Directors."

Article V, section I, says: "Directors" shall be chosen by the classes in the second week of the first term.

We hereby notify the different classes to elect their representatives, as THE ORANGE AND BLUE is the paper of the student body. Select your best men as directors.

Congratulations are pouring in upon George Jennings and Captain Cober for the excellent stand made by the foot ball team against the regular University of Pennsylvania eleven on the athletic field last Wednesday afternoon. The weak points apparent on the part of Bucknell were due to lack of practice rather than a want of ability. The result can be better appreciated that Bucknell with three days practice and two line ups against a weak scrub team—ten hours in all—was able to hold down the famous University eleven under twenty points. No one was more surprised than coach Woodruff and his men who have been working at Eagles Mere since Sept. 8. The game was a good one for the opening of the season notwithstanding the fact that the play was slow and fumbling frequent. As a team, Bucknell's tackling was low and sure, both ends did phenomenal work, and Captain Cober and Jennings had little trouble in breaking through the line. Lang did good work bucking the line and Hoffman was quick with the ball, but miserable interference and poor handling lost all that could be gained by individual strength.

For Pennsylvania the speed and energy of Morice and Boyle, assisted by the fine punting and line rushing of Captain Minds, assured them of success. The tackling of the visitors was very poor and line work and interference quite loose. They earned the five points of Captain Minds' pretty goal from the field, but the two touchdowns came through miserable fumbles of the ball when Minds punted to Bucknell's backs.

The Athletic Association Remembered.

Mr. W. D. Himmelreich, who has been always a staunch supporter of athletics at Bucknell, has again indicated his interest by a generous subscription to the foot fall team of 1897. These substantial gifts from time to time by Mr. Himmelreich are greatly appreciated, and the Finance Committee wishes to publicly thank him through the ORANGE AND BLUE for the encouragement thus given to the gridiron sport of Bucknell.

U. OF P. FOOT BALL GAME.

bounds where Bucknell secured the ball. Lang gained three and half yards, but the ball was soon lost to Penn on downs. Elliot made a fine tackle and Penn lost two yards. Weeks fumbled, but the University kept the ball. Penn could not gain and lost the ball on a fumble. Hoffman gained two yards. Catterall fumbled and lost the ball to Penn. Morice gained five yards, but Jackson fumbled. University still held the ball, but Elliot soon obtained it on a fumble. Catterall had to punt. Morice gained two yards and Jackson was thrown by Jennings for a loss of ten yards. Morice punted as time was called at the end of twenty minutes of playing. Score 17–0.

Bucknell's eleven retired to the gymnasium and the visitors to the upper end of the gridiron where coach Woodruff and captain Minds spoke to the men.

The wearers of the orange and blue returned to the field determined to keep the visitors from increasing the score. Captain Cober kicked off and Penn did not gain on the catch. Outland advanced the ball three yards and Hoffman made a sure tackle. Pennsylvania was forced to punt. Lang gained two yards. Bucknell fumbled and Penn secured the ball, but soon punted out of bounds where Bucknell got the ball. Hoffman gained three yards, and Lang three through the line. Catterall punted to Minds. Riemer tackled the big full back and had his face painfully cut on the gravel, but would not leave the game. Jackson ran with the ball and had his jersey torn off so Walker took his place at half-back. Garner was substituted for Elliot at quarter and Humeston for Craig at left guard. Morice made some big gains and Minds tore through the line like a whirlwind but tackled by Jennings and Cober forced Penn to punt. Bucknell could not gain and punted. The Pennsylvania guard play then worked effectively until the red and blue carried the ball by five yard gains into Bucknell's part of the field. Garner made a good tackle just before time was called. Pennsylvania did not score during the fifteen minutes of the second half so the game ended 17–0 in their favor.

The lineup and score follow:

Univ. of Pa. 17.		Bucknell 0.
Greenfield	Centre	Jennings
McCracken	Right guard	Cober (Capt.)
Hare	Left guard	Craig

PERSONAL POINTS.

What the Members of '97 are Doing. Other Short Notes.

Mr. Shelling, 1900, has been initiated into the Kappa Sigma Fraternity.

Vincent B. Fisk, '97, is teaching Latin in Keystone Academy, Factoryville, Pa.

Will Montgomery, Ex. of State College, visited his fraternity brothers at College last week.

Dr. J. S. James, '68, until recently editor of the Commonwealth, a Baptist church paper, published in Phila, has accepted a call to the First Baptist church of Altoona.

Messrs. Ritter, Gilpin, Baker, Katherman, VanGundy, Fetzer and Johnson, Bucknell's soldier boys, on Saturday returned from Hazleton, to which place they had accompanied Co. A. of town.

A foot-ball petition is being circulated among the college and academy students by Captain Cober and Manager Koch. Every student should subscribe something toward the expense of maintaining a team. A similar petition is being circulated in town.

Mr. Frederick O. Schub, Professor of Greek and Athletics at Bethel College, Russelville, Ky., was married to Miss Clara Losher, of Madisonville, Ohio, last month. Schub was a famous foot ball player of Bucknell and many of the alumni will remember him.

On Friday we will probably have no school, owing to the Union County fair, which is now in progress. It is no more than fair that the faculty should give us a fair chance to take in the fair and to mingle with the county's fair ones and if the weather is fair we will have a fair time.

Announcements of the marriage of Genevieve Morgan, of Nanticoke, to Mr. Wm. A. Wilkinson, Phila., has been received by a number of students and town people. They will be at home to their friends after November 25, at Westmont, N. J. Both were formerly students of Bucknell, Miss Morgan being a Beta Delta Pi, and Mr. Wilkinson a Phi Kappa Psi.

The New Rule Concerning Deficiencies.

We are glad to announce that the faculty have taken action relative to deficiencies in College work. The most beneficial feature of the new regulation is the clause relative to athletics. The great cry against College athletes has been that they do not perform their College duties. This we believe to be less true at Bucknell than elsewhere.

The rule follows:—

No student who is deficient in rhetorical or class-room work in any term shall be eligible to the office of manager or director in any student organization; or to be a member of any exhibiting organization, or of any contesting athletic team, or of any publishing or editing board during any subsequent term until such deficiency is made up.

Reception at the President's House.

On Thursday evening of last week President and Mrs. Harris were "at home" to friends from "town and gown." The affair was voted the most enjoyable and pleasant of the many held at the University "White House."

The following guests were present:

Hon. J. C. Bucher and wife, Hon. H. M. McClure and wife, D. B. Miller and wife, Dr. Henry Gerhart and wife, Dr. Groff and wife, Mrs. Shockley, Mrs. Leroy Stephens, Mrs. Eigelberner, Mrs. Guthrie, Mrs. Seiler, Mrs. Roos, Misses Stanton, Bell, Wheeler, Hanna, Miller, Pretzman, Aikin, Emma Lawshe, Baldwin, Schnure, Duncan, Belle Wilson, Horlin, Bartol, Darlington, Sprague, and Wolfe; Prof. Reimer, Prof. Kauffman, Prof. Phillips, Dr. Perrine, Hon. B. K. Focht, Prof. Hein, F. W. Robbins, R. A. Lawshe, Dr. Bartol and wife, Prof. Rockwood and wife, Prof. Owens and wife, Prof. Martin and wife, Prof. Edwards and wife, Registrar Gretzinger and wife, Prof. Hamlin and wife, Capt. Owens and wife, Christian VanGundy and wife, F. E. Bower and wife, A. A. Leiser and wife, Dr. Leiser and wife, Rev. J. T. Judd and wife, Dr. DeVore, Rev. A. B. Collins and wife, Rev. I. H. McGann and wife, H. G. Dreisbach and wife, C. J. Wolfe and wife, F. O. Whitman and wife, Dr. Wilson and wife, Dr. W. L. Gerhart and wife, John Sprague and wife, A. Bubb and wife, J. F. Duncan and wife, Dr. Thornton and wife, Mrs. A. M. Black, Mrs. M. E. Wolfe, Mrs. Havens and Mrs. Darlington.

Informal Dance.

An informal dance was given in honor of the U. of P. foot ball team Wednesday evening, eleven of the team accepted the invitation and thoroughly enjoyed themselves. They left at 12 o'clock in order to catch the midnight train to Phila. Among those from the college who attended were Messrs. J. V. Lesher, James, Stanton, Kress, M. Mulford, Garner, Saussen, Leiser, Grant, Rambold, and McQuiston.

Academy Notes.

Walter Senn, who played right guard for the High School on Saturday, expects to attend Bucknell in the near future.

A number of the boys are out for foot ball practice every evening and from the prospects the Cad will be able to present a strong eleven.

The reception given on Saturday evening by the Y. M. C. A. was a decided success. All present enjoyed themselves and did ample justice to the hospitable refreshments served, after which the boys were addressed by Pastors Judd, McGann and Prof. Edwards.

The Hermenia literary society accepted an invitation to meet with the Adelphian society on Friday evening. It was decided at this meeting, to dispense with the former custom of having two societies. Therefore all the boys are requested to be present next Friday evening, at which time the society will be organized and a committee appointed to decide upon a name.

From the number of Academy students who watched the two foot ball games of last week, and forgot (?) to pay, we might infer that those who could not afford to purchase a ticket came to school busted. Please dont work the dead-head racket so early in the term.

Music School Notes.

Preparations for the first monthly musical are already begun.

The class in Musical History will use Fillmore's text book this year.

There are three Harmony classes of different grades this year, taught by Dr. Aviragnet, Miss Aikn, and Miss Crawford respectively.

Dr. Aviragnet invites all the young men of the college who are singers and are interested in organizing a glee club, to meet him next Saturday morning in Bucknell Hall, between 10:30 and 11:30, after the lecture on scientific music.

Mr. Orbison, a graduate of the Uni. of Penn., has been secured to assist in coaching the foot ball team.

ELOCUTION AND ORATORY.

The Rhetorical Work of the Freshmen and Sophomore Classes.

FRESHMEN.

First Term.—Vocal Training. Exercises in breathing and selection for the development of the voice.

Second Term.—Vocal Training, Articulation and Description. The work in the development of the voice will be continued with exercises in Phonology.

Third Term.—Description and Gesture. Selections in Description will be delivered and Pantomimic Expression begun.

SOPHOMORES.

First Term.—Narration and Pantomimic Expression. Selection in Narration will be studied and delivered.

Second Term.—Argumentation and Narration. The principle of the delivery of argumentative discourse will be studied.

Third Term.—Argumentation. Each student will be required to debate at least twice.

Each class will be divided into eight divisions and each division will recite one-half hour each week. The Freshmen will begin Tuesday, Sept. 28, at 9:15; the Sophomores, Tuesday, Oct. 5th, at 10:15.

The Sophomores will begin this term with Description. The Professor of Rhetoric also suggests that the Essays follow the style of the selections for Elocution.

The following prizes will be open for competition to the Sophomore and Freshman classes: A prize, open to the young men of the Freshman class, for excellence in the delivery of an assigned selection in description; a prize, open to the young men of the Sophomore class, for excellence in the delivery of an assigned selection in Argumentation; a prize, open to the young women of the Sophomore class, for excellence in the delivery of an assigned selection in Narration. The selection will be announced about the opening of the Spring term.

Several college classses held meetings on Saturday forenoon and elected class officers. The officers of the college clases will be mentioned in the next issue.

RED AND BLUE WON.

Pennsylvania Scores 33 to 0 Against Our Eleven Saturday.

Jennings, Hoffman, and Lang Carry Off the Honors for Bucknell.—Capt. Cober Not in the Game.

The foot-ball team and a number of friends—twenty-four in all—started for Philadelphia Friday afternoon where Bucknell played the return game with Univ. of Pa. on Franklin Field, Saturday. Penn was stronger and Bucknell weaker than two weeks ago; so the Red and Blue played a snappy and fast game, scoring 33 points. Bucknell came nearer to scoring than in the other game, by forcing Pennsylvania to make a touchback, while the Orange and Blue played a better aggressive and weaker defensive game. The injury to Rowe and the absence of Captain Cober because of injuries, made the line visibly weaker. Geo. Jennings filled the position of captain for the day with great success. Coach Orbison and Captain Cober acted as officials.

In reporting the game, the Sunday Press said:

"The Red and Blue's play was by long odds the best they have shown this season. On the aggressive, it was better than last year but the defense was not so strong, the Bucknell lads frequently going through the tackles and skirting Dickson's end for good gains. The Lewisburg men are almost as heavy as those of the 'Varsity, and they tackled like fiends, but Penn had little trouble in shoving her guards back formation through the centre and tackle for steady gains of from five to fifteen yards.

"Hoffman and Lang, two Philadelphia boys, were the half backs for Bucknell, and they carried off the honors for the visitors both in advancing and in their clean, hard tackling. Jennings, the big centre on the Lewisburg team, was also very much in evidence, opening up holes in the Red and Blue line and breaking up Penn's centre plays.

"Penn made 12 points in the first half and 21 in the second. Jackson put up a star game for the Quakers, and Morice's work at half back was of the most brilliant order. He also kicked a beautiful field goal from the 35 yard line."

Our Coaches this Season

All are pleased with the advance foot ball has taken this year, as is manifested by the crowd which each evening gathers on the hill-side to cheer and encourage the players.

George Jennings, who has been our invincible centre for four years, is getting the line of heavy weights in excellent shape. Each man is taught just how to play his position, so our line is of the "stone wall" kind. The backs are being coached by "Tommy" Orbison, now a medical student at the Univ. of Penn. For three years Coach Orbison has played half-back and end on the Penn. team. He has roomed with ex-captains Warden and Williams, and is a personal friend of Woodruff, the famous coach, which shows that he is fully acquainted with the plays new and old. As a medical student he also takes the best care of the men at the training table as well as after hard play. His gentlemanly bearing on the field has gained for him the respect of both players and spectators.

C. E. Reception.

A large number of young people attended the Christian Endeavor reception in the Sunday School room of the Baptist church, Saturday evening. The first part of the evening was spent in making new acquaintances and in renewing old ones, and in guessing the famous characters represented by twenty-five young men and ladies. During refreshments the Sophomore guitar and mandolin club, Messrs. Schilling, Kress and Sherwood, discoursed sweet music. The judges reported that the prize cake would be awarded to John Loomis Tyler, of the Academy, who had named each character correctly. At ten o'clock the boys and girls started home all having enjoyed a very pleasant evening.

Girls at Basket Ball.

The College and Institute girls have begun practice in basket ball. No teams have been organized, but the prospects are bright. The young ladies should be allowed daily practice in the gymnasium during the fall term while the boys do not use the building, and in the winter term, every other evening could be alloted to the girls since the electric lights are in use. A series of two or three games would afford the girls great pleasure and aid the athletic association financially. No doubt Bucknell could organize a girl's basket ball team which would easily defeat Vassar or Wellesley.

A list of new books in the college library will be printed next week.

AN ENTIRE HOLIDAY.

The Faculty Grants a Vacation for One Day.

Many Students Attend the Union Co. Fair.—The University Band One of the Attractions.

In accordance with an unwritten law of the institution, the faculty last Friday kindly gave every student a chance to attend the Union County fair by granting them a holiday. That the boys appreciated the generosity of the faculty was manifested by the loud applause when the announcement was made after chapel exercises. A large percentage of students anxiously embraced the opportunity to enjoy a short cessation of studies and attended the fair

The majority of the boys guarded themselves against any possible "flunks" for Saturday morning, by devoting half of the day, the forenoon, to their studies.

The fair management, realizing that the students would attend, made it a Bucknell day by engaging the University band. It may not be impertinent, to remark here that the band is rapidly extending its reputation and many complimentary remarks were heard at the fair concerning the classical music it rendered. Our musical organization was the best part of the fair, except pretty country maidens, the other attractions—fakirs, and prize cattle being relegated to the rear. A few of the boys "plunged" in the horse races to their later sorrow and increased wisdom. No one seemed to care for the agricultural exhibits except the professors.

The State Game.

It has not been fully decided where the State-Bucknell game will be played. The manager not wishing to buy the Williamsport athletic field, has been compelled to think of other places. We are glad to say that the chances are plenty. Shamokin and Harrisburg are both very anxious for the game. At either one of these cities a large crowd could be secured, and no doubt a larger one than at Williamsport. Mgr. Koch will certainly not play in Williamsport unless the management of those grounds reduces the amount asked for rent. Harrisburg is a little too far away; B. U. has played there before and always had a good crowd. Shamokin is the next best place, and would likely treat the teams well.

Subscribe for THE ORANGE AND BLUE and get your friends to take a copy. We want five hundred subscribers before the Christmas vacation.

The Bucknell Reserves.

We cannot give too much praise to the Reserves' foot ball team, for the young fellows, the majority of whom are out for the first time, are putting up a plucky game. Under the coaching of Mr. Kauffman of the Academy faculty and captain of the college eleven in '94, and Mr. Thomas, '98, formerly half-back on the 'Varsity, the "scrub" is rapidly developing into a team strong enough to give the 'Varsity men hard practice. It is to be hoped that the athletic committee will secure some games for the Reserves so as to keep the youngsters in line. Another idea suggested by Prof. Bartol after Cober and Rowe were injured last week, is that the heavy men of the Reserves be used in the scrimmage practice on the first team more frequently so as to save the 'Varsity men who are suffering from injuries old or new, especially just before a hard game. The men who were doing good work on the Reserves last week are: Shortell, Ward, Pierson, Christy, Wassell, Krise and McCracken.

A Jolly Crowd Were We.

Any of our readers who think college students do not enjoy themselves when traveling should have been on the Penn'a train that brought nine or ten students from the northwestern corner of the state. The persons in the party were all college students, among the ladies being Misses Jessie and Mabel Wheeler, of Erie, Edith Lamars, of Titusville, Alicia Zierden, of Johnsonburg, Maud E. Hanna and Genevieve White, of Bradford, accompanied by Roy Mulkie and Frank Dillon, of Union City, Harlan Trax, of Oil City, Charles Pearse, of Kane, and M. K. Fowler, of Olean, N. Y. A stop of two hours at Emporium Junction afforded opportunity for a picnic in the grove near by, and from that point Bucknell and college songs kept the other passengers informed as to the destination of the party. This is only one instance of the happy time college students have when they meet to travel to or from their dear old college.

We Make Our Bow.

The new staff greets the many readers of THE ORANGE AND BLUE with a realization of the duties before us during our three months' journey on the tempestuous sea of journalism. To give Bucknell a strictly up-to-date college paper will require all our energy and activity but, kind friends, we wish to say that this is not our paper. THE ORANGE AND BLUE belongs to you as students and friends of Bucknell; so in fulfilling our plan, not only of recording news but also of anticipating important events, we request all to assist us by your contributions. The regular staff will be assisted by Miss Aiken in the School of Music, Miss Sharpless, Institute, and Mr. Anthony, Academy correspondence.

The ORANGE AND BLUE is very glad to chronicle the fact that work on the new cinder track is still progressing. How long the work will continue will depend largely upon the amount of money that can be raised. The Registrar, who is treasurer of the track fund, states that he has been directed by the Committee on Property to continue work until the funds in hand are exhausted. He hopes, however, to raise sufficient means to complete what work is necessary to be done this fall, and then raise the money later to put the topping on when spring opens up, in order that the track may be ready early in April. It is hoped that all who have subscribed will make payment at once and that those who are solicited to contribute toward the track fund will do so willingly and promptly.

The literary societies re-organized on Friday evening very auspiciously. It was apparent that the students realize the fact that the society halls add something to a college course which cannot be obtained in a class room nor acquired on the athletic field. It is true that not every person is a Webster in embryo or a prospective Burke waiting only for training to develop him into an effective speaker or a profound thinker; but it is also equally true, that by taking an active part in the literary exercises, every one can at least improve in conversational tact and oratorical ability—talents which are as valuable as they are rare. The student who goes through college without taking advantage of the literary training which the institution affords, will ultimately pay the penalty for his dereliction in the way of being unable to communicate his thoughts intelligently to others whenever an occasion arises that makes such a faculty not merely a drawing-room accomplishment but an indispensable business qualification. Among the various means used for mental training, the literary society, whether formed for the discussion of matters political, social, or educational, holds a pre-eminent place and it is hoped that the enthusiasm displayed on the evening in question will not lag throughout the entire year but that every subsequent meeting will be attended with increased interest and augmented zeal. Bucknell can well feel proud of her oratorical attainments as manifested in the various inter-collegiate contests, and there is no reason why she should not maintain her proud position and add more jewels to her crown of achievements.

Dr. Owen M. Shreve, '84, and wife, of London, England, were the guests of M. W. Shreve, Esq., '84, his brother, at Union City, Pa., this summer. The genial doctor is general manager of the business of the Pierce Medical Co., Buffalo, N. Y., in the British Isles, while his brother has a growing law practice and was recently assistant district attorney of Erie county. The Shreve boys, as they are known among the alumni, were strong fraternity men while in college, Owen being a member of Sigma Chi, and M. W. being one of the men who instituted the local chapter of Phi Gamma Delta.

John M. Wilson, '97, of Franklin, Pa., was enjoying the athletic practice on the campus one afternoon recently. He expects to enter the Senior class at Harvard this fall and get the A. B. degree there next June.

James Bryce, M. P., author of the American Commonwealth, visited the University of Pennsylvania while in Philadelphia last week.

Miss Mary Harris and Miss Mary Wolfe left last Wednesday noon for the University of Chicago and the University of Michigan, respectively.

H. C. Simons, of the Sophomore class, took a good photo of the Williamsport High School foot ball team which visited Lewisburg recently.

Miss Mary Bartol, who has been honored with the Bennett Fellowship of the School of Philosophy of the U. of P., left for that institution last Thursday.

Mr. J. S. Alberts, manager of the State College foot ball team, was in town recently to see manager Koch and other parties interested in Bucknell's athletics.

Harvey Marsh, ex-'96, has been visiting friends in Lewisburg for a few days. Harvey expects to graduate from the dental department of the University of Pennsylvania in June.

Frank B. Miller, '96, of Lewisburg, has accepted a position in the chemical department of the Phoenix Bridge Co. He was awarded the Hollopeter prize for the best college work in chemistry.

Dr. Enoch Perrine, of Bucknell University, is scheduled to lecture before the Sesame Club, of Newark, on December 21. His subject will be "The Influence of the French Revolution on Robert Burns."—Hightstown, N. J., Gazette.

County Superintendent G. T. Cooper visited Bucknell University last week and was admitted to the philosophical course. It is Prof. Cooper's intention to pursue a course of study under the direction of that institution, giving special attention to work in the languages, so that he may keep abreast of the times and be still better prepared for work in the educational field.—Lewistown Sentinel.

Dr. Aviragnet will meet the young men this afternoon at five o'clock to try their voices for the glee club. Two clubs of eight members each will be organized.

The announcement of the marriage of Frederick Otto Schub '94, to Miss Clara Adelia Lasher, at the home of the bride, Peabody Ave., Madisonville, Ohio, on August 26, has reached Bucknell friends. Since Sept. 10 Prof. and Mrs. Schub have been at home at Bethel College, Russelville, Ky.

Academy Notes.

"Ikey" Horton has gone home to Ridgeway to spend ten days under the parental roof.

The literary society meets this week for re-organization and election of officers.

The party of 'cadites who visited the county fair Friday patronized the fakirs to the evident depletion of their pocket money.

Bucknell Academy has received a challenge from the Shamokin high school for a foot ball game. As the Academy team is not organized yet, no action was taken.

The Bucknell Union is the name of a new organization in the Academy. The main object of its members seems to be entertaining Lewisburg girls on Saturday evenings.

Institute Items.

Miss Burnside, of Buffalo, is a new music student at the institute.

All the young ladies enjoyed the C. E. Social at the Baptist Church Saturday evening.

Miss Edith Lamars, college 1901, returned to her home in Titusville, Pa., on Friday last because of illness.

The Institute girls paid a visit to Mrs. Huth's ice cream parlors on Friday evening instead of visiting the county fair.

Mrs. Dewolf is spending a few days with her daughter Miss Grace Dewolf, who has been sick for more than a week.

The Misses Sheperd, of Baltimore, are among the new members of the Freshman Class to come to the Institute last week.

Miss Eddleman returned to the Institute on Friday and was warmly welcomed by her many friends who rejoice to see her so nearly recovered in health.

A Chance for College Students.

Believing that the future literary standard of our country rests with our college students, the Century Magazine, (Sept.) offers large prizes open only to college graduates of the classes from 1897 to 1900, for

1. Best metrical writing of not less than 50 lines;

2. Best essay in field of biography, history or literary criticism; or the

3. Best story of from four to eight thousand words.

It may pay you and bring honor to Bucknell to enter this literary contest with a determination to win.

Pick-Ups.

Washington and Jefferson college eleven scored on the U. P. team for the first time this season at Philadelphia last Wednesday. The score was 18 to 4.

Other foot ball scores Saturday were: Lafayette 24, State 0; Princeton 43, Lehigh 0; Uni. of Virginia 38, F. & M. 0; U. P. Reserves 9, Torresdale 0; Carlisle Indians 36, Dickinson 0.

"Did you see Hoffman go thro' that opening? He's a peach," says one. "You're wrong," we answer. "Eddie travels like a flash of lightning and hits opponents like a thunderbolt."

George Woodruff, the famous U. P. foot ball coach, spoke very complimentary of our eleven this season. He said, "Bucknell has a strong and heavy team this year, the best I have ever seen turned out from the Lewisburg college."

Next Saturday Bucknell expects to even matters with the University when the strong team of Reserves comes up from Philadelphia. It will be a close and hard contest which all should see. The score last year was: Bucknell 10, U. P. Reserves 0.

NEITHER SIDE WON.

The Foot Ball Game Last Saturday a Tie, 6 to 6.

Bucknell Had Decidedly the Better Part of the Contest With the U. P. Reserves.

It was by rare good luck that the U. P. Reserves were saved from defeat here last Saturday although they were stronger than last year. First, after losing their chance at goal because of allowing the ball to touch the ground, they were presented with the two points necessary to tie the score; and secondly timekeeper Stark ended the game with the ball in Bucknell's possession inside the Reserves' ten yard line, very opportunely for the visitors. It did not seem like the game Bucknell usually plays at home until the last few minutes. Our team was weakened by the absence of Jennings and Thompson, and the only redeeming features were the excellent work of the ends and backs. For the Reserves, Ambruster, Ritchie, Folwell, and Wentz took the honors while Megargee and Morgan made some good gains.

The day was cold and the attendance was comparatively small. Captain Cober chose to defend the west goal when Ritchie kicked off shortly after two o'clock. The play in the first half was slow and mostly on the Reserves' side of the field. Smith and Hoffman made several end runs, and Jenkinson gained applause by capturing the ball from a group of astonished Reserves, who had failed to catch it on a punt. It was through indolent work that Bucknell failed to score. The half ended 0 to 0.

Both teams started the second half with more energy. Cober kicked off and Morgan returned the punt. Folwell secured the ball after being put on side. The Reserves could not get around either end, but contented themselves with small gains by Ambruster and Morgan who were pushed through our line ahead of the close-formation and guard plays. Inside the fifteen yard line the Reserves were advanced ted yards on an off-side play and Morgan rushed through tackle for a touchdown. In placing the ball for the try at goal, Morgan allowed it to touch the ground, Rowe charge on it, and the trial was lost. Score, Reserves 4, Bucknell 0.

Cober kicked off. Amburster brought the ball back twenty yards. Reserves fumbled and Bucknell getting the ball carried it inside the Reserves' fifteen yard line, where our team was assisted by getting ten yards for an off-side play. Jenkinson went through tackle for a touchdown, and Elliot kicked the goal. Score, Bucknell 6, Reserves 4.

Everybody was surprised to see Captain Ritchie go to the other end of the field and kick the goal for which he had been refused a trial a few minutes previous. This made the score 6 to 6.

Wentz kicked off to Elliot. The ball want slowly up the field toward the Reserves' goal. Smith was hurt and Garner went in at quarter, and almost immediately made a sensational tackle. Elliot fell on the ball. Lang went around the end several times carrying the ball inside the Reserves' ten yard line where timekeeper Stark called the game.

Foot Ball Training Rules.

Foot ball at B. U. will begin now in earnest. Never was the outlook for a winning team better; but no team can be made without hard, systematic training and coaching. The training is the more important at present and in this, the student body can very materially assist the individual members of the team by encouraging proper habits, by refraining from unnecessary noise in the halls after a late hour, and by "standing by" the coaches and captain at times when things look blue. Instead of censuring them; help them out by friendly advice. Such assistance would be appreciated.

All candidates for the team must obey the following rules:

1. All candidates shall abstain from the use of tobacco and intoxicating drinks.

2. All candidates shall retire not later than 10:30 p. m. each night, except Saturday.

3. All candidates shall report for practice promptly at the time specified unless excused by the captain previously.

Signed: G. A. Jennings,
T. J. Orbison,
E. W. Cober.

The Phila. Record in speaking of the last U. P. game says: "The Bucknell team, however, played one of the finest tackling games ever seen in this city, tackling from behind, from before or either side with equal freedom. They had some fast runners on the team, who had been taught the admirable practice of following the ball steadily and long gains were almost impossible."

THE "MIRROR" SITUATION.

Bucknell's Well Known Magazine Has Not Resumed Publication.

A Suggestion to Publish a Purely Literary Monthly.—An Important Message to Bucknell Readers.

A couple of Saturdays ago a meeting of the student subscribers of the Bucknell Mirror, which has for a long time chronicled the life of the University in its semi-monthly issues, was called by the business manager. About half a dozen students, mostly officers of the Mirror association, presented themselves so the meeting had to be indefinitely postponed. Until to-day the Orange and Blue management has been silently awaiting developments and it has been quite disappointing to see the Mirror association evidently unable to solve the situation.

When the Orange and Blue commenced publication less than a year ago, it was not with the intention of driving the Mirror to suspension. We recognized that Bucknell needed the news of the day, especially athletics, published each week, and hoped to relieve the Mirror of carrying an unnecessary amount of stale matter. The aim of this paper as evidenced by our editorial and news columns, is to keep the University alive to passing events. We have neither space nor desire to enter the purely literary field, so when it was suggested that the Mirror be placed under the Orange and Blue management and run as a literary magazine, the offer could not be accepted because such double work would be too much to undertake and expect to do justice to College work at the same time.

There is little doubt that with active, energetic management, Bucknell with our graduate list of over one thousand, would support a purely literary monthly. Before the Mirror was allowed to decline, it had a subscription list of five hundred and was well supported by advertisers. This standard can again be attained with hustling to interest the students. Smaller colleges than Bucknell support two or more publications and when we abandon the field of pure literary effort, we put aside one of courses of training which we as students ought to pursue with great zeal and eagerness.

Outside of the impossible suggestion that the Orange and Blue take hold of the Mirror, the most feasible plan mentioned can be summed up in the following points:

1. Change the publication to the original idea—a monthly college magazine at one dollar a year; or if necessary for local subscribers, one dollar and fifty cents for the Mirror and the Orange and Blue.

2. Secure an active business manager who is willing to work for a smaller salary and who is determined to make the Mirror pay expenses.

3. Instead of an editorial board, choose a capable editor-in-chief with an assistant if necessary, and publish each month the names of the contributors to that issue.

4. Keep the Mirror in a purely literary field by fashioning it after some standard magazine and including in each issue the best poetical production, the best short story, the best epitome of Bucknell life for the month, the best literary criticism of a publication interesting to the college world, and the best essay on some line of work pursued either as original or class work in some department of Bucknell—if necessary offering small cash prizes as a reward for extra effort along these lines.

Such a magazine would give our college a better standing among colleges and among our friends. The question is: Can Bucknell support it? That depends upon the student body and the alumni. The Mirror should not be allowed to die; now is the time to act. The Orange and Blue will willingly support any plan that will make such a magazine a reality.

Our College Glee Clubs.

At five o'clock last Tuesday afternoon the young men interested in the organization of college glee clubs met with Dr. Aviragnet in Bucknell Hall. Much interest and enthusiasm was displayed when the genial musical doctor outlined the plan to be pursued. The sixteen young men will be divided into clubs of eight members. Each club will practice the same selections so in case of public entertainments all may participate. For the present, the single organizations will go to the smaller towns in this vicinity, and if everything goes well an extended Christmas trip will be arranged. Saturday morning Dr. Aviragnet commenced a personal examination of individual voices so as to designate the proper course of training. We hope to hear the clubs in a concert before Thanksgiving day.

Mr. Chas. Firth, '96, is coaching the Virginia Military Academy foot ball eleven this season. Firth played quarter-back and end on the Bucknell 'Varsity for several seasons, was manager of the team here in '95, and after graduation played on the Univ. of Chicago eleven.

It is not in our province to become the medium of presenting all the complaints around the University, but rather to kindly point out remedies and improvements. As a rule janitors are more or less neglectful owing to the many and various duties demanded of them, while professors are quite alert and prompt, especially in the matter of ventilation. Still, the latter forget at times, and then, you know, it is decidedly unpleasant to sit through a recitation and breathe over again the air that has already done service in the lungs of two or three preceding classes. We have even heard poor recitations charged to the effect of this vitiated atmosphere. Perhaps, it is all due to the peculiar construction of the class rooms in the college building; at least, it would do no harm for the professor or instructor in charge to be very careful to thoroughly ventilate the recitation room between classes, even though a few precious moments were sacrificed during the process.

An increased number of students are taking advantage of the many honor courses in advanced work offered in each department. A thing that is seldom evident in other colleges is the way Bucknell professors vie with each other in friendly rivalry to give every student a chance to do much more systematic work in studies than is specified in the regular curriculum.

There is an almost universal sentiment in the minds of the college men, especially of the upper classes, that President Harris should give the students a lecture each month on subjects similar to those chosen for the opening of each term. If this opinion continues, it will result in a petition to Dr. Harris and the faculty to make such an arrangement.

Pick-Ups.

Bucknell vs. Lehigh at Williamsport, Oct. 23.

The Reserves are improving with each practice.

Coach Orbison returned from Philadelphia Saturday.

Thompson has been on the list of injured since the last U. P. game.

Coach Orbison will be with the team every other week during the season.

Humeston had his knee strained at Phila., and was unable to practice last week.

Catterall was laid off from practice last week because he was suffering with neuralgia.

Nattress, our last year's quarter back, saw the game Saturday. He may return to College soon.

The U. P. Reserve eleven had their photo taken at Ginter and Cook's gallery while in Lewisburg, Saturday.

Manager Koch says that the Bucknell—State game is now certain for Williamsport on the date scheduled, Nov. 13.

Franklin and Marshall held Lafayette down to two touchdowns at Lancaster, Wednesday. F. & M. plays here Saturday, Oct. 30.

A new lineman for the 'Varsity eleven has appeared in the person of McGuffey, a heavy young man who entered Bucknell from Bloomsburg.

Among the men who came up with the U. P. Reserve team from Philadelphia Saturday were Messrs. Megargee and Bailey, formerly well known Bucknell students.

M. B. Christy has been appointed captain of the Bucknell Reserves. He plays a strong game at full-back in bucking the line and tackling and can be used on the 'Varsity in case of injury to the regular players.

Williamsport's athletic magnates have reduced the price asked for the athletic grounds there from $400 to $150. Think of the thousands of dollars spent in that city's stores by visitors who combine business with pleasure when attending the Bucknell–State game.

The Carlisle Indians have refused to come to Lewisburg for a foot ball game this year. Their plea might be stated as follows: "We no wantee play in your yard. Bad, big white man! Scalpee Injun too much. Lose our good reputation. Will play Yale; more money, more honor, see!"

At the last meeting, the Y. M. C. A. listened to reports of the young men who were at Northfield this summer. The six Bucknell representatives formed part of a gathering of over six hundred college men from all parts of the world.

Movements of our Graduates and Friends in College and Town.

Mrs. W. C. Gretzinger was entertaining her sister Miss Stoner, of Sunbury, during the latter part of the week.

Registrar Gretzinger attended the Firemen's Convention at Wilkesbarre last Wednesday in the delegation sent by the Lewisburg department.

Miss Laura Chilson, who is taking a course in music at Bucknell seminary, Lewisburg, spent Sunday in town with her parents. —Shamokin Herald.

Dr. Harvey Smith, a graduate of Bucknell, who has been playing ball this summer with Toronto in the eastern league, was in town Saturday a week ago.

Prof. Rockwood was able to meet his class in Latin at the college last Wednesday after being confined to his home several days by an attack of intermittent fever.

H. P. Nash, of Northport, L. I., Harvard, '93, made a pleasant visit to S. A. E., on Thursday last and looked up the interest of the fraternity at Bucknell.

Ernest L. Tustin, Esq., '84, of Philadelphia, has returned from an extensive trip through the West and Alaska. During his absence, he was elected president of the Baptist Social Union of Phila.

O. R. Harris and Harringer, proprietor and manager of the Danville steam laundry, were the guests of John Sherman on Saturday. They witnessed the foot ball game and spoke in eloquent praise of Bucknell's fine playing.

Rev. Frank Hollinshead, '97, of Ashland, was visiting college friends a few days last week and stayed to see the foot ball game Saturday. "Holly" was ordained, Sept. 9, and has been meeting with success in his work at Ashland.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES.

Gleaned From the Events of the Week on the Campus.

The band boys look up-to-date in their new orange and blue caps.

The Orange and Blue will be on sale Tuesday mornings at the College Book Store.

On Friday night, Oct. 1, Pi Beta Phi fraternity entertained its pledged members at a cooky shine.

The Bucknell band will organize and elect officers for the year at their meeting in the laboratory this evening.

Delinquent essayists and orators were presented with their recent productions one morning last week. The average number was less than a dozen.

During the last week a key and a pocket knife were found in the gymnasium. The owner can secure them by calling on Mr. Buckminster and identifying the property.

Thursday afternoon, the Chemical and Physical Society held their first regular meeting in the laboratory lecture room. Prof. W. G. Owens made an interesting address.

On Wednesday evening the volunteer band held a business meeting at which F. J. Rawlinson of the College, and A. C. Cunningham of the Academy, were elected active members. M. G. Davis was appointed speaker for the Farewell Missionary Meeting which will be held at Milton tomorrow. F. J. Rawlinson was also appointed speaker for the Sunday School Convention to be held at White Deer, Oct 15.

Institute Items.

Miss Kendrick and Miss Shepherd are two new Institute girls.

Misses Wilson, Brown and Ely are new members of the Pi. Phi.

Miss Grace Williams, of Scranton, is a new comer at the Institute and has entered the class of 1901.

Mrs. Richards and Mrs. Criswell spent Sunday with their friends, Misses Maude and Nellie Goddard.

Miss Armitage, a former teacher in the Institute, made a visit to her friend Miss Bell during the past week.

The new tennis court has been completed and is proving quite popular in this pleasant weather for outdoor exercise.

Several of the girls spent Saturday and Sunday at their homes and have returned with renewed pleasure to their work and play at the Institute.

Show me the girl who has not a hero on the foot ball team. Subscribe for the ORANGE AND BLUE and keep posted on just how your ideal player is progressing.

Under the new regulations all the rooms in the Institute building are cleaned each week by Mrs. Bell, the wife of our old friend Charles. This change is heartily appreciated because sweeping day was always obnoxious to the young ladies.

The regular monthly meeting of the Lewisburg Alumnae Club of Bucknell Institute will be held on Tuesday evening, Oct. 12. The annual election of officers will take place at this meeting, and an interesting program has been prepared.

ANNIE EVANS, Sec.

The young ladies of the Pi Beta Phi fraternity still have pleasant remembrances of the delightful afternoon and dainty feast spread for their edification by their sister, Miss Mary Stephens. Only a few days ago was the news of this fancy work party made known to us. It is to be hoped that the next time they are entertained so royally, the college girls will not be so fearful of getting into print as to forget to tell the editor.

Academy Notes.

Anyone wishing lessons in bicycle riding should apply to M—— and H——.

A number of the 'Cad boys who attended the Milton fair last week, reported a good time.

Mr. Waters, of Washington, D. C., entered the Academy last week.

John W. Bassler, who is attending Bucknell University, spent Sunday at his home on Market street.—Sunbury Item.

A large photo of the prep. class of '97, handsomely framed, has been presented to adorn the reception room of the Academy. There were twenty-seven young men in the class.

At a recent meeting of the Senior class of the Academy, the following officers were elected: President, C. H. Elliot; vice president, J. S. Hofta; secretary, D. A. Pitts; treasurer, Richard Bell; and historian, A. C. Cunningham.

The students met in the principal's office on Friday evening and adopted a constitution for the new Calliopean literary society. This organization is named after Bucknell's first society, Calliopean, established Dec. 4, 1847. Prof. Edwards and the Academy faculty are assisting the boys to get a good start.

School of Music Notes.

The orchestra has been organized, and promises to do excellent work this year.

The members of the string quartet are studying the works of Haydn and Mozart.

Miss Francis Duffy, of Williamsport, was the guest of Miss Aikin, Saturday, Oct. 2.

Miss Pretzman sang a solo at the Thursday evening meeting of the college girls' literary society.

The class in scientific music which meets in Bucknell Hall every Saturday morning is well attended.

It is a good idea to have the base-ball finances published so early in the year. By seeing it next week, no doubt our readers can tell the Athletic Association how to make up the deficit in receipts during next season.

RESERVES' GOOD GAME.

The Varsity Team Scores Only Sixteen Points Saturday.

Cancelling of the Columbian University Game Necessitates an Interesting Local Contest.

About ten o'clock Friday night Manager Koch of the foot ball team received a telegram from Columbian University at Washington, D. C., saying that it would be impossible for their eleven to fill the date at Bucknell Saturday. Efforts were made to get a nearby eleven here but without avail, and a short game was arranged with the Bucknell Reserves.

The game started about three o'clock. It was a decidedly poor exhibition of foot ball on the part of the first team with continual fumbling and slow play. The day was very warm and the men seemed tired out, but the interference was good for several long runs by Hoffman and Smith. The Reserves although weakened in the line, played a snappy game at times.

Captain Christy won the toss and the Reserves defended the west goal when captain Cober kicked off the ball. After a few gains by the Reserves, the 'Varsity secured the ball and Hoffman made a long run, but went out of bounds. Artie Smith carried it over for a touch down and Hoffman kicked the goal.

Christy kicked off and the 'Varsity held the ball until Cober made a touchdown. No goal.

The 'Varsity returned the Reserves' kickoff. Gains by Sherwood, Christy, Dillon and Conover gradually brought the ball back to the 'Varsity ten yard line where everybody expected the Reserves to score a touchdown, but instead the ball was fumbled and secured by Craig for the 'Varsity just before the half ended. Score, 'Varsity 10, Reserves 0.

In the second half the 'Varsity put up strong interference around the left end that enabled Smith to make a couple of long runs and scored a touchdown from which Hoffman kicked the goal. Ward made some good gains through centre. The Reserves advanced the ball very little and it was held by the 'Varsity on the Reserves fifteen yard line when the game ended. Score, 'Varsity 16, Reserves 0.

Pick-Ups.

Full-back Lang has left Bucknell.

The Reserves will accompany the 'Varsity team to the State—Bucknell game.

Special rates can be obtained to the Bucknell—Lehigh game at Williamsport next Saturday by applying to Manager Koch.

Captain Mulkie, of the Bucknell basket-ball team will coach the college girls in that game this fall and winter.

The Reserve players are requested to observe the regulations published for the 'Varsity team last week.

Thursday evening, assistant manager Bogert had the photo of the Reserves taken on the athletic field by photographer Cook.

Thanksgiving Day the annual game between Williamsport High School and the Bucknell Reserve eleven will be played at Williamsport.

Shortell has been doing good work in practice as quarter-back and half-back on the 'Varsity. Ward and Weymouth showed up in good shape on the ends last week.

Recently, Princeton defeated State College, 34 to 0, and Susquehanna University conquered Pennsylvania College at Gettysburg in a close game, 4 to 0.

Everybody was pleased to see Thomas, '98, out in a foot-ball suit last week. He played half-back on the 'Varsity since coming to college and is now trying tackle.

Quarter backs Garner and Elliot will not be able to get in the game for several days, the former on account of sickness, the latter because of his recent injuries while practicing.

The Reserves scored the first touchdown this season against the 'Varsity Thursday afternoon. Wassell who was playing half-back on the Reserves broke through and stealing the ball from the 'Varsity carried it half the length of the field for the touchdown.

Arrangements for the State—Bucknell game at Williamsport, Nov. 13, were completed Tuesday, when Manager Albert, of State College, was in Lewisburg. The officials will be Dr. Charles Schoch and coach George Woodruff of the University of Pennsylvania.

Mr. H. B. Philson who has been visiting editor W. L. Kurtz of the Lewisburg Journal, inspected Bucknell during his stay and expressed himself well pleased with our educational institution.

COLLEGE CANE RUSH.

Sophomores and Freshmen Have a Friendly Contest.

A Week of Interesting Events Among the Lower Classmen—The Girls Have Fun Also.

Tuesday morning, the young ladies of the Sophomore class, 1900, appeared in chapel wearing their class colors. They looked very pretty and received applause from the Seniors.

When the services were about half over, President Harris was interrupted by the measured tread of the young men of the same class entering in a body with new class caps and bamboo canes. After chapel the Sophomores marched out and lined up on both sides of the path leading to the college. The contest that followed when the Freshmen came up was inevitable and of short duration. President Riemer led the young men of the class of 1901 in a vigorous but friendly contest to wrest the canes and caps from the Sophomores. As expected the most of the canes were broken but the century classmen kept together, and when the contest ended after ten minutes duration, various opinions were held by the crowd as to which side was victorious. There were no judges to decide. Then the lower classmen proceeded to their recitations in the college building. The whole affair was quite amusing to the spectators.

About the same time, we hear that the girls of the Sophomore class successfully repelled the efforts of the Freshmen girls to secure the colors of 1900. Next morning the young ladies appeared in the regulation Bucknell college girls' caps introduced by the girls of the class of '97 several years ago.

Before breakfast Wednesday, large green posters appeared in various parts of town and about the campus. These bills, as has been the Bucknell custom at almost every exhibition of class spirit, were printed with quaint and ridiculous comment concerning the Freshmen. At first-reading the majority of people might have thought that the circulars were issued by the Sophomores, so as early as possible in the afternoon, the class of 1900 met in the laboratory and passed the following resolutions denouncing the circulars.

"WHEREAS, During last night certain posters obviously relating to the Freshmen class were put up about the college building and town;

Resolved, That we renounce all sympathy with these posters and that we condemn the action of this self-appointed committee."

The vote of the Sophomores was unanimous in passing the resolution.

At the same meeting, the Sophomores appointed a committee to confer with the Freshmen representatives in order to arrange an athletic contest to decide the rivalry of the lower classmen. If victorious, the Freshmen were to be permitted to wear class hats.

The Freshman class held a meeting Thursday at four o'clock to consider the proposition made by the Sophomores, and a committee was appointed to confer with the Sophomore committee.

The movement toward the organization of a college glee club should receive the hearty support of the students.

A glee club is not only an advantage to the men who enter it; it is worth a great deal to the school as well. A successful club will spread the fame of Bucknell far and wide, bringing glory and renown to our Alma Mater. At home it will help in the cultivation of aesthetic tastes and surroundings, which, unfortunately, are not too numerous at present.

There is no lack of material as anyone who has spent a few evenings at the Hill will readily affirm. You may hear all sorts of strains, ranging from the kind that Moore describes: "This must be the music of the spears, for I'm cursed if each note of it doesn't run through one," to the bright, pure harmony that is beautiful and inspiring.

Dr. Aviragnet has kindly offered his services, which guarantees the success of the movement if he has the earnest co-operation of the men of musical talent in the University.

Were the contemplated idea of an extended Christmas trip made certain, there would be an overplus of applicants for the clubs. All can rest assured that if the young men will practice in vocal and instrumental music until they can fittingly represent Bucknell, they will get the chance of numerous engagements. Let every student assist in giving Bucknell first-class musical organizations this year.

Realizing the intense rivalry which precipitated the cane rush among the lower classmen last Tuesday, THE ORANGE AND BLUE expresses the Bucknell spirit in neither condemning nor praising the contestants. What we wish to say is far more important to our student body than the friendly contests of lower classmen. To think that an organization of Christian young men would march in and disturb the religious services of their college is enough to call forth a prompt and vigorous denounciation from every professor and student in Bucknell. It was a thoughtless act on the part of the young men and such an act of irreverence should never be repeated. This comment must be born in mind by individuals as well as class organizations. Almost every morning, some tardy persons disturb the assembled students by rushing to their seats during the divine services in Bucknell Hall. When we are unable to get to chapel before the end of the opening hymn, let us forbear entering and tarry at the outer door so as not to break in upon the religious silence prevailing in the inner hall. A timely suggestion to classes is that they establish a college precedent by postponing the time of class demonstrations until the hours for exercise, from four to six o'clock in the afternoon.

Class Spirit in College.

"The class spirit of the Freshman and Sophomores has been very subdued until within the past week when some signs of the annual contest have sprung forth. Such a custom is distinctively a college affair and takes many forms in the different colleges. Its chief good is in arousing latent interests among the college men, but the customs are often carried to extremes and the spirit that is aroused flies beyond reasonable bounds into the realm of passion and brutality. Let us use any legitimate means in stirring up the college spirit here at Wittenberg, but on the other hand, let us remember so to restrain ourselves that we do not in any way injure the reputation of our college."—The Wittenberger, Springfield, O.

The above should be the quality of class spirit here at Bucknell.

To be a Lawyer.

From the Union county court proceedings: "In the matter of application of George Albert Jennings to register as a student-at-law, the board of examiners filed their certificate that he is sufficiently prepared to commence the study of law, he having exhibited a diploma of Bucknell College conferring upon him the degree of Bachelor of Science." George is also registered for the pursuit of post graduate work of the college leading to the Master's degree. The Bachelor's degree was conferred upon him with the class of 1897.

Rev. S. G. Reading, '85, has resigned at Williamsport to engage in evangelistic work.

Miss Florence V. Stoner, of Sunbury, spent last week with her sister, Mrs. W. C. Gretzinger.

Hon. Lemuel Amerman, '70, one of Scranton's most prominent lawyers and an ex-member of Congress died recently.

Prof. E. P. Gilchrist, '97, of Susquehanna Univ., was visiting his former college friends at Bucknell a few days ago.

Mr. Albert Meschter, who has been sick in the University infirmary will be out soon. He has been under the care of a trained nurse.

The Beta Delta Pi Sorority has initiated the following young ladies this fall: Misses Edith Leinbach, Lucy Hayes Grier, Olivia Belford and Elizabeth Kramer.

The Bucknell graduates who are acting as ORANGE AND BLUE correspondents from other schools are requested to send their contributions to the Alumni editor.

Doctor J. Sexton James, Bucknell, '68, Sigma Chi, late editor-in-chief of the Commonwealth, Philadelphia, but now of Altoona, made a pleasant call on his son this week.

Rev. H. T. Colestock, '96, now of the University of Chicago has his Commencement speech, "The Progressive Correlation of Ideas," published in the October number of the Church Union.

The Elkhart Baptist, a sprightly church paper representative of the work done at Elkhart, Ind., by Rev. A. W. Cober, '96, shows everything to be in a prosperous condition under his wise direction.

Professor Owens has over sixty students taking the required work in Sophomore Chemistry this year. As a result, the laboratory is crowded, but by arranging the class in sections, the professor is getting along nicely with the large number.

J. W. Hague, Esq., of the class of '73, Pittsburg, has presented to the museum an eider duck and a sea gull, both from the far north. They were dressed by a blind man in Toronto, Ont., and are valued at $25.00. Mr. Hague has has from time to time been making some valuable contributions to the museum.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES.

Gleaned From the Events of the Week on the Campus.

—Every Bucknell student and graduate ought to be a subscriber to the ORANGE AND BLUE.

—Fegley will solicit subscriptions for the daily papers to be delivered at students' rooms.

—The district Y. M. C. A. Convention at Sunbury, October 29, 30 and 31 will be attended by the Bucknell boys in goodly numbers.

—The evening of Tuesday, Oct. 12, will be recalled with pleasant memories by a number of the college girls. Theta Delta Psi fraternity had a social at the home of the Misses Guthrie.

—On Friday evening, Prof. Stewart and J. F. Rawlinson addressed the local Sunday School convention, which was held at White Deer last Thursday and Friday evenings.

—An effort will be made soon to renew the life of the Bucknell Press Association. Correspondents for outside papers can get the college news at any time from THE ORANGE AND BLUE editors.

—At a recent business meeting of the Bucknell band the following officers were elected: President, Judge McClure, vice pres., R. W. Wagner; leader, Howard Paul; seargent, Clarence Weymouth; manager, Bryant Bower; secretary, Erwin Wagner.

—The Boomerang quartet composed of Messrs. Dutton, Pierce, Fithian and Olmstead, rendered several fine selections at the recent Pinegrove festival. The festival was attended by a large number of Bucknell students, many of whom are interested in the mission which conducted the entertainment.

Miss Harriet Vaughan's many friends were much pleased lately on account of her receiving a fine box of Huyler's.

Alumnae Club Meets.

The regular meeting of the Institute Alumnae Club was held in the Institute parlors last Tuesday evening. The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Wm. E. Martin; Vice President, Miss Katherine Baker; Secretary, Miss Elizabeth Bates; Treasurer, Miss Florence VanDyke.

Mrs. Justin R. Loomis and Mrs. William C. Walls were elected as delegates to the meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania women which meets at Harrisburg, Oct. 26.

An important result of the meeting was an amendment to the Constitution to admit women graduates of all departments of the University to full membership in the Club.

The following program was then given: "Greetings from Mrs. Larison to the Club" read by Mrs. Wm. E. Martin; "The Object of Bucknell Alumnae Club" by Mrs. C. S. Wolfe, Mrs. Wm. E. Martin and Miss Florence VanDyke; "Suggestions for the work of the Club for '97–'98" by Mrs. T. A. Edwards and Miss Annie VanGundy.

Academy Notes.

Clark and Reid have been pledged to Sigma Chi.

Rittenhouse has been pledged to Phi Kappa Psi.

Clyde Heddens spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents at Washingtonville.

Thomas preached to a large and attentive audience in Lansford on Sunday.

John Evans spent Sunday in Shenandoah where he filled the pulpit of the first Baptist church Sunday morning.

The Hoffa brothers were visited Saturday by their father Dr. J. P. Hoffa, who witnessed the Varsity-Reserve foot ball game.

The Third Form has organized with the following officers: Pres. John Davis; Vice Pres. Seidel; Sec'y, Clark.

The students met and elected the following officers for the new Calliopean Literary Society on Friday evening. John Evans, President; David Pitts, Secretary; C. H. Elliot, Treasurer; McCracken and Grey, Critics; Ranck, Censor; Cunningham, Scargeant-at-arms.

Ferd Metz, of Ashland, entered the Academy last week to take up work preparatory for a medical course. He played on the Ashland High School base ball and foot ball teams and is a good bicycle rider who will strengthen the Academy athletic team in interscholastic contests next spring.

The Y. M. C. A. of the Academy is making another grand stride forward in the line of Bible study. They are organizing a class in the "Life of Christ" independent of the curriculum. They feel happy in announcing the name of J. T. Anderson as teacher of this class. Every student of the Academy is cordially invited to hand his name to any member of the Y. M. C. A. Bible committee.

Bucknell's Prospects.

Mr. Geo. Woodruff, coach of University of Penn'a, in an article on foot ball in the Philadelphia Press, has the following to say of Bucknell's defensive work: Bucknell with a much lighter and less muscular set of men than Washington and Jefferson, also shows a wonderfully strong defensive game this year. A run of ten yards or more against her is a matter of great difficulty. Her players tackle with a dash and pertinacity, which I have seldom seen equaled in any team. They are not likely to be beaten by any of their rivals this year, especially if State College does not strengthen up considerably before November.

BUCKNELL 28; LEHIGH 20

The Orange and Blue Wins Out by Superior Endurance.

Lehigh Unable to Stop Bucknell's Rushes at Williamsport.—A Fine Afternoon and a Good Crowd.

The story of Saturday's contest on the gridiron of the Williamsport athletic field may be sketched in a few words. Lehigh with a team averaging five to six pounds lighter to the man was allowed to score twenty points on miserable fumbles by Bucknell's backs and the two remarkable field goals kicked by Holderness during the first few minutes of the game after which the snappy, energetic play of the brown and white gave way to a fruitless attempt to stop the terrible onslaught of the heavy Bucknell interference formed by Cober and Rowe to clear the way for long end runs by the backs. Lehigh was weakened by a long, hard game with Dickinson College Wednesday afternoon which the former team won by a score of 5 to 0; but even in their best form they could not expect to stop our guards' back formation so well developed in the Pennsylvania games.

In the last two minutes of the first half, Hoffman darted around either end for long runs and touchdowns, making the score 20 to 16. The game was won in the second half when Catterall used good judgment in punting and Bucknell gained as they pleased. Lehigh played to recover their failing strength by delaying the game.

The rainy weather of Friday changed to threatening clouds on Saturday morning and a clearing, bright afternoon with a slight breeze that dried off the grounds. A crowd of from twelve to fifteen hundred enthusiasts was at the athletic park. Colors were floating and lusty throats cheered either team. About half past two o'clock, the Bucknell players came out to the grounds from the Updegraff hotel and practiced catching the ball behind the stands while the wearers of the brown and white went upon the field. Captain Gunsolus chose to defend the south goal with a slight advantage from sun and breeze.

Referee "Bucky" Vail, of U. P., started the game about three o'clock. Cober kicked off to Holderness who immediately returned the punt. Chamberlain fell on the ball on Bucknell's forty yard line. Lehigh could not gain so Holderness punted to the five yard line. Catterall returned the punt and Holderness made a fair catch on the thirty yard line, from which he kicked a field goal giving Lehigh the first score, 5 to 0, one and a half minutes after play commenced.

The kick off by Cober was returned to the middle of the field. Cober gained 4 yards. Hoffman went through right tackle for a forty yard run that landed the ball on Lehigh's 20 yard line. Cober gained 4 yards, and Catterall 3 through the line. Hoffman advanced 10 yards around the right end. Within a yard of their goal line, Lehigh held Bucknell twice without gain, but Rowe broke through for our first touchdown. Catterall kicked the goal and the score was 5 to 6, the only time Bucknell was ahead during the first half.

Holderness kicked off to Smith who passed the ball to Catterall for the return punt. Holderness made a free catch and kicked to Bucknell's five yard line. Catterall secured the ball and advanced to the 20 yard line. Smith gained 3 yards and Hoffman was tackled for a loss of ten yards. Catterall fumbled and Holderness made a fair catch from which he returned the ball to Bucknell's goal line where Smith fumbled and Lehigh secured the ball. Holderness made a touchdown, but failed at goal. Score, 9 to 6.

Cober kicked off and Holderness returned by punting out of bounds, where Eddie Hoffman fell on the ball and at the same time got a free bath from a pail of water or the side lines where the ball dropped. The wetting did not trouble Eddie for he immediately passed the right end for a twenty yard gain. Lehigh was given the ball and a ten yards' penalty for holding by Bucknell's interference. Gerhard gained 5 yards and Holderness broke through for a twenty yard advance stopped by Catterall. Gerhard again made 10 yards. Riemer tackled Holderness for a loss of 5 yards. On the next play Holderness made one of his famous field goals from the 25 yard line, making the score 14 to 6.

Holderness returned the ball to Nattress from the kick off. Jenkinson gained 2, Smith 0, and Catterall 2 yards, so the ball went over. Lehigh could not gain. Bucknell tried a trick play, the ball struck the referee and Hoffman was unable to get it. James picked up the pig skin and carried it to Bucknell's 4 yard line where a close formation play gave half back H. R. James the touchdown. Holderness kicked the goal and the score stood 20 to 6.

Again Cober kicked off and Holderness returned the punt. Catterall fumbled and Lehigh held the ball. B. U. secured it from a quarter-back kick. Cober gained 2, Smith 5, Rowe 3 yards and Hoffman ran around the end for 25 yards. Jenkinson advanc-

THE "MIRROR" SITUATION.

Manager G. M. Davis Says Publication Will Be Resumed.

The Mirror Association has been prompt to act upon the suggestions made by the ORANGE AND BLUE two weeks ago. Friday afternoon a meeting was held and the enthusiasm manifested assures all that publication will be resumed soon. A committee consisting of president C. D. Koch, manager G. M. Davis, and R. T. Wiltbank, Jr., was appointed to meet the faculty and arrange with some publishing house for the issuing of a literary monthly by the Mirror association of students.

Believing that some of our readers have mistaken the friendly interest which caused us to call attention to the Mirror last week, THE ORANGE AND BLUE publishes the following communication from the Mirror manager George M. Davis, who has proved by his untiring efforts to interest all in the Mirror, to be a true type of the active, energetic manager suggested in our recent article. Mr. Davis says:

"The last issue of THE ORANGE AND BLUE discussed the 'Mirror Situation' with undue discredit to the business management. The case as set forth condemned the management, accusing it of unnecessary venality and lack of energy.

"The books of the manager, always open to the public, show the Mirror to be in a better financial condition than it was one year ago. The constitution of the Association provides that ten per cent. of all receipts be paid to the business manager as a reward for his services. Every management previous to the present has takenits commission as provided by the constitution and by-laws. The present manager, in order that the Mirror might be placed on a more firm financial basis, has turned over every cent to the association. No management can be less mercenary.

"Our constitution calls for a regular meeting of the association, for the election of editors, on the second Saturday after the opening of the fall term. The president of the association having neglected to call this meeting, the business management took hold of it. The meeting was duly advertised. In addition to these notices many were personally urged to attend. Time came for the meeting. The only officer present was the business manager. With him were less than a dozen men all of whom are anxious to see the Mirror published. No others having come, the assembly after earnestly discussing the issue at hand dispersed, there not being a sufficient number present to transact business. Since then another meeting has been held with better success. College men are showing more interest. The present management is doing all in its power to produce a literary magazine worthy of the institution. The prospect is favorable. Let every man loyal to Bucknell University assist in raising her literary standard."

What the Alumni Think.

Editor ORANGE AND BLUE:

I notice with profound regret that the Bucknell Mirror is likely to be discontinued. Bucknell never had a better opportunity than now to take her rank among the first colleges of the country in every particular. Her athletic powers can no longer be confined within local bounds; not over two colleges in Pennsylvania profess to equal her in severity of requirements or scholarship. Any man who can enter Bucknell unconditioned, can enter Yale, Harvard or Chicago on the same terms.

In the literary world, Bucknell wins when she tries. She has won in two debates with outside colleges in the last two years; her exhibitions in oratory are of a high order; and the writings of her undergraduate students possess considerable merit.

THE ORANGE AND BLUE does not lay any claim to literary excellence. Why is there not room for a monthly Mirror? It could select as its model, some magazine of high order, and strive to maintain its excellence.

The chief economic problems of the day might be discussed. No doubt the Professor of Economics would give credit for thoughtful work of this sort.

Live literary questions could be handled. Thoughtful, careful work of this sort would develop the writer and redound to the glory of Bucknell.

No doubt the Professors and the Alumni would lend their pens to a first class monthly at Bucknell.

Why cannot Bucknell lead the colleges of Pennsylvania in this particular as she does in others?

First Institute Reception.

The first of the general receptions to be given this year by the faculty and young ladies of the Bucknell Institute will be held in the parlors of the Institute on Monday afternoon, Nov. 1, from four to six o'clock. This idea of a series of public "at homes" on the first Mondays during the college year was inaugurated by the former principal Mrs. Larison, a couple of years ago, and the fact that the new principal of the Institute, Miss Eveline J. Stanton is going to continue these pleasant gatherings of the college folk will be appreciated by all.

THE ORANGE AND BLUE seconds the appeal of the Lewisburg papers to the people who attend foot ball games on the campus to pay for what they get. We cannot expect to influence, nor even to reach any of the crowd of dead heads who line the railroad embankment; but we think that our students and the town people who are able to pay, ought not to lose their self respect to the extent that they should reduce themselves to the social level of the dead heads who take advantage of our open grounds and sneak into every game. It would be more proper for the students to form themselves into a vigilance committee to assist the athletic management in getting the admission fee from every person who sees the game or in keeping them off the grounds. If you do not wish to pay money to see the game, go to the manager and offer your services, or if unwilling to give such a return for the privilege of witnessing the contest, stay away and retain the respect of your fellow students. A first class foot-ball team such as Bucknell has is an expensive organization. Outfit, training, coaching, and advertising cost money. In addition there is always a heavy guarantee for such teams to come here. The receipts of the last foot ball game here, U. P. Reserves against Bucknell, entailing a loss of almost fifty dollars on the game and the recent report of the base ball season which was fifty dollars behind expenses, show what we can expect if we depend on such home patronage as the teams get.

Registrar W. C. Gretzinger has returned from a week's vacation.

College Literary Societies.

THE ORANGE AND BLUE representative called at the halls of the college literary societies Friday evening and found there a large number of young men enjoying and participating in the programs rich in oratory and debate. The men are developing for the inter-society and inter-collegiate contests next term. In Theta Alpha, Forrester is president, the other officers being Conover, vice president; T. J. Morris, secretary; DeWitt, treasurer; J. H. Cook, critic; and Meserve, censor. Euepia's officers for the term are, president, Rawlinson; vice president, Calvin; secretary, Stabler; treasurer, Decker; and Sweitzer, sergeant-at-arms. The societies have committees on inter-collegiate debate. Next Friday evening each of the literary societies will have a debate to choose four men for the inter-society debate. The subjects are posted. Zeta society of college girls has for officers, President, Miss Rodgers; Vice Pres., Miss Sharpless; Sec'y, Miss Woodard; Treas., Miss Guthrie. They meet fortnightly at the Institute.

Ezra Allen, '95, offers $20.00 toward a total of $50.00 for Christian work abroad, our Association to raise the balance of $30.00 by a plan of systematic giving. Two objects are suggested viz., the Bible Department of the Association at Tientsin, China, in charge of D. Willard Lion, or the work of Miss Kate Goddard '97, in the same land.

Pi Beta Phi Banquet.

On Friday evening, Oct. 22, Pi Beta Phi fraternity took unto herself four new members—Misses Lile Bell, Grace Williams, Bessie Wells and Iza Martin.

The evening was made especially delightful by the presence of two Swarthmore College sisters. It was the occasion of the semi-annual initiation banquet. After the dainty viands had been disposed of amid much fun and laughter, the following toasts were responded to: Fraternity, Miss Bell; College Days, Miss Ruth Sprague; Fraternity Unity, Miss Mary Stephens; Our Patronesses, Miss Bertha Watkins; Our Initiates, Miss Grace Woodard; Impromptu toasts.

Miss Williams' defence of "the goat" created much merriment. But all things must have an end so with a last reluctant farewell, the young ladies went to dream confusedly of "tin cans and shingle nails" as well as "cake and pie."

Tuesday evening, Prof. Phillips addressed the County Sunday School Association on "Sunday School Bible Study." The talk was very instructive.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES.

Gleaned From the Events of the Week on the Campus.

—Friday evening, Oct. 15, Mrs. Hulley was "At Home" to the college women of Bucknell. It was a most delightful time.

—Kappa Chapter of Sigma Chi fraternity was entertained over Sunday by Clarance Rogers, of Muncy.

—The Reading and Pennsylvania railroads gave a special excursion rate of one fare for the round trip to allow their patrons a chance to attend the Bucknell—Lehigh game last Saturday.

—Franklin and Marshall notified Bucknell that they will not come to Lewisburg to play foot ball. F. & M. wants to play at Harrisburg. A game with Dickinson is being arranged for Saturday.

—Before the Susquehanna county teachers' institute, which was held at Montrose, from Oct. 18th to 22nd, Dr. Lincoln Hulley delivered four lectures entitled "The formation of the constitution." "The adoption of the constitution," "Method of studying history." The lectures were delivered at the Wednesday and Thursday sessions.

—Next Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, Oct. 29–31, the good citizens of Sunbury have prepared to entertain a good sized delegation from the Bucknell Associations at the fourth annual convention of the Y. M. C. A. A large number of college men will attend and the new state secretary for college work, Mr. C. W. Harvey, Pucknell '99, will be present to address the meetings.

Academy Notes.

John A. Young, 'Cad '97, came from New Columbia to see his college friends Saturday.

The boys who were home over Sunday were Lamar Williams, Hoffa brothers, Clyde Heddens, Elliot and Bell.

A Change Needed.

The constitution of the Athletic Association needs an immediate change in regard to the time of election of the base ball and basket ball manager. As the constitution now reads these, together with the foot ball manager, are to be elected at the end of the fall term.

The basket ball manager is elected as the season begins, when he should have the schedule complete. For the success of basket ball both financially and otherwise, it should have as good games as any other team. Good games cannot be secured by being compelled to take open dates left by other teams; neither will the interest of players and students be as great.

To obviate these difficulties the basket ball and base ball managers should be elected at the end of the spring term. We hope that the officers of the Association will take this thing in hand. Call a meeting and have the change made. It can be done now as well as later.

PERSONAL AND ALUMNI.

Movements of our Graduates and Friends in College and Town.

Irving H. Buckminster, of our editorial department, is sick.

Foot Ball.

ed the ball 2 yards, Cober 3, Riemer 2, and Smith 8. Bucknell was given 10 yards for off side play but lost 8 on a fumble. Catterall tried a field goal and failed. Holderness kicked off from the 25 yard line and Nattress brought the ball back 10 yards. Smith gained 3 and Hoffman 15 yards around the ends. Smith advanced a yard, Hoffman 10 through tackle, and Catterall 3 yards. Hoffman went around left end for 15 yards and a touchdown. Catterall missed the goal. Score 20–10.

With about a minute to play, Nattress carried the ball back 20 yards on the kick off. Catterall punted low and out of reach of Lehigh's wily full-back. Bucknell kept the ball. Hoffman gained 3 and Jenkinson 5 yards, then Eddie went around the right end for 30 yards and a touchdown. Catterall kicked goal. The score stood 20 to 16.

Holderness' kick was secured by Nattress. Bucknell was forced to punt. A low punt to Holderness caused him to fumble and Riemer secured the ball. A couple of short gains and Lehigh was given the ball. Gerhard gained 5 yards and Holderness punted when time was called. The first half ended Lehigh 20, Bucknell 16.

During the second half, Bucknell played a wonderful up hill game. Lehigh delayed the game and made some substitutions for injured men.

Holderness kicked off, Catterall returned the punt, Jennings tackled without gain for Lehigh. Lehigh was held for a loss and Holderness punted. Nattress fumbled and Lehigh kept the ball but was held for no gain. Cober gained 2 and Jenkinson 4 yards. Lehigh was given the ball for holding by Bucknell. They persisted in delaying the game but were held for a loss. Holderness fumbled in trying to punt and Riemer secured the ball. Hoffman made 3, and Rowe 3 yards. Lehigh's ball but for no gains and Holderness punted. Smith made a left end gain of 25 yards. Then a series of short gains—Cober 2, Catterall 8, Hoffman 4, Jenkinson 2, Smith 6, Catterall 4, and Rowe 3 yards. Lehigh secured the ball but could not gain. Nattress caught the punt and advanced 10 yards. Fumbling lost the ball to Lehigh. Jenkinson broke up the punt and secured the ball. Good interference carried the ball towards Lehigh's goal by short gains. Cober made a touchdown and Catterall kicked goal. Great enthusiasm prevailed when Bucknell after about twenty minutes of hard play, was again ahead by a score of 22 to 20.

During the last five minutes, Lehigh seemed to lose all hope but their line held well at times. Holderness kicked off and Jennings secured the ball when returned by Nattress. Hoffman made an end run of 20 yards. A punt sent the ball into Bucknell territory. Smith made 8 yards, and Hoffman made another run of 25 yards. Bucknell was given 10 yards for off side play. Catterall made the touchdown and goal.

The final score was Bucknell 28, Lehigh 20.

The line up of the teams follows:

BUCKNELL 28.		LEHIGH 20.
Jennings	Centre	McCarthy
Cober	Right guard	Gilbert
Craig	Left guard	Becan
Thompson	Right tackle	Gunsolus
Rowe	Left tackle	Gledhill
Jenkinson	Right end	W. T. James
Nattress	Quarter back	Denise
Smith	Right half back	J. H. R. James
Hoffman	Left half back	Canfield
		Holderness

Touchdowns—Rowe, Hoffman 2, Cober, Catterall; Holderness, H. R. James. Goals—Catterall 4, Holderness 1. Goals from field, Holderness 2. Umpire—Gibson, U. P.; Hannon, Yale. Referee—Vail, U. P. Timekeepers—Prof. Riemer, B. U.; Perley, Lehigh. Time of halves, 25 minutes each.

Pick-Ups.

McGuffie has returned to Bloomsburg.

Everyone should prepare to attend the State—Bucknell game, Nov. 13.

Saturday evening the visiting teams went to the Lycoming opera house.

A number of Williamsport's prominent stores had nice window displays in the colors of the visiting collegians.

The Reserves had the strongest team of the season out last Tuesday. Dillon, at full-back, was pushed over for a touchdown against the 'Varsity after a number of hard rushes.

THE ORANGE AND BLUE will give a round trip ticket to Williamsport for the best college song to be used at the State–Bucknell foot ball game contributed before Tuesday, November 9th.

ANOTHER VICTORY.

Bucknell Defeats Bloomsburg's Heavy Eleven, 6 to 0.

An Unexpectedly Close Game in Which the Normal Almost Scores.—Poor Playing by Bucknell.

A foot ball contest that was not nearly so exciting as the score indicates was fought out on the campus before a small crowd of chilled spectators last Saturday afternoon. When the Normal team surprised Bucknell in the 18 to 4 game last season everybody thought it was one of those games that occasionally occur to indicate the weak points of an apparently strong team, but last Saturday as the heavy Normal backs plunged in the Bucknell line, everybody groaned to see them find such large openings. Steadily the ball went to Bucknell's ten yard line. A penalty of five yards and a centre rush placed it within a foot of the orange and blue goal. Bucknell had a momentary return of the old time defensive play which coupled with Aldinger's slow passing of the ball kept the Normal from scoring. The Normal team was heavier than Bucknell and had the advantage of the ends being permitted to play behind the tackles to form a mass interference that was hard to smash. It seems some one had told them that if they could injure plucky little Eddie Hoffman and Nattress, they would win, so the game became a very rough contest at times, but the wily Bucknell backs still lived to make good runs when proper interference was afforded. The Bucknell interference except once or twice was miserable and the line did not hold the Normal rushes. If anything was learned by the game it is that Bucknell's tackles must be strengthened in defensive play by good coaching and we have use for more good men behind the line in case of accident. The ends got down the field in fine shape on the few punts made. McGuffie played the best game and made the longest advances for the Normal, while Snyder stopped the rushes around the end.

Captain Cober won the toss and Aldinger kicked off the ball. Bucknell defended the west goal which was soon endangered after short gains by McGuffie, Derr, Burns and Fox. Normal was given 5 yards for interference with centre rush. Burns gained 3 yards and the ball was only a foot from Bucknell's goal where Normal was held for three downs. Catterall made a long punt which took away the heartache felt by the persons on the hillside. Normal started up the field again but Thompson broke through the line, stole the ball and gained 8 yards before he was downed. Bucknell gained slowly and had to punt. Fox made a fair catch on the 20 yard line but Jenkinson tackled him and Normal was given a penalty of ten yards. The ball went down for a scrimmage but was soon secured by Bucknell on a punt. Hoffman gained 10 yards around the end. Rowe fumbled and Jenkinson made 7 yards after picking up the ball. Hoffman almost succeeded on a double pass but time was called with Bucknell holding the ball on Normal's 35 yard line and the score was 0 to 0.

In the second half, Bucknell occasionally ran better interference but the backs were severely handicapped by lack of protection. Nattress gained 15 yards on catching a punt shortly after the kick off. Riemer gained 6, but could not resist retaliating for a vicious tackle after he called down. Then the referee told captain Cober, "Your left end is disqualified." Ward was substituted and played a good game. A series of fumbles kept the ball's position uncertain. Nattress caught a punt and gained 30 yards. Hoffman went around right end for a 25 yard run but lost the ball. Aldinger started to run with the ball so it was given to Bucknell. Hoffman went around right end for 20 yards and a touchdown. Catterall punted out to Nattress and kicked the goal. Score 6–0.

On a fair catch by Fox, Aldinger tried for a field goal from the 50 yard line and failed. McGuffie made some good gains but Bucknell got the ball on downs. Weymouth went around left end for a 35 yard's advance. Hoffman fumbled for a loss of ten yards but Cober secured the ball. Smith was substituted for Weymouth just before time was called.

The line up was as follows:

BUCKNELL 6.		NORMAL 0.
Jennings	Centre	Butts
Cober	Right guard	Lanbach
Craig	Left guard	Bray
Thompson	Right tackle	Keefer
Rowe	Left tackle	Wildoner
Jenkinson	Right end	Snyder
Nattress	Quarter back	Aldinger
Weymouth, (Smith)	Right half back	Burns
Hoffman	Left half back	McGuffie
Catterall	Full back	Fox

Touchdown, Hoffman. Goal, Catterall. Referee, Godcharles, (Lafayette); Umpire, Chamberlain, (Lafayette); Time keepers, Lesher, (B. U.) and Prof. Dutwiler, (B. N. S.); Linesmen, Thomas and Burns. Time of halves, 25 and 20 minutes.

Mrs. J. R. Loomis, Mrs. Wm. C. Walls, Mrs. J. C. Bucher and Mrs. Wm. C. Gretzinger represented the Bucknell Institute Alumnae Club at the annual convention of the Federation of Pennsylvania Women, held in Harrisburg last week. Mrs. Gretzinger who was president of the Institute club the past year gave a report of the object and work of her organization. Mrs. W. C. Walls was also elected as one of the eight directors for the State.

W. D. HIMMELREICH DEAD

Prominent Lewisburger and Former Bucknell Student.

His Munificient Gift of a Large Library and Endowment to His Church.

Many friends in college and town heard with saddened hearts the message that came to Lewisburg announcing the sudden death of William David Himmelreich at the Astor House in New York City, Saturday morning, Oct. 23. The remains were brought home on Sunday morning. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon and the services were conducted by Rev. A. B. Collins, assisted by Prof. Lincoln Hulley.

All the floral decorations were beautiful, among those from college friends being a representation of the fraternity pin by his brothers of the Sigma Chi fraternity.

William David Himmelreich was born Sept. 11, 1842, in Kelly Twp. His first education was received at a little country school house which he left to go to Bucknell University where he pursued his studies with diligence. Naturally fitted for a business career, he left school and met with success in all his mercantile undertakings carried on in this section.

Mr. Himmelreich was an ardent worker in the Presbyterian church and Sunday School and a liberal contributor to philanthropic objects. His greatest gift was a library of several thousand volumes to the Presbyterian Sunday School and by his will, a gift of $15,000 to erect a suitable library building and an additional $15,000 as an endowment for keeping up and adding to the library.

From the large number of resolutions testifying the love of many friends for the departed, we publish the following adopted by the Sigma Chi fraternity:

Whereas, It has pleased Providence to remove from us our beloved friend and brother, William D. Himmelreich, and

Whereas, We realize in his death we have sustained the loss of a brother whose admirable traits of character and whose charitable and affectionate nature we have learned to love and esteem; a brother who was always willing to help us in an way possible,

Resolved, That Kappa Chapter of Sigma Chi fraternity condole with the family of the deceased in this, our mutual bereavement, and that our heartfelt sympathy be tendered to them; and be it futher

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of our deceased brother, that a copy be spead upon our chapter record, and that a copy be sent to THE ORANGE AND BLUE ane the Sigma Chi Quarterly.

A Pleasant Reception.

Despite the downpour of rain that came from the leaden skies during the whole of Monday, the first of the series of monthly "at homes" held at the Institute was attended by a goodly number of college folk and town friends. The large school room opposite the parlors was also tastefully decorated by the skillful hands of the young ladies who did all in their power to make this social gathering a success. Shortly after 4 o'clock, the principal Miss Stanton, and the teachers of the Institute and School of Music received the callers with pleasant greetings. The young ladies who reside at the Institute were none the less attentive and charming in entertaining their visiting friends from the hill. Refreshments were served and when the hour of six arrived, all departed after deciding to attend the next reception in the series on the first Monday afternoon in December.

Hallow-e'en Party.

One of the most enjoyable events of the year was the Hallow-e'en Party given by the Institute girls to the teachers and College girls on Saturday evening in the Gymnasium of the Institute. Each of the Institute girls had invited one of the College girls and when all reached the Gymnasium at 7.45 o'clock, they found it made comfortable with rugs, cushions and chairs, while the walls were decorated in the colors of the University, Institute, and the different College classes. The program of the evening was as follows:

1. Grand march, led by Misses Bell and Hanna.
2. Junior, Sophomore, Freshman and Institute apple contest.
3. Game of Bingo.
4. Goblin march with a funeral dirge.
5. Refreshments: Crackers, nuts, lemonade, and all day suckers.

A general good time followed.

College songs were sung, yells given and all kinds of Hallow-e'en tricks played. The party broke up with a hearty vote of thanks to the Institute girls from all who had been entertained.

The many friends of Miss Julia Weidensaul greatly regretted to hear of her death recently though it had been long expected. Miss Weidensaul was one of the favorite pupils of Dr. Aviragnet, because of her loving disposition and fine musical attainments. She was a member of the class of '92 in the Institute and was a student in the School of Music until the time of her departure to take the position as instructor at Perkiomen Seminary.

Tuesday, November 2, 1897.

After years of patient waiting, the attention of the student body is called to the realization of one of their annual requests, in the statement published this week that work in the literary societies will be credited hereafter in the elocution department. This has been attained through the kindness of instructor Phillips who in college days and since, has shown a keen appreciation of the good work accomplished by the societies. This does not mean that attendance at society will be required, but credit will be given for literary work.

There are three requisites on the part of the students and friends of Bucknell, which if properly observed, will improve THE ORANGE AND BLUE.

In the first place, the students must patronize our advertisers for the reason that they place their advertisements in our publication. But they do not place them there without a hope of receiving at least some benefit therefrom.

The second requisite is your subscription. That is not all. Your dollar is the next thing. It seems strange that we should call attention to this business fact. But past experience makes this reference necessary.

In the third place we want the criticisms of the students and friends, who read our paper. Now we do not solicit cynical criticisms. The kind of criticisms we need are those which make us better informed and thus more competent for our task. Give us an honest judgment of the merits and demerits of our work and we shall be helped, and THE ORANGE AND BLUE improved. —Extract from The Wittenberger applied to THE ORANGE AND BLUE.

Chemical and Physical Society.

Thursday afternoon the members of the Chemical and Physical Society were entertained at the Laboratory by Prof. W. G. Owens and assistant professor N. F. Davis, who gave interesting talks and exhibited parts of the mastodon recently found near Huntingdon and presented to the Bucknell Museum. At this meeting the following officers were elected for the year: president, Prof. W. G. Owens; vice president, Prof. W. A. Kauffman; secretary, DeWitt; treasurer, Shorkley; program committee, Professors Owens, Davis and Kauffman.

All who are interested in scientific studies should join this society now and assist at the meetings which are held every other Thursday afternoon during the year.

Inter Society Debate.

Last Friday evening, the college literary societies held a preliminary debate to choose representatives for the inter society debate which will be held in about two weeks. In Theta Alpha, professors Kauffman and Phillips acted as judges and selected Meeker, Gilpin, Forrester, De Witt and Fithian. Eucpia's representatives will be Carringer, Ed. Bell, D. H. Robbins, Rawlinson and Nesbit. The committee on inter collegiate debating met Saturday morning to arrange for choosing Bucknell's representatives from the contestants in the inter-society debate.

Those Freshmen Hats.

Friday afternoon shortly after four o'clock, the boys of the class of 1901 met at a prominent clothing store in Lewisburg where they donned new felt hats encircled by the class ribbon. After parading the streets and not meeting any hostile Sophomores, the Freshmen marched to the Institute, doffed the new head gear in a gentlemanly salute to a party of Sophomore girls, and gave the class yell several times. On the athletic field, the yell of 1901 was again given and again on Saturday morning, the rejoicing continued. The Sophomores kept a dignified silence and showed the good results of a year at college by not molesting the enthusiastic Freshmen.

From a Friend.

We are pleased to note that THE ORANGE AND BLUE is appreciated by the Alumni. The following is a sample of a number of letters received so far this year:

Rev. J. R. Wood, '94, of Collingdale came up to see his college friends last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Kress, of Allentown, are visiting their son R. H. Kress, of the Sophomore class.

President Harris returned last evening from a trip to the southwestern part of this state where he preached Sunday.

Mr. C. W. Harvey, ex-'99, State Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. work for Colleges came up from the Sunbury Convention to visit his College friends in Lewisburg.

The Commonwealth says: "Mr. A. W. Stephens, class '96, Bucknell, son of Dr. Leroy Stephens, while pursuing a post-graduate course at Cornell University, has charge of the Co-operative Association, which supplies books, stationary and athletic goods to the students."

Artist Little, of New York City, who has been sketching in the Susquehanna Valley, his old home, during his autumn vacation, kindly loaned a portfolio of his recent sketches to his friend Professor Martin for exhibition to the many lovers of the aesthetic about the University.

Junior and Senior Oratory.

JUNIORS:

Four debates in the Literary Society and two briefs may be substituted for the rehearsal of one oration. One leading debate shall be equivalent to two of the above. The oration may be delivered in the Literary Society at the option of the orator provided there is time.

SENIORS:

Eight debates in the Literary Society and four briefs shall constitute one term's work in Oratory. One leading debate shall be considered equivalent to two of the above. Credit will be given for two terms only.

Since the instructor cannot be in both societies the same evening, provision will be made whereby credit will be given for work done in his absence. Only one half of the work stated above shall be done in the absence of the instructor.

Credit for work done in the Literary Society by Freshmen and Sophomores and for other work not included in the above will be given at the option of the instructor.

During the rest of the term, Prof. Perrine will have the Seniors read Matthew's American Literature.

Coach the tackles!

Let us introduce golf and be fin-de-siecle.

Frank Bevan, ex-'99, is playing full back on the Mt. Carmel Y. M. C. A. team.

We must have more coaches for the State game. Get the backs to catching and punting better.

The Bucknell Reserves will play the Milton Y. M. C. A. foot ball eleven at Milton next Saturday.

Foot ball scores Saturday were: U. P. 40, Brown 0; Lafayette 34, Lehigh 0; Annapolis Cadets 4, State 0; Indians 84, Gettysburg 0.

In speaking of the Penn—Lafayette game Capt. "Jack" Minds, of the former team, had the following to say:

"The Lafayette team played very good, hard foot ball, and it must be said for them that, with the exception of Bucknell, no team has worked harder in the face of positive defeat. They played very fast foot ball."

Foot Ball Song.

A few words about the foot ball song for which ORANGE AND BLUE offers a round trip railroad ticket to the State—Bucknell game, Nov. 13.

1. Competition is open to all students.
2. Songs must be sent to the editor-in-chief of ORANGE AND BLUE on or before Saturday, Nov. 6.
3. The words must be arranged to fit the air of a popular song.
4. Fictitious names or numbers must be attached to the manuscripts in competition.
5. Judges will be the professor of Rhetoric, a young lady graduate of Bucknell, and the editor-in-chief of this paper.
6. The successful song will be published in THE ORANGE AND BLUE, Tuesday, Nov. 9.

Do not write a song in order to get the prize. Write because of your enthusiasm as a Bucknell student and remember it is for the great game of the year.

As a prize for the second best college foot ball song for the State-Bucknell game, THE ORANGE AND BLUE will give an admission ticket to the game on Nov. 13.

Institute Notes.

A new rack for hats has been placed in the reception hall.

Miss Katherine Campbell's father spent Saturday and Sunday with her.

The new color of the Institute is scarlet. The yell has not been fully decided upon.

A most delightful surprise was given the Institute girls on Wednesday afternoon in the form of a ride to Blue Hill. The carriages were ready immediately after lunch and the party returned at six o'clock, reporting a most delightful time. The new girls were enchanted with the scenes they saw for the first time and all united in a vote of thanks to Miss Stanton for the pleasure of the afternoon. During the absence of the Institute girls, the College girls decorated the dining room in the new color—scarlet. The delight of the Institute girls on their return was manifested by much applause.

Music School Notes.

Dr. Aviragnet is well pleased with the work of his two glee clubs.

Miss Belford was compelled, on account of ill health, to return to her home last week. She hopes to return soon.

The program of the Musical given Monday evening of last week is as follows:

1. Piano Solo, Les Oeufs de Paques, Bohm, MISS ELY.
2. Impromptu Mazurka, Bolon, MISS WEAGLEY.
3. Gondellied, Oesten, MRS. OLDT.
4. Suite Italienne, Klein, MISS MERRIMAN.
5. Happy Mood, MISS CHILSON.
6. Creole Souvenir, Gregh, MISS BARTOL.

"HARES AND HOUNDS."

The Old English Game Revived by Bucknell Girls.

College Girls and Institute Lasses Have an Interesting Chase—They Roam Fields and Jump Fences.

Last Friday afternoon, the young ladies of the Institute and College broke the monotony of school life and of tiresome athletic exercises by indulging in the invigorating out-door game known as the Hare and Hound chase which was conducted on the following plan inaugurated by Misses Hanna and Bell.

Two ladies started with bags filled with small, square pieces of paper which were distributed along their path commencing at the Institute, passing through the cemetery, traversing the Miller farm, crossing the corn-field in the rear of the College, and ending at the Institute. A circuitous trail was thus formed which the hounds—the Seminary and College girls—followed with the expectation of catching the hares—the ladies who distributed the pieces of paper. In order to enable all the girls to participate in this sport, a second trail was formed along the river road and returning to the Institute by a circular route.

The hounds started on the trail about twenty-five minutes after the departure of the hares, the latter however escaping from their daring and fair pursuers.

The young ladies were attired in bicycle and basket ball costumes which facilitated the jumping of fences and reduced to a minimum the interference of unnecessary garments. Being unimpeded, they passed through the fields with a swiftness comparable to that of candidates for the relay team.

It is said they leaped gutters with an daring well calculated to disprove the proverbial feminine timidity and jumped fences with an agility that would put to shame their sturdy college brothers. In crossing a turnip patch, the human desires rose above "canine" instinct, so they halted several minutes to eat a few turnips. The girls enjoyed themselves immensely and caused intense although refined, "diaphragmatic perturbation."

Another chase was to take place yesterday afternoon, but owing to the inclement weather, it did not materialize.

Prof. Groff addressed the Chemical and Physical Society, Thursday afternoon, on "New Professions for College Men and Women." The next meeting of the Society will be on Nov. 18.

B. U. Reserves, 10; Milton Y. M. C. A., 0.

The Bucknell Reserves played their first game away from home Saturday afternoon at Milton. Up to that day the Y. M. C. A. had not been scored against but while playing a plucky game, they were unable both in weight and experience to succeed against the Reserves. Friday evening's severe practice against the 'Varsity made the playing of the Reserves quite slow and their interference weak and ragged. Y. M. C. A. gained a first down on trick plays. The day was too cold for foot ball, so a very small crowd saw the game at the Athletic Park

Shortly after 2:30 o'clock, Captain Case of the Y. M. C. A. kicked off to Sherwood. The Reserves carried the ball down the field by the end and tackle gains of Magee and Dillon, centre rushes of Captain Christy, and the good gains of Sherwood through right tackle. In less than three minutes Dillon went through left tackle for the first touchdown and Christy kicked a difficult goal. Score, 6 to 0.

With the strong wind in their favor, the Reserves gained considerable by punting during the first half. Y. M. C. A. gained several times on trick plays but the Reserves steadily advanced to the Y. M. C. A. goal line and Christy went through centre for a touchdown but failed at goal. Score, 10 to 0.

In the second half, neither side scored. The Y. M. C. A. playing with the wind, punted the ball down the field after being forced to make a touchback. One punt going past Christy compelled the Reserves' full-back to make a touch-back. Wassell who was substituted at right half-back made some good gains and Ward carried the ball through left tackle for long advances. Twice the Reserves were dangerously near to the Y. M. C. A. goal line but lost on fumbles. Gaugher, of the Y. M. C. A., played a plucky game until he had his collar bone broken. The line up follows:

RESERVES, 10.		MILTON Y. M. C. A., 0.
Sherman	centre	Hill
Krise	right guard	Hanson
Grey	left tackle	Taylor
Ward	right end	Kaufman
Sherwood	left end	L. Teufel
Conover	quarter back	Case
Dillon, Wassell	right half back	Gaugher, Lough
Magee	left half back	C Teufel
Christy	full back	Brown

Touchdowns, Dillon and Christy; Goal, Christy; Referee, Mr. Norton; Umpire, Mr. Catterall; Time keepers, Jenkins and Weymouth; Linesmen, Krause and Mohler; Time of halves, 20 and 15 minutes.

Hon. E. H. Reppert, '77, of Uniontown, has been elected to the Common Pleas Bench of Fayette Co. Judge Reppert is the second member of this class who has been elevated to the Judiciary. The other member is Hon. H. M. McClure, Judge of the Courts of Union and Snyder Counties.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.

An Important Meeting Held Last Saturday Morning.

Constitutional Changes Suggested by the "Orange and Blue" Acted Upon.—Next Meeting, Nov. 22.

An important meeting of the Bucknell Athletic Association was held last Saturday morning, Nov. 6. The main business of the meeting was the proposing of amendments to the Constitution and By-Laws of the Association, given in detail as follows:

ARTICLE IV.—ELIGIBILITY OF OFFICERS.

Section 1. All candidates for offices of this Association shall be members of any one of the regular courses of the College department.

Section 2. No student who is deficient in rhetorical or class room work in any term shall be eligible to any office of this Association.

Art. IV to be changed to Art. V, Art. V to VI, Art. VI to Art. VII.

ARTICLE VIII.—ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Section 1. The President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer, Manager of Foot-ball, the Executive Board and the Finance Committee, shall be elected on the last Saturday preceding the Christmas holidays.

Section 2. The officers, Manager of Base Ball, Manager of General Athletics, Manager of Basket Ball shall be elected on the last Saturday preceding Commencement week.

Sec. 3. The officers of this association shall be elected for a term of one year.

Section 4. This article shall take effect from Jan. 7th, 1897, with the proviso, that the Managers of Base Ball and Basket Ball be elected on Nov. 22, 1897, for the present school year.

The amendment to the By-Laws was this:

Art. II.—Membership in this Association shall be secured by the payment of one dollar per annum to the Secretary or Treasurer and securing a certificate of membership entitling the holder to the privileges of the Association for one year.

The meeting adjourned to meet Monday, Nov. 22, 1897, at four o'clock.

Conover, quarter-back on the Reserves, made an easy touchdown against the 'Varsity last week. Catching the ball from a punt, he eluded all the 'Varsity men and ran half the length of the field.

Art Exhibits.

The Farther Lights, home and foreign mission society of the Baptist church, held an art exhibit and sale at the residence of Prof. W. G. Owens, Saturday afternoon and evening. Fifty handsome steel engravings were neatly mounted and arranged about the drawing room which was transformed into a delightful art gallery comfortably filled with visitors during the hours of the exhibit. Prices ranged from five cents to one dollar and many pictures were sold. Ice cream, confections and cakes were also on sale. Every person present asserted that the affair was well designed to satisfy both the aesthetic and the gastronomic tastes of the most fastidious patron.

Another interesting display was the water color sketches of artist J. Wesley Little, of New York, arranged and exhibited during Saturday morning and afternoon in Bucknell Hall. These numbered about forty and were very pretty although unfinished. They represent scenes sketched in this region by the young artist during October. Prof. Martin has the thanks of the many visitors for securing the display from his friend, Mr. Little, who was also present.

Delightful Straw Ride.

A number of the College boys, among whom the Anderson Club was well represented, gathered at Sixth and Market streets Tuesday evening where they were joined by a like number of the fair sex, and the party seated in a wagon decorated with orange and blue and filled with straw, were off for Milton. After a jolly trip, all presented themselves at the home of W. A. Neagley and mother, where they were made welcome during an evening of social pleasure and bounteous feast. At a late hour, the party broke up and returned to old Bucknell with the happiest recollections and best wishes to the Neagleys where they have a standing invitation to return for a similar enjoyable evening.

A Bucknell Graduate.

At the convention of the Union County Teachers' Association, held in Lewisburg, Saturday, Oct. 30, Mr. Albert C. Johnson, '96, gave an interesting talk on "Recent School Legislation," giving the field covered by laws enacted by the last legislature as laws relating to school taxes, distribution of the State appropriation, school debts, school libraries, school books, compulsory attendance, and miscellaneous laws. His treatment of the subject was thorough and in detail.

Tuesday, November 9, 1897.

This is the week of the great State-Bucknell annual foot ball contest and as the morn of the eventful day draws near, thousands of people in central Pennsylvania are making every preparation to witness the game. Excursion trains will run on all railroads to Williamsport next Saturday carrying the crowds of college men and their friends. It is thought almost a thousand people will go from Lewisburg. A mass meeting of the students will be held Friday afternoon to organize the supporters of the orange and blue. As usual, Bucknell's headquarters in Williamsport will be at the Updegraff.

Meanwhile, two elevens of sturdy foot ball athletes are plunging and rushing in hard practice on their ovals. On the part of Bucknell, the presence of a number of old players will make the daily line-up quite interesting. Both teams are trying to get into the best possible condition. For State, coach Atherton played against Cornell last Saturday. Even if Atherton and Stuart are barred and do not play in the game, we must not underestimate State's strength nor should we lose confidence in our team. Eleven men will wear the orange and blue who have become an inseparable part of old Bucknell by association in our college life and participation in our athletic games. Supplementing the college spirit will be the glory of victory, the fear of defeat to spur each man on to his best work.

This season, State has a heavier team than Bucknell and a stronger team than last year. University of Penn. has defeated both elevens, the scores being: U. P. 17, B. U. 0; U. P. 33, B. U. 0; and U. P. 24, State 0.

Other comparisons are indirect. Coach George Woodruff of Pennsylvania said that Bucknell's hard and active play at the beginning of the season would make her more than a match for any rivals but that the team might lag and show lifeless play before the important games. This has happened in the games with the U. P. Reserves and Bloomsburg Normal. The rest last Saturday ought to have done our team good. Both State and Bucknell play better in the last than in the first half so we may expect to see a stubborn contest until the referee calls time at the end of the game.

Prize Foot Ball Songs.

A number of persons responded to the request made by the ORANGE AND BLUE for a foot ball song to be used at the State-Bucknell game next Saturday. Yesterday morning the judges, Prof. Enoch Perrine of the College, Miss Maud E. Hanna of the Institute, and Mr. Frank W. Dillon, editor-in-chief of this paper, selected the two prize songs as the best, which are published this week as a supplement.

These songs are vigorous in tone, lively in metre, and have the words well arranged to the patriotic airs which will inspire enthusiasm in the breast of every loyal Bucknell student when rendered at the great game on Saturday.

An Outsider's Opinion.

Editor Logan, of Milton, saw the Bucknell—Bloomsburg foot ball game here and expressed his opinion in the following paragraph from the last issue of the Miltonian:

"We noticed a disposition on the part of players of the Bloomsburg Normal Foot Ball team in their late game with Bucknell, to injure and put out of play halfback Hoffman. The attempts were many but unsuccessful—and one man from Bloomsburg, who tackled, choked and struck our former townsman, when he held the ball out of bounds, received a well deserved swat from a local onlooker that was a full receipt for his own outlay of roughness. So patient was the effort to put Hoffman out that the local constabulary was invited on the field to maintain order and prevent damage being done the young man. Score, Bucknell 6, Bloomsburg 0, but the weight of the latter should have given them an easy victoy."

Inter Society Debate.

Next Friday evening, Nov. 12, Bucknell Hall will be filled by friends of the literary societies eager to hear and applaud their representatives on the inter-society debate. Those who put forth the best arguments will be selected for the inter-collegiate debates this year. Owing to the arrangement, it will be seen that neither society can win the debate, but the young men have the advantage of not being restrained by supporting the weaker side. The question is: "Resolved, that proportional representation is better than the present system." On the affirmative are Forrester and Meeker of Theta Alpha, and Rawlinson, Nesbit and Bell of Euepia. Negative, Gilpin, DeWitt and Fithian of Theta Alpha; Robbins and Carringer of Euepia.

The Orange and Blue Supplement.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY, NOVEMBER, 9, 1897.

GLORIOUS CRY OF VICTORY.

FIRST PRIZE.

Tune—"Battle Cry of Freedom."

Yes, we'll rally round the flag boys,
The Orange and the Blue,
Shouting the glorious cry of Victory,
We will rally for old Bucknell
And prove our mettle true
Shouting the glorious cry of victory.

CHORUS:—
'Tis Bucknell forever, hurrah boys hurrah!
Down with State College,
Don't let her score,
While we rally round the flag boys
The Orange and the Blue
Shouting the glorious cry of victory.

O we're bound to win to-day, boys,
As we have won before,
Shouting the battle cry of victory;
For by rushing hard and often,
We won't let the farmers score,
Shouting the battle cry of victory

CHORUS:—
O we'll run the ends to-day boys
And buck the centre too,
Shouting the battle cry of victory;
We will follow interference and
We'll push the tackles through
Shouting the battle cry of victory.

CHORUS:—

—B. F. Thomas.

WIN WE MUST AND WILL.

SECOND PRIZE.

Air—"Hold the Fort."

Now you're off boys, rush 'em hard boys,
State shall never score.
Can we beat them? Yes, defeat them;
We've downed them twice before.

CHORUS:—
Hold the line, our backs are coming,
Cober signals still;
Now Bucknell we want a touchdown,
Win we must and will.

Strike their line boys! strike it hard, boys,
Down the White and Blue,
Plow right through State College's center,
Hurrah for th' Orange and Blue.

CHORUS:—

Mass formations! Great creations!
Show them all your skill;
Force them back across their goal line,
Win we must and will.

CHORUS:—

Oh! Bucknell you are a wonder,
Always loyal and true;
You're a credit to your College,
And the Orange and Blue.

CHORUS:—

—E. Slifer Walls.

Last Friday evening, Professor Hulley addressed the Dauphin county teachers' institute held at Halifax. On Saturday evening, Oct. 30, he lectured before a Baltimore audience, his theme being "Robert Burns."

Pick-Ups.

Practice this week will be long, hard and snappy.

The 'Varsity tackles were stronger than ever last week.

The 'Varsity players did not regret having no game last Saturday.

Coach Orbison will not return to Philadelphia until after the State game.

Remember fellow students, no other thought, the orange and blue MUST win!

The State College foot ball team passed through Lewisburg on their way to Ithaca, N. Y., where they played Cornell last Saturday.

Saturday's foot ball games that were of interest to Bucknell students resulted: U. of P. 20, Indians 10; Cornell 45, State 0; Bloomsburg Normal 13, U. P. Reserves 0; Susquehanna Univ. 96, Muney H. S. 0.

Tuesday, November 9, 1897.

This is the week of the great State-Bucknell annual foot ball contest and as the morn of the eventful day draws near, thousands of people in central Pennsylvania are making every preparation to witness the game. Excursion trains will run on all railroads to Williamsport next Saturday carrying the crowds of college men and their friends. It is thought almost a thousand people will go from Lewisburg. A mass meeting of the students will be held Friday afternoon to organize the supporters of the orange and blue. As usual, Bucknell's headquarters in Williamsport will be at the Updegraff.

Meanwhile, two elevens of sturdy foot ball athletes are plunging and rushing in hard practice on their ovals. On the part of Bucknell, the presence of a number of old players will make the daily line-up quite interesting. Both teams are trying to get into the best possible condition. For State, coach Atherton played against Cornell last Saturday. Even if Atherton and Stuart are barred and do not play in the game, we must not underestimate State's strength nor should we lose confidence in our team. Eleven men will wear the orange and blue who have become an inseparable part of old Bucknell by association in our college life and participation in our athletic games. Supplementing the college spirit will be the glory of victory, the fear of defeat to spur each man on to his best work.

This season, State has a heavier team than Bucknell and a stronger team than last year. University of Penn. has defeated both elevens, the scores being: U. P. 17, B. U. 0; U. P. 33, B. U. 0; and U. P. 24, State 0.

Other comparisons are indirect. Coach George Woodruff of Pennsylvania said that Bucknell's hard and active play at the beginning of the season would make her more than a match for any rivals but that the team might lag and show lifeless play before the important games. This has happened in the games with the U. P. Reserves and Bloomsburg Normal. The rest last Saturday ought to have done our team good. Both State and Bucknell play better in the last than in the first half so we may expect to see a stubborn contest until the referee calls time at the end of the game.

Prize Foot Ball Songs.

A number of persons responded to the request made by the ORANGE AND BLUE for a foot ball song to be used at the State-Bucknell game next Saturday. Yesterday morning the judges, Prof. Enoch Perrine of the College, Miss Maud E. Hanna of the Institute, and Mr. Frank W. Dillon, editor-in-chief of this paper, selected the two prize songs as the best, which are published this week as a supplement.

These songs are vigorous in tone, lively in metre, and have the words well arranged to the patriotic airs which will inspire enthusiasm in the breast of every loyal Bucknell student when rendered at the great game on Saturday.

An Outsider's Opinion.

Editor Logan, of Milton, saw the Bucknell—Bloomsburg foot ball game here and expressed his opinion in the following paragraph from the last issue of the Miltonian:

"We noticed a disposition on the part of players of the Bloomsburg Normal Foot Ball team in their late game with Bucknell, to injure and put out of play halfback Hoffman. The attempts were many but unsuccessful—and one man from Bloomsburg, who tackled, choked and struck our former townsman, when he held the ball out of bounds, received a well deserved swat from a local onlooker that was a full receipt for his own outlay of roughness. So patient was the effort to put Hoffman out that the local constabulary was invited on the field to maintain order and prevent damage being done the young man. Score, Bucknell 6, Bloomsburg 0, but the weight of the latter should have given them an easy victoy."

Inter Society Debate.

Next Friday evening, Nov. 12, Bucknell Hall will be filled by friends of the literary societies eager to hear and applaud their representatives on the inter-society debate. Those who put forth the best arguments will be selected for the inter-collegiate debates this year. Owing to the arrangement, it will be seen that neither society can win the debate, but the young men have the advantage of not being restrained by supporting the weaker side. The question is: "Resolved, that proportional representation is better than the present system." On the affirmative are Forrester and Meeker of Theta Alpha, and Rawlinson, Nesbit and Bell of Euepia. Negative, Gilpin, DeWitt and Fithian of Theta Alpha; Robbins and Carringer of Euepia.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES.

Gleaned From the Events of the Week on the Campus.

—Williamsport's streets will be trodden by hundreds of college students next Saturday. Will you be in the crowd?

—Nightly the campus is ablaze with fires while both students and janitors give way to signs of ire, if you remark, "When will those leaves stop falling?"

—The Bucknell band delighted the residents of Lewisburg with an open air concert on corner Third and Market on Saturday evening. Howard Paul is leader of the band.

—The Junior classmen applanded long and vigorously when the Freshmen girls appeared in Bucknell Hall Wednesday morning wearing their new class caps with royal purple tassels.

Almost everybody in this section of Pennsylvania will go to the annual Bucknell-State game next Saturday.

Is this Bucknell's year to win? Look at the past scores: In 1891, State 18, Bucknell 0; '92, Bucknell 6, State 4; '93, State 34, Bucknell 18; '94, State 12, Bucknell 6; '95, State 16, Bucknell 0; '96, Bucknell 10, State 0. The answer is, it is our year to win and we play better foot ball than our opponents.

OLD BUCKNELL SCORED.

Thompson Saves the Orange and Blue From Being Shut Out.

State College's Superior Weight and Our Weak Interference Bring Defeat.—The Score, 27 to 4.

"One day in chill November after harvest of '97,
"When th' corn was shock'd an' taters in th' hole,
"Came the farmers from State College marshall'd in an heavy 'leven,
"And they often, yes too often, reached our goal."
—Rearranged for the occasion.

Old Sol on his afternoon journey through the deep blue sky, looked down smilingly on the eleven young sons of Bucknell valiantly struggling against a line of muscle and brains made almost invincible by a superiority in avoirdupois: but whenever State held the ball for those splendid gains, the orb of day hid behind banks of fleeting clouds, so blue and white might prevail in the heavens and on earth alike. Strong Boreas coming from his home in the north lands, battled with old Sol for supremacy. He wafted gleefully aloft the oval urged on its upward flight by Atherton's experienced and well trained foot, and dropped it down at the other end of the gridiron; he chilled the hearts and drowned the voices of Bucknell's cheering throng; and when old Sol had disappeared beneath the shades of evening, Boreas still blew staunch and strong to float the victorious banners of the blue and white and to assist in the joyous demonstration over State's noble revenge for the defeat of '96. Only once did old Sol come clearly into view when he looked down to see our wily tackle Thompson burst through the line of blue stockings, throw a stalwart State back over his shoulder, and pick up the ball for a thirty yard run and Bucknell's single touchdown. It softened the pangs of defeat and will always be remembered as a brilliant play.

What was the cause of such a crushing defeat? Coach Young said: "Bucknell did not kick half often enough in the first part of the game when they had the wind." How much advantage would this give with Atherton returning the ball to its starting place even against the wind? Eighteen hundred people saw State College line up with a team averaging over twenty pounds heavier to the man than Bucknell. It was not merely beef, it was well developed strength and muscle of men determined to win, of giants who linked arms and headed by Atherton swept around Bucknell's ends like an avalanche. The ends fell down before this interference, Cober and Rowe tore it asunder, Hoffman and Garner tackled fiercely, but Catterall often had to plunge into a group of rushers and stop the man with the ball by sheer determination. Every Bucknell man played the game of his life, still State advanced. When Bucknell held the ball, McChesney, Curtin, Cure, and often the forwards were through to break up our weak interference before it could form and down the backs for a loss. Bucknell could gain only through the line. Two 15 yard gains were the longest for the orange and blue except Thompson's surprising run for a touchdown. Curtin and Cure followed State's interference alternately for long gains and touchdowns.

During the first half, Bucknell had the advantage of the strong wind and State could score but once. Captain Cober chose to defend the north goal. Atherton kicked off to Cober on Bucknell's 25 yard line. State was given the ball for an off side play when Catterall punted on the 35 yard line. Bucknell got the ball on the 15 yard line. Cober gained twice but the backs lost. State fumbled and Hoffman fell on the ball. Catterall punted to Atherton but Rowe secured the ball on the 35 yard line. Catterall's punt was returned by Atherton. Catterall punted out of bounds. State was given 5 yards for interference with centre. Jenkinson and Craig tackled for losses. Atherton punted to Catterall on the 15 yard line. Bucknell could not gain. State secured the ball on a punt. Cure advanced 8 and Atherton 3 yards. Thompson tackled Curtin for a loss. Cure gained 5. Curtin went around right end for a 40 yard run and the first touchdown. Atherton failed to punt out the ball successfully and lost the chance at goal. Score, 4 to 0.

Cober kicked off behind State's goal line. Atherton made a touchback and punted from the 25 yard line. Catterall gained 5, Hoffman 5 on a fake kick, Cober 3 and Jenkinson 8 yards. Craig had his elbow dislocated and had to leave the game. Humeston was substituted and put up a strong defence. Jennings secured the ball when Curtin fumbled. Bucknell was given 10 yards for off side. Cober gained 8 yards but Hoffman fumbled and State held ball. Curtin made 30 yard end run. The ball was fumbled, Atherton kicked it on the ground 15 yards, but State was off side and Bucknell received the ball. Hoffman made an end run of 15 yards. Catterall tried a drop kick for goal but failed. Atherton fumbled and the first half ended with the ball on State's 5 yard line. Score, 4-0.

In the second half, Cober kicked off and Atherton returned by punting. State secured the ball.

INTER-SOCIETY DEBATE

Quite Well Attended in Bucknell Hall Friday Evening.

Messrs. DeWitt, Carringer, and Forrester Chosen for Inter-Collegiate Contests.

The preliminary demonstrations to the foot ball game reduced the audience at the Inter-Society Debate in Bucknell Hall last Friday evening. Those who attended were well pleased with the earnest endeavor of the young orators to excel. All the arguments were put forth in good style. The judges were Professors Bartol and Hamblin and Instructor Kauffman. They selected as the three young men who excelled in argument, presentation, and general effect, DeWitt and Forrester of Theta Alpha and Carringer of Euepia. The question was: "Resolved, that proportional representation is better than the present system."

Contestants were, Affirmative—Forrester, Meeker, Rawlinson, Nesbit and Bell. Negative—Gilpin, DeWitt, Fithian, Carringer and Robbins. No decision as to the side winning was given.

Some of the points made by the affirmative were: 1, A vast majority of voters unrepresented; 2, Taxation without representation; 3, In many instances majority does not rule; 4, Proportional representation would prevent gerrymandering. On the negative, 1, Impracticable; 2, Opposed to principles of representative government; 3, Often prevents carrying out of a party policy.

BUCKNELL MINSTRELS.

A Big Entertainment for the Benefit of the Foot Ball Team.

Coming, the "hottest thing on earth." The Bucknell minstrels expect to arrive here Nov. 23rd by freight, introducing all the latest songs, dances and a big list of specialties. 'Shorty' McPherson the funniest thing you ever looked at; Andy Sticker, from Milton, just rolled in; Bob VanValzah, the greatest thing that ever came down the pike. Amzi Geary will endeavor to amuse the ladies, while the men go to sleep. Mr. Phil Murphy expects to skate up from Sunbury, to tell a little tale all by himself. The solos, well they are the greatest things that ever happened. The chorus is good, of course.

Everybody come, if you havn't got the coin borrow it. Benefit of foot ball team. Tuesday evening, November 23rd.

Show your loyalty to Bucknell by patronizing the minstrels.

Dr. Wayland Hoyt's Lectures.

Dr. Wayland Hoyt, of Philadelphia, gave a course of three interesting and instructive lectures before the College and Academy students in Bucknell Hall last Tuesday. The geniality and familiar style of the speaker greatly impressed the students. A brief analysis of the lecture is given:

8:15 A. M. I. How I Missed It in College.

The college course is the pivotical period in a man's life.

1. How I did not miss it in College.

(a) By matriculating at small college. (b) By thorough study. (c) By special attention to analysis. (d) By seizing every chance to write orations and essays. (e) By giving particular attention to declamation. (f) By wide reading on line of special studies. (g) By being thoroughly identified with religious life. (h) By care of health. (i) By not using tobacco. (j) By taking sleep. (k) Came near missing it by preaching in College.

2. How I did miss it in College.

(a) In thinking myself wiser than the wise men who laid out the course. (b) In not gathering a vocabulary. (c) In trusting too much to superficial knowledge and cramming. (c) In not reading enough.

11 A. M. II. The Laws of Expression.

Those who witnessed the State Bucknell game on the 13th were convinced that "padding" was too evident to call it college foot ball. It is a deplorable fact that collegiate foot ball is not strictly college foot ball, but that "stars" are sought by almost every team without regard to standing, considering neither their knowledge of what a book is or whether they have passed the legitimate playing limit. Such a condition of affairs is rapidly corrupting the game. The question is, Shall it continue? Better stop the game than blacken a college or university reputation by corrupted athletics. Would it not be possible to make up a winning team from students thoroughly in earnest in getting an education, and thus play college ball. Past experience may have shown a lack of interest or ability, but surely there is little encouragement for a student to play, when used merely to help out, knowing at the same time that for special work some so-called expert will step in and take his place.

It is also hoped that the rules of foot ball will speedily change the sport to an open game, so that the result of the game will not depend on the side that can push the harder. If this were brought about there would be no necessity for scouring the country for players large enough to eat an ordinary man.

Conover, the Reserves' quarter back, had the pleasure of scoring a touch down and field goal from the 25 yard line against the 'Varsity last Thursday afternoon.

OLD BUCKNELL SCORED.

Curtin made end runs of 20 and 15 yards and Randolph scored the touchdown. McChesney kicked goal making the score 10-0.

Cober kicked past the goal line and Atherton punted from the 25 yard line. Hoffman gained 6 yards on a fake kick but Nattress lost 10. On a double pass, Nattress lost 12 yards. Scholl blocked Catterall's punt by kicking the ball, then picked up the oval and ran 20 yards for a touchdown. McChesney kicked goal, 16-0.

Atherton returned the kick off. Curtin made a 20 yard end run. Riemer was put out of the game and Ward who was substituted, did fine work in breaking up the interference. Curtin gained 10 and Cure 8 yards. Atherton tried for field goal from the 40 yard line and failed. Catterall punted in return and Bucknell was given ball for off side.

Punts were exchanged. Curtin made 10 yards and Cure 5. B. U. ball. Nattress was struck in the face and Cure got the ball. Smith substituted for Nattress. Cure plunged and rolled 30 yards for a touchdown. McChesney kicked goal, 22—0.

Cober kicked off, Atherton returned, and Catterall was forced to punt. Curtin fumbled and Hoffman fell on the ball. Hoffman gained 15 yards around the end. Smith lost 5 yards and Catterall tore through centre for an advance of 15 yards. State's ball on downs. Thompson broke through the line and upset Cure who fumbled the ball. Thompson picked it up and ran 30 yards for the touchdown. Catterall failed at goal, 22—4.

Curtin and Cure made good gains to the 20 yard line where McChesney kicked a field goal making 27 to 4.

Atherton left the game, McChesney going to full back and Rawn to end. Curtin made a 35 yard run stopped by Catterall. Bucknell's ball on fumble. The ball was in the centre of the field when the game ended. Score, 27 to 4.

The Girls Did Not Go.

A number of the young ladies rooming at the Institute were disappointed because they were refused permission to go to Williamsport to see the State-Bucknell game. A petition from the College boys was sent to President Harris but the decision was final. The girls were allowed to enjoy the familiar scenes about Lewisburg on the eventful day and adapted the following chorus to their feelings:

"Cheer Bucknell our team's a daisy,
Old B. U. has gone to play,
But you'll find the girls so true
Not a match for th' powers of two Oh, you bet we'll never see that game to-day."

Pick-Ups.

Dale Wolfe and Kauffman, '95, greatly strengthened the Reserves by playing their positions last week.

If we are to beat State next year every loyal Bucknell man must begin now to look out for good material from the prep school teams.

The scores of the college foot ball games on Saturday were: Harvard 0, Yale 0; U. P. 22, Wesleyan 0; Cornell 42, Williams 0; Lehigh 45, N. Y. Univ. 0; Franklin & Marshall 2, U. P. Reserves 2; Lafayette 19, Dickinson 0; Susquehanna 36, Berwick 0.

New College Magazine.

Prof. Louis B. Sinnette writes thus from the Kutztown Normal: "I hope the Mirror situation will give rise to a Bucknell Magazine which may become an educational power among Bucknell graduates. I shall give the enterprise my support. The alumni are greatly in need of such a paper."

Institute Notes.

Miss Lula Sanders, formerly of the Sem, was in town Saturday.

Miss Bess Wells spent Saturday and Sunday with her sister in Williamsport.

Miss Stanton gave a candy pull to all the girls, on Saturday evening, which was much enjoyed.

Misses Wheeler, Clara Wilson, Edith Shepherd and Edith Phillips were delegates to the Y. W. C. A. convention held at Wilkesbarre.

The Bucknell Intitute Alumnae held their monthly meeting in the Institute parlors. Reports were made by Mrs. A. T. Loomis and Mrs. W. C. Walls, delegates to the Federation of Penn'a Women, recently held at Harrisburg.

Although the girls were not allowed to go to the State game, yet their enthusiasm was by no means dampened. Saturday afternoon a grand parade marched through the buildings and around the campus. A mass meeting was held at which college yells were given, songs sung and fervent wishes that State might not score, indulged in.

Academy Notes.

John Evans preached in Danville on Sunday.

Prof. Phillips spent Sunday at his home in Plymouth.

Will Evans has been pledged to Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

C. H. Elliott spent Sunday with his mother at Hartleton.

McCracken has been home attending the funeral of a relative.

Boone, who attended the Cad two years ago, is here visiting friends.

Nearly all the Cad boys saw the game at Williamsport on Saturday.

Principal T. A. Edwards preached in the Presbyterian church Sunday evening.

Mr. Wm. B. Sheddan, class of '95, has entered Princeton Theological Seminary.

Prof. Louis B. Sinnette, who is teaching in Kutztown Norma. sent substantial contributions to the foot ball team and track fund.

BUCKNELL'S ELEVEN, '97.

Review of the Foot Ball Season and Names of Players.

For 1898 Bucknell Must Have Heavier, Well Trained Players and More College Games.

The foot ball season for '97 at Bucknell ended with the playing of the last game scheduled, State College against Bucknell, at Williamsport, Nov. 13. Starting with a strong, fast game against the Univ. of Pa. team on Sept. 22, Bucknell began to show a lack of energy in the game with the U. P. Reserves less than a month later. A short rest and great confidence in our superior weight gave Bucknell the victory over Lehigh after the brown and white had scored enough points to win. The big losses on fumbles and mistakes were overcome by the most determined "up hill" game Bucknell played this season. The next week Bucknell met the heavy Bloomsburg team in a rough contest in which the Normal forced the orange and blue back to within a foot of the goal line. This game was won by a good end run, but the most ardent admirers of Bucknell felt discouraged with our weak team play. Then came the final contest with State College two weeks later. Every player was in the game at all times but no one seemed able to do effective work. No other reason can be given than the superior weight and interference of State and their determination to have revenge for the defeat of '96. Bucknell had scarcely any interference in the game and we played our lightest backs.

Several things are to be regretted in the past season—the loss of the State game, the heavy financial deficiency entailed by placing all confidence in large receipts at the State game, the loss of heavy players early in the season, and the absence of more college games in the schedule. Games with Dickinson, Franklin and Marshall, and Gettysburg Colleges were abandoned because arrangements satisfactory to both parties could not be made. There are other colleges in our class, but it is better not to play at all than to meet other than college elevens except for practice games.

We can learn a lesson from State's plan adopted after the '96 game. Now is the time to begin observation and work to succeed in '98. Bucknell must have heavier players especially behind the line. All players should be college men. The team must have more systematic financial assistance from the students. In place of engaging a coach, Bucknell should have an athletic trainer who can take charge of the gymnasium and be capable of coaching each athletic team in its season. He could be assisted by alumni coaches during times of special preparation.

The official record and weight of every man who has played on the 'Varsity during '97 is given. These are compiled from the ORANGE AND BLUE records:

Players.	Class.	Pos.	Wt.	Games.	Touch-downs.	Goals.

THE BUCKNELL RESERVES.

The Reserves played one game, Nov. 6, at Milton, with the Y. M. C. A., and won by a score of 12 to 0. The players were: Christy, capt.; Conover, Davis, Dillon, Gray, Hoffa, Krise, Magee, Morris, Pierson, Sherman, Sherwood and Wassell.

Natural History Society.

Yesterday afternoon at the Laboratory the Natural History Society listened to an interesting discussion and reading on "The Argument for Evolution as Shown by the Geographical Distribution of Animals." This is not a new organization but meets at the Lab. every Monday afternnon.

—Last Saturday Prof. Hulley addressed the teachers of Columbia County on "The Methods of Teaching History." Next Saturday, he will lecture upon a similar theme before the teachers of Williamsport.

—The Y. M. C. A. has recently purchased some new chairs to accommodate the increased attendance. The usual meeting will be Wednesday evening. A Thanksgiving service will be held; leader Charles Meeker.

—The scores of leading foot-ball games Saturday were: Pennsylvania 15, Harvard 6; Yale 6, Princeton 0; Dickinson 42, Franklin and Marshall 0; Annapolis Cadets 28, Lehigh 6; State College 10, Bloomsburg Normal 0.

MINSTRELS TO-NIGHT.

The Bucknell Minstrel Show for the Benefit of Athletics.

It Promises to be a Big Success. A Racy Program of Numerous and Select Specialties.

The most brillant array of talent, the most gigantic aggregation of ability, and the most incomparable amplification of genius will appear in the opera house this evening. Even a superficial glance at a few of the universally-famed and world-renowned actors is sufficient to convince the most incomprehensive mind that Lewisburg will never again witness such a stupendous conglommeration of heterogeneous theatrical phenomena whose inconceivable profundity of pathos and illimitable versatility of comicalities has caused alternately the precipitation of millions of imperturbable and hypochrondriacal people into oceans of tears and paroxysms of cachinations. The first part of the program will consist of the most magnificent olio ever enjoyed by man upon the terrestial globe. This feature of the entertainment has been repeatedly rendered before the European nobility by special requests. The finest singers and the most excellent dancers that the world can produce and money procure are here introduced. The sentimentality as well as the sublimity of the singing is so perfect that the performers have not only been the happy recipients of unbounded hospitality, but have also been overwhelmed with adulation and surfeited with attentions by every nation before whom they have appeared. The dances have been pronounced by the most competent connoisseurs as the perfection of the Terpsichorean art.

The second part is concededly the most delightful and novel performance that the brain of man has ever conceived and human tact has ever executed. In this act McPherson, Hood and Halfpenny appear, a trio, whose acts of hilarities have produced such laughter as to require the calling out of the police force and military companies to restore quiet. Kassler will startle the audience by his majestic intrepidity and extraordinary feats upon a slack wire.

Bucknell wizard, who has mystified thousands of audiences both in America and Europe by his magical powers, will execute a large number of new feats that will put forever to shame the works of both the ancient and modern magicians. His acts are so marvelous that many people attribute to him superhuman powers. The act entitled "How Bucknell didn't beat State College," is a unique performance never before produced either in the circus ring or upon the stage. State's line will be firm and fixed and Bucknell's cannot be withstood, consequently the great question which has caused thousands of philosphers to engage in controversial encounters and millions of debaters into oratorical combats, "What will be the result if an irresistible body comes in contact with an immovable mass?" will be forever solved.

At noon today the troupe will have a street parade when one of the most elaborate displays that ever titillated the senses or intoxicated the eyes of the public will pass through the street. Teamsters are requested to pay special attention to the security of the horses along the route, as the glitter and brilliancy of the pageantry has caused thousands of runaways and innumerable damage litigations. The management disclaims all responsibility for accidents from this source.

Athletic Association Election.

Yesterday afternoon the Bucknell Athletic Association met with B. F. Thomas presiding. Fifty members were present and harmony reigned supreme. Minutes of two last meetings approved. Amendments adopted will be published next week. In the election Fithian, Gilpin and Cober were tellers.

Mr. George T. Ritter, of '98, was the only nominee for base ball manager. David Elliot, '98, was the only nominee for basket ball manager so the secretary cast ballot. Speeches were made by the new managers. The position of the executive board was discussed. The committee appointed to draw up constitutional amendment on the duties of the board were: Nesbit, Gilpin, Koch, Cober and Wassell. Resolutions of the finance committee regarding training table will be published in THE ORANGE AND BLUE next week and acted upon at the next meeting.

The New Magazine.

A meetng of the students was held Saturday morning, presided over by President C. D. Koch, of the former Mirror Association. The new Mirror Association was organized with a new constitution and by-laws. Officers elected were J. C. Hazen, president; G. W. Alexander, vice president; D. H. Robbins, secretary. The publication of the new monthly magazine will begin in January at fifty cents a term. H. L. Purdy is business manager and R. G. Pierson, assistant. The staff is C. A. Lindemann, editor-in-chief; B. F. Thomas O. J. Decker, and Miss Ruth Sprague, assistant editors. Manager Purdy is already hustling for subscribers.

Tuesday, November 23, 1897.

The foot ball season of 1897 has been somewhat disastrous financially. The season closes with quite a debt on hand, although the finance committe will not be able to announce the amount of the indebtedness for several days owing to certain adjudications now pending. Every man who has subscribed toward the maintenance of the team should pay his subscription promptly. The money is needed now more than ever to reduce the various accounts.

Grateful recognition is hereby made to the people of Lewisburg for the share they had in the financial support of the team. Through the diligence of Postmaster Higgins, Lewisburgers subscribed and paid in sufficient money to defray the expenses of Mr. Orbison, one of the coaches, for the season. For this substantial contribution toward athletics at Bucknell, THE ORANGE AND BLUE extends the thanks of the student body.

The students who have pledged money toward athletics this fall should be as faithful in discharging their obligations to foot ball as were the citizens of Lewisburg.

The young ladies of the College and Institute have introduced innovations in the manner of taking physical exercise, which are worthy of commendation. Occasionaily they enjoy a hound and hare chase, as described recently in this paper, and a walking contest such as took place Wednesday afternoon. The beneficial results of such outdoor exercises are so evident that they need little comment. Drills in the gymnasium, basket ball, and indoor games frequently fail to accomplish the object for which they are intended. Gymnastics prove ineffective because they are attended with a sense of weariness and reluctance and executed simply because the rules and regulations of the Institute require it. The other exercises are open to criticism because comparatively few can take part, but walking contests and Hound and Hare chases can be indulged in by an unlimited number at the same time and are the more effective owing to the absence of compulsion. The most invigorating exercise is that which affords sufficient pleasure and enjoyment to render the expenditure of muscle unnoticeable. As the new games referred to meet these conditions, they should rightly secure a permanent place in the list of feminine athletic exercises.

Sudden Death of Mrs. Krise.

Friday afternoon about five o'clock Mrs. Krise, mother of Mr. Daniel H. Krise of the Junior class, died suddenly at her home in Lewisburg from a shock occasioned by bringing into the house Gilbert Wendel, a boy who was injured in a foot ball game. Mrs. Krise thought it was her younger son Lew that was hurt. The funeral was held today at her former home, Liberty, Tioga County. His many Bucknell friends sincerely sympathize with our fellow student Daniel Krise and his father, brother and sisters in the loss of a faithful and kind mother. The Junior class, '99, of the college passed the following resolutions:

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to remove from among us the mother of our class mate, D. H. Krise, and to call her from the scenes of activity in this life to her reward; and

Whereas, Our class mate is now called upon to bear the greatest loss that can befall a young man; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the Junior class of Bucknell University, hereby express our heartfelt sympathy in this hour of his bereavement, directing him to look for strength and comfort to God, "Who hath given and Who hath taken away." Be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to our bereaved classmate and that they be published in THE ORANGE AND BLUE.

PERSONAL AND ALUMNI.

Movements of our Graduates and Friends in College and Town.

Eddie Hoffman umpired the foot ball game at Milton last Saturday.

Instructor Phillips preached in the Watsontown Presbyterian Church on Sunday.

Megargee, who was at Bucknell a few years ago, was subtackle on the U. P. eleven Saturday.

Mr. C. S. Keene, '99, sang a solo during the Sunday morning services at the Presbyterian Church.

Christy, Shortell and William Davis played foot ball with a Lewisburg eleven at Milton last Saturday.

Rev. J. H. Haslam, '90, has declined the call to the First Baptist Church, of Williamsport, bnt an effort will be made to secure him.

Last Saturday forenoon Prof. Owens delighted the Junior class with a graphophone exhibition and several practical demonstrations of physical phenomena.

Prof. G. E. Fisher, of Susquehanna Univ., who graduated at Bucknell in '91, and was instructor in the Academy, preached in the Lutheran Church here Sunday evening.

Last Sunday, at Williamsport, President Harris preached in the First Presbyterian Church in the morning and in the First Baptist Church in the evening. Professor Perrine preached in the First Baptist at the morning service and in the First Presbyterian in the evening.

President Harris returned from Chicago last Friday evening. On Thursday, the last day of the Baptist Congress, "The Psychology of Conversion," was discussed by Rev. Noah Davis, of Univ. of Virginia; President Nathaniel Butler, of Colby Univ; President W. S. Ryland, of Bethel College; and President John H. Harris, of Bucknell.

The Examiner says of Rev. A. R. E. Wyant, '92, Morgan Park, Ill.: "Certainly the field was never more important and promising than today, and that athletic young Theologian, Rev. A. R. E. Wyant, who is now just closing the second year of a singularly successful pastorate at Morgan Park, is to be congratulated upon his equipment and his opportunity."

Singing Night.

We notice in The Phoenix of Swarthmore College an article mentioning a bright feature of College life in vogue at that place.

At a stated time once a week the students meet on an appointed place and observe what they term "Singing Night." They sing class and college songs both new and old, and for a time have a pleasant gathering. Something in that line would not be impossible at Bucknell at least during a portion of the year.

Sidney Hoffa has been home for several days on account of weak eyes.

Capt. Cober, Thompson, Smith, Humeston, Ward and Rowe, of the 'Varsity team, saw the Cad team play Red Top to a standstill Saturday.

Calliopean Literary Society welcomed the presence of Miss Hanna Friday evening. It is hoped that more members of the faculty will favor us with their presence and help make discussions interesting.

The Junior foot ball eleven of the Academy played a tie game, 4 to 4, with the Red Tops of Lewburg, on Saturday, each side making a touchdown but failing at goal. It was a rough and tumble contest in which the boys played brilliantly at times. The main struggle was to retain the ball, so the spectators were kept interested. The lineup and score follows:

Junior Cads 4.		Red Tops 4.
Groff	Cen	Hassenplug
Mann	Right guard	Sylvis
Goodman, Reid, Patchen	Left guard	Ammons
Clark	Right tackle	Swengel
Darlington	Left tackle	Wagoner

W. Hoffa	Left half back	H. Swengle
Bell	Full back	Slifer

Touchdowns, Wagoner, Thomas. Referee, Mr. Kauffman. Umpire, Mr. Rowe. Linesmen, Reideen and Higgins. Time keepers, Gray and C. Elliot. Time, 20 minute halves.

Institute Notes.

Miss Miller spent several days during the past week with her friend Miss Lewis, of Milton.

All the girls are looking forward with much pleasure to the approaching Thanksgiving recess.

Mr. Slifer, '98, has been coaching some of the girls in the most approved methods of track running.

Another walking contest will be held Monday evening between the tables of Miss Wheeler and Miss Miller.

Gymnasium work has begun and is directed with much skill by the new instructor Miss Maud Hanna.

Most of the girls will spend the recess at the Institute as they have been forbidden to leave the building except for the purpose of visiting their homes.

The Reading Explains.

Mr. F. E. Bauser, Traveling Passenger Agent of the Reading railroad at Williamsport, has written to foot ball manager C. D. Koch, a letter expressing the regrets of Mr. Edson J. Weeks, General Passenger Agent of the Reading because of the unavoidable delay to the foot ball excursion train on the morning of Nov. 13. The rush of several hundred people to take the first train to Williamsport was unexpected by the Reading officials who had arranged to handle the crowd on the special excursion train at twelve o'clock. Two extra coaches of an Uncle Tom's Cabin company were added to the heavy train and the engine broke down near Montgomery, causing a delay of over an hour. It was one of those unavoidable accidents which occur when least expected.

Girls' Walking Contest.

The college girls of Miss Bell's table at the Institute issued a challenge for a walking contest, the course to be what is commonly called the "Four-mile circuit." The young ladies of Miss Wheeler's table accepted the challenge and the perambulation along the country roads took place last Wednesday afternoon. The members of Miss Bell's table were the victors and the prize—a handsome silver goblet—was awarded them upon their return to the Institute. Misses Watkins, Sprague and Pooley, the prize winners, covered the distance in 45 minutes. The supper table of the successful competitors was decorated with colors and ornamented with boquets by their college sisters as a mark of appreciation.

George Barelay, of Milton, who started to play foot ball when in Bucknell Academy several years ago, and later developed into Lafayette's star half back, may succeed Parke Davis as coach of the Lafayette College athletes.

ATHLETIC MEETING.

Resolutions of Interest to Athletes Framed by Committees.

Doings of the Various Committies Appointed by the Association—Committee to Meet this Week.

At the athletic association meeting, held on Monday afternoon of last week, the finance committee, composed of Messrs. Hazen, Gretzinger, Bogart, Gilpin and Kress, resolutions concerning the manner in which the training table shall hereafter be conducted, were introduced and discussed. The meeting took no final action on them but the probabilities are that resolutions, virtually similar to those introduced, will be adopted at a subsequent meeting. We append the resolutions, which deserve the persual of every member of the association:

Whereas, in consideration of the heavy expenses involved in maintaining a training table for the development of foot ball at Bucknell University, and in order to furnish an incentive for men to train for the team, be it resolved that hereafter the Finance Committee be empowered to establish such a table only when deemed expedient and not earlier than Oct. 1st and that said Committee be empowered to terminate said training table at any time between Oct. 1st and Thanksgiving Day.

Be it also resolved that five days before Oct. 1st the Executive Committee be requested to meet and select for the training table such men who will in all probability make the regular University team.

Be it further resolved that each individual who may be sent to the table shall be required to pay to the Treasurer of the Association or an authorized representative, the sum of two dollars for each week he remains at the table.

Messrs. Nesbit, Gilpin, Koch, Cober and Wassell, a committee appointed to draw up constitutional amendments on the duties of the executive board, will hold a meeting either today or tomorrow. The action of this committee will be published in our next issue.

A Large Number of Engagements.

Dr. Hulley's reputation as a lecturer and platform orator is manifesting itself in the receipt of more invitations for lectures than he can accept. Not mentioning the requests that he has refused, the following are the engagements for December: 17, "Book of Psalms," West Chester Normal School; 20, "Reilly," Metzger College; 22, "Methods of Teaching History," La Porte; 23, at the mid-winter commencement of the Friends High School of Wilmington, Del.

MUNCHAUSEN OUT-WITTED.

An Editor says "Great and Mighty Things which thou Knowest Not."

We are reluctant to stigmatize any editor as a falsifier, but after reading the following clipping from the Selinsgrove Times in a recent issue, we may be pardoned for assuming that the editor of that sheet does not have the same regard for veracity which characterized the Father of his Country, as the statement of the clipping out-rivals those of Munchausen with Ananias and Sapphira thrown in:

"The Bucknell foot ball team, of Lewisburg, refused to meet the Susquehanna University eleven, of Selinsgrove, on the gridiron at Sunbury last Saturday, simply because they were afraid of receiving a similar dose to the one they were compelled to swallow at Williamsport, administered by State College."

The writer of the clipping in question has either been misinformed or deliberately attempted an imposition upon the credulity of his readers. The managers of the Susquehanna and Bucknell teams had discussed the advisability of playing a game at Sunbury, but before the consummation of the plans, the latter, acting upon the suggestions of several students who are in a position to know, concluded that Sunbury would not be a propitious place to play because the teams would not be able to attract a crowd there large enough to make the affair a financial success. Mr. Koch then wrote to the Susquehanna manager, explaining his reasons for not playing at that place and added that Bucknell would play either at Selinsgrove or at Lewisburg, but stating, however, why a larger crowd could be attracted if Bucknell would play at Selinsgrove than if the game would take place here. Susquehanna agreed with Mr. Koch in his reasons for not playing at Sunbury and also coincided with his ideas on the relative merits of the two towns for drawing a crowd. Mr. Koch was then sententiously informed that they would play here for forty dollars or pay the same amount if the game would take place on their campus, "or not at all." It is an old established law in intercollegiate games of this sort, for the larger colleges to dictate terms and when Selinsgrove tried to reverse this law and with an air of braggadocio attempted to lay down its own conditions, Bucknell politely resented the uncalled-for indignity, whereupon all negotiations were abruptly terminated and not on account of any apprehension of defeat as the Times would have us believe.

BUCKNELL MINSTRELS.

Home and Foreign Talent Play Before a Good Audience.

Athletic Association Benefitted and the Public Well Pleased With the Entertainment.

As predicted in our last issue, the minstrel show, given last Tuesday evening under the auspices of the athletic association, was more of a success than many had anticipated. Every seat in the parquet was occupied, and although the number in the gallery fell below expectations, the character and social standing of that part of the audience compensated the slight numerical deficiency.

The character of the jokes, songs and wit was in keeping with the refinement of the audience while the hooting and irritating whistling generally associated with the "peanut gallery" was "conspicuous for its absence."

The managers, A. A. Leiser and H. L. Purdy, '98, have received many congratulations and complimentary comments for the manner in which the affair was conducted and the musical director, A. S. Sheller, has been accorded the same treatment for the high and classical quality of the music rendered by the orchestra which was, with few exceptions, composed of Bucknell students.

The solos, as well as the quartets and choruses, were highly appreciated, so much so that every soloist responded two or three times to encores. Andy Sticker, of Milton, elicited hearty laughter and loud applause by his monologue. The club swinging, juggling and slack wire performance of Jacob Kassler, of town, was equal to that of a professional, and "Shorty" McPherson, satisfied those of a humorous turn of mind. C. A. Lindemann, '98, in his sleight of hand performance showed a skillfulness equal to that of a more pretentious amateur. Robert VanValzah, of town, acted as stage manager, and the absence of embarrassing delays or humiliating blunders testified to his skill in the manipulation of the scenes and the control of the "soups." The performance closed with a caricature of the State-Bucknell foot ball game, and like a true satirical representation, it revealed the strong features of the one and the weak points of the other in such a manner that the superiority of State's men, both in weight and heighth, was vividly brought out, and the reason why "Buck didn't beat State College" could be seen without the cathode rays.

Paying a percentage of $61.97 for the opera house, and deducting other expenses, the managers cleared $50.00.

ZETA'S ANNUAL PARTY.

The Institute Gymnasium Decorated for the Occasion.

On Friday evening Zeta Literary Society gave her annual Thanksgiving party to her lady friends in the Institute Gymnasium. The gymnasium was tastefully decorated, and rocking chairs, cushions, rugs, and bright lights gave it a very cozy scene. The program of the evening was a vocal solo by Miss Mary Stephens, followed by a farce of John Kendrick Bangs, "Proposing Under Difficulties." The dramatis personæ were Misses Genevieve White, Adelaide Guthrie, Mable Wheeler and Mable Grier. The farce was one of the brightest of the author's, and was carried out with much skill by those taking part, and in a manner which showed that much time and work had been bestowed upon it. The conclusion of the program was a piano solo by Miss Gertrude Stephens. Dancing and refreshments followed and the evening closed with a grand march, led by Misses Hanna and White. The entertainment proved no less pleasant than those formerly given by Zeta and everyone present expressed the wish that the society might continue to live and flourish for many another Thanksgiving.

THE GLEE CLUB.

Bucknell's New Musical Organization to Make a Tour.

The Bucknell Glee Club, composed of C. H. Dutton, J. A. Hague, 1st tenors; G. E. Shilling, E. Flint, 2nd tenors; H. M. Olmstead, M. B. Mulford, 1st basses; W. C. Purdy, W. J. Peacock, 2nd bases, contemplate visiting the towns in the vicinity of Philadelphia, leaving here the 17th day of December and returning a week later. They intend to sing in churches and Y. M. C. A. halls and are satisfied if enough can be realized to cover the expenses incident to such trips. They will increase the membership of the club if the vocal qualifications of the applicant and the success of their plans justify an increase. Should the holiday trip prove successful, more extended tours will be made. As the club is composed of the best vocal talent at college, we are safe in predicting the success of their venture, and that the attainments of the institution will be brought still more prominently before the public after they begin to delight audiences with their "sweetness long drawn out."

Tomorrow evening, in the Presbyterian church, W. M. Bunnell, '96, will be married to Miss Irene Walls, of town.

The Finance Committee of the Athletic Association has in hand a number of bills contracted by unauthorized parties in behalf of the foot ball team. These bills will be summarily dealt with and laid aside indefinitely, for the committee has decided to recognize no bills unless contracted by authority of the same or by the foot ball manager acting in behalf of the committee as its agent. This indiscriminate making of bills must be stopped else the association will never be out of debt. Parties who are foolish enough to sell supplies to persons who do not have the authority to make bills should suffer the loss of the accounts thus contracted.

Heroic efforts will be at once applied to reduce the large debt which at present encumbers the association. Let every student put his shoulder to the wheel and thereby do his little. Persons who have subscribed toward foot ball should pay their subscriptions as promptly as possible.

Publication of the Mirror will be resumed next January. Six numbers will be issued during the present school year for which one dollar will be charged. After June '98, the price of the publication will be one dollar for the school year, and ten numbers will constitute a volume. Manager H. L. Purdy has made a good start already in getting new subscribers and new advertisements. There is enough money outstanding on the old accounts to liquidate the debt of $100.00 now hanging over the old association. Former Manager G. Morgan Davis will endeavor to collect enough back accounts to pay this off. In order to put the magazine on a good basis, old subscribers are urged to pay Manager Purdy at once for their subscriptions for the present year; all arrearages should be paid to Mr. Davis. In this way it is hoped to get the new Mirror well under way after the first of the year.

Coming Wedding.

Col. Howard L. Calder will lead to the altar in the First Baptist church, Broad and Arch streets, Philadelphia, at noon on December 14th, Miss Maud Hanna, the daughter of Judge Wm. B. Hanna, of Philadelphia. A reception will follow the wedding, Captain A. Wilson Norris, of Harrisburg, will be the best man. The wedding breakfast will be given at the Aldine.

Col. Calder is a graduate of Bucknell of the class of 1887. He has a large practice in Harrisburg and has a big reputation as an orator. Col. Calder is at present grand commander of the department of Pennsylvania of the Knights of Malta; he is also judge advocate on Gen. Snowden's staff, N. G. P. The prospective bride, Miss Hanna, graduated from Bucknell Institution in 1886.

Judge Hanna, her father, was elected a trustee of Bucknell a year ago. In 1895 the University bestowed upon his honor the degree of Doctor of Civil Law, the first and only degree of that character thus far conferred by the corporation.

Interesting Y. M. C. A. Services.

The college Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday evening held Thanksgiving services, at which meeting papers from Mr. Lyons, of China, whom the association helps to support, were read and highly appreciated by the members. The association is already making preparations for the week of prayer, to be held the latter part of January, when the spiritual atmosphere, which already so auspiciously surrounds the institution, will become still more invigorating.

A Card of Thanks.

For The Orange and Blue.

The members of the family of Mrs. Gottlob Krise, deceased, wish to return thanks, through the columns of THE ORANGE AND BLUE, for the many kindnesses, the friendly sympathy and the generous assistance given them during the time of their bereavement, especially remembering letters of sympathy from the Professors, the Junior Class, of Bucknell, and others.

Also the many friends who kindly gave words of consolation. For their willing assistance they wish thankfully to mention, Messrs. Armour, Ivins, Hague, Thomas, Dutton, and the members of Liberty Club, also Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Catherman, Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. Wertz, Mrs. Getz, Misses Miller and Gibson, Mr. F. E. Brown and Mr. Stahl.

They were agreeably surprised by the floral tribute and were greatful for the same to the Liberty Club, Gale Wendel, the girls of '99, Mrs. VanGundy, Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. Krise, of Ralston, and Rosa Krise, of Tioga.

They also wish to thank Rev. McGann and family for special interest taken in the bereaved.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES.

Gleaned From the Events of the Week on the Campus.

—Ex-President Hill, on Thanksgiving Day, in Paris, delivered an address at a banquet, on "American Universities."

—Messrs. Packer, Kress and McQuistion attended a dance given by the Americus club, of Sunbury, last Wednesday evening.

—All foot ball equipment of any character whatsoever should be turned in at once to Manager Koch, so that the same may be preserved for use next year.

—As nothing of a special character took place at College during Thanksgiving vacation, a large number of students sought enjoyment and turkey elsewhere.

—Registrar Wm. C. Gretzinger was called to Reading last week to attend the funeral of his grandmother on his mother's side. The six grandsons acted as pall-bearers.

—S. T. Reed, 1900, conducted revival meetings at Chillisquaque mission every evening last week. He was assisted on different occasions by Messrs. Pierce, Weithaase, Thomas, Rawlinson and Meserve.

—Prof. Martin has placed upon the bulletin board a notice, requesting the return of 77 books that are still in the possession of students. A great inconvenience will be obviated if the books are returned as soon as possible.

—The foot-ball subscription paper is in the hands of Manager Koch. In order to close up as many bills as possible, students who have not paid, are urged to do so at once. Those who have not already subscribed should not fail to do so.

—In taking into account the indebtedness of the Athletic Association, it must be born in mind that out of the foot ball receipts the sum of $64.47 was refunded to Registrar Gretzinger, treasurer of the track fund, money borrowed from said fund several years ago.

—The Bucknell Univ. Club, of Philadelphia, will hold its annual banquet at the Colonnade Hotel, in that city, at 6 o'clock, Monday evening, Dec. 6th. It is proposed to make this the largest gathering of the Alumni ever known in that city. Plates can be reserved by writing to Rev. R. B. McDaniel, Oak L, Philadelphia.

—We erred in our last issue in stating that Miss Bell's table won the prize in the girls' walking contest. Miss Bell's table issued a general challenge for such a contest, which was immediately accepted by Miss Wheeler's table, and the victors—Misses Watkins, Sprague, and Pooly—are members of the latter's tabe, instead of the former's, as stated in the last ORANGE AND BLUE. We willingly correct the mistake and humbly confess our inability to grapple with an affair of a strictly feminine character.

Institute Notes.

Quite a large number of the girls spent the holiday at their homes.

Misses Lile Bell, Wilson and Brown took their Thanksgiving dinner with Dr. and Mrs. Stephens.

Misses Phillips, Vaughan, DeWitt and Leinbach spent Thanksgiving day at the Academy with Prof. and Mrs. Edwards.

Mrs. Humphry and her son of the Academy, took tea at the Institute on Friday evening with their friend Miss Crandall.

Miss Shepherd left for her home in Baltimore on Saturday morning after making a visit of several weeks to her sisters.

Boxes from home have been the order of the week and spreads have been indulged in at all hours of the day and night.

Last Thursday afternoon the members of the Mediaeval History class called at the home of their professor, Dr. Hulley, and spent an hour examining the art collection which the genial doctor gathered during his European tour last summer. The hour was closed by reading from the 18th book of Homer.

Registrar Gretzinger entertained the mother of Louis B. Sinnette, '97, at the Academy over Sunday.

NIMRODS AND WALTONS.

Students Who Fired Steady Guns and Swung Balted Hooks.

While J. Z. Rowe and E. Bell were gunning at Chestnut Ridge on Thursday, the former shot a wild turkey weighing 18 pounds. The bird was brought to College where it was admired and commented upon by the students. Subsequently it was taken to the Reitmeyer boarding club, of which the gunners are members, where a wild turkey supper was enjoyed on Saturday evening in remembrance of Mr. Rowe's steady nerve and keen eye.

J. L. Cattell and M. B. Mulford made a hunting expedition to Turtle Creek, on Thursday, and returned with three rabbits, four quails and two pheasants. One of the rabbits ventured to run across the campus, in the rear of the east wing, in front of Mr. Cattell, and of course paid the price of his existence by falling an easy victim to an "infallible" aim.

Last Thursday morning G. A. Grim and R. H. Kress left for Mt. Carmel, where they had intended to spend the Thanksgiving vacation in bagging game. They returned on Sunday evening without having fired a single shot, as it rained almost continually from their arrival until Saturday evening. They did not, however, regret that unfortunate check to their sport, because their enjoyment by other means made up for what they missed on account of the inclement weather. They were evidently entertained in a true, royal style, as on their return home they spoke in eloquent praise of Northumberland County hospitality.

G. L. Bayard and C. A. Weymouth left last Thursday for the home of the latter at Lock Haven, from where they started the following morning on an extended hunting tour. As they had not returned at the time of going to press, we are unable to expatiate upon the result of the trip.

W. T. Tood, a disciple of Izaak Walton, spent several hours last Thursday upon the mossy banks of the romantic Turtle Creek, where he handled the rod and line with sufficient skill as to allure several members of the finny tribe. On his return to College he was congratulated for his success in the piscatorial art.

PERSONAL AND ALUMNI.

Movements of our Graduates and Friends in College and Town.

Miss Anna Rodgers spent the vacation at her home in Allentown.

C. F. Kulp, 1900, preached in the Northumberland church last Sunday.

Miss Emma Bolenius enjoyed her Thanksgiving turkey with relatives at Williamsport.

E. P. Gilchrist, '97, was one of the officials at the State-Dickinson foot ball game at Sunbury on Thanksgiving.

Prof. Louis B. Sinnette, '97, of the Kutztown Normal, delivered the Thanksgiving Day address to the students of that institution.

Editor Dillon, of THE ORANGE AND BLUE, spent Thanksgiving vacation at Ashland, in consequence of which that necessary evil, connected with every printing office, the "devil," furnished material for publication. This information will be considered ample apology for any errors that may be contained in this issue.

Miss Nellie Conrad, 742, 40th St., Philadelphia, Secretary of the Bucknell Alumnae Club, of that city, announces that a luncheon will be given at the Foulke & Long Institute, Philadelphia, at one o'clock, Monday, Dec. 6th. Mrs. Y. W. Kendrick, President of the Alumnae of the Girl's High School, of Philadelphia, will be the guest.

Prof. Elmer E. Cole, of Peddie Institute, died at his father's home near Windsor, N. J., on Wednesday morning last and was buried on Saturday afternoon. Prof. Cole spent his Freshman year at Bucknell and was a fine scholar. He leaves the record of an excellent teacher, beloved by all his pupils.

Next Monday afternoon, Dec. 6th, another "at home" will be held in the Institute parlors. The "at homes" are considered among the most pleasing social functions connected with the institution, which is evidenced by the large number of young men who take advantage of these opportunities to bask in the exhilerating sunlight of the presence of the young ladies.

BASKET BALL GAME.

First Practice Game of the Season of '98.

The 'Varsity Scores Only 12 to 6 on the Second Team.—Good Outlook for a Strong Team.

The basket ball season opened with a preliminary game at the Tustin gymnasium last Friday evening. It was a contest arranged by manager Elliot to give the players a little practice. The attendance was over one hundred, three fourths of the audience being the pretty maidens and teachers from the Institute, who have always shown their appreciation of their favorite game—basket ball—by liberal patronage. There was scarcely an absentee from the group of College girls who joined their Seminary sisters in applauding the efforts of the second team players to win the game. The electric lights shown uninterruptedly on the line of bright colors and pretty faces animated by the success of some idolized player during the first half, but the playing had scarcely stopped when all was darkness. No one was frightened until a party of Freshmen boys gave the 1901 yell. Then the light came on again and the game proceeded without delay.

For the 'Varsity, Captain Mulkie, Weymouth and Catterall showed their experience by several star plays. "Artie" Smith did not play as hard as usual because of his recent sickness. The new men will get into the game better after practicing awhile. The second team played a fast game in the second part of the contest when the 'Varsity men were recovering their wind and tied the score by good throws of Warren, Conover, and Richard Bell. The new players, Bell, C. Elliott, and Sherwood deserve credit for their fast game.

Three ten minute parts were played. Manager Elliott and "Artie" Smith alternated as officials. Captain Mulkie threw the first goal and was followed by "Dave" Elliott and Weymouth, making the score 6 to 0. In the second part, the ball was kept dodging around the 'Varsity goal all the time and was lodged in the basket by quick work of Warren, Conover, and Richard Bell. Then the score was 6 to 6. The third part showed the superiority of the 'Varsity players. Team work was ragged but the second team men left their positions unguarded and Captain Mulkie easily threw two more goals and Weymouth one, putting the score 12 to 6. Six successive failures and the missing of a dozen chances to score showed their lack of practice. No fouls were called until just before the game ended. Acting Captain Wassell would not try for a goal as allowed by the rules. In speaking of the game, Captain Mulkie said: "The fellows played well considering that it was their first game, especially the new men. It was much better than the opening game last year."

The men played as follows:

VARSITY, 12.		SECOND, 6
Smith, D. Elliott, Mulkie,	forwards	Richard Bell, Warren, Sherwood
Weymouth, Catterall, Morris,	centre guards	Wassell Conover, Sherkley, C. Elliot.

Officials, Manager D. H. Elliot and "Artie" Smith. Timekeeper, Christy.

The Debate With F. & M.

Before the end of the term all arrangements will be completed for the debate with Franklin and Marshall. The committee on inter-collegiate debating, Messrs. Carringer, Conover, DeWitt, Fithian, and Rentz, have labored unceasingly to give Bucknell advantage of every point discussed. According to the agreement made with F. & M. before last year's debate, the contest will be held at Lancaster at a date suitable to them. F. & M. has the choice of subject and Bucknell the choice of sides. Mr. Conover has been conducting the correspondence for Bucknell with Mr. Laudenslager who spent his first two years here in the class of '98 and later went to F. & M. The subject recently received was considered too broad for the contest so it has been returned for modification. It is, "Resolved, That the United States should not extend their boundaries any farther." When this point is decided, the arrangements will be practically complete. The date will doubtless be in the second week of February. In order to have a debate at home, communications have been sent to Lehigh University as correspondent.

Two debators only are allowed on each side in the agreement made with Franklin and Marshall so it was necessary to decide which of the three men chosen at the inter-society debate would represent Bucknell. The lot of third man fell to Forrester, leaving Carringer and DeWitt as the debators. These men will defend Bucknell's side of the question against representatives of the literary societies some evening in the near future.

Basket Ball Captain.

There has been a deadlock in the election of a captain for the basket ball team to succeed Captain Mulkie who held the position last season. The six players entitled to a vote, namely, Catterall, Elliot, Mulkie, Smith, Wassell, and Weymouth, met Friday evening but after several ballots of Smith 3, Weymouth 3, no decision was reached. This placed the selection of a captain in the hands of the Executive Board.

HAPPILY WEDDED.

One of Bucknell's Popular Young Graduates Married.

The Presbyterian Sunday School Room the Scene of the Pretty Event Wednesday Evening.

A very pretty wedding took place in the rooms of the Presbyterian Sunday school, on Wednesday evening when Mr. Willard M. Bunnell and Miss Margaret Irene Walls were united in the holy bonds of matrimony.

A large mass of palms and rubber plants formed a pretty green back ground at the front of the main room where the ceremony took place. A little to the left was an orchestra under the leadership of Dr. Aviragnet, assisted by Misses Aikin, Louise Lawshe. Messrs. Weymouth and Ray Wendle, who beautifully rendered an overture, and the Intermezzo of Cavalleria Rusticano, while the guests were assembling. Promptly at eight o'clock the orchestra began the strains of Mendlesshon's wedding march. From the right front entrance came Rev. John B. Grier, D. D., of Danville, and Rev. A. B. Collins, followed by the groom, with Mr. H. C. Stanton as best man. The groom waited at the altar for the bride, who was coming up the right aisle, with her father, Capt. G. W. Walls, proceeded by her six bridesmaids, Misses Miriam Bucher, Emily Blair, Mary Thornton, Clara Russell, Josephine Lawshe and Miss Florence Fulton, (of Shamokin,) and the maid of honor, Miss Mary Matlack. The ushers, who came along the left aisle, were Messrs. C. E. Bunnell, Prof. L. G. C. Riemer, John W. Bucher, M. B. Mulford, C. S. Keene and John V. Lesher.

The bride was gowned in white satin, trimmed with pearl passementerie, tulle veil, carrying a handsome boquet of bride's roses and an Episcopalian prayer book, the latter in deference to the groom, who is a Churchman. Miss Matlack was arrayed in white embroidered mull over white silk with sash and neck trimmings of white silk and valenciennes lace, carrying a large bouquet of very pretty white chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids all wore white organdy over white silk, white satin sashes and neck ribbons, their hair adorned with white aigrettes. The gentlemen were in full dress, with white carnation boutonnieres.

From the church the wedding party were taken to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Walls, on South Third Street, where a quiet home reception was given.

All the decorations were in green and white. After refreshments the bride and groom began their preparations for leaving on the 9:37 Reading train north. Before their departure the Bucknell band serenaded the bride and groom.

The bride, a favorite with all, and one of Lewisburg's highly accomplished young ladies, was kindly remembered by her many friends, the presents being unusually fine, comprising costly articles in silver, china, cut glass, etc.

Mr. Bunnell is a graduate of Bucknell, '97. During his college course he occupied a prominent position in the student body of the university, being an accomplished musician and leader in athletics. At present he is connected with a prominent law firm at Scranton. For the present Mr. and Mrs. Bunnell will make Scranton their home. The ORANGE AND BLUE joins with their many friends in wishing them a happy and prosperous life.

Death of Mrs. Parker.

Mrs. Jno. W. Parker, mother of James E. Parker, of the Freshman class, died at her home in Mahanoy City, Friday morning, Nov. 26, after an illness of but one week. Mrs. Parker was a woman whose kindly disposition and Christian character made her beloved by a large circle of friends. A husband and two children remain to mourn her loss. Penna. Zeta Chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, of which one son, James, is a member, passed the following resolutions of condolence:

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to take away the mother of our beloved brother, James E. Parker, and to call her from the trials and troubles of life, and,

Whereas We realize that in her death and in the absence of her wise counsel and motherly advice, he sustains the greatest loss that can befall a young man, be it

Resolved, That we, the Penna. Zeta Chapter of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity extend our heartfelt sympathy to him and the other members of the bereaved family, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of our brother, that a copy be spread upon the minutes of the chapter and that copies be sent to the ORANGE AND BLUE and the Mahanoy City press.

The opening basket ball game played between the first and second teams Friday night showed that the players had a knowledge of the game far superior to that apparent in the first game last year.

Basket ball unless played with good team work looks to a spectator as a general mix up. This is not the idea of the game. Team work is the most essential requirement for a clean and well played game. This includes quick passing (not hard passing, but quick decision and acting), good formations, cool heads, and perfect harmony among the players.

Individual playing is not to be left out, because each player needs often to outplay his opponent by false movements or hidden passes, before he can pass the ball.

The positions on the team vary much in the manner of playing them. The centre is an all-around player. He should not only be good in defense, but should be able also to avoid his opponent, and furthermore should be the best goal-thrower on the team.

The forward has the most desired position on the team. He has that peculiar pleasure due to success when he throws a goal. And when he misses one he has still a chance to redeem himself.

The guard, on the other hand, has the hardest and most undesirable position on the team. He must keep his opponent (a forward) from getting the ball, and especially from throwing a goal. Therefore having to "stick" to his man, he has few chances to make brilliant plays or to throw goals. Yet he has the most responsibility, and must be a steady man in his position.

The game of last Friday showed that we have men to fill these positions, who with practice and experience will do it in the best manner.

ATHLETIC COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

Constitutional Changes and Suggestions on the Executive Board.

The following article and sections of the Constitution of the Athletic Association as amended by the committe appointed at the last regular meeting, will be presented to the Association for action at its next regular meeting.

ARTICLE IV.

The officers of this Association shall be a President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer, Manager of Foot Ball, Manager of Basket Ball, Manager of Base Ball, Manager of Field and Track Athletics, and an Executive Board, which shall represent four departments of athletics, viz: foot ball, basket ball, base ball, field and track athletics; and which shall consist, also of four distinct executive committees representing each of the aforesaid departments.

The Coach, Captain and Manager of each team in addition to two members of the Faculty or Alumni shall constitute the Executive committee of that department.

Furthermore, there shall be a Finance Committee composed of the Registrar of the University, the Secretary and Treasurer of the Association and two other students.

Section 5.—It shall be the duty of the Manager of each team to schedule games and to perform the business strictly connected with his team; to confer with the Finance Committee concerning finances in the matter of scheduling games, and within four days after returning from each trip, to give an itemized report of the receipts and expenditures of said trip to the Finance Committee, and to turn over net proceeds to the Treasurer.

Section 6.—It shall be the duty of the Executive Committee of each department to procure a Coach for the following year; to select members of each team of that department; and to advise the Manager in regard to scheduling of games and whatever other matters he may suggest.

In order to avoid confusion and to facilitate action, the committee would suggest for the consideration of the members of the Athletic Association, an Executive Board consisting of the following Executive Committees:

Prof. Rockwood, Prof. Kauffman,	Foot Ball.
Prof. Hulley, Judge McClure,	Base Ball.
Prof. Rockwood, Prof. Bartol,	Bas't Ball.
Prof. Stewart, Prof. Hamblin,	Field and Track Ath.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES.

Gleaned From the Events of the Week on the Campus.

—Skating will be the afternoon exercise soon.

—Trolley parties are to be held after Christmas.

—Monday afternoon, the Natural History society discussed, "Evolution from the Standpoint of Embryology," at the Laboratory.

—A number of students will be interested in the election of officers of the Christian Endeavor society at the Baptist church on Wednesday evening.

—Invitations are out for the wedding of Miss Mary M. Kremer, Institute '91, of Centre Hall, Pa., to David Atkinson Solly, ex-'95, of Philadelphia, on Thursday, December 23.

—President J. C. Hazen has called a meeting of the newly organized Mirror board for this Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. All members of the board are requested to be present.

—The Laboratory, Bucknell Hall, and the President's house have been connected by a new line of sewerage. As rapidly as possible, this sewer will be extended to the Academy and College buildings.

—There will be a meeting of the board of directors of THE ORANGE AND BLUE next Saturday afternoon at four o'clock to elect the editorial staff for the winter term. Every director should be present at this meeting.

—The Institute "At Home" yesterday afternoon was well attended and as usual, the young ladies proved to be genial entertainers. Miss Stanton is to be congratulated on making these public receptions such popular informal gatherings.

—A mistake was made in our last issue. The personal which stated that Registrar Gretzinger entertained Louis B. Sinnette's mother over Sunday should have read his mother. Our genial Registrar passed it off as a good joke so that saved the life of the "personal" reporter.

—Thursday about noon, Harry C. Simons, of the Sophomore class, had the misfortune to see the interior decorations of his apartments in the East Hall, Academy, consumed by the accidental igniting of the curtains from the spark of a match. The woodwork was badly scorched. Harry says his personal loss will fall below one hundred dollars, the property destroyed being fully covered with—water.

Rev. Samuel Z. Batten, Bucknell '85, of Morristown, New Jersey, has been awarded a prize of $600, offered by the American Sunday School Union, for the best book written for the society on "Forming and Maintaining Character on Principles of the Bible." Mr. Batten is pastor of the First Baptist Church at Morristown, and a son-in-law of Rev. Merriman, of Lewisburg.

Institute Notes.

Miss Nellie Goddard has been sick for a week past but is now improving.

A large number of the girls attended the basket ball game on Friday evening.

The At Home on Monday evening proved very pleasant and was as successful as any yet held.

Christmas holidays are already receiving much attention and every one is longing for next week.

The cold weather of the past week is directing everyone's thoughts toward skating and ice would doubtless prove very popular.

A great deal of work is being done in the rooms on the third floor of the main building and they bid fair to be very comfortable and a great improvement on the old style.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Have you seen the transformation in the Y. M. C. A. hall?

The subject of the meeting on Tuesday is—"On the Road to Emmaus." Leader, G. W. Alexander.

Mr. Charles Harvey paid us a flying visit Thursday and was present at the Students Volunteer meeting Thursday evening.

The Freshman Bible class has moved from Dr. Perrine's room to Prof. Riemer's. We need better accommodations for our bible classes and meetings.

The colored men of Lincoln University are planning for a fifteen thousand dollar association building. Why not we? Think about this; pray for it.

Academy News.

Pitts was at Danville Sunday.

We have several good basket ball players. Why not organize a 'Cad team?

Calliopean Literary Society has challenged Dickinson Seminary to an inter-scholastic debate. The Seminary has not accepted the challenge.

Editorial Compliments.

Editor McLean, of the Union City Times, so kindly mentions us in a recent issue that we cannot refrain from modestly reprinting this compliment by a friend who has seen so many years of active, successful experience in journalism. The Times says "THE ORANGE AND BLUE is the name of a neat little four column folio paper published weekly by the students of Bucknell University at Lewisburg, Pa. Mr. Frank W. Dillon, of this city, is editor in chief, while Mr. Roy Mulkie, also of this city, looks after the athletic department of the paper. It is a newsy little sheet and reflects credit upon the boys who get it out. We appreciate the copy that finds its way to our tables each week."

Congratulate Capt. Jenkinson.

Saturday afternoon, Manager C. D. Koch called together the players of the 'Varsity foot ball eleven to select a captain for the season of 1898. George Edward Jenkinson, of Atlantic Highlands, N. J., was the unanimous choice of the team. Jenkinson has played in every game this season at right end and being a Senior next year, he will try to give Bucknell the strongest eleven possible. We congratulate Captain Jenkinson. At the same time THE ORANGE AND BLUE joins the student body in extending our thanks to ex-captain Cober for his efficient handling of the team and strong individual play during the past two seasons.

Zeta's Recent Debate.

The young ladies of Zeta literary society last Friday evening discussed the question, "Resolved That our ancestors were tadpoles." As there were none of "those horrid boys" present, we are unable to mention the arguments in the affirmation of, and in contradiction to the "principle of developement" and "process of evolution" by virtue of which the modest and harmless tadpoles, at the sight of which ladies shriek, were transformed into the ostentatious and supercilious Ward McAllister disciples to whom the damsels affectionately smile.

PHILADELPHIA CLUBS.

Annual Banquets of the Bucknell Alumni and Alumnae.

Lady and Gentleman Graduates Have Pleasant Gatherings in Hotel and Institute Parlors.

The Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia held their annual meeting and banquet at the Colonade Hotel on Monday evening. The meeting was called to order by the President at 6:30. After the general business had been transacted the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, Chaplain T. A. Gill, D. D., (United States Navy); Vice President, Dr. P. N. K. Schwenk; Secretary, Rev. R. B. McDanel; Treasurer, Dr. C. B. Lowe and Chairman of Executive Committee, Rev. B. MacMackin.

The meeting then adjourned to the banquet hall where covers were laid for 50 members and invited guests. The tables were tastefully decorated and the viands were enjoyed by all, even if they had been out of college so long that they were unable to read their menus.

The president of the club, Chaplain Gill, acted as toastmaster. The secretary read letters from absent members and the following responded to toasts: John Howard Harris, D. D., LL. D., President of Bucknell University; George Dana Boardman, D. D., LL. D., Pastor of the First Baptist Church, Philadelphia; Judge James Buchanan, of Trenton, N. J.; Dr. Wm. B. Wilson, of Port Monmouth, N. J.; Rev. J. H. Chambers, of West Chester, and Rev. J. H. Haslam, of Williamsport. Rev. S. S. Merriman sang an original solo to one of the popular tunes of the day, which was greatly enjoyed by all present. A trio rendered a selection from the Bucknell song book. After inviting the ladies to be present next year, all joined in singing "Auld Lang Syne," and the meeting was adjourned.

The following new members were elected: C. R. James, Allentown, '75; F. B. Miller, class of '96; F. H. Starkey, class of '91; R. B. McCay, class of '96; Col. George Nox McCain, T. R. Taggart, class of '96, and E. L. Kauffman.

The Philadelphia Alumnae Club, of Bucknell Institute held a luncheon on Monday afternoon, Dec. 6, at 1 o'clock, at the Foulke and Long Institute, Philadelphia. Thirty persons were present. Mrs. G. W. Kendrick, president of the Alumnæ of the Girls' High and Normal School of Philadelphia, was the guest of the club and made an address. A committee of three was appointed to confer with the College Alumni in relation to a joint banquet.

WINTER TERM, 1898.

A Large Number of Elective Courses Offered.—Recitation Hours.

The bulletin boards in the College have been surrounded by a crowd of students eager to read the announcements for next term and to select their courses of study. A large number of elective courses are offered in the different departments and the hours of recitation have been posted so the ORANGE AND BLUE publishes the list this week for the accommodation of our student readers. The studies in honor work will be announced by the professors later. For Seniors only, there is one elective, Economics. For Seniors and Juniors, electives are offered in Plato's Apology, Roman Philosophy, Hebrew, French, German, English Bible, History of of England, Logic, Advanced Composition, Integral Calculus, Histology, Embryology, Advanced Algebra, Qualitative Analysis, Toxicology, and Human Anatomy. ATHLETIC MANAGERS.

Elected at the Annual Meeting Held Saturday Morning.

Kress Chosen for Foot-ball Manager-C. A. Weymouth for General Athletics. Interesting Contests.

It was after half past ten o'clock Saturday morning when President B. F. Thomas called the annual meeting of the Athletic Association to order in the lecture room of the Laboratory. Secretary Kress read the names of members. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved after a motion by Hazen, seconded by Purdy that the resolutions in regard to the training table be adopted, was carried.

Chairman Nesbit read the report of the committee appointed to make constitutional changes on the duties of the Executive Board, as published recently. In order to reach immediate action the constitutional rule of two weeks time before action was temporarily suspended. The resolutions were adopted as read.

Treasurer Hazen reported the financial standing of the Association showing deficits in all departments. The report was accepted and Mulkie, Decker and Fetzer were appointed the auditing committee. The report will be published when audited.

Cober, Peck and Clements were appointed as tellers for the election that followed. There were 122 present who were entitled to vote.

E. C. Conover, '99, was unanimously elected President; John Sherman, 1900, Vice President; B. W. Griffith, '99, Secretary; J. C. Hazen, '99, Treasurer.

The nominees for foot-ball manager were R. H. Kress, 1900, and A. C. Garner, '99. The ballot resulted, Kress 66, Garner 55. For manager of general athletics C. A. Weymouth had 64 votes, H. B. C. Riemer, 1901, 56 votes.

The student members of the finance committee elected were A. A. Sherwood, 1900, and M. B. Mulford, '99, to act in connection with Registrar Gretzinger, Treasurer Hazen and Secretary Griffith.

On motion the secretary cast the ballot for the following Executive Committee, members from the Alumni and Faculty, Foot-ball, Prof. Rockwood and Instructor Kauffman; Base-ball, Prof. Hulley and Judge McClure; Basket-ball, Prof. Rockwood and Prof. Bartol; Field and Track Athletics, Prof. Stewart and Prof. Hamblin.

The committee was continued to embody the new amendments in the constitution.

Adjournment.

Examination Schedule.

The following schedule for examinations in the College this week has been posted:

Tuesday at 2 p. m., two o'clock classes.

Wednesday at 8:15 a. m., three o'clock classes.

Wednesday at 2 p. m., 9:15 o'clock classes.

Thursday at 8:15 a. m., 11:15 o'clock classes.

Thursday at 2 p. m., 10:15 o'clock classes.

Friday 8:15 a. m., 8:15 o'clock classes.

Smith, Basket Ball Captain.

Tuesday afternoon the Executive Board of the Athletic Association met in Prof. Perrine's recitation room and selected A. A. Smith as captain of the Bucknell basket ball team for the season of '98. "Artie" has been a capable player since basket ball was started here in '95, and being in his last year at Bucknell, he will be able to organize a strong team with Mulkie, Catterall, Weymouth and Elliot. The retiring captain, Roy Mulkie, will continue to play the fast and scientific game that was the admiration of Bucknell's supporters last year.

Orange and Blue Staff.

Saturday afternoon the directors of the ORANGE AND BLUE met in Theta Alpha Hall to elect the editorial staff for next term. The following students were chosen: Editor-in-chief, F. W. Dillon, '98; editorials, George T. Ritter, '98; locals, O. R. LeVan, '99; athletic, D. H. Elliot, '98; alumni and exchange, Harry B. Wassell, 1900; Academy, M. F. Anthony; Institute, Miss Sharpless; School of Music, Miss Aiken. It was decided to request each fraternity and other organization to contribute each week before Saturday items of interest in the life of such associations.

The Junior Ball.

Wednesday afternoon, the Junior class met in the Laboratory to decide whether they would have the annual ball this year. After some discussion, a decision against the ball as a class affair was made. That this will prevent the event of the mid-winter society season is not at all probable, because there are enough supporters to successfully conduct the ball. As it is, the Junior class refuses to sanction the proceedings.

As usual, Registrar Getzinger has secured in advance holiday rates from the Pennsylvania and Reading railroads. All students who wish to take advantage of these reduced rates will have to get a certificate from the Registrar stating that they are pursuing work at Bucknell.

It has been demonstrated by past experience that a college paper cannot be maintained except by the support of those for whom the paper exists. Every student effort depends on the student-body for its life. The ORANGE AND BLUE strives to record student happenings, and to become a purely representative paper; but if you hope to see the paper successful, you must do your part. We hope that this gentle hint will be sufficient and that when a bill is presented to you, please please respond with a $. Do not ask the collector to call again, as those who do not wish to be dunned must consider that we do not wish to dun, as it is disagreeable to both. ALL BILLS ARE DUE.

Accepts the Call.

Rev. J. H. Haslam, Bucknell '90, has reconsidered his declination and will assume the pastorate of the 1st Baptist Church, at Williamsport, on Dec. 19th.

The Norristown Register says: "The Williamsport church were persistent in their efforts to obtain Rev. Mr. Haslam as their pastor, and refused to accept his declination of a previous call made several weeks ago. The members of the Second Baptist church are loth to part with Rev. Haslam, and nothing has been left undone in order to retain him. The most harmonious feeling has always existed between him and the congregation, working unanimously together, and his loss will undoubtedly be a severe blow to the congregation."

Rev. H. C. Hall, '82, has resigned at Erie and accepted the call to the Erie Ave. Baptist Church, of Williamsport, commencing in January.

School of Music Notes.

The last musicale of the term was given in the parlor of the Institute, Wednesday last. The program was:

3. Fantaisia, Miss Seiler. Neidlinger.
4. Serenade, Miss Davis.
5. Song of the Nautch Girl. DeKoven. Miss Chillson.

Prof. E. Aviragnet hopes to have a great musical convetion in Lewisburg, at the end of the month of January or in the beginning of February, if he is supported by the people of the town He is ready to have a contest of bands, of choirs of churches, of elocution, with prizes. A contest and a lecture every day.

The lecturer will be the Rev. Henry G. Ganss, of Carlisle, and we publish to-day the program of the lectures on the "Four Great Epochs in the History of Music." 1. "The Formative Period," St. Gregory. 2. "The Renaissance," Palestrina. 3. "The Classic Period," Beethoven. 4. "The Music of the Future," Wagner.

Resolutions of Respect.

At a meeting of the Freshman class held recently the following resolutions of respect were adopted:

Whereas, God in His allwise providence, has called the father of our classmate, Cloy Stenninger to his eternal reward and,

Whereas, We realize that our classmate is called upon to suffer the greatest loss that can befall a young man; therefore be it

Resolved, That we bow in humble submission to a Providence too wise to err, too good to be unkind.

Resolved, That we the Freshman class of Bucknell University in this hour of his sore affliction extend to him our heartfelt sympathy, and direct him to look for strength and comfort to Him who has promised to remember the fatherless. Be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to our bereaved classmate, that a copy be spread upon the minutes of the class, and that they be published in THE ORANGE AND BLUE.

J. Z. ROWE,
C. M. KONKLE.

The young ladies of Pi Beta Phi fraternity recently adopted the following resolutions:

Whereas, It has pleased the Almighty to take to himself the father of our sister, Emilie Pooley, and

Whereas, She is thus left without father or mother, be it hereby

Resolved, That we, Pa Beta chapter of Pi Beta Phi, tender our sincere and deepest sympathy in this hour of her sorrow.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the chapter and that a copy be sent to our sister and to THE ORANGE AND BLUE.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES.

Gleaned From the Events of the Week on the Campus.

—Holiday vacation lasts from Friday, Dec. 17 to Tuesday, January 4.

—Last Friday evening, Miss Stanton, principal of the Institute, gave a reception to the College girls and Lewisburg friends. Miss Schillinger, of Edinboro, gave some pleasing recitals.

For Sale.—Two good coats and vests; one broadcloth, full dress coat and vest, breast 34 in., length the same; and one black cheviot cutaway, 35 in. breast; too small for owner. Address, Box 144, Milton, Pa.

—Thursday afternoon the members of the Chemical and Physical society were entertained by the talk of Instructor Kauffman on "Color Blindness." It was illustrated by many experiments. After the lecture, Prof. W. G. Owens exhibited a new tube for the X rays and allowed each one to view the bones of his hand by the rays.

—The preliminary Junior debate was held in Theta Alpha Hall Friday evening and was conducted by Instructor Phillips. Able arguments were presented on the question, "Resolved that Cuba should be independent." The following speakers were chosen for the second debate next term: Ballentine, Bayard, Cober, Ivins, Krise, Meeker, Meserve, Rawlinson and Hazen.

Institute Notes.

Mrs. Campbell visited her daughter Katharine last week.

Miss Grace Pretzman started home on Saturday as she had finished for the term.

The girls of Miss Eddleman's table gave her a delightfull birthday surprise party Saturday evening.

Miss Emilie Pooley, 1900, was suddenly called to her home in Toledo, O., on Saturday by the death of her father.

Miss Schillinger, of Edinboro Normal, entertained the girls Saturday morning with her well delivered selections in prose and poetry.

The Institute girls expect to go home on Thursday, the examinations ending Wednesday. The College girls will be obliged to stay a day later.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The last meeting of this term will be led by Mr. Shields. Subject, "The Organization of the Y. M. C. A. in England, Germany, Norway and Sweden.

DR. BOARDMAN'S LECTURES.

Delivered on Three Interesting and Instructive Subjects.

George Dana Boardman, LL. D., the famous University lecturer of Philadelphia, delighted his Bucknell friends with a course of three lectures delivered in Bucknell Hall last Wednesday afternoon, and Thursday morning. His audience comprised the faculty and students of the College and Academy, the teachers and young ladies of the Institute, and a number of other friends. In introducing the genial speaker, president Harris referred to Dr. Boardman's well known intellectual attainments as a scholar and lecturer and expressed the wish of Bucknell's student body that Dr. Boardman would prepare an address for his next visit,on his experiences and benefits derived from college life as did Dr. Wayland Hoyt several weeks ago.

We can give only a few of the many good things and strong, practical points in each of the lectures.

I. "Christian Use of the Imagination."

1. Introductory picture of Ezekiel, the prophet of the Babylonian captivity, beholding near the statue of Jealousy a vision of the abominations of Israel and the four idolatrous systems of the East. Chambers of imagery are the chambers of our imagination.

2. Definition and twenty-six different kinds of imagination illustrated. Man is a natural image maker.

3. Importance of imagination as a factor in human life. Language is pictorial, in figures of speech. Imagination gives meaning to human language, creates our moral atmosphere. Every man lives in his chamber of imagery. Especially true of the christian life where men walk by faith. The golden rule is a perpetual appeal to the imagination. Applied to the world of labor, business, student life, society and the Church.

5. Imagination is a divine gift to be sacredly used. What shall be the theme of our imagination? Truth, honesty, right, purity, loveliness, good report, virtue and praise. Ideal is character of the Nazarine. No man rises above the level of his own thoughts. Our reveries furnish us with a subtle test of our character.

II. "Moral Lesson Taught by the Transit of Venus."

1. Scientific character of lecture. Description of the transit of Venus, Dec. 6, 1882. Theme: To unfold and apply great moral lesson which the transit suggests.

2. Prediction possible because of nature's order and laws; inexorable, unchangeable. Laws of nature are the creator's covenant with man; shown in the rainbow. God uses stability of nature as pledge of stability of morals.

3. Natural law and moral law. We cannot break laws of nature; may disobey, but law will break us. Punishment for sin; reward for righteousness. Covenant of grace more certain than covenant of nature.

4. Prophets were peculiarly instructed to predict birth of Christ. Complexity of laws of mind and human changes because of human free will. Issue of all is a word of cheer—trust in God. Man nor Satan can break God's covenant.

III. "The Life of Moses and its Lessons."

Biographical. Michael Angelo's statute of Moses.

1. Salient features in career of Moses.

2. Outline of Moses' unique character. (a) Mentally moulding Israelite nation, organizing Mosaic code of law; expressive, prophetic, broad yet minute, constructive. (b) Morally—impetuous, sympathetic, far sighted, grave, stately, patient, and trustful. History's ideal character but not greater than Christ.

3. Outline of Moses' unique mission. (a) Religion, (b) Morality, (c) Jurisprudence, (d) Sociology, brotherhood of man, (e) Ritual, (f) In all, Theocracy. Foundation of modern institutions.

4. Lessons suggested by Moses' career. (a) Divine adjustments. Leaders raised up by Jehovah. (b) Divine providence.

SOPHOMORE SYMPOSIUM.

The Century Class Makes a Field Goal.

Hotel Haag, at Milton, the Battle Field. The Freshmen Make Things Lively.

Last evening the class of 1900 distinguished itself by accomplishing a feat which has elicited many complimentary remarks from the upper classmen and caused chagrin and a sense of humiliation among the Freshmen. The occasion was the annual banquet of the Sophomores. They left for Milton at 5.30, being conveyed there by teams. Shortly after their departure, it dawned upon the Freshmen what had happened, and at 8 o'clock many started to walk to that place. This crowd was increased by another squad which took the 9.37 train. At the Milton P. & R. station the two divisions met and with colors flying and trumpets blowing they proceeded to the Hotel Haag.

Upon their arrival at the hotel they were somewhat surprised to see the stairway leading to the banquet hall guarded by two stalwart policemen. Several attacks were made upon various parts of the building, in order to gain an entrance into the banquet hall, all of which, however, proved futile, as the Sophomores, aided by the police officers, were more than able to withstand the assaults.

The attacks did not disturb the equanimity of the banqueters neither did they seriously interrupt the symposium, which was the more enjoyed on account of the excitement caused by the Freshmen, in the absence of whom, the amusement would have been of a mere passive nature.

50 members of the class partook of the feast with Mrs. Wm. Leiser as chaperon of the 17 young ladies and O. R. LeVan, '99, as an invited guest.

Following is the complete program:

Toast Master, H. B. Wassell.
Poem,.....C. E. Bunnell.

The banquet closed at 2 o'clock this morning and the Sophomores returned to town two hours later.

BUCKNELL GLEE CLUB.

Successful Christmas Trip in the Vicinity of Philadelphia.

After several years of local entertainments, Bucknell has once more sent abroad a glee club that was a credit to our College and a success financially. The members of the club practiced faithfully and systematically under Professor Aviragnet during the whole of the fall term and were rewarded by a trip to the vicinity of Philadelphia during Christmastide. The dates filled were on the evenings of Dec. 17, at Perkiomen Seminary.

Dec. 18, at Norristown.
Dec. 20, at West Chester.
Dec. 21, at Brandywine Manor.
Dec. 23, at Coatsville.
Dec. 27, at Allentown.

The organization of the Club was George E. Schilling, business manager; John A. Hague, leader. The members were:

FIRST TENORS: John A. Hague. E. Herbert Dutton.
FIRST BASSES: Herbert M. Olmsted, Chas. W. Wolfe.
SECOND TENORS: Geo. E. Schilling. Edward Plint.
SECOND BASSES: Wm. C. Purdy. Wm. J. Peacock.

Numerous encores and flattering press comments were received during the entire trip. Dr. Aviragnet is well pleased with the success of the club.

The boys heartily enjoyed the receptions given at every place. After a successful first night at Perkiomen, the Club was entertained by the Bucknell graduates who are Seminary teachers, Professors Brown Martin and Ezra Allen. There were ten encores on the first program. The reception was made especially delightful by the presence of pretty Seminary girls. At Norristown, the club members were the guests of Dr. Weaver, president of the College Alumni and a grand reception was held after the evening's performance. On Sunday evening, Dec. 19, the Club sang at the Olivet Baptist Church in West Chester where the Monday evening program was rendered. The Misses Supplee gave a reception for the Club at Brandywine Manor. Their audience consisted mostly of Quakers who were delighted with "A Jolly Time." The quartet and leader Hague went to Allentown, the others going to their homes.

Before disbanding, the Club elected Ed. Flint manager for the remainder of the year; J. A. Hague, leader of the glee club; and G. E. Schilling, leader of the mandolin club recently organized for the trip contemplated during the next vacation. All their friends will be delighted to know that the club is to give an entertainment in Lewisburg next Saturday, January 15. Everyone should attend and show the boys that their talent is appreciated at home as well as abroad.

BASKET BALL.

The Opening Game Saturday Disappointed a Small Crowd.

Bucknell Won, 16 to 15—Morris and Wassell's Good Plays—Schedule for the Season.

The basket ball season of 1898 opened at Bucknell last Saturday afternoon in the Tustin gymnasium, where the college team just escaped losing to the clever and lively boys from the Danville Y. M. C. A. The Y. M. C. A. team work was superior to that of Bucknell. The individual playing of Morris and Wassell saved the game for the local team. Captain Smith and ex-captain Mulkie failed to throw a goal until the last half. Dave Elliot was in the game so far as his position and opponent allowed, for Captain Limberger of the Y. M. C. A. was the best player in the game. He always received the ball in the try for goal from the field and seldom missed scoring. Bedea played a fast game against Wassell but at critical points the tall Bucknell guard reached far above his opponent and easily threw goals. The game was repeatedly delayed by fouls but from all their chances, no Bucknell player was skilled enough to get the ball into the basket on a free throw. The attendance was scarcely over one hundred.

Twenty minute halves were played. In the first Bucknell defended the east goal. Morris scored a difficult goal from the side of the field. Wassell by throwing the ball across the building, scored. Morris repeated his clever throw and Limberger threw Danville's first goal. Bedea and Wassell scored goals. Limberger made a long throw for goal. Wassell and Bedea scored and Limberger threw a goal from a foul as the half ended. Score, Bucknell 10, Danville 9.

In the last half the goals were: Limberger, goal from play, goal from foul, and a second goal from play. Mulkie two goals from play in succession, tieing the score. Wassell's last goal from play won the game but the situation looked doubtful when Limberger scored on a foul. A series of fouls and failures on each side closed the game with Bucknell the winner, 16 to 15.

The official score of the game:

DANVILLE Y. M. C. A., 15.		BUCKNELL, 16
Marks, } Bedea, }	forwards	{ Mulkie. Smith.
Limberger, Hoffner, }	centre	D. H. Elliott.
Gaskins, }	guards	{ Morris. Wassell.

Referee, Catterall. Umpire, Weymouth. Timekeeper, Ovelman. 20 minute halves. Goals from play, Limberger 4, Bedea 2; Morris 2, Wassell 4, Mulkie 2. Goals from fouls, Limberger 3.

SCHEDULE FOR 1898.

Bucknell will play on Jan. 8, Danville Y. M. C. A. at Lewisburg.
Jan. 14, Clover Wheelmen at Phila.
Jan. 15, Camden A. A. at Camden.
Jan. 20, Wmsp. Y. M. C. A. at Williamsport
Feb. 5, Wmsp. Y. M. C. A. at Lewisburg.
Feb. 11, State College at State College.
Feb. 25, State College at Lewisburg.

To Subscribers.

It is of the greatest importance to the ORANGE AND BLUE that all subscriptions which are now due be paid immediately. In making his annual report soon the business manager would like to be able to give everyone credit for a settled account. No one expects to get a newspaper for nothing; and it is hoped you will be prompt in paying the collectors when they call for your subscription. By delaying you are endangering the existence of the college paper which relies upon the prompt and efficient support of the students and friends of Bucknell. Let everyone make it a personal matter to see that their ORANGE AND BLUE subscription is paid.

Directors' Organization.

Next Saturday, January 15, being the second Saturday in the terin there will be a re-organization of the board of directors of the ORANGE AND BLUE. President S. W. Gilpin has announced 10:30 o'clock a. m. as the hour for the meeting. This is the regular annual meeting of the board of directors when the term of office of the present fraternity members expires and the newly elected representatives enter the board. Each general Greek letter fraternity in the College is entitled to elect a director and it is to their interest to send an active, popular man to the new board. The officers of the board will be elected and the report of the business manager will be received. The resignation of business manager Rush H. Kress will take effect at this meeting and a new manager will be elected. Every member of the board of directors should be present at this important meeting, Saturday, Jan. 15, at 10:30 a. m.

Lehigh-Bucknell Debate.

Lehigh University has accepted the challenge of Bucknell to contest in an inter-collegiate debate at Lewisburg during the month of March. No further arrangements have been made as to date or question. Lehigh's acceptance made it necessary for the inter-collegiate debate committee to ask for more men to represent Bucknell in this line of work. The question for the first preliminary was, "Resolved that United States Senators should be elected by popular vote." It was debated in Eucpia Society last Friday evening and representatives chosen were Pearse, Bell, Koukle, Bidlesprocher and Grim. Next Friday evening, Theta Alpha will debate on the same question and select men for the inter-society preliminary debate the following week. There should be more enthusiasm shown in the preliminary debates.

Tuesday, January 11, 1898.

One of the first and most important lessons that a college ought to learn in regard to its athletic contests is, to bear its defeats honorably.

Whether defeated in foot-ball, base-ball or basket ball, there is always some wise(?) individual who prides himself in his ability to invent an excuse or deduce a theory for the particular defeat, even though he must resort to an incrimination of a fellow student in order to give his theory an authoritative color or to have it believed.

The truth contained in this statement was clearly demonstrated by the disgraceful reports which followed the defeat at Williamsport on Nov. 13, 1897. To an honest and "sober" spectator it was plainly evident that our strength was inferior to that of the opposition. Dr. Schoff verified this statement when he said: "Bucknell was not heavy enough to stop the mass plays and too light to force their own." Every honest student will admit these facts however partial he may be to Bucknell. Yet some non caput saw fit to invent a most iniquitous explanation of this defeat, which has been published in some of the local papers, and in which he attempts to scandalize one of the most loyal sons of Bucknell by making the bold and unqualified assertion that Bucknell was sold out in the State game.

Who is there who can conscientiously credit this story when the circumstances surrounding the case are known and the relative strength of the two teams considered? What may have been the motive of the person or persons who originated and circulated this accusation is at the present time unknown. But every student who is interested in maintaining the honor of Bucknell athletics ought to consider it his duty to discourage this report and to protect from such infamous calumny that true and tried athlete upon whom it has been unjustly and unscrupulously placed.

Young Giles' Elopement.

We see by the special reports published in the Philadelphia daily papers that a young man by the name of Giles, of Strasburg, eloped with a young lady of York. The reports claimed that Giles was a student in the classical course at Bucknell. The truth is that Giles, who has relatives in Lewisburg, visited a few classes in the College and School of Music at the beginning of the fall term. His connection with Bucknell was so slight that his name will not appear in the annual catalogue.

Literary Society Elections.

The literary societies of the College elected officers for this term at their meetings last Friday evening. The results in Theta Alpha were: President, Diggs; Vice Pres., Fithian; Secretary, Walton; Treasurer, (to be elected next week); Critic, Gilpin; Censor, Shipman; Curator, Reed.

Euepia chose for President, Ed. Bell; Vice Pres., Grim; Secretary, Rentz; Treasurer, Moyer; Critic, Carringer; Sargent-at-Arms, Todd.

Our Philadelphia Friends.

A jolly crowd of Bucknell students—Devitt, Beck, Cunningham, Pierson and Pitts, with their friends, spent a happy New Year's eve at the home of H. C. Simons, 1900, in Oak Lane, Phila. One of the features of the evening's enjoyment was "progressive games." After the games, the party went to the dining room where the tables were laden with all the good things imaginable. All joined in college songs and greeted the new year with Bucknell yells.

Winter Gymnastics.

Gymnastics are often looked upon as a novelty. They are too often made secondary to everything else. They are sometimes treated as of no value in the busy life of a college student. All this is a mistake. They should be, at least, on a par with other work. They should have a place in the daily duties of a student's course.

The gymnasium work this term will be more graded and systematic than formerly. The work will consist of Free Gymnastics or Body Building, without apparatus; Light Gymnastics, with clubs, dumb-bells, short and long, wands; and Heavy Gymnastics on the pulley weights, vaulting bar, high bar, rings, parallels, buck, long and side horse, poles, combination work, mat work, and tumbling.

The classes will meet on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoon of each week from 4:20 to 5:40 o'clock. An accurate record will be kept of those who attend and will be handed to the President at the close of the term.

Dr. Anderson's Light Gymnastics and Henry Anderson's Heavy Gymnastics will be used.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES.

Gleaned From the Events of the Week on the Campus.

—Owing to the necessity of having two divisions of the Sophomore class in English Literature, instructor Heim has the class in Economics.

—Professor Perrine offers an honor course in "Six American Authors" to any who have attended the Senior lectures in American Literature. The text will be Matthews'.

—Will Haviland, who played centre on the Central Normal School basket ball team, of Lock Haven, for two years, has entered Bucknell. He was captain of the Normal team that played a tie game, score 7 to 7, with Bucknell, at Lewisburg, during the winter of '96, and he will try for a position on the Bucknell team.

—There will be an important fraternity convention held in Lewisburg during the latter part of February. As soon as announced the details of the meeting will be published. The ORANGE AND BLUE commends this plan of giving Bucknell a more prominent position among colleges by bringing to our midst the representatives of other schools.

Institute Notes.

Misses Lee and Crandall each returned accompanied by a sister.

Miss Emma Probasco, 1900, has resumed her College work after an absence of a term.

Miss Vaughan returned to school on Monday, having been delayed at home by illness.

A reading desk for the chapel is among the improvements noted at the beginning of the new term.

Miss Davis, of Scranton, is among the new pupils and intends to take a special course in the College.

The new term has opened favorably for the Institute, several new students being enrolled among its pupils.

Mrs. Larison, the former principal of the Institute, is paying a visit to her numerous friends in the school and town.

Academy News.

W. K. Heffelfinger, of Shamokin, has entered the Academy.

Subscriptions to the ORANGE AND BLUE should be paid this week to M. L. Anthony.

The number of 'Cad boys is about the same as last term. There are several new students.

The Calliopean Literary Society had a very interesting meeting Friday evening. The extemporaneous debating was excellent.

Thursday afternoon the Academy maids were packed cosily into a sleigh and started away to enjoy the winter scenes around Lewisburg. When supper time came, they were too far away to be of service in the boarding hall, so Mrs. Black, the matron, prepared supper and after much coaxing, three young men, volunteered as waiters so there might be no more delays.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The meeting Tuesday evening will be led by E. H. Dutton. All are invited and should make an effort to attend.

No regular meeting was held last week. Tuesday evening was devoted to an informal reception and a pleasant gathering to open the winter term. A large number of the students enjoyed the refreshments and renewed acquaintances. We hope all will attend the meeting each week.

President Harris' Lecture.

Monday morning Pres. Harris gave the opening term lecture in Bucknell Hall on the four principles of human activity and their application to college life. The principles upon which persons should act in respect to quality and not strength, are prudence, honor, right and religion.

1. Prudence is action with respect to the future. Its mental characteristic is foresight. Prudence is based on self-love which must not be confused with selfishness. The student for example should act with prudence in getting sufficient bodily nourishment, in studying not long but hard, in avoiding irregularity of habits. One cannot make up for lost lessons and days. The mental break through sickness or idleness must not be made doubly injurious by adding the moral break of falsehood.

2. Honor appeals to men in limited society and so differs from morality. Instances of honor in professional, military, political, and social life, cited. Application to college life shown by action of students as members of societies and fraternities. Organizations should not influence members so far as to prevent honorable and righteous decisions. A society or fraternity should not be made a school for ward politics; it should be a school of honor to stimulate its members to activity in college work and to broaden the narrow field in which the student is liable to fall.

3. Right is man acting as man. Righteousness is grounded in nature of God and also in character of man. This subject developed in previous lecture. We should always act right in our duty to fellow men.

4. Religion. Every human being is religious but his religion may become perverted. Its character will depend on sphere in which he lives. Some spheres are the emotional, superstitious, prudential, and of principle. The sphere of right when lifted to sphere of love to a personal God becomes religion. The law then is regarded as an expression of love, and obedience springing out of reciprocal love, becomes a delight.

BASKET BALL TEAM.

Made a Reputation for Gentlemanly Playing.

Lost a Close Game with the Clover Wheelmen and was Outclassed by Camden—Better than Yale Did.

The Philadelphia trip taken by the basket ball team during the latter part of the past week was successful in every particular except the winning of the two games played. On the 11.22 train Friday, the members of the team who departed for Phila. were manager D. H. Elliot, captain A. A. Smith, Weymouth, Catterall, Morris, Wassell, C. A. Elliot and Richard Bell. On the whole trip the fellows were accorded gentlemanly treatment and fair dealing. They played fast and clean games with an absence of roughness, so that manager Elliot had requests for games from all the first-class teams around the city.

Saturday morning's Philadelphia Record says that the reason Bucknell failed to win from the Clover Wheelmen was because the floor in the Girard Ave. Hall is so slippery that any visiting team can hardly keep their feet. Yale was recently defeated in the same hall, 17 to 5, and the Clover Wheelmen said that the Bucknell college team played a better game than the New Haven men. The Friday evening game was a close one, 10 to 6, in which Morris, D. H. Elliot and Wassel received special mention for good plays. The first half ended 2 to 0 in favor of the Wheelmen. Morris, who took D. H. Elliot's place at attack, scored Bucknell's first goal in the second part. Weymuth and Wassell also scored. The line-up follows:

BUCKNELL, 6.	Position.	CLOVER W. 10.
Smith, Capt.	attack	Dunn
Elliot, Morris	attack	Straka, Schussler
Weymouth	centre	Baldwin (Schussler, Capt.
Catterall	defence	Fisher, Haldeman
Wassell	defence	Riggs

Goals from field—Schussler (5), Dunn (2), Morris, Weymouth, Wassell, Fouls—Schussler, Straka. Referee—E. C. Hutchinson, L. T. C. Umpires—H. E. Thomas, Central High School, and Hunter, Hancock A. A. Time—20 minute halves.

The reputation of being a strong team of gentlemanly players preceded the Bucknell team to Camden where the Saturday evening game was played. There was a large crowd present. The floor was good and there was no rough play so neither team was at these disadvantages. Although the score, 29 to 3, was very much one sided, the game was interesting and exciting at times. Camden's team has some of the best basket-ball players in the State of New Jersey, and they clearly outclass the college teams. The Camden men said that Bucknell played a stronger game than any team outside of their class. Wassell scored the goal. Captain Smith played an exceptionally strong game.

The score of the last game was:

BUCKNELL, 3.	Position.	CAMDEN A. A., 29.
Smith,	Attack	Cramer
Morris,	Attack	Cramer
Weymouth,	Centre	Edwards, Geddes,
Wassell,	Defence	Thompson,
Catterall,	Defence,	Newcomb.

Goals from field—Edwards 6; Geddes, 5; Wassell, 1; Cramer, 3. Goals from fouls—Newcomb, Weymouth. Fouls called on—Thompson, Weymouth. Referee—Roberts, C. B. A. Umpires—D. Elliot, Bucknell Univ.; W. Morgenweck, C. B. A. Time—10 minute halves.

It is likely that Bucknell will play the strong Milton Y. M. C. A. team here on either Thursday or Saturday evening of this week. Milton has been practicing and should give an interesting contest. Bucknell's next scheduled game is at Williamsport, Jan. 29.

ORANGE AND BLUE DIRECTORS.

Reorganization of the Board Last Saturday Morning.

The regular meeting for the election of officers of the Board of Directors of the ORANGE AND BLUE was held in Eupia Hall last Saturday morning at 10:30.

President S. W. Gilpin was in the chair. The directors present were Miss M. Stephens, S. W. Gilpin, G. W. Alexander, Ed. Bell, F. W. Dillon, J. E. Parker, I. H. Buckminster, and O. R. LeVan. Absent, R. H. Kress, R. B. Mulkie, and H. B. Wassell. W. I. Gold was present to act for R. H. Kress, and M. D. Mumford for H. B. Wassell.

The minutes of the last meeting, Dec. 11, were read and approved.

The name of E. L. Nesbit as director to succeed R. B. Mulkie was received.

I. H. Buckminster gave the report of the committee appointed to audit the books of ex-business manager S. W. Gilpin. The report was accepted and committee discharged.

President S. W. Gilpin announced the resignation of Rush H. Kress from the business management. In the absence of Mr. Kress, who was out of town, the assistant business manager, W. S. Holland, read a partial report of the financial affairs which was accepted. On motion it was decided that the Board would not accept the resignation of Manager Kress until he had presented an itemized statement of his accounts.

The election of officers resulted in the choice of Edward Bell, president; G. W. Alexander, vice president; J. E. Parker, secretary, and E. L. Nesbit, treasurer.

Adjourned to meet next Saturday, Jan. 22, at 10:30 A. M.

At the adjourned meeting next Saturday, the report of manager R. H. Kress will be presented and his resignation acted upon. Before a new manager is chosen to succeed Mr. Kress, the constitution will probably be amended so as to provide monthly meetings of the Board.

There will be an important meeting of the O. & B. Directors Tuesday afternoon at 4 p. m.

The Juniors' Ball.

Invitations have been issued by Juniors of Bucknell for a ball, at the Armory, Jan. 21. The affair will be one of the society events of the season attended by representative society people from all the towns in the central part of the State. The committee on arrangements have engaged the Chappell Orchestra to furnish the music.

Last week, Monday afternoon, the young men who are giving the ball were defeated for the second time in class meeting when they wished to carry a resolution to make the ball a class affair as in previous years. There was no one present who had voted against the motion lost at the first meeting and who was willing to move to reconsider the action of the class. It is to the credit of the young men having the ball in hand that they will carry out their project successfully, as well as to the honor of the majority of the class who after voting against the ball refused to change their conscientious action. No doubt those who wish to dance will have a happy time while the others will not be apt to regret their victory.

Inter-Society Debate.

Next Friday evening the inter-society debate will be held in Bucknell Hall. Everybody is invited to attend and all the students should show an appreciation of the work being done to secure strong representatives for the Lehigh–Bucknell debate in March. The following men will represent the societies:

EUPIA:—Pearse, Bell, Konkle, Bidlespacher, Grim.

THETA ALPHA:—Diggs, Fithian, Shipman, Snyder, Gilpin.

The question is, "Resolved, That the United States Government should be more aggressive in its foreign policy." In order to make a good showing in the debates with Franklin and Marshall and Lehigh University, the debaters selected must have the support of every Bucknell student.

An informal reception was given to pastor and Mrs. J. H. Haslam in the First Baptist Church of Williamsport, Pa., under the auspices of the Paster's Aid Society Tuesday evening, Jan. 11th. A public reception service will be held on Jan. 20, Pres. J. H. Harris presiding; Dr. K. Boyce Tupper, of Phila., preaching the sermon and Dr. R. W. Perkins, of Lock Haven, addressing the congregation. Mayor James Mansel, of Williamsport, will welcome Rev. J. H. Haslam to the city.

BUCKNELL GLEE CLUB.

The First Concert at Home a Success.

Everybody Pleased With the Well Selected Program Rendered Saturday Evening.

The concert by the Bucknell Glee Club, in Bucknell Hall, Saturday evening, was attended by a critical audience, all of whom had many kind words to say regarding the entertainment given by the young men which showed the result of their long and almost daily practice under the personal direction of Prof. Avirganet. The doctor deserves the thanks of all Bucknellites for having trained the young men so well and for the excellence of the new program, as follows:

PART FIRST.

1. A Jolly Time. Huhlander.
   GLEE CLUB.
2. Reading. Selected.
   MR. FLINT.
3. The Tear. Witt.
   QUARTET.
4. Mandolin Solo, Spring Song. Mendelssohn.
   MR. SCHILLING.
5. Maid of Bucknell Town. Doane.
   GLEE CLUB.
6. Vocal Solo, My Love of the Old Sweet Days. Roseviy.
   MR. DUTTON.
7. Like Morning When Her Early Breeze. Arr.
   GLEE CLUB.

PART SECOND.

1. Just a Song at Twilight. Holcomb.
   GLEE CLUB.
2. Vocal Solo: Armorer DeKoven.
   MR. PEACOCK.
3. Reading. Selected.
   MR. FLINT.
4. Vocal Solo: The Broken Flower. Roseiy.
   MR. HAGUE.
5. Apple Pie Arr.
   QUARTET.
6. Like the Woodland Roses. Mair.
   GLEE CLUB.
7. Vocal Solo: Priscilla and John. Rolt.
   MR. FLINT.
8. Old Bucknell. Arr.
   GLEE CLUB.

The solos received the most applause, especially the solo of Mr. Flint and the mandolin solo of Mr. Schilling. Mr. Hayes and Mr. Peacock also responded to encores. As quartets, Messrs. Hague, Dutton, Flint and Peacock, in the first part, and Messrs. Dutton, Flint, Olmsted and Peacock, in the second part were a success. The singing of the club was harmonious and full of feeling, each member striving to attain his best form in the rendition. The realistic production "Just a Song at Twilight" was appreciated by all. "Maid of Bucknell Town," and the closing number, "Old Bucknell," were the most popular. Mr. Flint's dialect readings met the approval of the audience because of his easy and graceful delivery. Miss Sadie Merriman played the piano accompaniment for all.

The club will sing in Montandon next Saturday evening.

The first issue of the new Bucknell Mirror magazine came out on Monday of last week. It presents an attractive appearance and is very appropriately issued in the form of a magazine since it has ceased the publication of current news and has been confined to local literary productions and a complete record of events occurring among the Alumni during the month. One thing has been suggested to us that will doubtless be placed in the next issue, There should be at least one page devoted to an epitome of the College events during the month, especially those incidents which relate to the Alumni. Taking the first number as a sample, the Mirror promises to be a first-class College magazine that will be appreciated by all readers.

Although the sentiment of the student body of almost five hundred members has clearly approved the revival of the Mirror, the management has secured a subscription list of only about one hundred. This is surprising after the personal canvas conducted by manager Purdy and assistant manager Pierson. The Mirror will not live long if the students do not wake up to the necessity of giving it better financial support.

College publications must be maintained if Bucknell is to occupy our present rank among the colleges of our class. This principle is no less applicable to college papers than it is to college athletics and our appeal ought to call forth a willingness on the part of every student to contribute annually the small amount asked for the subscription of our college publications.

After The Banquet.

"The Freshmen held a council of war and determined to break up the feast. About fifty members of the class together with over a hundred would be sports from the college town, who always masquerade as students on occasions of this kind, took the 9.37 train for Milton. Upon their arrival here a grand rush was made for the Hotel Haag, where the banquet was already in progress. Landlord Bibby, however, had made ample provision for this and the howling mob was kept down stairs. For over three hours the lawless gang ran around the streets making the night hideous with their unearthly yells. Had we had ample police protection the whole crowd would have been locked up. Baffled in their attempts to break up the banquet the young hoodlums contented themselves with annoying the higher classmen when they came out to start home. Many of the "Sophs" were completely covered with flour, thrown by enthusiastic freshmen, who thought that the dignity of their class should be upheld by such deeds."—Milton Standard.

The above is a severe criticism on the conduct of the crowd of young men who went to Milton on the eve of the Sophomore banquet last week, that all will read with regret. Judging from the position of the Standard which has been to commend and praise Bucknell at all times and believing the stories told by the participants in the events of Monday night, this report is essentially correct. In plain language, a party of Bucknell's loyal sons have disgraced their college, their fellow students, and themselves in a town where peaceful abiding citizens have no time for pranks involving such lawlessness, even from college men. This means that the secrecy of class banquets must be abolished, if not voluntarily by the students, then summarily and immediately by the faculty. Every student will protest that it is a college custom. Is a college custom worthy to be tolerated when it affords an opportunity for

1. The destruction of property;
2. The destruction of character by arousing the anger of the invading classmen to the point of ungentlemanly conduct in the presence of young ladies, and by the participation of many of the young men in a drunken brawl at midnight; and
3. The disapproval of the faculty and more self respecting students who see the honor of their college and themselves besmirched by a lawless crowd of students and less principled adherents?

The spirit of rivalry existing among the lower classmen usually appears like child's play and vents itself in harmless excitement but since it is drawing us into dishonor and disgrace, the ORANGE AND BLUE says, abolish the secrecy of class banquets from Bucknell now, and invent some less degrading daylight sport for the restless lower classmen, and the upper classmen who rejoice in instigating the Freshmen and Sophomores to these outbreaks

LOCAL NEWS NOTES.

Gleaned from the Events of the Week on the Campus.

—"The Uses and Manufacture of India Rubber" was the topic discussed by Prof. W. G. Owens before the Chemical and Physical Society at the Laboratory, Thursday afternoon.

—At the installation of the officers of A. G. Tucker Post No. 52, G. A. R., last week, Dr. Perrine delivered an address, in which he recalled the sacrifices that had been made for the preservation of the union. During the exercises, the Bucknell Glee Club rendered a song entitled, "The Vacant Chair."

—On Friday evening the Freshmen met at the Cameron House for the purpose of making the Sophomores believe that a banquet was about to be held. The latter made a raid upon them and a fifteen minute tussle ensued. During the melee a Sophomore took a Freshman hat which the class of 1901 were determined to secure. The Sophomores were equally determined to stand by their class brother, who was suddenly taken ill, and not merely feigning illness as some imagined, so the Freshies concluded to "suspend hostilities."

There is still due the association for board at the training table $65.00 and in outstanding subscriptions, $40.00, making $105.00 in all. If these amounts are promptly paid, the finance committee will be relieved of temporary financial embarrassment.

The recognized indebtedness of the association is as follows:

A. G. Spalding & Bros.	$232.71
J. E. K. Schwenk, supplies training table	57.00
F. E. Brown, meat, training table	50.75
	$320.46

There are a number of small bills floating about, contracted by individual members of the team, which were not authorized by the manager or the finance committee and, hence, will not be recognized.

The finance committee has planned two lectures this term, one by Col. McCain, the other by Judge Buchanan, the proceeds of which will be devoted to reducing the debt. Manager Eliot, of the basket ball team, is so arranging his schedule in order that he can turn over at the expiration of the season, a surplus to be applied to the debt. It is expected that by spring the association's obligations will be materially reduced.

Institute Notes.

Miss Edith Leinbach returned to the Seminary during the past week.

While the Sophomore girls were absent at their banquet on Monday night, the Junior and Freshmen girls from the building, spent a very enjoyable time at Mrs. Huth's ice cream parlors.

The regular meeting of the Alumnæ was held in the Institute parlors on Tuesday evening. The meeting was an unusually interesting one. Papers on famous cathedrals being read by Miss Darlington, Miss Hanna, Miss Sprague and Mrs. Loomis. After the program, refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed.

A BRILLIANT BALL.

Members of the Junior Class Maintain a Precedent.

Armory Hall Filled with Representative Society People—Many Visitors in Attendance.

In spite of much opposition by that portion of the class of '99 which considers balls antagonistic to morality, the great annual function—the Junior ball—was held in armory hall last Friday evening under the auspices of Juniors of Bucknell University. The dancing element, spurning the idea of an incompatibility between a refined ball and good morals, after two refusals in class meetings to make it a class affair, unoffensively proceeded to maintain the precedent of holding a class ball as established by the class of '97, upon their own responsibility. This mid-winter amusement is noted for its refinement and exclusiveness and these features were as prominent as at any similar affair of preceding years.

About 8 o'clock the carriages began to draw up before the armory and an hour afterwards the hall was filled with refined ladies and polished gentlemen of the upper strata of society and the sombre looking hall, in which men acquire the skill of human destruction, assumed the appearance of a royal palace, in which the social side of life was displayed. The dancing continued until 11:30, when refreshments were served and after a half-hours' intermission, the dancing was again resumed and continued until 2:30 a. m.

The patronesses, the majority of whom were present, were Mesdames N. C. Nesbit, J. C. Bucher, T. L. Norton, G. W. Goodman, J. T. Baker, Jos. C. Nesbit, H. M. McClure, H. P. Glover, G. B. Miller, W. C. Walls, Levi McQuistion, P. P. Smith, G. M. Keefer, Harry Fauble, A. A. Leiser and Wm. Leiser.

The side walls were tastily decorated with orange and blue bunting, and upon the rear wall, mid-way between the ceiling and floor, was hung a large banner of yellow bunting, bearing the inscription "Bucknell," in large blue letters. Two hundred Japanese lanterns graced the ceiling, and the platform from which the orchestra rendered music, was hid from view by a veritable grove of palms, ferns and rubber plants. The figures "99," in large red card board, were suspended from the centre of the ceiling, and in connection with the bunting and other college emblems, gave the hall a classic appearance. The decorations elicited many favorable comments, and the committee in charge of this phase of the affair, received many congratulations for their taste and skill in the decorative art.

The committee on arrangements, composed of Messrs. A. R. Garner, C. L. Nesbit, B. W. Griffith, Livingston McQuistion, and M. B. Mulford, expended a good deal of time and energy to make this occasion the leading event in the social career of their class, and if the comments of their guests can be considered a criterion, we are safe in presuming that the committee accomplished its object.

Space will not permit the publication of the names of out-of-town visitors, suffice it to say, however, that the affair was attended by representative society people from Milton, Sunbury, Shamokin, Williamsport, in fact, every leading town and city in the central part of the State was represented.

Music was furnished by the Chappell orchestra, of Williamsport. This organization won new laurels on that evening by the classical and high quality of the music rendered.

Diggs and Pearse Chosen.

The final preliminary debate for selecting men to contest with Lehigh was held in Theta Alpha Hall last Friday evening. The question, "Resolved, That the United States should be more aggressive in its foreign policy," was ably discussed by Messrs. Shipman, Konkle, Bidlespacher, Grim, Fithian, Pearse, Snyder, Diggs, and Bell. The judges, Profs. Martin, Hamblin and Heim, selected Diggs, '98, and Pearse, 1900, with Shipman, '99, as alternate, after much deliberation. Now let the students who take pride in the intellectual standing of Bucknell in the College world, come to the Literary Societies and assist these representatives, as well as the F. and M. debaters, by discussing with them the questions for the inter-collegiate debates.

Reception to Mrs. Larison.

Phi Kappa Psi entertained delightfully on last Monday evening in honor of Mrs. Larison. Among those invited to meet our dear old friend were:

Mrs. A. A. Leiser, Mrs. Woodyear, Mrs. Christopher VanGundy, Mrs. T. A. Edwards, Mrs. Joseph Nesbit, Mrs. William C. Gretzinger, Mrs. William Walls, Mrs. Grant Dreisbach, Mrs. William G. Owens, Mrs. George Matlack, Mrs. Margaret Walls, Misses Stanton, Voris, Matlack, Rodgers, Bates, McCabe, Bolenius, Bell, Chambers, VanGundy.

Harry C. Fithian has been elected to represent the Senior class on the Board of Directors of the ORANGE AND BLUE.

Professor Aviragnet's Lecture.

Last Wednesday evening Professor Aviragnet delivered a lecture before the School of Music on the opera "Martha," which was given in the Opera House on Tuesday night. After explaining the terms grand opera, comic opera, operette, and burlesque opera, he took up the development which has been made in the opera of the Italian, French and German Schools, from the sixteenth century to the present day.

The Professor showed that the reform introduced by Richard Waguer is only a musical evolution, nothing really new, but a consequence of the great masterpieces of Gluck, Weber, Meyerbeer, Berlioy and Beethoven.

"Martha," said the Professor, "was given with a piano accompaniment and a kind of violin obligato. The piano cannot produce the effects of an orchestra in bringing out the symphonic part of the opera, but the vocal portion was good enough to give a very satisfactory idea of the masterpiece of Floton. What we did not and could have, is the timbre. The tone-color of the different instruments used in the orchestra and for which, according to their importance, parts had been written by the composer."

In closing, Professor Aviragnet said: "Those who have read the life of Richard Wagner know that the celebrated composer took part in the Revolution of 1849 and was exiled, but very few know how "Martha" was the cause of so great a misfortune in the life of the musician. He was leader of the orchestra of the Royal Theatre, in Dresden, when the King ordered him to give "Martha," which was played at the time, with the greatest success in all the capital cities of Europe. Such a succession of of sweet airy duets, quartets, and choruses in the Italian style, was far from pleasing the antagonist of the Italian school of opera. Not knowing how to free himself from the burden of conducting the masterpiece of Floton, he became a leader in the Revolution, was arrested and sent into exile.

In 1862, at Frankfort, a great banquet was given to Wagner. All the musicians of the city were invited and a seat, opposite him at the table, was reserved for the leader of the orchestra of the theatre. The leader, late in coming, excused himself on the plea that he had been conducting an opera. "What opera?" asked Wagner. "Martha," answered the leader. "Martha!" exclaimed Wagner, "I pity you: Flotow and his Martha brought me to the barricades and exile twelve years ago."

Glee Club Concert.

Stormy weather greeted our Glee Club at Montandon on the evening of January 22, yet an appreciative audience enjoyed the musical treat. Truly it was a treat for the people of this village and the immediate neighborhood, for it is seldom that a place of its size can arrange to give a concert requiring the services of a College Glee Club.

The concert was given under the auspices of a class in music directed by Mr. Dutton, '98.

To show their loyalty and appreciation, a number of young people from Lewisburg helped to swell the number of those who are interested in Bucknell and in the efforts of this young college organization.

Notwithstanding the fact that two changes had been made in the personnel of the club during the last week, the program was rendered in a very effective manner. That the changes, which were made, were for the betterment of the club was attested by the more perfect blending of the voices. The work of the club demonstrated the fact that with consistent practice their Alma Mater need not feel ashamed of her sons nor fear comparison.

The following is the program as given at Montandon:

PART FIRST.

1. A Jolly Time. Hoffland

Directors Meeting.

A business meeting of the Directors of the ORANGE AND BLUE was held last Tuesday at 4 o'clock. Mr. Kress gave his report as manager. His resignation was accepted and Mr. Holland elected to succeed him. The president then announced the resignation of Mr. Dillon as editor-in-chief. After a few remarks the resignation was accepted and Mr. Gilpin elected to fill the vacancy.

The week of prayer for colleges has again arrived and a number of meetings have been arranged for. Every student should consider it his duty to attend these meetings and take an active part so that they may be productive of much good and result in the conversion of those students who have not as yet made a public acknowledgement of the Truth.

With the addition of many new studies to our college curriculum, Bucknell is now fully warranted in making the assertion that we have a medical preparatory course of study second to none in the state and such as will be taken in lieu of a year's actual work in any of the medical schools of the state.

The ministerial student on entering the Theological Seminary finds himself surprisingly in advance of his fellow students, which is due, without a doubt, to the excellence of the course offered at Bucknell as a direct preparation for that line of study.

Can the student who, in the future, expects to pursue a course of law, conscientiously, make any such claim as this? Must we not acknowledge that our curriculum is, to a certain degree, deficient in respect to law preparatory studies?

There is no reason why the prospective lawyer should not be given an opportunity to pursue those studies which directly pertain to his future work, to a degree commensurate with the opportunities open to students in other departments. A request in the form of a petition to the faculty has lately been proposed and will, in all probabilities, be consummated and presented before the close of the present term, requesting that Blackstone be introduced in our course of study as a Junior and Senior elective. This is but the expression of a long felt need and it is earnestly hoped that this request will receive the approbation of the faculty and that it will ultimate in the introduction of Blackstone in our College course.

Yale, Williams and the Western Reserve university require gymnasium work of the freshman class only. Wesleyan, Colby, Haverford, Trinity, Rutgers, Smiths, Tufts, Cornell and the Universities of Wisconsin, California, Kansas and of Indianapolis, all require gymnasium work of the freshmen and sophomore classes. The University of North Carolina requires exercise of all students except seniors. Lafayette, Bucknell, Colgate, Dartmouth, Drury, Hanover, Lehigh, Union, the University of Minnesota and Wabash require exercise of the students in all classes. The University of Chicago to enforce its gymnasium requirements will not allow students who take an excessive number of cuts to continue their university work until the deficiency is made up.—Ex.

DR. HARRIS' SERMON

In the Baptist Church, on Day of Prayer.

In President Harris' sermon the truth was presented in an exceedingly plain and convincing manner, and the reason why we should repent and be converted was clearly set forth. He took as his text the nineteenth verse of the third chapter of Acts. "Repent ye therefore and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord."

The first point in the exhortation was Repent. Repentance arises out of the contrast between the actual and the ideal, between what a man is and what he ought to be. On the side of conduct and achievement in what he does and what he might do. On the side of manhood the kind of a man he is in contrast with the kind of a man he ought to be.

Applying this, the speaker drew out the sin of the Jews in crucifying Christ. The sin, he said, was not so much in putting Christ to death, but they crucified the Lord in life. They tried to stop life at the fountain head, the life which the world should have. Their sin was the sin of obstruction. The Jews realizing that the work which Christ was doing would level their privileges with those of the great multitude determined to oppose it, some actively, some passively. Dr. Harris then drew a comparison between the passive and active obstructionist of Christ's time and those of that day, plainly showing that some are passive obstructionists unconsciously who would not be such if their minds were perfectly cleared.

The contrast of character was then dwelt upon. The contrast of that which I ought to be with that which I am. No man can take the description of true manhood as given in the fifth chapter of Matthew without feeling, "I am not what is here required" and may say indeed that this which is here required is beyond my power, but am I what I ought to be in moving towards that goal? Am I as good a man as I can be? This has reference to believers as well as unbelievers. It is only when a man sees the contrast between what he ought to be and is that there is hope for him.

The next fact brought out was that repentance consists in part in feeling. The conviction of the soul that it ought to engage in the work of Christ, that it ought to be enlisted under the Lord. After repentance the next step you have to take by faith. When you feel that you ought and have tried at last you will find a certain helplessness and inability and you have to accept the testimony of those who have tried that there is help and where that help is you have to make your decision and turn, turn from the low plain in which you are living, turn to God. And it is well to make known your decision. You can make this decision in the recesses of your own mind but it will be needful to make the outward confession in order that you will devote yourself to Christ.

The next move of conversion is Devotion, devotion of self to Christ. In this devotion we do not sacrifice the pleasures of life. We merely give them up in the devotion of Christ to self. This point was illustrated by the devotion of a man to his vocation in life. He does not consider the things given up in achieving success in his calling sacrifices. The same is true in the devotion of a mother to her child or a husband to his wife. So it is in this devotion to Christ not self sacrifice but the finding of self by the devotion of the self to Christ, and, also to the cause of Christ, because the two cannot be separated. These two cannot be separated because Christ was so much his cause and his cause is so much Christ that the two are almost the same. In telling what Christ came in the world to do the speaker referred to the purpose of God set forth in the second Psalm and explained that Christ's object, the object of Christianity is to transform the races, not to absorb them. The obstructionist was approached, and in view of the explanation appealed to give up his opposition and rather help the cause of Christ. The stronger man was urged to help the weaker and not as the Pharisee thank the Lord that he is better than the rest. A comparison was drawn between the devil of Milton, who pictures Satan as a hero, Dante who portrays him as a devil and Goethe who pictures the Eighteenth Century devil as a scholar and polite gentleman with a habitual sneer upon his countenance. This sneer belongs to the devil and should not be seen on the faces of Christians. Dante pictures hell as a series of descents, rings and arches, with no bottom while on the other hand heaven was pictured as having no top but extending upward in circles of light and moral growth.

Your sins can be blotted out. Devote yourself to Christ and these things will drop out. In the way that heat melts the frost from the window of a room so devotion to Christ will blot out sins.

It said by some philosopher that there are three religions. The religion of the infinite, the religion of the finite and the religion of the unity of the infinite and finite. The religion of the infinite is realized in a small

BASKET BALL.

A Very Interesting Game Played in Williamsport last Saturday Evening.

One of the most exciting games of the season was played in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium between the Y. M. C. A. team of Williamsport and Bucknell. The game was noted for clean and fast playing. Our boys were somewhat handicapped by four large iron pillars in the centre of the floor, and a small gymnasium. They however showed great improvement in goal throwing, but were weak in passing.

It was indeed an interesting game for the spectators and they showed their appreciation by continued applause, first for one side and then for the other. It was now Bucknell's game then Y. M. C. A.'s. It was a tie game until Williamsport threw a goal in the last minute of play.

The game was called at 8:23 p. m. After some hard and fast playing Captain Smith secured the ball and threw the first goal from near the centre of the field. Soon L. Keisling scored for the Y. M. C. A. team, followed by Sarvey's two in quick succession. It looked as though the Y. M. C. A. would have a big lead until Weymouth threw a goal from a very difficult position, followed by C. H. Elliott scoring from the centre of the field. The first half closed with score 6-6.

After a rest of ten minutes both teams came upon the floor to fight a hard battle, and hard it was. Williamsport took the aggressive and in one minute L. Keisling broke the tie by a clever throw. Weymouth soon secured the ball and tied the score. L. Keisling scored again, followed by Bevier. Weymouth then threw two goals in succession tieing the score. At this period of the game the crowd went wild as the teams fought for victory; after five minutes of hard playing and with but forty seconds to play L. Keisling scored the winning point. The line up:

Bucknell.	Positions.	Y. M. C. A.
Smith	attack	Sarvey
Wassell	attack	H. Keisling
Weymouth	center	L. Keisling
Elliott, C. N.	defence	Bevier
Catterall	defence	Harman

Goals from field—Weymouth 4; L. Keisling 4; Sarvey 2; Bevier 1; Smith 1; Elliott 1. Referee—Lasdon, Y. M. C. A. Umpire—Mulkie, Bucknell. Time—Two 20 min te halves.

People's Popular Lecture Course.

Boys, you can't afford to miss this. Reserved seat sale opens Friday morning at 9 o'clock, at Baker's drug store.

Glee Club Concert.

The Glee Club gave a concert on Saturday night before a large and appreciative audience, at White Deer. As this place is a few miles from the Reading Railroad at Allenwood, the members had a very enjoyable sleigh ride before reaching the place.

The people of this little town gave our boys a warm and hearty reception.

After the concert they enjoyed another ride to the station. There they remained several hours waiting for the train.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon Convention.

Pennsylvania Zeta Chapter of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity will conduct the Biennial Convention of Province Beta, to be held at Lewisburg, February, 21st, 22d and 23d.

On the night of the 21st a dance will be given in the Armory. On the 22d a banquet will be held at the Baker House, and on the 23d a theatre party will be given in the Lycoming Opera House, Williamsport, in honor of the visiting delegates. The business of the convention will take up two days, and by the kind permission of Dr. Harris, the use of Bucknell Hall has been given to hold the meetings of the convention.

More complete particulars will be given in the ORANGE AND BLUE later.

Rev. H. B. Hazen, ex. '98, was married to Miss E. May Stambaugh, of Sharon, Pa., on January 26, at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. Hazen left College at the end of his Freshman year and has since been pastor of the Lanesville Baptist Church.

A great number of colleges have adopted a plan whereby students who serve on the editorial staffs of the different college papers or magazines, are exempted from the required rhetorical work.

This plan recognizes nothing more than justice to those students who are compelled, by reason of the responsibility which they have assumed, to sacrifice no mean amount of time in the preparation and composition of such articles as will be of interest and worth to the subscriber.

That the amount of work required, from the respective members of the board of editors for each weekly or monthly issue of the college magazine, is adequate to the effort and time required for the writing of an essay or oration, cannot be doubted, and there is no reason why this work should not be taken in lieu of the rhetoricals required each term.

Again, the student, in his preparation of an article, realizes the fact that his production, by publication, will be subjected to the criticism of both the faculty and students, and, therefore he exercises his best efforts and takes unusual pains, in his various compositions from week to week, so that they may meet the requirements that are demanded of him. On the other hand, orations and essays are, frequently, the result of a very limited amount of thought and effort and consequently fail, in giving to the student that literary training for which they are purported.

Again, very often, orations and essays lack originality but are the absolute results, with perhaps a few modifications, of the fertile brain of some magazine writer or a duplicate of the composition of some other student who was, perhaps, a little more conservative. On the other hand, the editor of the college paper, far from being a mere copyist, must resort to his own originality and consequently whatever issues from his pen is his own.

From the recital of these facts it is apparent that, since the amount of work required of the college editor is, at least, commensurable with that of the writer of essays or orations and since the originality of his articles may be relied upon, editorial work ought to be taken in lieu of the rhetoricals which are now required of all students.

The Week of Prayer.

The first meeting of the week of prayer was held in Bucknell Hall, Sunday at 3 o'clock. Dr. Harris gave an address after which he called for prayers and testimony. It was responded to by over one hundred who signified their willingness to give their assistance to the meetings.

Monday evening Dr. Hulley addressed a large and very attentive audience. The good spirit of this meeting was felt throughout the college.

Dr. Perrine spoke Tuesday evening on the subject of "The Prodigal Son," using as his text "When he Came to Himself." His address was very impressive, showing the importance of coming to ourselves when we find that we are not in the right.

On Wednesday, at 4 o'clock, Dr. Hulley handled the subject of "Excuses," meeting the various excuses of men and showing the foolishness of them. After Dr. Hulley was through speaking there were very few who could feel that their excuses would stand.

The prayer-meeting held in Bucknell Hall, Thursday morning was led by Dr. Harris.

At 10:30 a. m. all gathered at the Baptist Church where Dr. Harris gave a searching and powerful sermon.

Rev. Haslam, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Williamsport, and a graduate of Bucknell, gave a very practical talk in Bucknell hall at 3 o'clock, taking as his text, "What shall I do with Jesus who is called Christ."

In the evening all were glad to hear from Dr. Stephens, who spoke from the 23d Psalm.

During the week prayer-meetings have been held both in the College and the Academy.

The week of prayer this year was conducted by the members the faculty while the students were ready to assist in every way possible.

The success both in the deep spirit manifested and the quickening of the lives of the students, proved that the meetings were not in vain. During the week some have taken their first stand for Christ, many have made resolves that they will be more active and better christians, while the influence for good has spread throughout the whole school.

Let us not forget the inspiration of these meetings and may we make Bucknell noted for Christian work.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

At the extra meeting that was held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms Friday, at 4 o'clock, nine names were received for membership. Prof. Phillips gave an address on the subject of Prayer.

Mr. C. W. Harvy, the College State Secretary, will be here Tuesday and will lead the meeting in the evening.

There were several members enrolled in the Bible classes on Monday evening.

W. H. Parker, B. U. '97, made a visit to Pa: Zeta last week.

An invitation has been received for an inter-collegiate debate with Allegheny College at Meadville. In all probability the invitation will be accepted.

Dr. E. O. Lyte, Principal of the Millersville State Normal School, has been selected by the committee on inter-collegiate debate, as one of the judges for the coming debate.

Mesdames Loomis and Martin gave an "At Home" on Friday p. m. from 5 to 7 o'clock, at the home of the former. About ninety prominent ladies of the town and surrounding community were present.

A Greek letter society has just been established among the ladies of the School of Music. Their badge is lettered Phi Delta Kappa. It is a gold lyre, signifying very appropriately devotion to music. Their colors are old gold and seal brown.

There are still a number of unpaid foot-ball subscriptions. They should be paid up at once. The unpaid board bills at the training table should also be met, so as to help relieve the pressure creditors are bringing to bear on the Finance Committee.

way by the Egyptians when they built those enormous massive temples. The religion of the finite illustrated by the Greeks whose Gods were large men. Gods who could be in only one place at the one time. Then the synthesis of the infinite and finite which is the religion of Christ, the religion which combines infinite and finite.

The times of refreshing come because of his synthesis of the finite and infinite, the incarnation of God in man. When Christ ascended unto his father he said "I will not leave you comfortless. The spirit will come and he will abide with you forever." It is to this spirit we commend you when we ask you to accept Christ. We do not ask you to undertake this work in your own strength. God will dwell in you. He will give you a clear insight into this contrast of the ideal and the actual and will help you he'ote yourself more and more to Christ. Your own will operating, of course, and one after another rapidly your sins shall drop out of you, be blotted out of you and this time of refreshing will continually come from the presence of the Lord. Now you have to start on this by faith too. You will have to believe the testimony of many thousands who have experienced it. Read the lives of Christian heroes, study their deeds of heroism. It makes a man strong to come in contact with with strong men. Elder Grow, a man who has led many souls to Christ, said that more than once seeing a man come into his meetings and begining to listen he said to himself "That man is begining to think. He will come." The only way he could avoid that is to run away. Either stay or go. Launch yourself with a strong initiative, throw your whole self in and then keep on going. Then after you have begun to work for Christ try to help others. Help, this is the principle of Christianity. Never hinder, always encourage, never discourage. Launch yourself with a strong initiative with complete faith in Christ and keep on doing.

THE MID-WINTER DANCE.

Kappa Chapter of Sigma Chi Fraternity Entertains.

Armory Hall Elaborately Decorated and Brilliantly Illuminated for the Occasion.

Whenever the Sigma Chi fraternity concludes to entertain its friends, it is put down as a self-evident proposition that no half-way measures will be adopted. This expectation was more than realized last Friday night when the chapter gave its mid-winter dance, which was declared to be the most elaborate affair held in Lewisburg for many years. It not only brought out the members of the most exclusive social set in town, but also from neighboring towns and the most prominent students of the leading colleges and universities of the state. In fact, every person who attended "is something or the offspring of somebody who is something."

The dancing began at 9:30 and continued until 12:30, when they partook of the supper. This part of the affair was in keeping with the surroundings and showed that the committee on refreshments was thoroughly conversant both as to what quantity and quality such occasions demand. After a half-hour's intermission, the dancing was resumed and continued until 3 a. m.

This annual dance is noted for its exquisite toilettes which were more magnificent last Friday evening than in preceding years. The gowns being rich in texture and beautiful in construction, made a pleasing combination of colors and evinced no mean taste in selection.

The decorations eclipsed those of all former years. The side walls were literally covered with red, white and blue bunting, dotted with flags of every nation. Japanese lanterns dangled from the ceiling while every beam was decorated, one with orange and the other with blue bunting. On the last piece of yellow bunting, stretching across the entire hall, the word "Bucknell" appeared. On the rear wall the fraternity monogram was placed. The interwoven Greek characters consisted of highly polished brass resting upon a black background festooned with natural flowers. The platform erected in the southwest corner, upon which the orchestra sat, was covered with handsome rugs and surrounded by ropes of smilax. The committee on decorations left no stone unturned in their effort to make the hall attractive and charming, and the compliments showered upon them by the guests testify to their success.

The patronesses were Mesdames G. W. Goodman, W. C. Walls, F. C. Marsh, S. P. Wolverton, W. H. Hackenberg, H. M. McClure, J. C. Bucher, J. T. Baker, P. B. Wolfe and T. C. Thornton. An unusually large number of patronesses were present and seemed delighted to witness the younger element paying homage to the shrines of terpsichore. The presence of so many elderly personages enhanced still more the dignity of the pageant.

Visiting members of Sigma Chi: Tom R. Field, Perry Wentz, Lewis Dewing, G. A. Stepheson, Geo. L. Megargee, Orville E. Bailey, T. and E. Connell, of U. of P. Jack Davadge, of New York. Geo. Hyde, Ridgeway. S. P. Wolverton, Jr., Sunbury. F. W. Rex Wagner, Bradford. Abbot Bucher, Harrisburg. L. H. Ryon, Shamokin. Geo. O. Barclay, J. F. Strieby, Williamsport. James Alex Guie, Catawissa. Other visitors from abroad: Miss Jen. S. Montgomery, Miss Jen. C. Montgomery, Miss Marge Montgomery, Miss Messinger, Miss Mary Godcharles, W. S. Montgomery, Watsontown. Miss Ilia Strieby, Williamsport. Misses Edith Dickerman, Kate Datesman, Bess Wilson; Mr. John Smith, Mr. Geo. Clinger, Milton. W. J. Benson, Mt. Carmel. W. J. Reese, Shamokin. Miss Scott, Catawissa. Miss Kuhn, Frank Coley, Bloomsburg. Miss Bever, R. E. Kelly, Dr. Bever Gerhart, Danville. Miss Stoner, Miss Margaret Stoner, Miss Doll Stoner, Miss Packer, Miss Wolverton, Miss Fan Bloom, Sunbury. Miss Ray Reese, Park Place. Miss Mary Taggart, John Lesher, Northumberland. John Stark, Price Hull, Phila.

Active Chapter: Rush H. Kress, Bruce H. Trimmer, Robt. Y. Grant, Berne Hackenberg, Christ J. Magee, Ned C. Caldwell. Frank W. Ward.

Reception at the Institute.

The reception given by Miss Stanton at the Institute yesterday from 4 to 6, was a very homelike affair. We are glad to see the Freshmen take such an active part as they have been doing in this line, for a young man who goes through college without developing the social side of his nature, has failed, to a large extent, in getting himself prepared for the future. The only criticism that we are able to make is that once a month is not frequent enough for holding these events.

In our last issue we stated that G. M. Davis, '98, was at his home in Atlantic Highlands, N. J., and that he would preach in the Central Baptist church of that place on February 6. This was only partly true. He was invited to preach there, but was not able to do so on account of sickness.

BASKET BALL.

Williamsport Y. M. C. A. Snowed Under by Bucknell.

Our boys entered Tustin gymnasium last Saturday evening determined to win. From the time the ball was first thrown up until the whistle of the timekeeper announced the close of the game, our team made things lively for the visitors. Good team work was one of the characteristics of Bucknell's playing. Each man covered his opponent well. There were several star plays made on both sides. For Y. M. C. A., Harman, H. Keisling and Bevier excelled, while for Bucknell Catterall and Weymouth did good work.

The first half opened with some swift playing. In about five minutes Wassel scored first goal for Bucknell. After some interesting playing C. H. Elliott "shot" another goal, closely followed by Catterall's. Several scrimmages followed and Weymouth then took a turn and made a basket Catterall by successful dribbling the full length of the floor scored another goal. Foul was then called on Bucknell, but Y. M. C. A. failed to toss the goal. Williamsport "took a brace" and worked very hard but were unable to score. About ten seconds before time was called Catterall made another goal for Bucknell. The half closed with score 12–0 in favor of Bucknell.

The second half opened with strong playing on both sides. Foul was called on Bucknell. Williamsport did not succeed in tossing the goal. Catterall scored the first goal in this half. From this on the Bucknell boys gave the spectators an exhibition of good team work, which resulted in two goals by Weymouth and one by Catterall. At this time H. Keisling succeeded in scoring the only goal that Y. M. C. A. made. Smith now took his turn and threw two goals. In a quarter of a minute Catterall followed with another goal.

Foul was called on Williamsport; Weymouth missed the basket. In rapid succession two goals were thrown by Weymouth and the game closed with score 30–2 in favor of Bucknell.

An Appeal to Students and Faculty.

We believe that with us you appreciate the fact

(1.) That the Young Men's Christian Association is a powerful factor for good in the student life of the college.

(2.) That there is constant need of trained men to wisely direct the various departments of its growing work, viz: four Bible and training classes, missionary study class, the regular meetings and the hand-to-hand work.

(3.) That it would materially aid in securing wiser and more efficient effort during the coming year to have a representative delegation at the State Convention of the Y. M. C. A., also at least one under-classman as delegate at the International Student Volunteer Convention at Cleveland, O., both convening during the present month.

To carry out this object properly, we need some aid from those who believe in it. Be assured that the utmost care will be used in placing every cent received. Only delegates chosen from under-classmen will be assisted and then only so far as absolutely necessary.

No personal canvass will be made. If you are pleased to assist, kindly hand contribution either to J. C. Hazen, Chairman of Convention Committee, or to any member of the Executive Committee of the Association, named below, before the 15th inst.

A Coaster's Fatal Ride.

Last Saturday afternoon, while coasting on College hill, Harry Schoch met with a serious accident, which caused his death a half hour later. He was guiding a pair of sleds filled with boys, and in some manner the fore sled became unmanageable causing them to run against the memorial stone erected by the class of '78. The large artery in his right leg was severed which caused a great loss of blood before medical aid could arrive.

To-night, (Monday) People's Popular Course. Mozart Symphony Club. A rare treat. Have you your ticket?

Theta Delta Psi sorority, of Bucknell, gave the Pi Beta Phi fraternity a pleasant sleigh ride on the pike Monday night.

In our issue of January 25, we copied an exchange which stated that the University of Chicago had no college colors, This we desire to correct. The University of Chicago has maroon for its color. The error does not belong to us, as we take the exchange columns of other college papers and magazines to be correct and authoritative. Mistakes are often liable to occur especially when news is received from persons who never examine them as to their validity, but no editor of a college journal should allow an error to pass without correcting it after his attention has been called to it. The above mistake was brought to our attention through the kindness of one of our alumni, who is at present attending the University of Chicago.

A great number of complaints are coming from the finance committee of the athletic association, concerning the payment of subscription on the foot-ball debt. We do not wish to be too severe with these delinquent students, but why you are so negligent is a question which the committee cannot solve. When you gave your subscription the understanding was that it was strictly a foot-ball supscription and was due at that time. Several months have passed since then, and only about one-half has been paid. This is not right. The student body desires to have a fine team in all departments, but this cannot be accomplished without the support of every student in college, and a part of that support must be of a financial natnre.

Within the last few weeks one of our neighbor colleges raised over seven hundred dollars for athletics, the college classes giving from ten to twenty dollars. This shows college spirit in the right direction. It shows that the great majority of the students are interested and take an active part in the financial condition of athletics.

Now if our neighbors can do so much for athletics, why can not we become more active in the financial part of our athletics. Let the delinquent subscribers pay their subscription at once and save the committee the unnecessary work of calling upon you a half dozen times before receiving their pay.

The misfortune of the lad on Saturday again impresses the fact that coasting on the paths of the college hill should not be allowed. During the snowy and icy seasons the condition of the paths is such as to make walking exceedingly difficult, and this condition is made still worse by coasting. While the children are engaged in this amusement, no student can use the paths without stepping into the snow to permit sleds to pass, many of which follow each other in rapid succession. There is, however, a more serious reason why coasting should be prohibited, aside from the mere inconvenience to pedestrians—that of personal danger. The personal safety, both of the coasters and the students, is endangered, and this two-fold danger can be averted only by resorting to the course herein advocated.

Preliminary Debate.

From F. & M. Weekly.

Last Friday night the two literary societies dispensed with their regular meetings and in their stead the inter-society debate was held to determine the debaters in the F. and M.—Bucknell debate to be held in Lancaster sometime during this month. The exercises were opened by an invocation pronounced by Dr. Dubbs, who also presided over the meeting, Prof. Grove acting as time-keeper. The question discussed was the one which is to be used in the inter-collegiate debate. Resolved, That it is contrary to the spirit of our institutions, and contrary to the interests of our country for the United States to acquire territory remote from our present boundaries and settled by alien races. The debaters on the affirmative side of the question were C. H. Bruner, '98, Diagnothian, and W. F. Curtis, '98, Goethean; on the negative side were H. J. Benchoff, '98, Diagnothian, and G. W. Billet, '98, Goethean. All of the debaters entered the contest well prepared, each one giving all the others a lively contest for place in the inter-collegiate debate. The judges, Dr. Rupp, W. M. Franklin, Esq., and S. O. Eaby, Esq., reported Messrs. Curtis and Billiett the successful contestants.

Freshmen Sleigh Ride.

Although nearly every one on the "Hill" longs for good skating' yet Bucknell students very wisely waste no time in regret.

That the splendid sleighing and beautiful moonlight nights of the past week have been fuliy appreciated by all is clearly shown by the many sleighing parties.

Last Thursday evening one of the merriest of these crowds enjoyed a ride to Mifflinburg.

The party, consisting of about thirty members of the Freshmen class, left the Institute in two sleighs at about 7 o'clock.

Miss Bell and Mrs. Bartol were chaperones of the evening. After a very enjoyable ride of nearly two hours the sleighs were brought to a stand-still before the Deckard House, Mifflinburg.

Excellent music was rendered throughout the evening. Refreshments were served and at a late hour the party were driven about the town.

The enjoyment of the sleighers found expression in college songs and yells along the entire way; and these, mingled with the jingle of the bells, made merriest music.

Dartmouth College issued the first college paper in the United States and Daniel Webster was its editor-in-chief.—Ex.

Academy News.

The committee on inter-scholastic debate decided to challenge one of the societies of Bloomsburg Normal, and Philogean Society, of the Normal has been chosen.

Calliopean Literary Society had a very interesting meeting on Friday evening. The debating was unusually fine. Miss Hanna was present and gave a very interesting as well as instructive address.

The Y. M. C. A. bible class, which meets every Saturday forenoon, is doing very good work. Prof. Edwards is the instructor and makes each lesson interesting as well as instructive. This is a grand opportunity to study the life of Christ and all who can should take advantage of it.

Institute Notes.

The first "at home" of the term was held Monday afternoon and proved fully as delightful as previous affairs of the same kind.

Monthly examinations took place last week and were much enjoyed by all participants.

The Pi Phi's spent Saturday with Miss Margaret Montgomery at her home in McEwensville.

Coasting parties have been a prominent feature of Institute life during the past few days.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Don't forget the "Morning Watch" which means the first half hour of each day in bible study and in meditation.

Mr Wiltbank will be the leader of our York delegation. We expect to have several men present at the sessions.

The subject for the meeting next Tuesday, "Mr. Mott's travels to India and Egypt, including a visit to the Y. M. C. A. of both Jerusalem and Nazareth.

A large number of the college boys attended the Military ball on Thursday night.

Bucknell is again scheduled to run in the Relay Races with Dickinson, Franklin & Marshall and Gettysburg. This is the same class they were in last year.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES.

Gleaned from the Events of the Week on the Campus.

On Saturday evening the Bucknell Glee Club will give a concert in the Pine Grove Chapel.

The Mirror will be out this week. It has been enlarged to a thirty-eight page magazine.

A number of our college boys went to Mifflinburg with the sleighing party on Monday evening.

A. W. Johnson, '96, will discuss the subject, "School Legislation" at the local Institute to be held at Hartleton, Feb. 10.

All students who desire to accompany our basket ball team to State College should see Manager Elliott before Thursday.

On Monday "Rex" Wagner, of Bradford, contributed five dollars to the track fund. Mr. Wagner formerly attended Bucknell and still remembers her in a substantial manner.

A Merry Sleighing Party.

A merry party of nineteen college boys and young people from town crowded into a large sled and started for Northumberland about seven o'clock Friday night. They drove to the home of the Misses Donhan, where a number of young people from Northumberland awaited them. The evening was spent very pleasantly playing various popular games, after which refreshments were served. At a late hour they started on the homeward journey, and after a pleasant ride arrived in Lewisburg very much pleased with the ride.

For years the two college literary societies have had their trouble with the Gas Company concerning the amount of gas used. The matter has been investigated, and it has been found that the meter varies greatly from time to time. For two months from Jan. 1, '96, to Mar. 1 the meter registered 700 feet of gas; from Mar. 1 to May 1, it registered 500 feet; from May 1 to July 1, 1900 feet; from Jan 1, '97, to Sept. 1, '97, on 700 feet. This shows very plainly that something is wrong, and that the two societies should take vigorous action to remedy it.

A SUMPTUOUS BANQUET.

The Class of 1901 Have an Enjoyable Time.

Freshmen Leave Town Openly, Although Secretly to Spend an Evening of Festivity.

After several impositions upon the gullibility of the Sophomores, by pretending to hold a banquet, the Freshmen left last Friday evening at 6 o'clock for the Hotel Haag, Milton, where they enjoyed a class banquet that was sufficiently sumptuous to create the envy of a Lucullus. They were conveyed to Milton by teams, and after their arrival at the popular hotel, they gathered in the spacious parlor where they were entertained by a traveling minstrel troupe that was spending the night at the hotel and hired by the class to furnish music until speech making began.

At 9:30 fifty members of the class, with the chaperons and several invited guests, marched into the dining room and began to discuss the menu. During the progress of this part of the affair, the colored orchestra was seated in the dining room. The tables were adorned with large boquets and loaded with dazzling silverware, upon all of which innumerable wax tapers and incandescent lights shed their brightest lustre. While the menu was being enjoyed, the melody of the colored voices, harmoniously blending with the soothing strains of stringed instrumepts, wafted continually upon the exhilarating atmosphere. The elaborate menu, the music and the brilliant scene formed three deep impressions—upon the palate, the tympanum and the retina, that will never be forgotten by those who participated.

At midnight President Riemer, the mentor of the Freshmen, announced that the time of speech-making had arrived. By his eulogistic and apt introductions of those on the program, he showed that his skill in marshalling toasters is equal to his tact in conducting an inter-class warfare.

F. Anderson was the first speaker, having for his theme "The Indivisible 1901." He proved his assertions by the past achievements of the class in such a way that the members more fully realized their combined strength. G. W. Alexander spoke on "Our Architects at B. U." This had reference to our professors, who were portrayed in such flattering terms, that, had they heard it, he would be sure of an "ex" in ever recitation. Misses Williams and Wells rendered a piano duet. The nimble and artistic manner in which the young ladies manipulated the keys in the execution of a difficult piece of music, elicited vociferous applause. "The Track and the Teams" was the toast responded to by J. Z. Rowe. He being an athlete, appreciates the value of an athletic training and urged his class brothers to take advantage of the opportunities afforded for such development, especially after the completion of the running track. "The Bamboos of '00," referred to the bambo cane rush and was recalled by W. G. Thomson so vividly that the banqueters almost saw broken canes fly in all directions and heard the shrieks of the ladies at the sight of their fallen heroes. In a manner worthy the dignity and social standing of the Juniors, H. T. Trax, gave a toast on "Our Friends, '99." He cited incidents that clearly demonstrated the reciprocal sympathy between his class and that of '99. At this "stage of the game" a piano solo was rendered by D. T. Sausser, who was highly complimented upon it. O. N. Rambo responded to the toast "At Home." Humorous, although imaginary incidents were narrated to illustrate the value of womanly qualities. "Our Boys" was the toast responded to by Miss Phillips. She played upon the names of several members in a manner that showed that there is more in a name than Shakespeare would leave us believe. J. O. Hackenberg expatiated upon "The Sophs' Feed." He spoke in a humorous strain of the Sophomore banquet and related incidents of that event. C. W. Wolfe agreeably surprised the class by showing the delicate music a flute can be made to yield if handled by an expert. C. F. Bidlespacher's toast, "Feb. 22," consisted of several prophecies which were based on the experience of the past. Miss Guthrie read a poem of her own composition. It was a parody on Riley's "Goblins will catch you if you don't watch out." In her poem the word "Sophomore" was substituted for "goblins." The program closed with a cornet solo by L. M. Goodman.

Inter-Collegiate Debate.

The invitation from Allegheny College to participate in an intercollegiate debate has been accepted. The faculty has selected E. H. Dutton and J. T. Anderson of the senior class, to represent Bucknell. Previous to this time the two literary societies have had the entire control of intercollegiate debates; but this shows a decided improvement. It proves to us that the faculty is interested in this line of work. April 15 has been fixed as the date of the debate.

BASKET BALL.

State Wins a Game by a Score of 12 to 4.

State's Gymnasium too Large for our Team—Out of Bounds Played Very Frequent.

On Friday afternoon the 'Varsity team left for State College to play the first game of basket ball with that team.

Manager Rawn met the boys at Lemont with the large "State College" 'bus. The team and rooters were at once transferred to "University Inn" where they all registered.

Bucknell is a "heavy card" at State and the large Armory Hall was comfortably filled with enthusiastic State rooters by 7.45, the time for calling the game.

Referee Leete tossed the ball up at the centre amid the encouraging "Rahs" of the State rooters. Both teams started in with a dash and determination that quickened the blood of those who "dropped their quarters." After five minutes of speedy work Sprecher tossed first goal for State. This brought the State hats into the air and even as they howled and bellowed they thought of the lucky first goal as a "winner."

Referee Leete lost no time in putting the ball in play and 'twas only a minute later that Artie Smith dropped a neat basket.

With the score 2–2 the teams now fought with a spirit strongly characteristic of a State–Bucknell contest. At this point of the game, 8 minutes before first half was called Weymouth scored the star play of the game. At a distance equal to half the length of our gymnasium he shot a one handed over-head basket; and the Armory resounded with well-merited applause. But the play only quickened the work of both teams and just before time was called Lockwood tied the score.

During the entire first half it was plainly evident that Bucknell was handicaped by the large floor space and the "out of bounds" style of play. Besides, the several Bucknell rooters present quite easily noticed that our boys were not playing their best game. The passing was decidedly faulty at times, and chances for goals were frequently missed.

But they went at the game in the second half fully prepared, mentally, to win out. 'Twas only sad to witness that mind and body were not in harmony, so to speak. They experienced even greater difficulty with the "out of bounds" while the State players caught a streak of "luck-on-the-run." One minute after play Fulton tossed State's third goal. Try as they best could, Bucknell

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The State Y. M. C. A. convention will be held at York, Pa., Feb. 20. The International Students Volunteer Convention at Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 23–27.

Everything is being done that is possible to make the gathering at York the best and most instructive State Convention that has been held in Penna. An effort has been made to secure the most prominent and interesting speakers. Besides the men chosen from the various parts of the state, the following speakers will give addresses: Rev. Dr. Pierson, of New York, editor of the Missionary Review, subject "The Secrets of Spiritual Power"; Walter B. Gilbert, of Lancaster, will give an address on the subject of "Fraternalism! How More Effectually Infuse it into the Membership of the Association?" Thomas H. Atherton, of Wilkesbarre, will speak on the subject, "The Young Men's Christian Association or Social Clubs." Wm. G. Reed, of Erie, will speak on "The Association's Obligation to the Associate Member." R. C. Morse, of New York, the general secretary, will deliver an address entitled "The Brotherhood Work of the Young Men's Christian Associations." Walter C. Douglass, general secretary of Philadelphia, will speak on "The Young Men's Christian Association. Is it an Association or an Institution?" G. W. Messer, general Secretary of Chicago, will take as his subject "The Lines of Advance that should mark the Work of the Association." W. H. Rinek will speak on "Our Obligation to the Young Men of the Community and Neighborhood who are not members of the Association."

There will be two college conferences held. Dr. Wishard, who is well known in his close association with Mr. Gilbert A. Beaver, the national college secretary, will conduct the first conference. The second will be given to the consideration of all the subjects that are met with in connection with college work, including Physical Work, Bible Study, Educational Work and Junior Work.

Besides the many other speakers in this conference, Cyril Hause, of Susquehanna University, will emphasise the "Morning Watch." R. T. Wiltbank, Jr., of Bucknell, will present a paper on "Some ways of Holding men in our Bible Classes." H. A. Bailey, Grove City, on "Enlisting men in our Bible Classes." Robert Wood, of Gettysburg, will speak on the subject of "Finances." The President Henry G. Weston and Dr. Stifler, Crozer Theological Seminary, will give six Bible Lessons during the convention.

The Y. M. C. A. of York sends us greetings, welcoming us to

The new annual catalogue of Bucknell made its first appearance on Thursday of this week and its advent was duly hailed by a rush of students to the Registrar's office, each eager to secure a copy and peruse its contents.

The catalogue presents a strikingly unique appearance both as to its form and the arrangement of its contents and indicates the expenditure of no mean amount of labor or pains in its compilation. An examination of the new catalogue will not fail to indicate the fact that, with the addition of one new chair to the corps of instructors and several new branches to the college curriculum together with many improvements that have been made in and about the University buildings, old Bucknell is undergoing a steady process of growth and improvement.

Institute Notes.

Miss Marie Crandall is a new Pi Phi.

The Institute girls spent Friday evening with Prof. and Mrs. Edwards at the Academy. The evening was especially delightful and enjoyed as much as the receptions given at the Academy always are.

Dr. Gerhart gave a very interesting address on Thursday evening before Zeta Literary Society. His subject was on his recent trip to Egypt. In his short talk he gave much valuable information as well as a very humorous account of his own experiences in foreign lands.

The regular meeting of the Alumnae Club was held in the Institute parlors on Tuesday evening. The program was given up to sculptors. both ancient and modern, papers having been prepared by Miss Stanton, Mrs. Bright Miller and Mrs. Gretzinger. Mrs. Larison also gave a very interesting talk on Harriet Hosmer.

Academy News.

J. M. Evans spent Sunday with friends at Danville.

Pitts and Williams spent several days at the latter's home in Mt. Carmel.

Rittenhouse and Waters enjoyed a visit to Sunbury Saturday with Packer, '98.

David Phillips, a graduate of Chicago Theological Seminary, visited his brother, Instructor Phillips on Saturday.

Rev. J. T. Gallagher, ex. '81, died very suddenly from apoplexy on January 9th, at Rush, Susquehanna Co., Pa., where he was doing evangelistic work. Rev. Gallagher was ordained a Baptist minister in 1881, and for the past two years has been a resident of Lewisburg. A wife and four children survive him.

On Friday, the 4th, Pi Beta Phi initiated into their mysteries, Sara Black and Edith Phillips. The occasion was celebrated by a sleigh ride to Milton where Miss Foust entertained the girls right royally. Games were played until 11 o'clock when a delightful collation was served. The table was very prettily decorated with the wine carnation and wine and blue ribbons. A very enthusiastic vote of thanks was given to our sister for her generous hospitality.

their city and homes and urging a lage delegation.

Are we so full of knowledge that we need no more or do we feel the need of new enthusiasm for the work? We can answer the question by going to York and see. The largest student convention ever held in the world, as well as the largest and most representative missionary gathering ever convened on the North American continent was the second international convention of the student volunteer movement held in Detroit in 1894.

The Third International Convention is held in Cleveland at the invitation of the Y. M. C. A. of that city, seconded by all the churches.

A series of addresses by some of the strongest missionary speakers of North America and other lands will be given during the first evening of the convention. These addresses will set forth the condition and needs of the world to-day, and the principles and lines of its conquest for Christ. The convention will no doubt far surpass the one held at Detroit.

Bucknell will be represented in this convention by Messrs. E. H. Dutton, C. S Keen and J. C. Hazen, from the College, and probably Misses Mary Chambers and Genevieve White, from the Institute.

Below we give a correct account of the responses to the appeal as published in the columns of THE ORANGE AND BLUE last week.

Prof. Rockwood	$2.00
Prof. Perrine	1.00
J. T. Anderson	.50

The Christian Association heartily thank these gentlemen. The fact, however, that so few responded has obliged us to say no two, three or four men who should be at the convention, and compels the query whether this limited response is due to lack of confidence in the methods and results of our College Association work, or to the slight general interest in the religious life of the University, as compared with that in other less important phases. This is a question worthy of serious thought and consequent action upon the part of those who desire a high standard of moral and religious life at Bucknell.

Prof. and Mrs. Edwards Reception.

The most enjoyable reception thus far this school year, was given by Principal and Mrs. Edwards last Friday evening. When this worthy host and hostess decide to entertain their friends, it is a settled fact that no small measures will be adopted. This fact was realized Friday evening as soon as the guests entered the parlors in which everything was so tastily arranged that complimentary remarks were everywhere to be heard. The guests began to arrive from town, Institute and Academy about eight o'clock, and after being cordially received by the Prof. and Mrs. Edwards, were immediately set to guessing the names of characters which were pinned upon their backs. This, being a new game for the majority, was thoroughly enjoyed by all and especially by the young people. At a seasonable hour refreshments were served in the office which was fitted especially for the occasion. After refreshments the company remained in the office to enjoy a well-chosen program of selections produced on a graphophone exhibited by two of the College boys. After returning to the parlors the company listened to a beautiful vocal solo by Miss Mary Derr, who responded to the encore. The guests, excepting members of Academy and Institute, and members of Faculty residing in the Academy, were Pres. and Mrs. Harris, Prof. and Mrs. W. E. Martin, Prof. and Mrs. T. E. Rockwood, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Dreisbach, Prof. and Mrs. A. B. Stewart, Prof. and Mrs. W. G. Owens, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Gretzinger, Mrs. Larison, Mrs. G. W. Goodman, Mrs. W. C. Walls, Mrs. G. B. Miller, Mrs. J. R. Loomis, Mrs. Kaler, Miss Mary Derr, Miss Jessie Wheeler, Miss Maude Hanna, Miss Eliza Bell and Miss Marguerite Gretzinger. After eleven the little army of "Semites," marshalled by Miss Wheeler, started on their lonesome journey to their house below the Hill, while the Cad. boys, in vain, ask themselves and each other, why the Semites were so brave as to make their journey unaccompanied.

About ten delegates will be present at the Pennsylvania State Convention at York from the College.

A CONVENTION DANCE.

Zeta Chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Entertain.

The Big Annual Function of Beta Province Celebrated in a Wealth of Scenery.

The ball which Pennsylvania Zeta Chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity gave last evening in honor of the delegates to the Province Beta bi-annual convention, which convened here yesterday morning to continue until to-morrow afternoon, was concededly one of the most superb affairs ever held in the history of the chapter. A glance at the brilliant gathering, revealed the fact that it comprised the cap-sheaves of the fashionables, not only of Lewisburg but also of the various other college towns represented by the delegates. Shortly after 9 o'clock the hall was comfortably filled with charming young ladies and debonair young men. At that time the president of Beta Province Dr. Henry Graham MacAdam, of New York, and Miss Miriam Bucher, of town, "tripped the light fantastic" down the centre of the room. This was the dance d'honneur, which formally opened the ball and dispatched the other couples whirling over the floor.

The toilettes were unusually magnificent. The richness of texture and the beauty of make of the gowns, were so bewitching and charming that it seemed as though Dame Fashion had bestowed special favors upon them. The costumes evinced an artistic sense of color and proportion, and nowhere was there the least attempt toward exaggeration or striking effect by the mere flutter and display of fabrics.

Music was furnished by the Chappell orchestra of Williamsport. This is the most popular musical organization in the central part of the State. Several selections were rendered that were composed especially for the occasion. Everybody was delighted with the music, which was evidenced by the hearty and prolonged applause after the rendition of each selection.

The patronesses were Mesdames. A. A. Leiser, J. C. Bucher, J. T. Baker, G. W. Goodman, G. B. Miller, Wm. Leiser, N. C. Marsh, T. F. Russell, H. M. McClure, W. C. Walls and T. S. Norton. Most of the patronesses were present and seemed to be delighted with the kaleidescopic scene that was being enacted before them, until midnight, when they withdrew, leaving the younger element in full possession.

The decorations were exceedingly effective. Upon the edges of the platform, upon which the orchestra sat, was a graceful arrangement of ferns, palms and other hot-house plants, completely concealing the musicians. This stage was lined with red, white and blue bunting. The side walls were studded with wreaths of pine and the beams tastily decorated with the college colors. On the last beam appeared the cheering word "welcome" in large red letters on a yellow background

In the rear of the hall were placed screens and rockers. Seated in a cosy rocker and watching the handsomely-dressed ladies, with their polite cavaliers moving in a wealth of scenery, it was not difficult to imagine oneself transported into the most elite French drawing room. Before the ball opened, the members of the fraternity gave their yell.

The ladies in attendance from a distance were Miss Reber, Bloomsburg; Miss Strieby, Williamsport; Miss Heinen, Milton; the Misses Moore, Sunbury; Miss Mary Barber, Washington, D. C.; Miss Messinger, Watsontown.

Gentlemen in attendance from a distance were Messrs. W. S. Bastian and R. S. Koser, Wmspt.; Rev. J. Morris Coerr, Pottsville; and those attending the convention whose names are given in the article below.

The active chapter is composed of L. Trucken Miller Feizer, Albert Rowland Garner, E. Wilson Cober, Arthur Edwin James, Harry Felt Leipsner, Edwin Alden Hummeston, Jesse Donald Evans, Edwin Stanton Comrey, Oscar Naylor Rambo, David Asbury Sausser, T. Powell Evans, James Edison Parker, and Joseph Zerbe Rowe.

Province Beta Convention.

The visiting delegates to the Province Beta Convention of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity began to arrive Saturday afternoon and were escorted to the Pennsylvania Zeta Chapter House, where preparations had been made for their entertainment. Those in attendance were: Messrs. Dr. Henry Graham MacAdam, New York City; William M. Williams, Jay H. Allen, Robert V. Rex, Waytrie L. Shearer, Charlton A. Randolph, Bert L. Moore, Louis L. Ansart, George W. White, William A. Murray, State; Arthur C. Nutt, Cornell; Arthur M. Devall, Charles Freck, Harvey Runkel, Holday Dickinson, Class and Harrison, Columbia; Gottleib L. Freudenberger, Lehigh; Herbert B. Moyer, Norristown; William H. Parker, Jenkintown; Leroy T. Butler, Lewisburg. Delegates from St. Stephen's and Allegheny will also be in attendance.

The convention began with a session at 10 a. m., Monday at Bucknell Hall, another session was held Monday afternoon.

BASKET BALL.

State College in Tustin Gymnasium, Friday Evening, 7:30 O'Clock.

Last week, those of you who read the account of the game at State, or heard the facts from those who witnessed it must concede that our opponents of this coming Friday evening will give us "our troubles."

State College has the strongest representative team that that institution ever turned out—in the basket ball department. They play a speedy, swift, accurate game; their passing and team work is of the highest order, and as for "wind," there seems to be no bottom to their supply.

But we attribute the loss of our game at State to the fact that the playing space was so very large; that the "out of bounds" seriously handicapped our players. Now we are to witness a game on Friday evening in which team work will contest with team work, passing with passing, strategy against strategy, accuracy of goal tossing against accuracy of goal tossing. We shall have no "out of bounds" rules, no handicapping large floor space, nothing to prevent those who shall struggle to maintain Bucknell's prestige from putting up their best game. And on the other hand, State College, will not be seriously discomforted by the change in floor rules: for the trouble is experienced only by those who must change from the not "out of bounds" style to the "out of bounds" plan of playing the game. We can all rest assured that the game on Friday evening will be the hottest thing in the line of basket ball ever played in Tustin Gymnasium.

Now as to the patronage: We do not wish to accuse the student body of "lack of loyalty," "no Bucknell spirit" and all those old songs, just because the attendance to games on the home gounds has been rather slim hitherto; we shall not charge them with this, for we recognize the fact that basket ball is still held as an innovation, by some, the weakest and least important of all the departments in Bucknell athletics. Whether the latter opinion is a fact or not, we shall not here attempt to contend. But we do want to appeal to every Bucknell student and Bucknell sympathizer to come out and help us win. We need the support of everyone, not only toward the winning of the game, but, more practically, toward increasing the rather meagre contents of the Association's exchequer. Tickets will be on sale most anywhere; if you are slighted by those that have 'em, you'll find that your quarter is good at the door. We want the 250 college men there!

Y. M. C. A. Convention.

The thirtieth annual State Convention of the Pennsylvania Young Men's Christian Association, met at York, Pa., on Feb. 17—20. There were present representatives from nearly every college and town Y. M. C. A. in the State. The attendance was so large that sectional conferences were necessary to carry out the entire program, and give to each department that which it most needed for its advancement. The speakers were the leading ministers and Y. M. C. A. workers of this section of the country; Dr. Cornelius Wolfkin, who filled the vacancy of Dr. Pierson, of New York City, and Luther D. Wishard, Foreign Secretary of International Committee, of New York City, were the two most interesting and instructive speakers of the convention. R. T. Wiltbank, Jr., of the Senior class, gave an excellent talk, in the College Men's Conference, on "Some Ways of Holding Men in Our Bible Classes."

Our boys, Messrs. Wiltbank, Bayard, Pearce, Kulp, Shields, Bechtel, Burpy, were very kindly and hospitably received. They were stationed at the Hotel York. All returned yesterday ready to begin work immediately in Bucknell, from the suggestions and lessons received at the convention.

Glee Club.

The Baptists of Watsontown gave the members of the Glee Club a royal reception on Thursday evening, Feb. 17. On their arrival in town, supper was served, and then the party wended its way to the church, bent on having a "jolly time."

The audience room was well filled, and from the comments made at the close of the concert we judge that those who were present enjoyed to the full the excellent program which was rendered.

The singing of the club was good even though two of the members were not in good physical condition. Yet the most difficult piece on the program was rendered in such a manner as to win an encore.

The quartette which rendered "Dried Apple Pie" sang the selection with so much feeling, due, no doubt, to recollections of past experiences, that they were given another opportunity of telling what they thought of this toothsome concoction.

The other selections on the program were well rendered and well received.

We understand that the club has been requested to give another concert in Montandon, and the date set is Friday evening, March 4th.

Efforts are being made at the present time to arrange a quadruple meet in field athletics, in which Bucknell, Franklin and Marshall, State and Dickinson will be represented. In all probabilities the contest will be held at Dickinson, as that is more centrally situated than any of the other colleges at which the contest might be held. Field sports are becoming an important branch of our athletics and every man who has any ability along this line should go into training at once so that we may make a fair showing, in case such a contest is arranged.

In view of the depleted condition of the treasury of our Athletic Association, the custom of holding a series of inter-class games in basket ball, should be revived.

Hitherto class games in basket ball have proven efficient as a means toward liquidating our athletic debt, and that a series of games should be arranged for, between the different classes and under the supervision of the Finance committee, is not only advisable, but partakes of the nature of an imperative necessity. Inter-class games are not only beneficial from a financial point of view, but they also serve as a means whereby the different branches of our college athletics may be insured a higher degree of efficiency, than is otherwise realized. It is a sad yet solemn truth that in the various departments of our athletics not enough trained men are available for the different positions on our teams, in case some are compelled to relax their positions on account of physical inability. We have seen this truth adequately demonstrated time and time again, in contests in which we have battled with other colleges for supremacy. One man being so incapacitated by an injury as to be unable to pursue the contest further, we were in sore need of a sufficiently trained and skillful substitute. The value of inter-class games as a means of supplying such needs must not be underestimated, for they are always productive of great interest and consequently call into training men whose ability was before undiscovered and who, by further practice, develope into our best athletics.

Let the different classes of the college arrange games at once, and thus assist our Finance committee in their efforts to relieve the pressure of creditors, and to insure our athletic association financial stability.

Among the Colleges.

The authorities of Brown University have decided that the students must either give up the use of tobacco or leave the college.

The board of directors of the Brown University have voted to discontinue the track team on account of lack of funds.

The John Hopkins University, which heretofore has not had the dormitory system, is now considering the erection of a dormitory.

The Missouri legislature recently passed a law providing that, in case a man dies without a direct descendant, a percentage of his estate must go to the State University.

The new library at Washington has about 44 miles of shelving in the portion already finished, which will accommodate over 2,000,000 volumes. The ultimate capacity of the building will be upwards of 4,500,000 books, with nearly 100 miles of shelving.

Miss Elizabeth Rossiter, Institute '97, was a guest at the Senior Reception.

Mrs. Larison looks forward to bringing her visit to an end during this week.

Mrs. Fisk, of Taylorville, spent a few days with Miss Wheeler during the past week.

Miss Grace Moses was prevented from attending her class reception by an untimely visitation of the mumps.

One of the most important events in the history of the Senior class took place in the Institute parlors on Friday evening, the 18th. This was the occasion of the annual Senior reception. The rooms were tastefully decorated and presented a most attractive appearance. Among the guests were included the faculty of the Institute and College friends from town and the Hill. Delicious refreshments were served and several hours spent in social intercourse, after which the gathering broke up, all feeling they had been very pleasantly entertained.

Rev. Joseph Wood, '94, preached in Milton on Feb. 20. "Joe" has many friends in Bucknell.

Robert Vincent Rex, ex. '98, of State College, was in town Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Chas. Hoffman, of Shenandoah, a former student at Bucknell, was among the visitors in town on Thursday.

The name of Ernest L. Tustin, '84, is being prominently mentioned in connection with the U. S. district attorneyship for the Eastern district.

Academy News.

Elliot and Heddens spent several days at their homes.

Patchen is suffering from a badly sprained knee, the result of a fall on the icy pavements on Friday.

McCracken, Evans and Williams spent several days in York and report having a very pleasant time.

John Davis accompanied the Hoffa Bros. to their homes in Washingtonville on Friday. They will return to-morrow.

It seems as though our literary society will not have an interscholastic debate this term. The society of Bloomsburg Normal, which was challenged has followed the example of Dickinson Seminary by refusing to accept the challenge.

Resolutions.

Whereas, It has pleased our Heavenly Father to call from his earthly labors to his heavenly reward, the Rev. J. T. Gallagher, beloved father of our classmate Forest F. Gallagher. Therefore, Resolved, That we, the members of the Third Form of Bucknell Academy, do hereby express our sympathy with our esteemed classmate and his family in this their sore affliction, and do most sincerely commend them to the loving consolation of Him who is too wise to err, too good to be unkind.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to our classmate and that they also be published in the ORANGE AND BLUE.

VOL. II. LEWISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, MARCH 1, 1898. No. 21.

ANNIVERSARY ORATION.

Prof. Rockwood's Masterly Address, Feb. 22, Bucknell Hall.

Washington's Great Work for Education.—National University Proposed.

The feature of the day at the University was the masterly and scholarly address delivered in Bucknell Hall by Prof. F. E. Rockwood. The subject of the address was a novel one and withal intensely interesting and instructive: "Washington and Higher Education."

The speaker said, in part: "We are so accustomed to think of Washington as the brave soldier and patriotic statesman that we are in danger of forgetting that he has still other claims to our respect and gratitude. We would be unworthy of our birthright as citizens of this free republic, if our hearts did not thrill with admiration for the self-sacrificing life of our nation's founder. The poet Lowell gives the following characterization: 'Soldier and statesman, rarest unison; high-poised example of great duties done simply as breathing.'

Washington's interest in higher education was not due to any special advantage that he had himself enjoyed. It sprang rather from a conscious lack of intellectual training on his own part, a deficiency which he never ceased to regret. He regarded the highest form of education almost with reverence.

His father's means was not such as to make it possible for him to complete his course in England as he desired. He had to content himself with the facilities of his own neighborhood and they were limited, indeed."

To show the attitude of the government toward education the speaker said: "Gov. Berkley in 1671, said: "'I thank God there are no free schools nor printing presses in this colony; I hope we shall not have them these hundred years.'" The life of the colony was not one that bred scholars and students but it was such as provides leaders.

"To promote the future happiness of the learner and the future welfare of others," was the purpose of education as Washington put it.

That Washington had more than a superficial interest in intellectual matters, and that he possessed, himself, some of the instincts of the scholars, we learn from his letter to the University of Penn. in reply to an address sent to him upon his election to the presidency. He showed, in his letter to Dartmouth College upon the same occasion, his appreciation of higher education. His letter to the people of Rhode Island on the education of the youth shows his high regard for ethical education.

In 1796 he presented his James River estate to the Liberty Hall Academy, at Lexington, Va. In 1812 this became the Washington College. He gave also fifty shares of stock for the purpose of founding a National University at Washington, D. C. If his gift had been properly cared for it would now amount to about $5,000,000.

From his consultations with Jefferson on matters pertaining to higher education, the University of Virginia has arisen. "In matters pertaining to higher education," Prof. Adams was quoted as saying, "George Washington showed his sovereign common sense." Washington said the location of a National University at Washington, D. C., would enable the students to attend the debates in Congress and thus become broad in their views and symyathies.

When Jefferson favored bringing the University of Geneva to Virginia, Washington opposed it on the ground that the professors might not be in sympathy with American ideas and all of them might not be men of good character. The speaker showed that Washington was ever in favor of higher education, quoting from private and public letters and from the messages to Congress for the years 1790 and 1796, in which the advocacy of a national university is prominent.

In his famous farewell address, he said: "Promote, as an object of primary importance, institutions for the general education of the people."

In his last will and testament he gathers up his reasons for supporting a national university. He expressed his regret that the youth of the United States should have to go to foreign countries for the attainment of higher education. A national university would obviate all the evils that are possible from education in a foreign land.

The earnestness of his words and the reasonableness of his plans carry conviction to all hearts. Six presidents in succession heartily endorsed and urged his plans. In latter days hundreds of men have favored the plans of Washington. A committee of one hundred are now working to accomplish it. Hon. J. W. Hoyt has said, that no reason that will stand the scrutiny of philosophy or the test of history, has been urged against the plan of Washington for such a national university.

The plans for its organization are rapidly developing. One mother has already given $100,-

BASKET BALL GAME.

State Shut Out First Half.—The Score 18 to 5 in Our Favor.

Weymouth, Catteral and Wassel do Fine Work for Bucknell; While Sprecher Leads for State.

Bucknell's basket ball team defeated State's crack team by a score of 18 to 5, Friday evening, and wiped out the defeat of last week at State. From the first the opposing team was decidedly not in it with our boys in team work, activity or in scoring. The running track of the gymnasium was thronged with people, the seminary and town sending a large crowd. The cheering was vociferous but gentlemanly, and the good playing of both sides received applause, though it was more on Bucknell's side, where it was deserved.

At 7.50 Referee Elliott called the game. State won the toss and chose the south goal. From the time the whistle blew, the playing was sharp and quick, and mostly at the home team's goal. Umpire Rawn called a foul on Strohm; Weymouth missed the goal. The ball was rushed to State's basket but was returned by Wassel to Weymouth who threw a goal, the first of the game. In quick succession Catteral threw a goal from the centre of the gymnasium. This was the phenomenal play of the evening, and the applause was great. Another goal was soon thrown by Catterail. State now became roused and by quick passes brought the ball to their goal, when several unsuccessful attempts for goal were made: Wassell rolled the ball down the floor and missed a goal; Smith caught the ball and knocked it in the basket with his fist. The captain's slick play received loud clapping. He soon followed it with another goal and things began to look blue for State.

Smith accidentally caught Stephenson by the arm in preventa throw, and foul was called by the umpire, but State missed the goal. The ball was thrown by Weymouth to Catteral who passed it to Wassel, and from a difficult position he threw a goal. Fouls were called on Smith and Lockwood, neither side making a point. Time was called at 8.20, the score being Bucknell, 12; State, 0.

Between halves the Juveniles gave an exhibition which was thoroughly enjoyed by the spectators; the professors made a a goal on the school boys. From the appearance of the playing the youngsters will compose the team of Bucknell at some future day.

Elliot called time for the second half at 8.25. State recovered from her lethargy and after some good playing Sprecher succeeded in throwing a goal. His play received loud applause, and all expected to see better playing on their part which was realized. A foul was called on Cal. Elliott; State missed the goal. Sprecher threw another goal, which was quickly followed by one from Wassell. After a few minutes of play another foul was called on Capt. Smith which resulted in a goal for State. By this time Weymouth was getting in great work and threw a very difficult goal. The last scoring was made by Wassel, who put in a nice one-hander. Time was then called with final score: Bucknell, 18; State, 5.

INTER-COLLEGIATE DEBATE.

Franklin and Marshall Win by a Close Margin.

The second annual debate with F. and M. was held on February 22, at Lancaster. Bucknell was represented by Messrs. DeWitt and Carringer, both of the Sophomore class. Their opponents were W. F. Curtis and G. W. Billet, of the Senior class.

The question discussed was "Resolved, That it is contrary to the spirit of our institutions and opposed to the interests of our country for the United States to acquire territory remote from our present boundaries and settled by alien races."

F. and M. had the affirmative side. The debate was very interesting; and showed no small amount of preparation on the part of all speakers. The F. and M. Weekly says:

"The question proved a good one and was warmly contested throughout. The issue was by no means one-sided and as a matter of fact much could be said on both sides. And be it said to the credit of each of the four contestants that both sides received an able and thorough ventelation. The men presented their arguments very clearly along with all the essential particulars, and it was an evident fact that both sides studied the question most sincerely and made accurate and careful preparations. Ten minutes were apportioned for each speech and all the time allotted was consumed in the discussions."

"The New Era" of Lancaster comments as follows: "The college chapel was well filled by an audience of enthusiastic students and friends, who were unusually demonstrative in their appreciation

The effort being put forth at the present time, to organize a Mandolin and Guitar Club, should be continued with the utmost vigor.

Such a club is a much needed addition to our already excellent musical organizations and every encouragement possible should be accorded those, who recognizing this need, have made preliminary steps to effect such an organization.

In view of the fact that the new running track will be completed as spring opens, an effort should be made, by the Academy Athletic Association, to have the inter-scholastic meet at Bucknell. The expenses connected with such a contest are comparatively small and such an event, on our campus, would no doubt evoke an interest, among students and local adherents, such as would warrant a large attendance and result in a financial benefit to our athletics.

Although the recent F. & M.-Bucknell Debate resulted in a victory for the former, yet we may rest assured that the margin between the merits of the arguments presented by the representatives of the two respective colleges, and upon which the decision was made, was not such as will warrant any great amount of boasting or rejoicing on the part of the victors.

When it is taken into account that the percentage of excellence in argument and arrangement was the same for both sides and that the decision was based exclusively upon the difference of percentages in presentation, we must not lose sight of the fact that our debaters were contesting in the presence of those inevitable obstacles to victory which always manifest themselves in contests where sympathy for the home participants is a mighty factor in the rendition of the decision. This fact, however, though worthy of passing consideration, is by no means unnatural and there is no reason to believe that the decision of the judges was unjust or that it was not in accordance with the merits of the contestants. Praise is due F. & M. for the success of the debate, and for the excellent treatment which our representatives received at their hands; while no less praise is due our boys, who so meritoriously defended our Alma Mater in this "war of words."

ANNIVERSARY ORATION.

000 to endow a professorship. The plans look to laying the corner stone in 1899, the anniversary of the death of its first great patron. The policy he advocated has not been forgotten. Those who now advocate a national university where doctors and masters may do advanced work do not come to us unheralded. They are but echoing the sentiments of Washington.

We cannot educate the picked few.

We could not choose wisely. We should educate all and the fittest will survive.

Young men, determine to become leaders in the nation's onward march, and remember, above all on this day, that the keystone of our governmental structure is education, that the prosperity and perpetuity of our institutions depend to a very large degree upon the diffusion of knowledge and the advancement of learning, and that the true Americanism exemplified by Washington and certain to win at last the respect of all nations, can find its true manifestation in an enlightened and educated people."

Ralph Koons and Rush H. Kress spent Saturday afternoon in Watsontown.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES.

Gleaned from the Events of the Week on the Campus.

O. E. Bailey, ex. '98, spent several days in town last week,

O. J. Decker spent Sunday with his parents at DuBoistown.

Konkle, '01, attended the local teachers institute at Muncy on Saturday.

The animotoscope exhibition given in Bucknell Hall on Saturday evening was a success financially.

Don't forget to secure your tickets for the Cornell basket ball game on Saturday night, March 6th.

Pres. Harris attended the banquet given by Provost Harrison of University of Pennsylvania, on Tuesday, in honor of President William McKinley.

The invitations to the dance given by the Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity are out. The date is March 11. Music by the Stopper and Fisk orchestra.

On Monday night, Feb. 21, the Gamma Sigma Sorority gave a pleasant "conundrum party" at the home of T. D. Bower, in honor of H. H. Bower, '96.

Miss Harriet Richter, Institute, '90 and Mr. Samuel James Pawling, will be married in the Trinity Lutheran Church, Selinsgrove, Thursday evening, March 10th.

Last Thursday afternoon about thirty students met, under the supervision of Dr. Aviragnet, and organized a mandolin and guitar club. This speaks well for our musical department.

The N. Y. alumni and matriculates of the University will hold a meeting next Monday at 12:30, noon, at 182 Fifth Avenue, New York, to renew old friendships and consider the interests of the University.

Institute Notes.

The Institute girls in a body attended Prof. Rockwood's lecture in the chapel on Washington's Birthday.

On the evening of Washington's Birthday a jolly time was spent in the Gymnasium. The College girls were the hostesses and the occasion a Phantom party. The walls of the Gymnasium were draped in white and red shades or the lamps gave everything a most ghost-like appearance. The guests assembled, all dressed in white and masked. On entrance numbers and cards were handed to each one and a lively game of guessing began. At the end of an hour the cards were gathered, and prizes alloted to the most and least successful competitors. Cards bearing the inscription "The Mystery Tea" and the numbers from one to ten brought to each one the refreshments corresponding to the number of her choice. At the end of the evening the Institute girls, one and all, expressed the most hearty appreciation of the time spent with the spirits.

Province Beta Dinner.

On Tuesday evening, Feb. 22, the visiting delegates and the local chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon assembled at the Baker House to conclude their second bi-annual convention with a dinner. The dining hall was decorated with palms and flowers and bunches of purple and old gold adorned the table. At ten o'clock the guests sat down and the festivities continued until the wee small hours.

The toasts were as follows:

"Toast Master," Ralph Samuel Koser.
"Province Beta," Dr. Henry Graham MacAdams.
"Chapter Houses," Herbert Baldwin Moyer.
"Σ. A. E. in the Greek World," William Morgan Williams.
"Σ. A. E. on the Roads," Ernest Harlan Haughton.
"Fraternity Enthusiasm," Henry Syonor Harrison.
"Our Future," Arthur Edwin James.
"Frat Timber," Charles W. Freck.
"The Dear Girls," George W. Peffer.

The convention closed on Wednesday and before night all the delegates were on the way homeward, after spending a few days of interesting and successful work for the benefit of Province Beta.

INTER-COLLEGIATE DEBATE.

tion of the debators efforts, the visitors being the recipients of as hearty a reception as the local collegians. Each of the four men who contested acquitted himself in a most highly creditable manner. Their efforts were praiseworthy throughout, whether regarded in the light of the arguments presented, the logic of their reasoning, or the character of their delivery. Seldom does a quartette of such evenly matched material meet to battle in any contest. The result was, therefore all the more gratifying, and the victory was enhanced by a feeling of deeper pride."

The decision was made upon argument, fifty per cent., arrangement, twenty-five per cent., and presentation, twenty-five per cent. The judges were, Dr. Sharpless, President of Haverford College; O. H. Bakeless, A. M., Principal of Carlisle Indian School; and J. Hay Brown, Esq., of Lancaster. In reporting the decision Dr. Sharpless said, that upon argument and arrangement the two sides were equally balanced, but upon presentation, "It seemed to the judges that the scales tipped lightly in favor of the affirmative." We congratulate our debators upon their excellent work. The comments and decision proves to us, that it took the best debators and work, that F. and M. were able to produce, to win. Our boys have only the kindest words and respect for the manly and gentlemanly manner in which they were treated in the hands of our neighbor college.

Rev. Judd, of the Baptist Church, on Sunday delivered a sermon on "Cuba." He took as his text Micah, 4; 3d verse. The discourse was sparkled with patriotic sentiments and was highly enjoyed by the congregation.

At the open camp-fire of the A. G. Tucker Post, G. A. R., of Lewisburg, held on the night of the 22nd inst., Registrar Gretzinger delivered an address on "The Boyhood of Washington," and A. W. Johnson, '96, spoke on "The Government founded by Washington." Both addresses were said to have been inspiring and teemed with patriotic sentiments.

Academy News.

J. M. Evans spent sunday with friends in Danville.

Bassler is unable to return to school on account of sickness.

Ammon has been very sick for several days but is rapidiy improving.

Heffelfinger returned yesterday after spending several days at his home in Shamokin.

The Calliopean Literary Society will have an inter-scholastic debate. Tuesday afternoon, the acceptance of the challenge was received from Bloomsburg Normal. Last Friday night it was decided to hold the preliminary debate on March 4th. The debaters will be M. J. Davis, McCracken, Evans, Pitts, J. D. Thomas and Cunningham, Pitts declined. A very interesting discussion is expected. We want to have every Cad boy present. Everybody welcome.

The Athletic Association held a meeting on Thursday evening and elected the following officers: President, Elliott; vice pres., Heffelfinger; secretary, Greene; treasurer, Prof. Kauffman. After having elected officers it was decided to elect managers for base ball and athletic teams. Anthony was elected manager of the athletic team and Gray manager of base ball. Rittenhouse and Mintzer were elected members of the Finance Committee. We expect to have a good base ball team, and also as good an athletic team as those of former years. Base ball practice has been commenced in the cage, while the jumpers and vaulters are doing excellent work in the gymnasium.

The Bucknell Alumnae Club gave a luncheon at noon yesterday, at the Foulke and Long Institute, Philadelphia. Mrs. John H. Scribner, President of the Woman's Health Protective Association was the guest of honor.

Rev. Vyrnwy Morgan, of London, Eng., will deliver a lecture in Bucknell Hall, Monday evening, March 21st on "Wales as is and as it was." No admission fee will be charged. Mr. Morgan is said to be an entertaining speaker. He will occupy the pulpit of the Lewisburg Baptist Church on the Sunday morning previous to the above lecture.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY.

VOL. II. LEWISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, MARCH 8, 1898. No. 22.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

The Philadelphia "Inquirer" Editorially Comments on Bucknell.

A High Estimate of the Work Done. Some Errors Presented, but as a Whole the Criticism Favorable.

Phila. Inquirer, Mar. 3.

The forty-eighth annual catalogue of Bucknell University at Lewisburg, Pa., shows that there are in all departments 344 students drawn from Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey and New York. This is 30 more students than there are at Presbyterian Lafayette and 159 more than at Franklin and Marshall, which latter college is under the auspices of the Reformed Church. The only reference to religious influence in the catalogue of Bucknell says that students are required to attend public worship in some church in Lewisburg on Sunday mornings.

The charges at Bucknell are low. The college charges amount to $88 per annum, and table board is provided at Bucknell Academy for $3 per week, or can be obtained in private families at from $3 to $4 per week. No boarding is allowed in the college buildings. Washing costs 25 cents a week. Besides the college, which offers four courses of study leading to degrees in arts, philosophy and science, there are the Institute for young women, with three courses of study; the literary, the classical and the scientific, leading to diplomas, but not to degrees; the Academy designed to fit young men for college, and the school of music, which offers a course in harmony with 23 students, a course on the history of music and instruction with different instruments, and, besides, there is an orchestra of advanced students.

In the Institute there are 65 young women students, and there are three courses of study, each extending over five years. It is a little difficult to understand why the classical course is not made identical with that for young men in the college proper, and why diplomas instead of degrees are not conferred upon the women students. The young woman who can get through Cæsar, Virgil, Cicero and Livy in Latin and the Anabasis, the Iliad, Homer's Odyssey and the Testament in Greek, and who in plane and solid geometry, higher algebra, trigonometry and analytical geometry is proficient enough to obtain a diploma, would seem to have brains and energy enough to be placed upon the same plane as the young men of the college.

It is to be said of Bucknell that while it has blazed a fresh path from the common highway trod by nearly all the minor colleges of the State, it is following this path with considerable caution, and with a view to the intellectual condition of the people from whom its students are drawn. The catalogue reveals more than one trace of clinging to those ideas of culture that have prevailed among the educators of the country for a long while. In the college proper lectures are given to the seniors on Bryant, Hawthorne, Longfellow, Lowell, Whittier and Holmes. The seniors ought to be prepared for stronger meat than that. Our simple New England authors need no expounders, and the writers named are too wholly of one school to form the basis of a study of American literature. Poe, Emerson, Woolman, Franklin and Whitman would broaden the foundation and make the superstructure less feeble. Likewise, the course on American Colonial history gives special attention to the making of New England. Why any more making of New England than the making of Pennsylvania or Maryland or South Carolina, from which last State came far and away the best of the country's early historians? The course on American constitutional history is much broader and better, perhaps because so much of this work has been done outside of New England, although we notice that Professor Thorpe's excellent books on constitutional history do not appear on the list of text books used.

Geographically, Bucknell is well situated, and it is doing an important work from the local aspect, to say nothing of its more general influence.

The above editorial was written, without doubt, after examining the catalogue very hastily; for it gives 344 students in all the departments. The correct number in all departments is 419. The criticisms given the lectures on American Literature and the American Colonial history show that the writer did not understand the nature and character of the work. The lectures are the best given in the English department. They deal with the individual characteristics of the poet, their style, plans, historical contents and criticisms on their best works. The course in American Colonial history is one of the beneficial coures given in the department of history. It is not confined to New England alone but covers a thorough study of the settlements and their forms of government. This is not all, for a large amount of supplementary work from the best authors, on this period, is also required.

Dr. Hulley's Work in Baltimore.

We copy the following from one of the Baltimore papers concerning the excellent work done by Dr. Hulley at Baltimore:

"Immanuel Baptist Church has been called upon to sever a relation that has proved peculiarly pleasant and profitable. Dr. Hulley's resignation was reluctantly accepted, some time ago, and circumstances rendered it necessary for the church to select a pastor. This was not only a matter of justice to Dr. Hulley, in view of the heavy responsibility devolving on him at Bucknell University, but it had become a matter of expediency, in view of the severance of the relation, to secure a pastor. This has been done, and Rev. C. W. Duke will assume the duties of the pulpit on Sunday, March 6th. It only remains to be said that Dr. Hulley's preaching has built up the spiritual strength of the membership, developed the feeling of true brotherhood, brought out a larger degree of interest in the Church and her interests. The best wishes and prayers of the Church will always be with him."

Lehigh defeated Lafayette in their indoor contest on February 22, by a score of 67 to 29.

The Inter-Collegiate Athletic Association has decided that hereafter there shall be four "places" in each event. First place will count 5, second 3, third 2, and fourth 1.

BASKET BALL.

Bucknell Wins Easily From Cornell Team.—Score 30 to 7.

Our Boys Put Up a Great Game.—All Players do Excellent Work and Received Liberal Applause.

On Friday afternoon the Cornell University team passed thro Lewisburg on their way to State College where they were scheduled to play that evening. We were down to meet them and had a word or two with Manager Vreeland. "Yes, we expect to win at State, and will try to make it most interesting for you tomorrow evening."

The development of affairs seems to indicate that Manager Vreeland is a poor guesser, at any rate State came out of the game with 26–6 in their favor. And the affair in our Gymnasium was "most interesting" only to observe the excellence of our team play.

Cornell won the toss, and chose goal at west end of Gym. The playing during the first four minutes was rather slow. both teams "covering" closely. Captain Smith started the goal tossing by scoring for Bucknell. Scoville quickly tied the score, foul called on C. Elliott by Umpire Vreeland. Captain Merril missed his chance at goal. The teams began to liven up now, and Wassel, in his eagerness, fouled. Merril scored the 1 point.

Bucknell determined right here to get in the game, and the "team work" from this point throughout the game was something delightful to look upon. Catterall scored from a quick pass by Wassel. Cornell braced up and it was real exciting for a few minutes. But Cal Elliott relieved the nervous tension of the crowd by "shooting" the prettiest goal of the evening from the middle of the floor. Weymouth dropped the fifth goal for Bucknell. Artie Smith succeeded in scoring another for his team just before time was called. Score at end of first half 12–3.

The second half opened with a dash and clean, clever play on the part of Bucknell team. It was during this half that our team exhibited their real old time form in team play—the style that defeated State and U. of P. last year. Cornell could not break up the clever team work of their opponents and the scoring of our fellows was so rapid that the official recorder could hardly keep account of it. Catterall first, then Weymouth, by a cute little trick of his, tossing his man overhead, to take his time at dropping it in the basket. Wassel, Smith and Elliott followed quickly with two points each. Foul on Smith, but Merril fails at goal. Then goals by Weymouth and Catterall add to B. U.'s credit. Merril grew desperate, and appeals to his men to brace up. They revive for a moment and Merril scores a goal for Cornell. Cal Elliott then tosses two more for Bucknell making 30 points total. Carelessness on the part of Bucknell enables Cornell to score again before time is called. The final score 30–7.

In talking with some of the players after the game, we have gathered that Cornell was pleased with their treatment and satisfied with the game. "We are not in your class just now, but hope to make it more interesting next season." Cornell's time keeper even thought that State was not in our class.

This game closed the season. In next week's ORANGE AND BLUE will appear the financial statement of the management.

The Mandolin and Guitar Club.

The Mandolin and Guitar Club recently organized by Dr. Aviragnet, met on Thursday afternoon for the first practice. About thirty members were present, which number is likely to be increased by the addition of several more players. The club is under the leadership of Mr. George Schilling who will assist Dr. Aviragnet in the instruction of the members. In point of numbers, this organization exceeds all other previous attempts in that direction in the history of the University and, as it contains some of the best musical talent in the school, we can predict for it a successful future.

Lecture on "Cuba" Changed to the Baptist Church.

In order to accommodate the the large crowd which will attend the lecture on "Cuba," by Col. McCain, next Monday night, it has been decided to hold the same in the Lewisburg Baptist Church instead of Bucknell Hall. Persons who have already purchased tickets will please change the place on their tickets. The lecture will begin promptly at 6:30 so as to accommodate those persons who may come by train or trolley.

Harvard has decided to give the degree of master of arts to those pursuing graduate work in the sciectific school. The conditions of admission to candidacy will not be announced until later.

With this issue the ORANGE AND BLUE enters upon its second year—in other words it is one year old—and it is with pardonable pride that we refer to this fact. A child, after it has passed the halcyon days of mere babyhood, becomes intensely interesting. It has, by reason of physical development, learned to walk and depends upon its own strength to move along. So it is with the ORANGE AND BLUE. In spite of the fact that the past year has been interluded with many struggles for existence, on the part of the ORANGE AND BLUE, some of which violently threatened to defeat its purpose, it has been at last, permanently launched upon the waters of public favor with its ensign of devotion to the interests of old Bucknell, flung to the breeze. Its advent was hailed with predictions of failure by those who desired to see it fail, or go down into the deep, but aided by its friends and a determination on the part of editors and managers, it has been kept afloat on the crest of the highest waves with a circulation equal to that of any other college weekly paper in the State, and a patronage that is substantial and steadily growing; in view of these facts we have no reason to contemplate any such thing as "failure" in its history.

One year has worked wonders for the ORANGE AND BLUE. Without a subscriber or patron to begin with, except those who formulated the plans for its establishment; with few words only of encouragement and in the face of unfriendly opposition, which rendered longevity questionable, the ORANGE AND BLUE has reached such a position in college journalism as most contemporary college periodicals might well wish to emulate.

Our columns are open to the discussion of all issues pertaining to the institution. We take special pride in the freedom, to express our views regardless of external sentiment or influence, which has been guaranteed us by the constitution, while at the same time, we have the utmost respect for the opinions of our friends and will always submit to the will of the majority.

As to local matters particular attention is given. We aim to give the local news in an interesting and vivacious manner. The past year has shown what we are capable of doing, and, with the proper appreciation and encouragement, what we can do the second year. It is ever our policy, which we believe to be highly commendable, to improve as public support warrants. In entering upon the second year of its existence, the ORANGE AND BLUE simply demands the hearty co-operation of all students, which it has no reason to complain, with few exceptions, was not accorded it the past year. Help us in our efforts to make the ORANGE AND BLUE the best college weekly in the State. It will benefit its readers and the institution in general and will be serviceable as a means of extending the admirable influences which our beloved institution has wielded during the fifty years of its existence. We thank our friends for past favors and ask a continuation of their appreciation and support for Volume Two.

A large number of the college boys attended the mass meeting of the voters of Lewisburg, on Friday evening, to hear Mr. J. Gundy Wolfe discuss "His opponent Mr. B. K. Focht."

LOCAL NEWS NOTES.

Gleaned from the Events of the Week on the Campus.

Dr. Lincoln Hulley gave several lectures at Keystone Academy last week.

M. G. Robbins spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents at Pottsgrove.

E. C. Comery is sick at his home in Mahanoy City, and not be able to return this term.

Mr. T. Alfred Vernon, Yale '65, of New York, spent Sunday with his Fraternity brothers of Phi Gamma Delta.

Geo. Morgan Davis returned last week to his work in college. He has been sick at his home during the past four weeks.

A musical recital, under the direction of E. Aviragnet, Mus. Doc., will be held in Bucknell Hall, Monday evening, March 22.

The students of the University are again to have the privilege of hearing Col. Geo. Nox McCain, A. M., of the Philadelphia "Press." Col. McCain is a favorite here and a crowded house will greet him on next Monday evening, in Baptist Church, where he will lecture on Cuba. The lecture is superbly illustrated with one hundred artistic and beautifully colored views made from original photographic negatives. This is the only illustrated lecture on Cuba in existence.

Col. McCain was received with marked enthusiasm when he lectured here last winter. He, therefore, needs no introduction to a Lewisburg audience. Col. McCain has personally visited Cuba. His lecture on that country is, therefore, an original one. It treats of its romance and its revolutions. The proceeds will be applied to the Athletic Association debt. Tickets 25c. On sale at Evans' University Bookstore in town, and Finance Committee of the Athletic Association.

Academy Notes.

Rittenhouse is suffering from an untimely visitation of the mumps.

The Caliopean Literary Society is promised a rare treat for next Friday evening, at which time Dr. Hulley will give a reading from Dunbar.

Next Saturday evening, Mar. 19, Prof. Perrine will give his lecture on "Burns," under the auspices of the Calliopean Literary Society, in Bucknell Hall.

Our Literary Society held the preliminary debate Friday evening. The question, Resolved, That labor organizations promote the best interests of the working man, was very ably discussed. The judges, Prof. Kauffman, C. A. Lindeman and F. W. Dillon chose McCracken and M. J. Davis, with Evans as substitute.

In the relay race between U. of P. and Harvard, held last Monday night, the former won by fifty yards.

Calendar.

Tuesday, March 8, meeting of Y. M. C. A., 9 a. m.

Wednesday, March 9, meeting of Natural History Society, at 4 p. m., Laboratory.

Wednesday Ladies' Boston Symphony Concert at 8 p. m., Music Hall.

Thursday, March 10, meeting of Mandolin and Guitar Club, at 4 p. m., Institute.

Friday, March 11, 8.30 p. m., Phi Kappa Psi dance, Armory.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Dr. Aviragnet will address the Y. M. C. A. to-night.

Dr. Aviragnet has very kindly offered to speak to the students this evening on the subject: "Young men of the student and citizen classes in France."

Third International Convention of the Student Volunteer movement was held at Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 23-27.

Only once in a student generation is it the privilege of a student to attend a convention of the student volunteer movement. Returned missionaries, representatives of mission boards, leaders in mission work, in fact people from all parts of the world flocked to the busy city of Cleveland, situated on Lake Erie, to be enlightened on the subject of missions. On arriving at the depot a reception committee greeted the delegates and made them feel at home. The hospitality of the citizens cannot be estimated. Preparations were made for entertaining 1500 delegates, who when counted numbered 2200.

The opening meeting of the convention was led by F. K. Meyer, of England, considered to be one of the most spiritual men of to-day.

All the general meetings of the convention were held in the city armory, which although large and spacious, proved too small. Three sessions were held each day. One of the most impressive features of the convention was the singing, led by the famous Iowa quartette. During the convention this quartette rendered several familiar hymns specially arranged, all of which thrilled those who listened. The farewell service held Sunday eve was very impressive. While heads were bowed in silent prayer the quartette sang "Speed Away" with such feeling that many out of that vast army of Christian workers were melted to tears.

It was instructive and impressive; the means of setting a great many people hitherto uninterested in mission work, to thinking, yes, deciding to take an active part in the "Evangelization of the World in this Generation."

The Boston Ladies' Symphony Orchestra will give the fourth entertainment of the People's Popular Course, on Wednesday night March 9th.

Institute Notes.

A pleasant custom prevails, on the part of the girls at the Institute, of commemorating each birthday, as it comes round, by an extra feast and decoration of the table, at which the possessor of the birthday sits. This week has been a week of celebrations. On Thursday evening Miss Eddelmann's table gave a spread in honor of Miss Edith Shepherd, but the crowning festivities of the week were on Friday evening when Miss Bell,s and Miss Wheeler's tables united in celebrating the birthdays of the Misses Sprague, Sharpless, Woodard and Kline. A space was cleared in the middle of the dining room where four tables were placed in the form of a square, the centre space being filled with palms and flowers. The tables themselves were prettily decorated with dainty china, smilax and waxen candles. The most prominent place was occupied by a huge cake bearing the date and names of the girls in whose honor the party was given. The class colors of these girls prevailed in the ice cream and frosting of the cakes. The pretty dresses of the girls gave the finishing touches to the scene and all combined to make a very charming affair.

The last "At Home" of the term took place on Monday. This was one of the most pleasant receptions yet given, and proved a fitting reminder of the pleasures of like kind to be enjoyed in the future.

PHI KAPPA PSI BALL.

Pennsylvania Gamma Chapter Give a Magnificent Dance.

Armory Hall Beautifully Decorated—Many Guests from all Parts of the State Present.

Last Friday night was the occasion of the most brilliant event in the history of the local chapter of the Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity. Although the weather was not the best for such an occasion, yet it did not distract from the pleasure and enjoyment of those who were fortunate enough to be their guests. It has been some time since the Phi Psi boys have given a dance, and from the success of this one, it will be a long time before they can surpass the entertainment on Friday night. This dance was especially noted for its refinement and moral tone. The guests were ladies and gentlemen of the most refined and conservative class from all the surrounding towns, from New York and New Jersey.

About quarter past eight the carriages began to arrive at the armory and by nine o'clock the hall was comfortably filled. All the guests were received by a reception committee, who in turn passed them over to the patronesses. A few minutes after nine the dancing began and continued until eleven thirty, when refreshments were served. After a very enjoyable half hour in the esculent line, the dancing was resumed and continued until three o'clock.

The Phi Psi boys can certainly feel proud of the decoration which literally covered the ceiling and walls. Time and labor did not enter into the question of decorating the hall. At the entrance the "Stars and Stripes" formed a beautiful arch, while directly opposite the entrance on the rear wall was the form of a shield with the letters "Φ. K. Ψ." raised in gilt upon a background of pink and lavender. The patronesses' "corner" was ideal. A large ladder completely covered with pink and lavender bunting inter-laced in such a manner as to make a very beautiful picture was suspended from the ceiling. Upon the front side of the ladder hung a large lithograph of the "shield" in various colors. The drinking stand was fixed up with natural moss and hemlock making it very appropriate for the occasion. The side walls were covered with wreaths and ground pine, while the ceiling and gas jets were covered with intertwining bunting. The music rostrum was a complete hot house in itself. The plants were so large and thick that the musicians were nearly hid from view.

The music for the evening was furnished by the Stopper and Fisk orchestra, of Williamsport. It is, without doubt, the finest and best musical organization, of its nature, in this section of the State. All the music rendered was of a classical nature, several pieces being written especially for the occasion.

The programs surpassed all those of former dances. The cover contained a beautiful cut consisting of the fraternity pin in gold, and surrounded by a wreath of purple.

The patronesses were: Mesdames Alfred Hayes, Charles S. Wolfe, Joseph C. Nesbit, Andrew A. Leiser, R. Bauche Woodyear, Horace P. Glover, W. Albert Wilkinson, William Leiser, Jr., Howard L. Calder, William C. Packer, James Halfpenny, and Samuel H. Orwig.

Among those from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Scott, Mr. M. C. Taylor, Lyons, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson, Westmont, N. J.; Mr. Abbot Bucher, Harrisburg, Pa.; Miss Barber, Maryland; Miss Faries, Bellwood; Miss Green, Lewistown; Mr. Dibert, Holidaysburg; Mr. Stoughton, Ridgeway; Miss Weymouth, Mr. Bickford, Mr. Rittman, Lock Haven; Miss Youngman, Mr. R. Koser, Williamsport; Miss Sherwood, Union City; Misses Leiser and Montgomery, Watsontown; Misses Montgomery, McEwensville; Miss Dugal, Miss Heinen, Milton; Miss Schrack, Northumberland; Misses Reber, Kuhn, Bloomsburg; Miss Gregory, Danville; Miss Mann, Chambersburg; Miss Rossiter, Pottstown; Mr. and Mrs. Faries, Mrs. and Miss Packer, Miss Brewster, Miss Reed, Miss Bastress, Miss Thatcher, Miss Bloom, Misses Stauer, Mr. Allison, Mr. Simon Wolverton, Mr. Eicholtz, Sunbury.

Inter-Collegiate Debate with Lehigh.

Lehigh University has accepted the conditions for the debate to be held at Bucknell in the early part of next term, and that Bucknell shall chose the question and give Lehigh the choice of sides. Bucknell selected the question: "Resolved, That railroad pooling contracts should be legalized. Lehigh chose the affirmative side. Messrs Diggs and Forrester will represent Bucknell. Pearse, '00, was chosen by the judges in the preliminary debate, but he has decided to allow Mr. Forrester, '98, to take his place, as he was selected to debate against F. & M., but was dropped because only two men were allowed to participate in the debate. With these men to hold up the standard of Bucknell, Lehigh will have to do some good work if they wish to win.

An Act for the Regulation and Improvement of the College Fraternities.

1. After April first, 1898, no student in Bucknell College shall become a member of any college fraternity, Greek letter society or other organization of like character during the first year of his connection with the college as a student, nor shall any student become a member of such organization until he shall have completed the work of the Freshman year; or, if a special student, until he shall have completed the equivalent of one year's work; and the President of the university will give to any student entitled thereto a statement that he has been a member of the college for the term of one year, and has completed the work required to make him eligible to membership according to the terms of this act, and no student shall be received into any fraternity except he has such statement duly signed and sealed.

2. No student shall become connected with any organization above specified as a "pledged" member, nor into any other relation, except as a regular member in accordance with the terms specified in article first of this enactment.

3. No person shall be received into Bucknell College as a Freshman or special student who has become an active or pledged member of any fraternity after the posting of this act; nor shall any fraternity receive into membership, active or otherwise, any student of any preparatory school after the posting of this act.

4. No member of Bucknell College shall become a member of any class secret fraternity, nor shall any class secret fraternity be maintained in Bucknell College.

5. Any student who violates above enactment, or any part thereof, shall upon proof cease to be a member of the college; and any fraternity which shall become a party to such violation shall be publicly placed under interdict and shall be forbidden to receive any student into membership and all students shall be forbidden to become members of such fraternity for as many years as the faculty may specify.

6. All the terms and provisions of this act shall apply to all students of the college irrespective of sex, and to all fraternities whether local or general.

By order of the faculty,

Passed Friday, March 11, 1898.

Miss Daisy Sherwood, of Union City, spent several days here as the guest of Mrs. Edwards.

Junior Debate.

The second preliminary debate of the Junior class was held in Bucknell Hall on Friday evening March 11th. Mr. Forrester, the winner of the first prize last year, presided. The audience was composed of a good number of the young women and young men of the University, who appreciate the importance of this work. The music under the supervision of Prof. Aviragnet added to the pleasure of the evening. A quartet, consisting of Miss Pretzman, Miss White, Mr. Hague and Mr. Peacock, sang two popular and pleasing selections.

The debate showed careful and painstaking work. In argument, presentation and delivery there was a marked improvement. Perhaps a little more attention to authorities would strengthen assertions and confirm the superior value of a statement that contradicts directly what has really been said. On the whole each participant spoke in a clear, precise, persuasive and unostentatious manner.

The exercises were opened by music; after which prayer was offered by Pastor Judd. After another musical selection the chairman announced the conditions of the debate and the question: Resolved, That Hawaii should be annexed to the U. S. The debate was then begun by the first speaker on the affirmative side. The whole dicussion centered about the following points: the military, commercial and diplomatic advantage; the constitutionality of annexation; United States' responsibility.

Speakers on the affirmative; Krise, Hazen, Meserve and Meeker; on the Negative: Ivans, Ballentine, Cober, Bayard and Rawlinson.

The judges, Prof. Johnson, Willard Shaffer and Rev. Buck, selected Ballentine, Hazen, Meeker and Rawlinson for the final debate which will take place commencement week.

Senior Class Meeting.

Last Saturday morning the members of the class of '98 held an important business meeting. An invitation committee, composed of Gilpin, Miss Rodgers and John Anderson, was appointed. It was moved and carried that the seniors have class day exercises. Committee on same is Ritter, Flint, Elliott, Misses Bolenius and Slifer. Messrs. Dutton, Purdy and Koch were appointed on a committee to make arrangement for commencement music. Committee on banquet, Fithian, Clment, Fetzer, Lindermann and Trimmer.

The question of we aing cap and gown was discussed, and finally, it was decided that they be worn by the class.

As the base ball schedule in another column indicates, there will not be a single game played the coming season which we can afford to lose under any circumstances. In order to win these games every player must practice every evening, and not only ought he to practice but train as well. Athletics and dissapation are not twin sisters. Neither do they go hand in hand. One cannot exist in the presence of the other. The history of college athletics evinces these truths and is full of examples of the consequent inability of promising athletes who willfully disregard them. "Virtue consists in activity," is a most excellent rule for the base ball player to follow and might also be employed by the advisory committee in their selection of players for any game. For the man who is regular in practice is more worthy of consideration in the selection of players than the man who does not practice or train but whose skill is a little in advance of the man who conscientiously trains from the beginning until the end of the season. In consideration of the fact that State plays here on April 16, the urgent necessity of immediate and regular practice on the part of all the players is made apparent. We cannot win by spending our leisure hours in idleness.

Now that nice weather has come, let the new running track be rapidly completed. Men who are in training for the Inter-Collegiate Relays to be held at Univ. of Penn, on April 30, witness a great deal of inconvenience in securing efficient practice, by being compelled to train on the cinder paths of the railroad or upon the public highway —places totally unfit for a college relay team to train. Several of the candidates for the team have already been so incapaciated by sprained ankles, as to be unable to pursue training farther, which condition they rightly attribute to the roughness of the paths upon which they have been compelled to practice.

A small force of men would complete the track in a few days and thus our track team will be valuably aided in the effort it will put forth to capture the coveted prize in the final contest on April 30th.

An Appeal for the Track.

In view of the increased importance of Field and Track Athletics at Bucknell better facilities for training is imperative.

We are being drawn more and more into competition with surrounding colleges. These contests require hard training.

Arrangements have been made for a meet with State College. We have entered into the Relay Races which will be held in Philadelphia, April 30.

Our Field Day Exercises and pre-eminently the Relay Races depend for their success upon the completion of the track.

There are about 20 men in training but they can reach no adequate results without the track, which should now be in use.

The team of last year has positively declared that they will not train again unless the track is completed by the first day of next month.

We appeal to the students and those who are interested in running to come out and help finish the work of the track, both for the remainder of the term and all who can during vacation.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES.

Gleaned from the Events of the Week on the Campus.

Walter A. Mintzer and William Evans have severed their relation with the Academy for a few weeks.

Harry Thornton, ex. '00, a student of Jefferson Medical College, spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents.

Dr. Perrine will give a lecture on "Burns and the French Revolution," next Saturday evening in Bucknell Hall.

Howard L. Kaucher, ex. '99, is attending Medico-Chirurgical College, Philadelphia, and expects to graduate in the class of 1900.

On Thursday evening the preliminary contest of the Institute girls will be held in Bucknell Hall. Seven contestants to be chosen.

The third form in the Academy will hold their contest on next Saturday at 2 p. m., in Bucknell Hall. Nine contestants to be chosen.

There will be a meeting of the directors of the ORANGE AND BLUE on Saturday, March 29, at 10.30, in Theta Alpha Hall.

By order of President.

Dr. Freeman Loomis, who has been unable to perform his duties during the past year, has returned to Lewisburg. He has not yet entered upon his class room work.

Last Thursday morning Dr. Leiser, assisted by Drs. Thornton and Groff, performed a difficult operation on Robert Slifer of the senior class. For some time he has been suffering from an abcess located in his back. The operation was a success, and at present, the patient is improving rapidly.

The lecture to be delivered in Bucknell Hall, by Rev. Vyrnwy Morgan, on Monday, March 21st, will deal with the characteristics of the Welsh people at home, their social habits, their temperment, the Druids, Welsh preaching, the place of the Welsh natives in the making of American history.

Pursuant to a call a number of Bucknell boys met in the rooms of the American Baptist Publication Society, 132 Fifth Ave., New York, Monday, March 7, at 12:30. A number of friends who were unable to be present sent their regrets, and expressed a desire to co-operate in whatever may be deemed best to promote the interests of Bucknell. A committee consisting of Rev. Samuel Z. Batten, Rev. F. M. Goodchild and Rev. W. B. Pimm, was appointed to arrange for a banquet of the alumni and friends to be held in the near future.

Music School Notes.

A musicale will be given in Bucknell Hall, Friday evening, March 18, by the pupils of the School of Music, under the management of Dr. Aviragnet. All are invited.

Rev. E. R. Powell, '96, is pastor of the new Baptist Church at Laporte, Sullivan Co.

State has accepted the challenge from Dickinson to hold a debate early this spring.

President McKinley has accepted the invitation to deliver the commencement address at Iowa College next June.

Rev. McKeever, of New London, Conn., give two instructive addresses in Bucknell Hall, on Thursday afternoon and evening.

Dr. Aviragnet's address before the Y. M. C. A. last Tuesday evening was very interesting and instructive. He spoke of the good work done by the Y. M. C. A. in France. Its relation with the Jews and Christians. The student life was presented in a very impressive manner. The American student is able to do much christian work if he is able to speak the French language.

Institute Notes.

All the Institute girls are working hard for "Honor Roll" and special privileges.

Mrs. Kilgus, of Williamsport, visited her sister, Miss Bess Wells, during the past week.

Mrs. Wilson, of Rochester, Pa., is visiting her daughter, Miss Wilson. She expect to remain during the rest of the term.

The usual meeting of the Alumnae Club was held in the Institute parlors on Tuesday evening. The subject of the program was "Decorative Art in America." Papers were read by Miss Kate McLaughlin. Mrs. Dora VanValzah, and Miss Annie Van Gundy. "Current Events" were prepared by Mrs. Bates. The special feature of the evening was a talk by Prof. W. E. Mrtin on "Art in the Home" which proved very delightful.

Academy Notes.

Calliopeans thoroughly enjoyed Dr. Hulley's dialect reading from Dunbar's poems on Friday evening.

The fourth form elocution class will give a Shakespearean reading in Mrs. Edwards' parlors next Friday evening.

McCracken went to Northumberland yesterday and met a representative of Philogean Literary Society of Bloomsburg Normal School. These representatives completed arrangements for the inter-scholastic debate.

The "Hebrews" of the college were entertained by Dr. and Mrs. Hulley on last Thursday, at 6 p. m. The following composed the cheerful participants in the joys of the evening: Messrs. J. T. Anderson, J. R. L. Diggs, E. H. Dutton, Edward Flint, R. M. Ivins, J. G. Lauderbaugh, F. J. Rawlinson, J. E. Saul, and W. T. Todd. After a pleasant half hour spent in the doctor's library, chatting on current events, the the company repaired to the dining-room where an elegant supper was served. In about an hour they retired to the parlors, where the rest of the evening was spent in music, readings, and recitals.

DR. PERRINE'S LECTURE.

On "Robert Burns and the French Revolution."

An Interesting and Instructive Discourse—Under the Auspices of the Calliopean Literary Society.

Last Saturday evening Dr. Perrine lectured before the students of the University in Bucknell Hall. His lecture was both historical and literary. A synopsis of the lecture follows.

The theme of the lecture was the influence exerted by the French Revolution on Robert Burns, and the aim was to show how the Scotch peasant by his speeches, letters and songs scattered its purer principles throughout the world. When Burns lived the spirit of revolt was in all lands, in Scotland fully as much as elsewhere since she had not yet become reconciled to her union with England. Besides there was sufficient in the poet's condition and surroundings to awaken in him fierce resentment—his own poor circumstances and that of his father and the neighbors, ground to earth by the exactions of cruel landlords. Burns had a high appreciation of his own manhood and genius, especially when he compared them with those of men in the higher ranks of life, and he was in revolt as he saw these neglected. He had deep sympathy with even the animals in distress and a still deeper feeling for men in trouble wherever they were. His wild passions could brook no governor, and the very faction of the church to which he adhered was the "dissidence of dissent."

Influenced by all these things he was ready to favor the French Revolution and did so by speaking and sending cannon to the Assembly with his compliments. This brought him into disfavor with the officials and he came near losing his position in the excise. He appealed, however, to friends and kept his place, although wherever he could speak a sly word for the Revolutionists he did it.

All this he did during the earlier excesses of the Revolution, and it took him a long time to lose hope that humanity would be improved by this movement. But when these excesses became intolerable a fierce indignation seized Burns because he felt that Liberty herself had been slain by these Frenchmen. Now he wrote against them and joined a company of volunteers to repel from England an expected attack from "haughty Gaul." In this frame of mind he died, and one may believe that had he lived to see all its history he would have denounced in severer terms the Revolutionists, even as Wordsworth did who saw the shining face of Freedom bespattered with mud from a hundred gutters.

It is this feature of the work of Burns—that he was the poet of Freedom—that has been noticed by the American poets who have written about him.—Emerson, Longfellow, Lowell and Whittier; and to Americans he ought to be especially dear since in his poems he stood up for our Revolution, depreciating the English soldiers in that war and appreciating our own troops, mentioning Washington, Hancock, Franklin and Montgomery by name.

Directors' Meeting.

At 10:30 Saturday morning the Directors of the ORANGE AND BLUE met in Theta Alpha Hall, and elected their editorial staff for the spring term. The result of the election was: Editor-in-Chief, S. W. Gilpin; Editorials, Edward Bell; Local, H. B. Wassell; Athletics, Rush H. Kress; Alumni and Exchange, G. W. Alexander. The following representatives were elected: Y. M. C. A., Chas. J. Pearse; Institute, Miss Mary Sharpless; Academy, M. L. Anthony; School of Music, Miss Aikin; Theta Delta Psi, Miss Alicia Zierden.

The committee appointed to audit the books of ex-Business Manager Kress, reported that they had carefully examined the books and found them to be correct. The last report of the business manager, published in the ORANGE AND BLUE, was worded in such a way that many might construe a meaning which would cast reflection upon the veracity of the report. The ex-manager presents receipts for every cent paid out by him while in office. A committee composed of Messrs. Wassell, Alexander and Buckminster, were appointed to draw up amendments to the constitution relating to the Business Manager and Editorial Staff.

The Board adjourned to meet on the first Saturday of next term at 1:30 in Theta Alpha Hall.

Basket Ball.

The Juniors and Sophomores played the first inter-class game on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock. It was very exciting at times, but the excellent team work of the Juniors gave them the advantage. The final score was 12 to 21 in favor of the Juniors.

VYRNWY MORGAN'S LECTURE.

On "Wales as it was and as it is." In Bucknell Hall on Monday Evening at 8 O'clock.

Last evening Rev. Morgan, of Wales, England, gave an excellent address upon his native country. A short sketch of his discourse follows:

Wales is an interesting country and its people are a noted people; they have produced some of the finest soloists, chorus-singers and preachers of the world; still foreigners know but little, if anything, of the inner life and idiosyncracies of the people. This is due to the fact that no Welsh historians of real merit have appeared who could furnish a systematic classification of all the constituent elements of the Welsh characters, also, no English historian of any note has taken a philosophical view of Welsh ideas and principles, these principles in which they differ from all other nations. Another reason is the fact that the Welsh poets, literati and preachers, have throughout the ages expressed their thoughts and emotions exclusively in the Welsh language, a language which foreigners do not understand. They have adopted this policy on the mistaken assumptions that a distinctive language is essential to nationalism. This policy has been changed. The Welsh language is more largely spoken and is a greater necessity in civil, ecclesiastical and educational matters now than ever. The Welsh are becoming more enterprising. The works of ancient and modern authors are being translated into English. Welsh preachers, physicians, and teachers now occupy some of the most lucrative and honorable positions in Great Britan. The Welsh nation is now a power in the British Parliament, the most notable of the representatives are Mr. Thomas Ellis the chief Liberal whig, a man who is acknowledged to possess the qualities of a statesman, and Mr. Lloyd George who is an orator.

The lecturer gave a history of the country from the earliest times; their wars, their struggles for independence, their internal strifes, down to the present. He attributed the pesent higher life of Wales chiefly to the influence of the Welsh pulpit, also to that wonderful system called Druidism. Honorable mention was also made of the Rev. Thomas George and others. According to the lecturer the Welsh people are chiefly indebted for their religious instructions, and their knowledge of the art of reading to the Sunday school. At the present moment Wales has an ideal system of education, consisting of board school, intermediate school, and three universities and a senate, besides a large number of private high class schools.

Musical Concert.

The first public musical of this term was given last Friday evening, under the direction of Dr. Aviragnet. The program was a success in every respect. Although several of the selections were given by students who have only been in attendance during this year, yet they rendered their pieces in a very creditable manner both to themselves and their instructors. The violin solo by Master William Bartol, and the vocal solos of Misses Laura Chillson and Brooks were of exceptional character.

The program was rendered as follows:

PART FIRST.

1. Andante a Rondo, Bolan, Misses C. Devitt and G. Woodard.
2. Eglantine Polka for Violin. Danda, Master Will A. Bartol.
3. Melody in F, Rubenstein, Miss Genevieve White.
4. Rainbow Song, Hawley, Miss Edith Leinbach.
5. Nocturne, Chopin, Miss Katie Campbell.
6. Air from Sampson and Delilah, St. Saens, Miss Annie Brooks.
7. Second Mazurka, Godard, Miss Anna Halfpenny.
8. Polka de Bohome, Rubenstein, Misses C. Devitt and A. Gilbert.

"Little Peach," a party song, University Glee Club.

PART SECOND.

1. Spanish Dance, Moszkowski, Misses B. Bartol and G. Grant.
2. Flower Song from Faust, Gounod, Miss Sarah Merriman.
3. First Symphony for two violins, Danda, Misses E. Leinbach and N. Dunkle.
4. In the Groves of Seville, Von Lenney, Miss Laura Chilson.
5. Romance for violincello, Beethoven, Mr. Ray Wendell.
6. Romance for piano, H. Woodman, Miss May Kelly.
7. Musica Prohibita, Gastalaon, Miss Grace Pretzman.
8. Waltz for piano, Shenico, Miss Amy Gilbert.

People's Popular Course.

Another musical treat, Ella Carr Concert Company. Miss Carr, noted banjoist; Miss Bashore, pianist, and the Orpheus Male Quartette. Opera House, Tuesday, March 22.

Geo. E. Schilling has been elected captain of the Sophomore class athletic team.

Ralph Koons, James Cattel, and Harry Wassell were entertained at Watsontown on Saturday.

W. I. King and Miss Watkins have been elected president and secretary of the Mandolin and Guitar club.

The kind of spirit that should dominate all students is being manifested at the present time by those who, in the absence of formal solicitation, have so kindly offered their services in the completion of the new running track. This gratuity of manual labor, which is by no means an ordinary or historic characteristic of the average college student, is not only deserving of the highest appreciation in virtue of its rarity, but also from the point of view of its expense-saving character to the institution, and its value should not be underestimated in the future, in the construction of whatever might be of interest and worth to the University.

It is a deplorable fact, yet nevertheless true, that the demolition of class-room furniture proceeds without interruption. In every class-room the pen-knives, in the hands of thoughtless or maliciously inclined students, together with all the other petty appliances to which the vest pocket is heir, carry on their work of defacement. And not only this, but in nearly every hymn book of the chapel are to be seen the most ridiculous collections of words and sentences, such as would not be excusable even on the plea that they were written by mere children. These are facts which every honest observer will admit, and why any person should indulge in such careless and destructive practices, is inexplicable on any other ground save that of utter disregard for University property.

The authorities should pursue every possible means to detect these individuals and inflict such punishment as would be advisable.

The Track Advancing.

Through the help of the students the track has advanced very rapidly and it will no doubt be in shape to run on at the beginning of next term. We wish to thank the students very much for their quick response to last week's appeal.

It is very important that the runners do not break training during vacation, because the preliminary for the relay races will be held about one week after the opening of next term.

The track will be ready for you; be sure that you are ready for the track. PEARSE, Capt.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES.

Gleaned from the Events of the Week on the Campus.

Chas. A. Lindemann spent Saturday and Sunday in Scranton.

Miss Sherwood, of Union City, was the guest of Principal and Mrs. Edwards last week.

Edward A. Moyer, '00, was initiated into the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity on Saturday evening.

C. A. Weymouth played with the Sticker and Rhoads' Orchestra for the minstrel show at Milton on Saturday evening.

The winter term will close on March 25 for a vacation of five days. Let every student be prompt in returning for the work of the spring term.

Howard F. King, D. D., '65, of Uniontown, has accepted the honor of alumni orator for Commencement, which was conferred upon him last year.

Dr. Enoch Perrine has accepted the invitation to deliver an address before the alumni association of Keystone Academy next Commencement.

The Glee Club gave a concert at Winfield on Saturday evening. They had a large and appreciative audience. Manager Flint is doing all in his power to make a fine record for the club.

Mr. Thomas Graham, ex.-'96, of New Mexico, has returned to Lewisburg after an absence of three years. Next month Mr. Graham will marry Miss Ida Marsh, of town, an ex-student of Bucknell Seminary.

The preliminary of the annual contest in elocution of the Institute was held Thursday evening last in Bucknell Hall. The young ladies recited in a manner that indicated diligent practice and intelligent instruction. Those chosen for the final contest are Misses Campbell, Groff, Johnson, Leinbach, Moses, Runyon, Scott. The judges were Mrs. Perry, Rev. Judd, and Mr. Wiltbank.

The last meeting of the Chemical and Physical Society for this term was held on Thursday afternoon. The work of the Fish Commission was thoroughly discussed and many interesting features explained. The importance of the weather bureau was clearly brought out by the excellent results it has already accomplished. The work of the society for the term has been very satisfactory. The members have been enabled to get much interesting information at first hand. A number of interesting subjects will be discussed next term.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The subject for the last meeting of the term, on March 22, is "Religious Vacations." Leader, J. R. L. Diggs.

The spring weather often makes us feel as if we need vacations, but let us see that our meetings are just as active in the spring as they have been during the winter.

Academy Notes.

The debate with Bloomsburg Normal will be held at Bloomsburg on May 7th.

Instructors Phillips and Kauffman took a spin on their wheels Saturday afternoon.

McCracken will spend the vacation week in Lewisburg, and Barnes will spend the week with Harmon at his home in Lock Haven.

The Y. M. C. A. officers for the next term are: Pres., LeRoy Hall, (College); Vice Pres., Evans; Sec., J. D. Thomas; Treas., D. W. Thomas.

Calliopean Literary Society elected the following officers on Friday evening for next term: Pres., T. A. Sherbondy; Vice Pres., D. W. Thomas; Sec., Reese Harris; First Critic, Evans; Second Critic, Stewart; Treas., Ammon; Sergeant-at-Arms, R. Gallagher.

Col. McCain on Cuba.

Col. George Nox McCain, A. M., an editorial writer on the Phila. Press, and a member of Gov. Hastings' military staff, gave an illustrated lecture in the Baptist Church on Monday evening of last week. The lecture dealt largely with the romance and revolution of Cuba. The illustrations were among the most magnificent ever shown in Lewisburg. A picture of the ill-fated U. S. warship, "Maine," was shown, and Col. McCain eloquently referred to it and the heroism of its crew.

Col. McCain is a favorite in Lewisburg and is always greeted with a large house when he comes here.

The lecture was conducted under the auspices of the Athletic Association. A neat sum was realized which will be applied toward the association's indebtedness.

The next issue of the ORANGE AND BLUE will appear on April 5.

"Macbeth" Reading.

The Fourth Form of the Academy have been studying "Macbeth" as their work in elocution during the past term, and on Friday evening, in Mrs. Edwards' parlor, gave a reading from the play to several of their friends. The characters were as follows:

Duncan, First Apparition, J.W. McCracken.

Malcolm, J. S. Hoffa.

Macbeth, (Second Witch, Murderer), D. A. Pitts.

Banquo, Macduff, C. H. Elliott.

First Witch. Lennox, Messenger, M. L. Anthony.

Lady Macbeth, R. M. Bell.

Angus, Porter, Doctor and Sergeant, M. J. Davis.

Third Witch, Gentlewoman, A. C. Cunningham.

All were suitably costumed and personated their parts in a manner which showed they had put much thought and study on them A cornet solo by Mr. Seiler, a flute solo by Mr. Weymouth and a piano solo by Mr. Cunningham furnished the musical part of the program. After the reading the actors had a snap shot taken by Mr. Simons and a very sociable time followed. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served and about eleven o'clock the company broke up, all heartily uniting in congratulating the Fourth Form on the success of their first appearance as a theatrical troupe.

Institute Notes.

A large number of the girls attended the musicale on Friday evening.

Examinations are the order of the day and all are joyfully looking forward to the vacation.

The usual "At Home" will not be given on the first Monday in April as it is so soon after the beginning of the term.

The new system of awarding privileges has resulted in putting the following girls on the Honor Roll: Misses Booth, Campbell, Devitt, Nellie Goddard, Susie Lee, Scott and Stephenson.

Miss Ida Marsh entertained the Sigma Chi Fraternity last Thursday evening to meet Thomas Graham, ex.-96, of New Mexico.

DR. HARRIS' LECTURE.

The Opening Lecture of the Term upon the Character of Lincoln.

President Harris gave the first lecture of the term yesterday morning before the students and several friends from the town. His subject was "Character as Portrayed in Lincoln." In connection with the subject he brought in many suggestions for the benefit of the student. A synopsis of his talk follows.

First. The Genius of Lincoln. Genius has the same place in human history as accidental variation has in biology. About one man in every two hundred and fifty thousand has a remarkable talent. Lincoln was a real genius. These qualities are born with the man. Lincoln was able to hold an audience or convince a jury not by studied methods but by natural oratory. The man of genius is not appreciated as quickly as the man of talent. Genius chooses its own means of growth. It needs very little external stimulus to develop. The man of average talent or below is the one who needs the stimulus. Thought upon a subject is the main point. Lincoln thought on all sides of a question and never stopped until he had a satisfactory end. The great thing for students is to get their own view of a subject. There are three views of learning: 1st. By perception of facts. 2nd. By comprehending the relation of facts to one another. 3rd. By insight—the grasping of the suited points or the totality of things.

Second. Moral courage of Lincoln as a characteristic. Physical courage the more common. Moral courage needs common sense. It faces the danger of a reputation. It looks for the consequences. Lincoln had the moral courage to wait when the entire nation was asking him what he was going to do. His waiting added 200,000 men to the northern cause. But when the proper time came he had the power to act. He had the power of will to take the responsibility which made him a mighty executor. No man can be a leader who is trying to put his mistakes on others.

Third. The devotion of Lincoln to his cause. He made his cause the main object not himself.

New Rules.

The faculty has decided that hereafter no student will be recommended to the Board of Trustees for graduation if his average in the studies of the Junior and Senior years is below 8, and that no excuses will be accepted from any student for absences in the first week of each term.

Board of Directors Meet.

Last Saturday afternoon THE ORANGE AND BLUE board of directors held a meeting, at which the following amendments were proposed and adopted:

An addition as section 5, article VI. Meetings. "The Board of Directors" shall hold meetings in addition to those specified in section I, article VI, the second Saturday in each month at which times the Business Manager and Editor-in-Chief shall submit monthly reports.

Changing section I, article VII to read, "The Board of Directors" shall choose a manager who shall be governed by rules prescribed by the Board. Said manager to receive sixty (60) per cent. of the net profits of the paper during his term of office. He shall report monthly to the Board."

And section II of article VII to read, "The Editor-in-Chief and his assistants shall be chosen by the 'Board of Directors' as they shall deem fit from time to time. This editorial staff shall have a meeting on the Saturday preceding every issue of the paper."

Irving H. Buckminster,
Geo. W. Alexander,
Harry B. Wassell,
Committee.

The Track Completed.

At last the track is nearing completion and is now in shape for the runners to practice on. A few students who will volunteer to help put on the fine coat of ashes to top the other off and fill the small ruts, can easily finish it without entailing further expense. A track has been a sadly needed part of Bucknell's Athletics and by many it is now hailed with delight. The field sports can be looked forward to with pleasure. Greater interest must necessarily be taken in that branch which has fallen off considerably in the eyes of most students.

Prizes will be offered to the winners of the different field sports and the class whose students make the most points will receive a banner with its colors and class year worked thereon with fancy numerals.

Besides, the Mirror cup must not be forgotten. Let all students who can, get out and train, as in a few years inter-collegiate sports will be arranged.

Base Ball.

The first game of base ball will be played on the College Campus next Saturday, at 2:30, with Susquehanna University. They have a good team this year and it will require the practice of all the candidates every night this week to select a team to defeat them.

Bucknell Glee Club.

Anticipated pleasure, excitement, enthusiasm, visions of large audiences, small and select parties, and—well, all the other things that go to make up a trip by the Glee and Mandolin Clubs—filled the minds of the ten who compose these organizations at Bucknell. The party left Lewisburg on Saturday afternoon, Mar. 26th, and returned March 30th, having given three concerts in as many different places.

The members of both clubs had practiced faithfully and an entirely new program had been prepared. A comparison of their program with that of other glee clubs shows a decided superiority in the grade of music which is rendered.

The first concert was given in Plymouth, the second in Wyalusing, and the last in Montrose. Though unfavorable conditions were met with in every place, yet the audiences were large and appreciative, and an invitation was given to return next year. The program follows:

PART 1.

1. Opening Piece.....Selected. Glee Club.
2. Mandolin Solo.....Selected. Mr. Schilling.
3. The Old Home Farm..Manchester. Glee Club.

On Monday night the club gave the same program in Bucknell Hall with the exception of a special piece upon the relation of "Uncle Sam" to Spain. The club had a large and appreciative audience for the opening concert of the term.

It is practically certain that next year Brown will offer a law course covering eighteen hours. It is also possible that in 1900 a second year course leading to the degree of LL.B. will be offered.

The city council of Baltimore has asked the Maryland legislature not to appropriate $100,000 to Johns Hopkins university, but to apply that amount in support of Baltimore public schools.

F. & M.'s View on Football.

The following communication appeared in the Franklin and Marshall Weekly of March 30:

"The relations between Bucknell and F. and M. have always been most friendly. We now meet them in annual debate, and, until last Fall, we have met them on the gridiron, from year to year. The football game with Bucknell has always been, for us, one of the most interesting of the season, for the almost equal standing of the two teams has given rise to an exciting but friendly rivalry. For various reasons it is not and was not desirable for us to play at Lewisburg, and so an agreement could not be reached last year. But Bucknell does not wish to play at Lancaster, nor on neutral grounds, and it looks as if no game can be arranged for the following season. Now there are several places which would make suitable meeting grounds, satisfactory to both teams, chief among which are Harrisburg and Reading, both very desirable cities in all respects. If it were known at Bucknell that it is the great desire of the student body at F. and M. that we should resume our relations, we feel sure that an arrangement, satisfactory to both parties, could be effected."

Notice.

All tennis courts on the University campus shall be subject to the following regulations:

Whenever wire netting is used same is to be placed on 4x4 posts, 8 ft. high; said posts not to be more than 8 ft. apart. There shall be placed a top rail from post to post, and a board shall be placed along the bottom of the posts running from one post to the other. The tennis-net posts shall be 4x4 and shall be of the regulation height. All posts and boards shall be painted green and the courts must be kept in a neat condition.

Application for court sites must be made to the Committee on Property through the Registrar. By order

SOPHOMORE LECTURES.

The Sophomore class has been especially favored in being the first to receive the course of lectures on the History of Art. The thanks of the class members are due to Professor Martin for the kindly interest which prompted him to make this voluntary sacrifice of time and thought. He has opened to us a new realm of thought; he has shown us something of which we knew nothing, and has given us eyes where we had none. No student who has thoughtfully followed these lectures will fail to find in a painting or a building a meaning hitherto unknown to him. Where he once saw stone, wood, and mortar, he will now see a thought, a conception, a feeling leading him upward and outward toward the unknown, toward the spiritual. We feel that we have in the last term entered upon a life study to which we shall be able to turn in the lull of our more wearisome cares and find refreshment and relaxation. We can only wonder that lectures on this subject were not long ago included in our curriculum. Some understanding of the subject is certainly an essential to a liberal education.

Some of our students have of late years developed a very bad habit—that of entering chapel while the exercises are in progress. It certainly is surprising that some persons seem neither able to come on time, nor to remain away altogether. There is a certain class of these offenders which is permanent; morning after morning these persons arrive just in time to walk up the aisle in the midst of the services. But there is also a transitory class of culprits, men and women who ought to know better, but who come blundering in just like their comrades of more regular habits. It seems to us that a little thought would convince both of these classes, that it is but gentlemanly consideration for others to remain outside when late.

For some time past several of the students have been smoking in the main hall of the college building during the intermission between the classes. These persons might be excused for this, if there were no ladies present; but it is very annoying to young ladies who dislike the smoke of cigarettes. When a young man reaches a stage so that he must smoke during the period between the classes, he ought at least to leave the main corridor.

Notice.

Junior and Seniors shall be subject to the following rules:

1. Only those topics shall be chosen which, on consultation, are acceptable to the Professor of Rhetoric.

2. The extreme limit of words shall be 800 for the Junior-Exhibition oration, and 1,000 for the Commencement oration.

3. A correct copy of each oration to be spoken on these occasions shall be delivered to the Instructor in Elocution, and any material departure from this copy either in thought or number of words, shall exclude the speaker from consideration by the judges.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY.

VOL. II. LEWISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, APRIL 12, 1898. No. 26.

Death of Hon. T. H. Purdy.

Truman Harvey Purdy, Esq., of Sunbury, died at his home on Monday, April 4, after being ill a week with apoplexy. For several years he was an invalid and confined to his home nearly all the time. Mr. Purdy entered Bucknell Academy in 1854, but left College before completing his course. He located in Lewisburg, established the Union Argus and read law with Hon. J. C. Bucher. In 1861 he sold out his office in Lewisburg and went to Sunbury where he founded the Northumberland County Democrat. He continued the study of law under the supervision of Judge Jordan and was admitted to the bar in 1866. In 1867 he retired from the newspaper business, selling to J. E. Eicholtz. He represented his county in the State Legislature during 1864–65.

Mr. Purdy was known throughout this section as a poet and a historian. Among his works are found the poem entitled "The Doubter" and "The Legends of the Susquehanna."

For many years he was in the real estate business. In 1876 with J. B. Ewing, he founded Steelton. He held a large interest in the Lewisburg nail mill, and also owned a large portion of East Sunbury at one time.

Mr. Purdy married Miss Mary E. James, a graduate of Bucknell Institute. She with three children, Truman J., Bucknell '93, Hiram L., a member of the Senior class, and Miss Carrie, a missionary at Pueblo, Mexico, survive him.

While in college he became a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

Mr. Purdy was a member of the Baptist Church, a devoted Christian, a wise counselor, an honored citizen, and a true friend.

Resolutions of Condolence.

Whereas, It has pleased God, in His infinite wisdom, to call away our brother, Truman H. Purdy, and

Whereas, this has brought sorrow to his family, including our brothers, Truman J. and Hiram L. Purdy, be it therefore

Resolved, by the Pennsylvania Gamma Chapter of the Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity, that we express to the family of our late brother our sincere sympathy, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family and that they be published in the College periodicals, in the Sunbury papers, and in the Shield.

ROY B. MULKIE,
R. T. WILTBANK, Jr.,
Committee.

Whereas, it has pleased our Heavenly Father in his all-wise providence, to remove by death the Hon. T. H. Purdy, beloved father of our esteemed class brother, Hiram L. Purdy, Sunbury, Pa., therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the members of the class of '98 of Bucknell University, do hereby extend our most heartfelt sympathy to our class brother and his bereaved family in this, the day of their visitation, and in faith commend them to the God of all comfort and consolation; and be it

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to our beloved brother and that they also be published in the ORANGE AND BLUE, Bucknell Mirror and the Sunbury Daily.

B. F. THOMAS,
A. A. SMITH,

Field & Track Athletics.

Now that facilities in this department of Athletics have been provided for at a great deal of trouble and expense, let each class elect a captain, whose duty it shall be to get out a team to contest in the Annual Field Sports to be held during the latter part of May. Besides the Mirror Cup valuable prizes will be offered (to be announcend in next issue).

For the purpose of systematizing and doing more effectual work the following divisions are made and leaders appointed:

100, 220 and 440 yds. Dash, Capt. Pearse; Running High Jump and Pole Vault, Earle.

Leaders in the other events will be appointed later. We are at present weakest in the Hurdles and ½ and 1 mile Runs.

The Academy team will work with the college team.

Capt. Pearse of the College and Capt. Elliott are both working hard to get out winning teams.

The preliminary for the selection of the Relay Team which is to compete in the Relay carnival at Franklin Field, Apr. 30, will take place on the Campus, Friday Apr. 15, at 4:15.

E. W. COBER, Director.

1900 Elects L'Agenda Board.

At a lengthy meeting of the Sophomore Class, Saturday morning last, the following members were elected to get out the L'Agenda next year:

Editor-in-chief, Carringer; Associate Editor, Miss Pooley; Organizations, Pearse; Fraternities, J. D. Evans; Athletics, Wassell; Classes, Miss White; Chairman Literary Committee, Bell, with Miss Guthrie and Mr. Bunnell as members; Artist, Holland; Asst. Artist, Grimm; Manager, Sherwood; Assistants, Miss Woodard and Olmstead.

The base-ball committee reported that they were trying to arrange a series of inter-class games. It is hoped that the other classes will favor this idea.

Saturday, at the Univ. of Pa., the teachers of German in Penna. met and formed a permanent association. Mr. Riemer represented Bucknell and was elected a member of the Executive Council. He spent the evening with Dr. W. D. Larned, Prof. of German of the Uni. of Penna., and Sunday with his friend A. T. Williams, '96.

BASE BALL.

Bucknell's Poor Playing Gave the Game to Susquehanna.

The opening game of the season was played on the College campus with Susquehanna University on Saturday afternoon. The Selinsgrove boys came to Lewisburg in a large "bus" drawn by a pair of mules. Whether these long eared animals had anything to do with their winning of the game, is a question in our minds. But they won not so much on their superior playing as on the poor playing of our team. This game was like many of our other games; we were too slow in the early part of the game. It seems that our team needs about five innings before they are able to get down to good systematic team work.

Our defeat on Saturday was due to the poor batting of our team. We admit that this was our first game this year and that the weather for the past week was very unfavorable for practice; yet our players were the same men who last year landed out a good many two-baggers, several three-baggers, and a fine home runs. Now we cannot live on a past record, and we are sure that the players do not wish to.

In particular, the game was uninteresting on the part of Bucknell until the ninth inning when Catterall sent the ball over the left fielder's head for a three-base hit. The next six men reached first. Garner was forced out on third, Shortell, Geary and Mulkie followed Catterall in scoring, Grimm fouled out and through carelessness Conover was put out on third. This was the only inning in which Bucknell played ball. Shortell struck out twelve men in seven innings, but he seemed unable to hold the batters down at the critical time. Our outfield did poor work in batting and running bases; they seemed to do very little head work, which is one of the qualifications of a good player.

The score follows:

Bucknell.	R.	H.	O.	A.	E.

An Exchange.

Speaking of base ball, it may not be out of place to quote the following article, which appeared in a recent issue of The Cohee. Our players would do well to study it carefully:

Manager Joyce, of the New York, recently expressed his views on the subject of "How to Manage a Ball Team and Make a Success of It" in the following manner: "A captain should devote much study to the temperament and characteristics of each of his players. The team must be a smooth running machine, and the leader is responsible for each part working in concert with the others. Without harmony a baseball team cannot be successful. Consequently, the best captain is the one who conducts his team with the least possible friction. If any ill-feeling exists between the players it is the captain's duty to smooth it over. All personal aims must be sacrificed for the good of the whole. A magnetic leader carries all with him by the very force of his enthusiasm. It is of vital importance that the men be so encouraged that they strive with heart and soul for the team's success. Avoid losing your temper. It sets a bad example to the men. Keep cool at critical moments and stop any tendency on the part of your men to get rattled. A team of level-headed players is always on the alert to take advantage of any weakness shown by its opponents. Above all, never lose heart. The game may turn in your favor in the ninth inning. Quitters are beaten before the first ball is pitched. If discipline is to be maintained, you must exact strict obedience from your men. Insist on this point. A team with nine captains cannot succeed. Impress upon the players that they must study each other as you study them. They ought to understand each other thoroughly. Every strong point, every weakness of each man, should be known to his comrades. If high throws are difficult for any one to handle, his fellows should keep the ball down when throwing to him. Another man may gobble up high ones in easy fashion, yet make a mess of low balls. Reckless throwing, carelessness or spite will make such players as these useless, where otherwise they might be invalnable. That is why many men fail in one team and succeed in another. Wherever the ball is thrown, try to have the catch backed up. A lively shortstop serves as a safeguard to the second and third basemen. The pitcher and first baseman can co-operate in the same way."

Jennings, Baltimore's shortstop, will coach the Cornell base ball team this season.

The faculty has lately introduced many improvements in the rules concerning the welfare of the students, but there is another in which a suggestion may not be amiss. All neighboring colleges as far as we are informed have already appointed their Senior commencement speakers, but ours are not appointed until the first of June. Members of the Senior class are complaining of the inconvenience of being undecided until so late a date. The preparation for class day exercises must be begun in April and the same person cannot do justice to himself by taking part in both this and the commencement exercises. But how can such double work be avoided when the commencement speakers are not known before June 1st? Moreover the standing of these men would be practically the same at April or May 1st as at June 1st When one has taken a four years' course he can not materially change his standing in the last few weeks. If then, the speakers were chosen at April 1st, would be the same as at June 1st, and if it would assist the Seniors in arranging their work why can they not be appointed earlier?

It seems necessary to call the attention of those students who room in College to the careless habit of throwing papers and other scraps from their windows on the front campus. Rule second of Section eight in the laws of the University is: "Students are prohibited from throwing anything from the windows or into the public halls, except as otherwise provided for, and shall make such provisions for the removal of refuse as shall consist with this prohibition."

This is a very just rule, and students ought to remember that the neatness of our campus is a thing of which every one takes pride. We believe that all will be more careful in the future if they will only consider the amount of work which is required to keep the campus in a neat and clean condition. Remember that neatness means something to the University.

Dr. Harris gave a patriotic and spirited address on Saturday night, at the 33d anniversary of General Lee's surrender, celebrated by Post 52, G. A. R., of Lewisburg.

New courses of study in elementary law, the theology in Browning, in the college, and instruction on the harp in the school of music, will be offered hereafter.

Sam. Wittenmeyer, Academy '96, has been doing good work in rowing. He is one of the twenty selected out of one hundred and fifty to train for the Freshmen Crew at Cornell.

Invitations are out for the wedding of Miss Elsie Roth, of Allenwood, and Mr. H. H. Mull, Jr., of Greensburg, at Allenwood, April 12th. Miss Roth is a graduate of Bucknell Institute and Mr. Mull was a former student at the University.

At the meeting of the Student Volunteer Band on Thursday, evening, W. C. Purdy was re-elected president for the ensuing year. H. C. Meserve was elected secretary and treasurer, and F. J. Rawlinson, leader of mission study class.

The State Game.

Next Saturday at 2:30 Bucknell will meet her strong rival on the diamond at Lewisburg. This game will be one of the hardest games of the season and it will require fine team work to defeat them. The expenses of this game will be large, and we here appeal to every student to come out and buy a ticket at once. Remember that our manager has the best schedule that Bucknell has had for a number of years, and that it will require the best of arrangements to come out even at the close of the season. The admission is only twenty-five cents, and it will require a large attendance to make the guarantee, so don't stand back, but come with your quarter and you will feel much more like a real college student.

Death of J. B. Suiter.

J. B. Suiter, '96, who has been sick for a long time, died at his home in Lock Haven, on Saturday. After graduation he taught for a short time at the East Stroudsburg State Normal School. While in College Mr. Suiter was noted for his pleasant manner and business ability. He placed the Mirror on a firm ground and turned over more than $100 to his successor. He was a faithful student, an earnest christian, and a member of the Baptist Church.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The subject for Tuesday night is, "Christian Dicipline." Leader, L. H. Walton.

The annual sermon of the Y. M. C. A., will be given next Sunday morning in the Baptist church by Dr. Ford, of Phila. All the students are especially invited to attend as Rev. Ford is a speaker of no small reputation.

Yale's baseball schedule includes thirty games, six of which will be played on the Eastern trip and thirteen in New Haven.

The U. S. Geological Survey has presented to the Wesleyan museum a collection of the Educational Series of American Rocks. The collection includes about 160 specimens which have been neatly mounted and are now on exhibition.

Academy Notes.

Bassler was called home by a telegram on Friday.

Waters returned to his home in Washington on Thursday.

Parker, Roberts and Williams spent Sunday at their respective homes.

Several of our runners may enter the college preliminary races on Saturday.

All Academy students gladly welcomed Thomas, 98, (College) who succeeds Dillon as Proctor. We hope he may have a very pleasant stay with us.

I. A. Tietsworth, who taught very successfully in the public schools of Columbia County for two terms, has entered the Academy as a special student.

The runners have begun daily practice, and a training table was started yesterday. There are about twelve men training with good prospects of a few more.

The number of new students this term far exceeds that of last term. Among the number there are several athletes who may be found valuable additions to our athletic team.

Institute Items.

Miss Bell spent Easter at her home near Altoona.

Miss Morgan is visiting her sister at the institute.

Mr. Wells, of Moorestown, N. J., visited his daughter Bessie on Friday and Saturday last.

Miss Zierden and Miss Bess Shepard do not expect to return for their work of this term.

Miss Grace Moses is in the building this term, as her parents have moved to Harrisburg.

Several of the girls have their wheels and the pleasant weather bids fair to make bicycle trips very popular.

The fourth year girls are all very busy about their soiree which will take place on the thirtieth of this month.

The University of Wisconsin has accepted the invitation of Cornell, Columbia and Pennsylvonia to enter the boat races in June. Both 'varsity and freshman crews will be sent East.

VOL. II. LEWISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, APRIL 19, 1898. No. 27.

The Graham—Marsh Nuptials.

A very pretty and fashionable wedding occurred Thursday evening last, at half-past eight o'clock, in the Presbyterian Church of this place, when Mr. Thomas Graham and Miss Ida Davis Marsh were united in marriage. The bride is the grand-daughter of Mr. Franklin Davis, and is a handsome, winning and accomplished young lady, always prominent in society, and a general favorite. Mr. Graham is associated with his father in gold and silver mining enterprises in New Mexico, being now located at Graham, New Mexico, where he and his bride expect to make their home. He was formerly a student at Bucknell, and has a host of friends at this place.

The church was crowded with friends of the young couple who, previous to the wedding, were entertained by the music of Labitsky and Donezetti rendered by Miss Mary Thornton. The wedding march was from Lohengrin as the bridal party entered and from Mendelsohn at the conclusion of the service as the bridal party left the room. The young ladies of the Clover Club and the members of the Sigma Chi fraternity occupied prominent places in the audience, as the respective organizations were seated in a body. Mr. Graham is a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity as were also the ushers. The entrance of the bridal party was very impressive and the formation around the altar exceedingly pretty.

Rev. A. B. Collins, the bride's pastor, united the young couple and invoked the Divine blessing upon the union.

The maid of honor was Miss Maude Marsh, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Misses Beulah Hayes, Mary Matlack, Miriam Bucher, Margaret Norton, Margaret Baker and Emily Blair, ribbon girls, Misses Edith and Mary Ellen Halfpenny, cousins of the bride. The best man was Mr. Henry G. Graham, of the West Chester Military Academy, brother of the groom. The ushers were Messrs. S. P. Wolverton, Jr., Sunbury, J. A. Guie, Catawissa, Abbot C. Bucher, Harrisburg, Iden Portser, Greensburg, Dr. O. E. Bailey, Washington, D. C., G. L. Megargee, Coatesville, Dr. C. C. Sandels, Pittsburg, F. W. Wagner, Bradford.

The bride was handsomely gowned in ivory white satin with front of point lace, long train and bride's veil, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore a gown of white taffeta silk, covered with organdy, and carried a bouquet of marguerites. Four of the bridesmaids, Misses Hayes, Matlack, Baker and Blair, wore gowns of pink taffeta silk covered with white organdy, and the remaining two, Misses Bucher and Norton, green taffeta silk covered with white organdy; all having bouquets of daisies.

At the conclusion of the wedding ceremony a reception was given at the home of Hon. Alfred Hayes, which was attended by a large number of close relatives and friends.

The friends of the bride and groom wish them a long and happy honey-moon, and a peaceful and prosperous wedded life.

Third Brigade Band.

The Seniors met Saturday morning in the laboratory and decided to secure the Pottsville Third Brigade Band for commencement week, if satisfactory arrangements could be made with them. The alumni have already pledged themselves for one hundred dollars. The only question that remains in regard to their expenses, is the amount of subscription to be raised by the town people. Last year they secured the sum of two hundred dollars for the Ringgold Band of Reading; but this year they seem to be more conservative in regard to the amount they ought to pay. We are well aware that two hundred dollars is a large sum to be raised in so small a town as Lewisburg, but we believe that they are as anxious to have a good band here for the commencement as the students of the University, for several reasons; it is a great financial benefit to the local dealers; it brings a larger crowd to our commencement not only from the surrounding towns, but also from a distance; and finally, a good band furnishes excellent music for all. To get the Pottsville Band, which is one of the best in the state, will require the united efforts of the students, the alumni and the town people, and we believe that since the Seniors have subscribed the same amount as the class of '97, and the alumni have given their usual amount, the town people will do all in their power to make a large subscription list.

Messrs. Dutton and Wiltbank, of the Senior class, will leave tomorrow for Allegheny College, where they will contest in debate on Thursday night. The question is: "Resolved, That the Hawaiin Islands Should be Annexed to the U. S." Bucknell has the affirmative side.

The subject for debate in Theta Alpha Society next Friday is the one which will be used in the debate with Lehigh. Resolved, "That railroad pooling should be legalized." Every member should turnout and take part in the general debate. Let us give our representatives some pointers.

RELAY RACERS GROUPED.

The entries for the intercollegiate and interscholastic relay races are now practically all in. On Saturday Manager F. B. Ellis went over all the classes and finally decided upon the groups that will compete on April 30. The college classes are as follows:

Preliminary Contest.

Six men were chosen from the fourteen runners who contested for the Relay races last Friday afternoon. The day was damp and chilly, but this did not prevent a large crowd of students from witnessing the event. A heavy wind was blowing from the northwest which made it hard for the runners on the north side of the track. The candidates were, Davis, Sherwood, Reimer, Pierson, Morris, Teitsworth, Reading, Conover, Pearse, Schilling, Wassel, Catell, Green and Anthony. Some of the runners were handicapped by a heavier wind than others, but on the whole each had a fair chance for victory. Only one mishap occurred; Pierson became exhausted on the home stretch and fell, the cause seemed to be that he started too hard. A few went into the preliminaries without training. This is a mistake, for who can expect to have wind who has not exercised his lungs. The six men whom the judges chose were Reimer, Sherwood, Wassel, Conover Pearse and Morris. Now, boys, get down to work so that when the second preliminary comes off this week the best men will win. Judges were Prof. Hamblin, Prof. Stewart and Judge McClure.

Dual Meet With State.

Negotiations have just been closed with State College to meet them in a contest in Field and Track Athletics. The date will be either May 27, or June 3. Our Field day will occur May 14. The team to go to State will be selected on that day. There will be two men for each event in the contest with State. The following events will constitute the program:

100 yard Dash, 220 yard Dash, 440 yard Dash, 120 yard Hurdle, 220 yard Hurdle, Pole Vault, Running High Jump, Running Broad Jump, Putting 16 lb. Shot, Throwing 16 lb. Hammar, Half-mile Run, Mile Run.

Probably the Mile Walk, Bicycle Race and Relay Race will also be included. The Dual Meet with State is a certainty. This means harder work than we have ever done in this line before. Remember Field Day, May 14.

Nothing ought to be more encouraging to the friends of Bucknell than the high standard which our faculty is continually setting before the students. This school-year has shown a quite marked advance along several lines. Within a year we have had stricter regulations regarding delinquents in any college work; we have had an act relating to the welfare of fraternities, the standard required for college graduation has been raised, and there has even been an act for the regulation and maintenance of tennis courts. All these are salutary and beneficial laws. They betoken an active, progressive spirit of which our institution may well be proud.

Laws, however, are but a means to an end; and they sometimes fail of their object becaused aimed at the evil rather than the cause of the evil. Now we have an especial rule lately introduced, requiring that the studies of a succeeding term may not be continued until all rhetorical work of the past term has been completed. It is true that no department is so neglected by the students as this; but why in this? To believe that it is done willfully is giving the students credit for too little sense. We think that it is due rather to the difficulty of the subject. The essay and oration present to the average student problems that he has never learned to solve. The result is that he becomes discouraged and neglects this for his other work since it is but natural to labor where you seem to accomplish most. Now what the student needs is not to be driven but to be helped. How may it be done? Well it might be accomplished by simplifying as far as possible the work of the beginner. The production of the complete essay ought not to be attempted at first. Long before the finished work is thought of—the elements, i. e., analysing and paragraph writting, ought to be at least partially mastered. Of course, these themselves are difficult; the artistic paragraph or the close analysis is but seldom seen. However, it is surely not so difficult to take them separately as to try to master both at once, never giving the exclusive attention to either. In all this work it is a great help to the student to have a definite aim. Of all literary composition the hardest, especially to a beginner, is that written without study. The great trouble with our rhetorical work is that it lacks this definite purpose. The labor of composing frequently, so distracts from the thought that the work comes to a standstill. It seems to us that the habit of keeping a definite purpose in mind may be acquired by writing continually with an audience in mind. Every production ought to criticised before a class. If this cannot be done the literary societies might be utilized. And lastly the assigned work, whatever it is, must be written and in at the appointed time. If it is not, compulsion ought to be used. Put the delinquents into a class room and keep them there until the work is done, completed. This seems like a fanciful idea but it is not. A man always works better under pressure; and this is but a method of making him feel the pressure in time to derive some benefit from the work. All power must be gained by hard patient effort. But the effort ought to be directed so that the student will not be bewildered, but will conquer first one difficulty and then another and another until he finally attains success.

State Game Postponed.

The game of base ball which was to have been played Saturday, April 16, between State College and Bucknell has been postponed to a date in May. The game was thoroughly advertised in Lewisburg and adjoining towns and it was an unpleasant disappointment to the base ball enthusiast when a heavy rain set in on Friday, thus destroying every possibility for the contest. The ordinary diamond elevated slightly above the surrounding ball field would have warranted the game, but situated as our diamond is in the center of a minature amphitheater where all drainage from the campus must necessarily accumulate, renders it wet and soggy and unfit for games save in the most favorable weather. At the earliest opportunity the campus should be graded and the diamond so elevated and adjusted as to obviate the necessity of postponing or cancelling games at times when the weather is not strictly favorable for a game.

"Fred," Campbell stopped over Sunday with the Σ. A. E. boys.

The street in front of the seminary is to be macademized. This will make a very neat street, and will improve the general appearance of the Seminary.

The Seniors have decided to have one large picture taken from individual pictures instead of a collected groupe. All pictures must be without cap and gown.

Mr. Ford, the preacher of the Y. M. C. A. sermon, was entertained at the Institute over Sunday.

The election of the officers of the Y. W. C. A. for the next year took place Monday evening. The officers were as follows: President, Miss Bertha Watkins, '99; Vice President, Miss Clara Wilson; Treasurer, Miss Emma Probasco, 1900, and Secretary, Miss Nellie Goddard.

Friday evening Miss Wheeler entertained those members of the sophomore class who constitute her Sunday school class. Dr. Hulley read several charming selections which were much appreciated. Delightful refreshments were served and about eleven o'clock the party broke up after a very pleasant evening.

At the usual meeting of the Alumnae Club the program was "Nature as described by the Painters." Talks were given on Corat, Turner, Bierstadt. A conversation on "Impressions of Landscape Pictures" was conducted by Mrs. Dreisbach. At the close of the program several selections were given on the graphophone.

Meeting on Tuesday night will be led by E. C. Conover. Subject, "Right Conduct Toward Men." Reference, Matt. 7: 1–12.

Y. M. C. A. Sermon.

The annual sermon before the Christian Associations of the University was delivered in the Baptist Church last Sunday morning by the Rev. J. W. Ford. Dr. Ford is the pastor of the Gethsemane Baptist Church of Philadelphia and is doing good work there. He came here to speak for us upon the invitation of the Young Men's Christian Association of the college, and his address was very profitable and instructive to all who heard it. He spoke from the text 1 John 3: 2-4. In his discourse Dr. Ford showed many of the marks of the orator and poet, leading us to see God's mercy in surrounding us by things so wonderful and grand. He treated his subject in a masterly way which was altogether fitting to the pastor of a city church. Dr. Harris filled the pulpit of the Gethsemane Baptist Church while Dr. Ford was here speaking to us.

On Tuesday evening last Mrs. W. L. Kurtz gave a dinner to the members of Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity at which Mr. H. B. Philson was guest of honor. Mr. Philson is a graduate of Gettysburg where he was a member of Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity. The Fijis enjoyed themselves as only college boys can.

PATRIOTIC STUDENTS.

Dr. Harris Delivers an Address Before the Students Friday Evening.

For the past few weeks the students have displayed a good deal of enthusiasm which resulted in a monster meeting in Bucknell Hall last Friday evening. Dr. Harris was asked by a committee of students to deliver an informal address upon the present crisis, which he kindly consented to do.

The meeting, however, created more interested than had been anticipated by those in charge. Before the time of the opening the hall was crowded by students and citizens eager to become familiar with the Spanish-American difficulties.

Upon the platform an American and a Cuban flag were placed, while small flags of both countries were worn by almost every person present.

The ladies of the institution were as patriotic as their masculine college-mates and small stars and stripes proudly waved upon every oxford cap in the audience.

In opening his address Dr. Harris said that the present crisis vindicated him in that he had always contended that the boys of the present generation would respond to their country's call as readily as did the boys of '60. He took a conservative view of the hostilities and pointed out the mistakes Spain had committed in the past in her colonization plans and the moral derelictions she is guilty of in the control of her foreign subjects. He attributed Spain's gradual loss of power and revolt of her colonies to the lack of magnanimity, religious toleration and education. Several historical events were mentioned in proof of his assertion. The duty of the United States toward Cuba, in the present time and also after she has thrown aside the Spanish yoke was set forth by the speaker. At present we are justified, in fact morally impelled to aid her and after her freedom is attained her citizens must be christianized and educated.

The speaker didnot consider that the landing of troops in Cuba would involve great danger to our men as far as Spanish bullets are concerned, the climate he predicted to be more fatal than fighting. He also expressed the belief that Spain would not run the risk of landing any more men on Cuban soil as the contest would be decided principally upon the waters.

In closing, the president advised the students to be cautious and weigh each step before taking it. He did not attempt to advise the boys as to what they should do, because that was a personal matter and each one knows best what is his duty. The faculty has taken no action as yet in regard to students who will enlist, but he stated that those enlisting would be dealt with liberally.

He commended the slow and cautious policy the administration has pursued and recalled the state of affairs existing just before the actual opening of the Civil War and showed the similarity between the present times and those of '60 and '61.

The Bucknell Band rendered several selections both without and within the Chapel. The speaker and also the band were greeted with outbursts of applause during the progress of the meeting.

After the address a demonstration took place. About three hundred students marched through the principal streets of the town and then returned to the campus where a Spaniard was burned in effigy and speeches delivered.

State Game Again Postponed.

Manager Ritter received a telegram from Heilman, manager of the State base ball team, Sunday evening to the effect that it would be impossible to play because the team was badly crippled. Brown had defeated them 23 to 1, while U. of P. whitewashed the State boys by 16 points.

Rain would have prevented the game from coming off on Monday afternoon as the campus is in very bad shape, the diamond being literally a mass of mud.

This suspense is killing, it is to be earnestly hoped that the next date will be favorable to both teams. Every Saturday has been scheduled except May 14th, the Wednesday of which week we play Gettysburg here, we must give State a date if possible. The manager should arrange a game for that date as we believe the people would turn out to witness two good games in one week.

To Lecture on Cuba.

Upon special invitation, Hon. John Thomas Hyatt, '91, late U.S. Vice Consul at Santiago de Cuba, will lecture on Cuba on next Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock in Bucknell Hall. Mr. Hyatt has spent four years on the island of Cuba, is an entertaining speaker, and hence, will be able to tell, in an interesting way, some noteworthy things about the little island now struggling for freedom. No admission fee will be charged.

The Seniors have selected Mr. Hunter as official photographer.

INTER-COLLEGIATE DEBATE.

Allegheny Wins the Debate at Meadville.

Last Thursday night Messrs. Dutton and Wiltbank of the Senior class, met the Allegheny debaters in the large court room at Meadville. The auditorium was completely filled, as this debate was a much talked of event at that place. The debate was one of a course given by the Baraca Bible Union of the Baptist Church.

Arthur L. Bates, Esq., acted as master of ceremonies.

The judges were Prof. N. P. Gilman, Dr. Ken. C. Hayes, and Prof. S. P. Bates, all of Meadville. Two ministers and one professor.

The question was: "Resolved, That Hawaii should be annexed to the United States." Bucknell had the affirmative side. Three speeches were allowed each side, two of ten and one of fifteen minutes each.

Mr. Dutton opened the debate for Bucknell. He stated that this was no new question; it had been discussed for fifty years and would, he thought, ultimately end in annexation. Too much attention must not be given in this debate to local conditions in Hawaii. The citizens of these islands offer Hawaii to us as a free gift to accept or reject. Four courses are possible: (1) Let the island go. (2) Guarantee independence. (3) Establish a protectorate which would involve responsibility without control. (4) Annex it. The speaker made use of a map which he had placed on the platform showing their strategetic position. If any other nation gets there it will work havoc with our commerce and be a constant menace.

Mr. Dutton's argument was very focible and showed that he was master of his subject. He used his notes just enough to give the exact words of quotations and important statistical facts.

Mr. Jay Wright was the first speaker for Allegheny. His talk was in the form of an oration, and no attention was given to a rebuttal of the former speaker's argument. He opposed the question in that it would be a pernicious precedent and that colonization is inconsistent with our country's policy. The mixed character of the population was touched upon in a weak manner.

Mr. Wiltbank now took his turn in proving the point that annexation was the only course for the United States to pursue, for two important reasons: (1) Because Hawaii controls the commerce of the Pacific. (2) Because of its military value to the United States. Mr. Wiltbank made his arguments very strong and telling, accepting in rebuttal every point his opponent had made.

Allegheny's next speaker was Geo. G. Cowell, who had another oration of fifteen minutes. He claimed that time would not permit him to make a rebuttal. He said it was neither necessary, expedient or advisable, and that the moral and constitutional reasons outweigh all other.

The closing speeches were made by Messrs. Dutton and Wright. Each summing up the points of their side.

The judges now retired and after a few minutes of deliberation returned a verdict in favor of Allegheny.

After the debate at the Court House a reception was tendered the debaters and their friends in the parlors of the Baptist Church. The reception was wholly informal, and was marked by good cheer and fellowship of the genuine sort. Light refreshments were served by the ladies of the church. Messrs. Cheney and Travis, of the College, gave recitations, and Miss Bertha Nichols a piano solo. Two sentiments were responded to, "To the Victors Belong the Spoils," by Wright, and "Defeated but not Vanquished," by Dutton. The reception ended at midnight.

Our boys arrived here on Friday night well pleased with their pleasant trip and kind treatment, but they seem very desirous of meeting their opponents on neutral grounds.

Prof. S. T. Ford Next Tuesday Night.

On next Tuesday night, Prof. S. T. Ford, the versatile parlor entertainer and matchless impersonator, will give a refined entertainment in Bucknell Hall for the benefit of the athletic association.

Prof. Ford was here several years ago and gave a delightful entertainment. He is highly recommended by Dr. Hulley and other members of the faculty.

Everybody should turn out and enjoy an evening's fun. Admission 20 cts. Doors open at 7:30; entertainment at 8 o'clock.

Dickinson—B. U. Game.

Saturday afternoon of this week we will play our old opponents Dickinson. There should be a large crowd to see this game for two reasons, financially, and to cheer our team. We have been in hard luck this year having cancelled two games on account of the weather, last Saturday's game nothing more than a good practice. Turn out everybody. The Finance Committee wants your 25 cents and the players need your support.

Dr. Harris is lecturing and preaching in Clarion Co., Pa.

Within the last week our boys have shown a decided patriotic spirit in regard to the present war. The songs for chapel exercises were never so full of feeling as on Friday morning when the national hymn was sung by every student present. The enthusiasm was never greater than on Friday evening when Dr. Harris gave an address on the Spanish—American Affairs.

The interest of the audience showed the true spirit of our boys, and even the ladies seemed ready to accept the perils of war. The demonstration which followed was one of the most zealous and orderly parades that ever took place in Lewisburg under the strain of a similar crisis. Every student can feel proud that he is where such united feeling is felt between students and faculty.

Base Ball Game With Danville.

The base-ball nine defeated the Danville Y. M. C. A. Saturday afternoon by a score of 13 to 5. Geary pitched excellent throughout the game. Through errors Danville was able to score five runs in the sixth. There were no sensational plays and the game all through was not interesting as the College nine had a walk-over from the start. Jenkins was wild giving many bases on balls.

Some of our players need to take a brace; they should not think because they are on the College team that they are the only boys on the grounds. You are upholding the honor of your college, show all that you appreciate the trust placed on your ability by not making an error. Several to the credit of one man in a game is entirely too many. All are decidedly slow in getting into plays. It is certainly to be regretted that we cannot have a coach to look after the team, but we must make the best of it. The batting of our team was fair.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES.

Gleaned from the Events of the Week on the Campus.

A. L. Hanna, 1900, has been initiated into the Kappa Sigma fraternity.

The local I. O. of O. F., secured the University Band to play for them at Danville today.

All the students were glad to welcome H. L. Purdy on his return to college last week.

Capt. Tasker H. Bliss, the military attache to Minister Woodford's Legation, is a Bucknell man.

Miss Stanton and the ladies of the Seminary will receive their friends at the Institute on May 2d from 4 to 6.

The following men were selected for the Relay team: Capt. Pearse, Riemer, Conover and T. J. Morris, Sherwood, sub.

The University Band participated in the demonstration of turning on of new electric lights at Watsontown on Saturday evening.

At the Concert for the starving Cubans in the Methodist church Thursday night, several members of the School of Music rendered selections.

Harry B. Wassell, 1900, our Local Editor, has left school for this term, to accept a position with the Carnegie Iron Works as stenographer and typewriter.

Mr. Thomas Weymouth, of Lock Haven, spent Tuesday night with his brother Clarence. Mr. Weymouth is a fine musician and the Mandolin Club wasted no time in getting together to hear him.

It seems unfortunate that the prettiest part of the campus was selected on last Friday night for the demonstration of burning an effigy. Bon-fires and the like should be conducted on the athletic field and not on that part of the grounds that has taken years of labor to make presentable.

Dickinson won the inter-collegiate debate with State College on Saturday night. The question was: "Resolved, That the Government should establish a National University." Dickinson had the negative side. The judges were Atty. Gen. H. C. McCormick, Prof. M. D. Larned, of Univ. of Pa., and Prof. D. C. Lee, of Corneli.

Officials for Relay Races.

The following list of officials will take charge of the inter-collegiate and inter-scholastic relay races on Saturday next. The list comprises some of the best-known names in the athletic world, headed by the "father of athletics," W. B. Curtis, Sullivan, Kelly, McWilliam, Lee, McClary, Freeman and Turner. In such hands the games are sure to be run through on time and to the satisfaction of the contestants: Manager, F. B. Ellis; referee, W. B. Curtis; judges of track events, Harry McWilliams, James Sullivan, John W. Kelly, Charles Patterson; timers, James Starrett, H. H. Lee, F. Lee; marshall, Charles McClary; field judges, George W. Woodruff, S. Murdock Kendrick, Lucian Alexander.

By the will of the late Henry L. Pierce, Harvard University, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and the Boston Art Museum each receive $700,000. Harvard will use her share for an annex to her library.

The track association of Columbia University has offered a silver cup valued at $100, to the class winning the largest number of points in the annual spring games. The cup has to be competed for annually. The individual prizes in the games will be silver loving cups to first, and steins to second men.

Institute Items.

The first "At Home" of the term will be held Monday, May 2nd, at four o'clock.

The tennis courts on the Institute campus are almost ready for use and look very trim in their new dress of green.

Nearly every girl in the Institute was an interested listener at Dr. Harris' address on Friday evening. Their patriotism was well expressed by the U. S. and Cuban flags with which they had decorated themselves.

On Friday afternoon, Arbor day exercises were held in the chapel. The program consisted of the Governor's Proclamation read by Miss Dunleavy, Bryant's "Forest Hymn" by Miss Moses, Bryant's "Planting of the Apple Tree" by Miss Devitt, and the singing of several hymns and patriotic airs. Afterwards the girls adjourned to the campus where several white lilac bushes were planted by the Senior class.

The University of Washington can boast of the largest student in the United States. He is half Indian, named Modoc, and is six feet four inches in his socks. He weighs two hundred and twenty-five pounds and cannot be induced to play football.

Academy Notes.

The Third Form Contest in declamation on Saturday evening was attended by a large and very attentive audience. The contest was a good one and merited very little criticism. After the exercises the contestants were invited to the home of Prof. Stewart where refreshments were served

The programs follows:

March—Parade Review, Misses Gilbert and Halfpenny. Prayer. Symphony for two Violins—Daucla, Misses Leinbach and Dunkle. The Wreck of the Clara Em—Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, George Herbert Stewart. The French Ensign—Alphonse Daudet. John Weiser Bassler. The Amphitheater Once More—Sir Edward Bulwer-Lytton, John Davis. Violincello Solo—The Wonderers—Fesca, Mr. Ray Wendell. Trick vs. Trick—John Seymour Wood, Merle Moe Edwards. The Martyrdom of Lyga—Henryk Sienkiewicz, Frank Ellsworth Ammon. Michael Strogoff—Jules Verne, William Davis. Second Mazurka—Godard, Miss Anna Halfpenny. The Rosicrucian—Dinah Mulock Craik, John Morris Evans. A Mysterious Incident—Joseph Henry Shorthouse, David William Thomas. Masters of the Situation—James Thomas Fields, Joseph William McElroy.

McCracken and D. W. Thomas heard Bryan speak in Williamsport on Thursday afternoon.

John A. Young, 'Cad '97, spent several days with his old friends last week.

Dickinson's Crack Nine Receive Their First Defeat.

Bucknell Plays a Good Game. Outclassing Their Opponents at all Points.—Attendance Small.

At last we had a nice day for a base ball game and Manager Ritter's face is beaming with smiles at not being disappointed. Dickinson was defeated for the first time this season which shows up well for our team. The work of the outfield of the home boys was very good, Weidensaul making some good catches. The infielders seemed to be at the right place at the right time and showed a marked improvement over last week. Griffith played a crack game at 2nd base. The batting has also picked up and gave evidence of the training in that line. Shortell pitched a good game and held the Dickinson boys down to five hits which is excellent considering that they have the reputation of being heavy hitters. The visitors put up a good game but appeared to be out of sorts as they have twelve errors to their credit. Devall at l. f. and 1b. put up a star game and did some heavy hitting. Port retired from the box in the 4th inning, and Jones pitched the remainder of the game. Both pitchers twirled the ball effectively and kept the batters guessing. The game by innings follows:

First inning.—Both sides went out without making a run, and there was no good hitting.

Second inning.—Dickinson was again put out on the fourth batter, Griffith catching a hot liner while Garner made a good, quick throw to first base. Jenkinson succeeded in making one run this inning. Score, B. U., 1; Dickinson, 0.

Third inning.—Playing more effective and seeming to warm up. Jenkinson made a pretty catch. Dickinson did not score. When Bucknell came to the bat they made some good hits and through the errors of their opponents succeeding in making three runs. Yoder made a wild throw which brought Weidensaul home. Score, B. U., 4; Dickinson, 0.

Fourth inning.—Mulkie failed to stop a liner from Runkle who succeeded in getting to first. In stealing to second Runkle was touched by Griffith who had caught a high ball and tagged him when coming down. Umpire called him out; Capt. Devall kicked and delayed the game ten minutes, at first averring that he would call his team off, but as Runkle acknowledged that the decision was correct, the captain changed his mind. Weidensaul caught out Burdenburger and Hubler, the first was a pretty catch. Conola was placed at l. f. while Devall covered first and Jones going in the box from first. Catterall was struck by Jones who succeeded Port. Grimm batted to third, Burdenburger failing to stop it. Shortell put a liner to short stop which Runkle fumbled. Grimm was put out on third. Mulkie caught out by Runkle. Score, B. U., 4; Dickinson, 0.

Fifth inning.—Conola put out by Shortell throwing to Geary. Ivins took his base on balls. Devall made a two base hit to left field and stole home from third. Jones batted to first base, error by Geary then brought Ivins home. Runkle put out by Mulkie throwing to first. MacNeal put out by Garner to first. Griffith made a three base hit to centre field and was brought home by Weidensaul who made a base hit to c. f. Garner made a foul which Devall caught. Jenkinson batted to left field. Catterall put a hot liner to left field. Grimm batted to third and reached first on error by Burdenburger. Shortell put out by Runkle to MacNeal. Grimm put out on third. Score, B. U., 5; Dickinson, 2.

Sixth inning.—Burdenburger put out by Mulkie to Geary. Yoder caught out by Shortell, Hubler struck out. Geary batted to second baseman who failed to catch it. Mulkie hit to short stop. Geary put out by s. s. to second. Griffith caught out c. f. Weidensaul made a two-base hit. Garner bunted and put out by pitcher to first base. Score, B. U., 5; Dickinson, 2.

Seventh inning.—Conola batted to short stop, error by Mulkie. Ivins hit to r. f. Devall caught out by Weidensaul. Wild pitch by Shortell brought Conola to third. Conola made home after catch. Jones batted to first. Geary putting out Ivins at home by throw to Catterall. Runkle base on balls. MacNeal caught out by Griffith. Jenkinson hit to short, error by Runkle, muffing ball. Catterall hit to r. f. Grimm put out by s. s. to first. Jenkinson made run. Shortell batted to third base, Burdenburger muffing. Geary put out by s. s. to first. Mulkie put out by pitcher at first. Score, B. U., 7; Dickinson, 3.

Eighth inning.—Burdenburger put out by Mulkie to Geary. Yoder caught out by Mulkie, a pretty play. Hubler put out by Geary on first. Griffith caught out on fly by Hubler, a good catch. Garner caught out by pitcher to first. Jenkinson caught out on foul fly by Yoder. No runs.

BUCKNELL WINS RELAY.

The Banner and Gold Watches Come to the Orange and Blue.

Bucknell added new laurels to her athletic wreath by winning another relay race at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, last Saturday. This is the second time in succession that Bucknell has taken first place in relay races at the University of Penn.

The team left Lewisburg last Friday on the Reading road, at 11:22 a. m., and reached Philadelphia at 5:10 p. m., none the worse for the ride and all were in good condition. They were at once taken to their headquarters at the Hanover where they quietly remained until the races, only leaving the hotel for fresh air, and the requisite amount of outdoor exercise.

The party was made up as follows; C. J. Pearse, (Capt.); H. B. Riemer, E. C. Conover, T. J. Morris, A. J. Sherwood, (sub.), C. A. Weymouth, (manager), Edward Bell and H. L. Craig, (rubbers).

During their stay in Philadelphia, the Bucknell boys received courteous attention from Mr. John Clarence Shengle, U. P. '99, who had been assigned by the general committee to look after the Lewisburg delegation.

Mr. Shengle is to be congratulated upon the happy manner in which he entertained the Bucknell team.

THE RACE.

This was called at 3:25 p. m. and was the ninth event on the program. The Gettysburg team failed to appear on account of the sickness of one of her runners and the Captain's enlistment in the State guard.

The race started with Dickinson holding the pole, F. and M. next and Bucknell third. Around the first curve the men swept in good form with Dickinson and F. and M. neck-to-neck, and Bucknell close behind, the later being held in, as it seemed, in a pocket. It was at this point that Riemer, Bucknell's first runner, displayed a remarkable piece of "head-work," sacrificing his own time thereby. Instead of pulling around and taking the lead, in the face of a strong wind, he quietly and persistently dogged away, and when he gave his position over to Morris, Bucknell's second runner, the difference between first and second places was scarcely perceptible. In about one dozen strides, Morris caught the Dickinson man and took the lead, and when he turned it over to Conover, Bucknell had about 25 feet to the good. Then on and on sped little Conover; around the first curve with a long-legged Dickinsonian pulling up hard, and when the first straight-away was reached, Bucknell's doughty third runner showed his superior enduring qualities and little by little he pulled ahead so that when he gave up to Captain Pearse, the Dickinson man was at least 30 feet in the rear, with F. and M. third. Pearse kept the distance given him by Conover wide open, and did not allow his follower to gain a foot on him, it seemed. On the home stretch, where it is customary to see Captain Pearse put on extra steam, and finish in glorious form, he ran in the same even style in which he started. The Bucknellites on the stands who looked for a sensational finish, were disappointed. Such a finish was not needed, however, for the race was ours from the beginning when Riemer used his head down until Pearse crossed the line. In all justice to the latter it must be said that he did not run his race on account of a bad leg, which had been troubling him for some time. He had instruction from his physician not to let himself out unless the occasion demanded it. Bucknell's runners finished in unexhausted condition.

ORDER OF RUNNING.

Fourth Quarter: C. J. Pearse, Capt., B. U.; J. Nunnemacher, D. C.; J. H. Bridenbaugh, Capt., F. & M.

Bucknell, first; Dickinson, second; F. & M., third.

Time, 3 mins. 42 2-5 secs.

Each one of the winning team received a gold watch, and the institution a handfome silk banner. One of the watches and the banner will be displayed in Bower's jewelery store for several days this week.

Bucknell is glad to learn that South Jersey Institute won the championship preparatory school race. Mr. Chas. E. Goodall, the S. J. I. captain, to whom credit must be given for winning the race against great odds, will enter Bucknell next fall. The time his team made was was 3 mins. 41 3-5 secs. Mr. L. E. Theis, one of the S. J. I. "subs," at the Philadelphia races, will also enter Bucknell with Capt. Goodall.

Bucknell is to be congratulated upon the place she has attained in track athletics, and now that we have a good track the standard reached must not only be maintained, but large efforts should be put forth to reach a higher class.

Rev. T. J. Cross, of Atlantic City, a former student of Bucknell, has been appointed Chaplain in the "American Veterans," a new regiment organized in Camden by representatives from South Jersey.

Important Communication.

"Get college teams to play on our campus and your games will be patronized by us" was the clamor emanating from the lips of many of those loyal students of Bucknell who, on last Saturday, displayed their remarkable loyalty by remaining in their rooms and with disinterested eyes, save, perhaps, for the sake of criticism, defrauded our athletic association out of about twenty-five dollars. This is the class of students who usually furnish the wind prior to any event yet when the time for action comes, those slow to speak must lay hold of the bellows and see that the work is done; these are the fellows who, by their lack of patronage and financial support, demonstrate their eagerness to have quick and completely exterminated athletics and confine college life to the dry, hard routine of the daily recitation and then, finally, when the last blow has been struck, they will exclaim, with tearful eyes and throbbing hearts "Oh! what a pity!" Such accusations, as these, hard to bear yet whoever the "Shoe fits" let him put it on. Some may demand exemption on the ground of poverty, but their excuse is unwarranted and insipid. Some of the very students who advance this claim will be found to be inveterate patrons of the theatre, ice cream parlor and out-of-town amusement yet when a game of ball is in progress, where a financial obligation must be met, in consequence of it this poverty-stricken crowd of would-be sports may be seen wandering languidly from place to place, back of the dead head line, wherever nature has provided a comfortable seat.

Out of a student body aggregating nearly 500, less than 75 students patronized Saturday's game, yet when the season is ended and the athletic association shall have sunken farther in the mire of insolvency, this disinterested element will rise up and with a common voice proclaim the condemnation of the management for mismanagement. Has not the past born witness to this fact?

Only one course is now permissable and in fact possible and it is understood on good authority that it will be pursued. That is, the cancellation of all games on our campus after one more unsuccessful attempt has been made to raise the guarantee. Who is there who can disagree with this policy when he is apprised of a deficit that had to be made up from an individual pocket in order to preserve the sacridity of the contracts agreed upon by the two managers. Let all students come out to the Gettysburg game even through the paltry sum of 25 cents, might inconvience you to some sleight degree and if you have'nt the quarter and your fellow students have not enough confidence in your honesty to lend you one, be manful enough to keep off the campus so as to relieve the finance committee of the trouble of asking you to buy a ticket and to relieve yourself of the embarrassment incident upon your refusal.

The Soiree.

At eight o'clock on Saturday evening, April 30th, the friends of the class of '99, Bucknell Institute, gathered in the institute chapel to witness the annual exercises of the fourth year class.

The room was beautifully decorated, and it was difficult to recognize in it the prosaic school room. Among the decorations were the class colors and a profusion of violets. Prominent upon the platform was a bust of Shakespeare, which was to play an important part in the exercises.

After the members of the class had entered and taken their places in the "green rooms," two temporary alcoes on the platform, a drama in three scenes was presented. It all happened in the waiting room in Hades, just before the arrival of Shakespeare in that mysterious region. The conversations that ensued between the shades of his many "children" were both instructive and amusing, and showed decided inquiry and literary ability. The majority of the shades were rejoiced at the prospect of meeting their creator in the underworld, while lady Masbeth and Katherine the Shrew led the opposition. The last scene closed with a beaulitful tableau, most of the fair ones bowing before the violet-crowned bust of Shakespeare, while others, by averted looks and scornful attitude, displayed to the end their opposition. The last to leave the stage was the fair Ophelia, who throughout was faithful to the immortal poet.

The music was furnished by Misses Atkin and Pretzman, and members of the School of Music. An informal reception followed the exercises, the guests leaving about half past ten. There were many present, the opinion was universal that the exercises reflected great credit on the departments of English and Elocution, as well as upon the individual participants. The cast follows:

Lady Capulet, Miss Evans; Cleopatra, Miss Grier; Lady Macbeth, Miss Runyan; Juliet, Miss Shields; Celia, Miss Siffer; Rosalind, Miss Wolfe; Portia, Miss Campbell; Marina, Miss Dunkle; Jessica, Miss Hinmelreich; Desdemona, Miss Judd; Catherine the Shrew, Miss Kreuer; Miranda, Miss McKnight; Queen Elizabeth, Miss Brown; Perdita, Miss Devitt; Cordelia, Miss Leser; Titania, Miss Seiler; Ophelia, Miss Stapleton; Hermione, Miss Vaughan.

Prof. Ford To-Night.

Prof. S. T. Ford, the impersonator, will give a refined entertainment at 8 o'clock to-night in Bucknell Hall. The proceeds will be applied to the debt of the Athletic Association.

Prof. Ford is one of the finest character sketchers in the country, and makes friends wherever he goes. A crowded house should greet him to-night. Admission 20 cents.

Notes on Cuba — pic N.Y. Tribune May 98

CUBAN LECTURE.

Jno. T. Hyatt addressed a large audience on the most interesting subject of the day and as was expected by all, he gave many new and surprising phases of the Cuban, in all classes. Mr. Hyatt spent four years in the tropical isle and being specially observant his talk was pleasing, and well rendered. In the introductory remarks he mentioned that his subject was not about Cuba, nor of the oppression and tyranny suffered at the hands of Spain, but concerning the Cuban himself. He remarked that few Americans have a true idea of a Cuban but a gross misconception. The Cubans and Spaniards have made it a business to spread in America every conceivable calumny and misrepresentation against each other in order to influence public opinion and to obtain or avert the forcible intervention of the United States in this struggle, have also tended to ridiculously confuse the public mind as to the relative merits and demerits of the Cuban and Spaniard. He reviewed the number of the population, the color and where the different races were mostly located. The Cuban is descendant from the Spaniard, yet each is insulted if you mistake him for the other. James Anthony Fronde, the eminent English historian who visited the island some years ago, in writing of the Cubans said "Spanish at any rate they are to bone and marrow, and Spanish they will continue." He gave a description of the parents of the town and country, rich and poor Cuban, which was very vivid and resulted in a different impression than what is usually thought of him. How different from the American colonist who fought for liberty! The indolence of the Cuban was next spoken of, as he is and has been. The thriftlessness of the poor Cuban is of the greatest and the husband is often supported by the wife doing washing in a country where a steam laundry is unknown. Because of their indolence the athlete is unheard of and as a rule they are not successful in business. The Cuban is proud and often dignified for in his own peculiar way he is very gentlemanly be he rich or poor, high or low. The speaker spoke of two kinds of pride. The legitimate including besides ancestral pride comfortable homes, incomes, recognized social position and admirable families with faithful wives and bright children; the false or the pride which will not let him do hard work to advance himself in wealth and position. The Cuban is a quidnunc of the first order and given to exaggeration through the result of his language and peculiar temperament. He is superior to the American as regards temperance although always having wine on his table. Mr. Hyatt remarked that he had seen more intoxication in an American town in one night than in his four years of life in Cuba. The Cuban places little value on human life when compared with the Anglo Saxon although he is not as brave as the latter. He is very cruel to dumb animals. His sense of honor in business affairs is not as well developed as in the American, largely due to their influence of the church, that being the state. There have been some daring bands on the island among whom Manuel Garcua was the Jesse James; as a rule one can travel in Cuba with a large sum of money more safely than almost any part part of the United States. The Cuban thief is guilty of petty larceny while the American goes after big hauls with greater risks. He has the trait of his ancestry being given to gaming. The women of the better families are absolutely pure due largely to the peculiar Spanish social system by which they are surrounded. As to the men their marriage life is often one lurid glare of infidelity from the wedding altar to the grave; among the lower classes marriage has never became popular, and about one half of the population are illegitimate. The speaker next gave an account of the every day life of the Cuban and of his useful machete used for farming, cutting brake, eatting and picking his teeth; also of the unpronounceable literary authors which he reads.

The Cuban is very proud of his country and believes it second to none in importance. He closed with the remark that the faults of the Cubans are no justification of the crimes of Spain, and a new era of prosperity and advancement will result from the intervention of the United States.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The topic for the meeting is "My Personal Relations to Missions," Matt. 28:30. John Anderson, leader.

The Senior and Junior Bible class conducted by Prof. Phillips has just completed its course of study in the "Teaching of Christ." This course was very instructive and practical, and entirely satisfactory to all who attended.

The vacation cards which entitle members of our association to the privileges of city associations during the summer are expected soon. These cards will be given all members of the association who are in good standing financially and otherwise.

The conference of Y. M. C. A. presidents was held during the past week at Selins Grove. The program comprised addresses by several of the foremost Y. M. C. A. workers of the state, and those who attended report a very profitable time. Mr. Dutton of our association delivered an address upon "The Essentials of a Y. M. C. A. President," and we expect to hear something from him at our next meeting. Come and hear what they did and are going to do.

Field Day Prizes.

Through the efforts of the Executive Committee, Manager and Director of Athletics, the following prizes will be given to the winners of the different events on Field Day:

FOURTH FORM RECEPTION.

Mrs. Edwards Entertains the Fourth Form Boys and Their Friends at the Academy.

The event of last Thursday evening was one long to be remembered by all who were the guests of Mrs. Edwards. She seems to have the pleasant faculty of making her guests feel that they are at the right place at the right time. At each occasion there is a new plan for entertainment; and last Thursday evening, when the Fourth Form Class of the Academy, their lady friends and the Instructors arrived, everything was in readiness for a very enjoyable evening. The parlor was decorated very artistically, the class flower—violet—being very prominent. The University Mandolin and Guitar Club furnished music for the occasion, and by the way they seemed to enjoy themselves, you would think that they were members of the Fourth Form. After about two hours of pleasure, the guests partook of refreshments consisting of ice-cream, coffee, bon-bons, nuts, etc.

A little before twelve the party began to depart for their respective abodes, all feeling that they had never spent a more enjoyable evening.

The members of the faculty present, outside of the Academy, were Dr. and Mrs. Harris, Miss Stanton and Miss Wheeler.

Institute Items.

The "At Home" on Monday afternoon was an especially pleasant one and was much enjoyed by all present. The rooms were very prettily decorated and sherbet proved a seasonable variation form the usual refreshments.

The large and time-honored flag belonging to the Institute was carried off on Wednesday evening and left on the College campus. It is considered very strange at the Institute that the College boys seem to have no regard for personal property.

The Institute girls made a fine display of their patriotism on Wednesday evening at the time of the parade. Every room in the building was lighted up and the side of the Annex, by which the parade passed, was beautifully decorated with bunting, flags and Chinese lanterns. Cheers for the Guard and national songs attested well to the general enthusiasm at the sight of "the soldier boys"

Baker—Rawn Nuptials.

The matrimonial wave seems to have struck the class of '98; for on Friday night, April 22, Mr. Enos Cook Baker, of Ereildown, Pa., a member of the Senior class, was married to Miss Mary Rawn, of Lewisburg, at the Presbyterian parsonage, Milton, Pa. The wedding was to take place about the last of May, but the sudden declaration of war somewhat changed their plans as he is a member of Co. A., and would likely be away at that time. The Orange and Blue extends congratulations to the young couple.

Academy Notes.

McCracken, '98, left with the National Guards on Wednesday night for Mt. Gretna. "Mac" wrote a letter to his friends Saturday saying that he was enjoying his new mode of living very well.

An informal reception was given by Prof. and Mrs. Edwards on Wednesday at 6 p. m. in honor of McCracken. Academy boys and friends of McCracken were present. A very pleasant time was enjoyed by all present. Prof. Edwards, in an appropriate speech presented Mr. McCracken with a very fine fountain pen which was bought by the boys and presented as a token of their best wishes.

Rev. J. M. Hare, has been appointed chaplain of the Sixth Regt., State Guards of New Jersey.

Rev. S. F. Forgeus made a patriotic address when Co. A, of the Fifth, left Huntingdon on Wednesday night last.

The following students left with Co. A, 12th Regt., on Wednesday: Levi T. Fetzer, '98; E. C. Baker, '98; Frank Katherman, '98; Morris Van Gundy, '98; E. W. Cober, '99; M. B. Christy, '00; J. Z. Rowe, '01; A. W. Anderson, '01; A. A. Earle, '01, and J. W. McCracken, Cad., E. P. Gilchrist, Jerome Fetzer, of the class of '97, also enlisted with the company.

FIELD DAY, MAY 14.

Next Saturday, on the College Campus.

Inter-Class Contests for the "Mirror" Cup.—Some Interesting Events. Many Prizes Offered.

On next Saturday, at 2 p. m., the annual Field Day exercises will take place on the college campus. Last year we did not have the annual contest, due no doubt to lack of facilities in training. But this year with our new cinder path, and all other accessories, we ought to have no difficulty in securing a large list of candidates for the different events. The program will be open until 6 p. m. on Friday, when it will be closed to make up the list for the next day. In all probability no more than two men will be allowed to enter each event from the different classes.

Now let the athletes of the several classes select two events from the list and practice the entire week for these only. Do not think that you can take first place in a half dozen events. The prizes for the winner are in every case something very useful, and the student body should do their part to repay the persons who have taken so much interest in our field and track athletics. Remember that the class which wins the relay race will receive a handsome banner and each runner will also receive an individual prize. The relay race will not be counted as one of the events in registering. It is open to all members of the different classes even if they have already taken part in two events.

The list of events follows:

1. One quarter mile run.
2. One half mile run.
3. One mile run.
4. 100 yard dash.
5. 200 yard dash.
6. 120 high hurdle.
7. 220 hurdle.
8. Hammer throw.
9. Shot put.
10. High jump.
11. Broad jump.
12. Bicycle race.
13. Relay race.

According to the inter-scholastic rules the following places will count: First place, 5 points; second place, 3 points; third place, 2 points; fourth place, 1 point.

Notice.

The prize contest in elocution open to all members of the Institute, will be held in Bucknell Hall next Saturday night. All are invited to attend.

A Full Meeting of the Board of Directors.

One of the most successful meetings ever held by THE ORANGE AND BLUE board of directors took place at the residence of Editor Kurtz, of the Lewisburg Journal, on Friday evening, April 29. The object of the meeting was not to discuss matters pertaining to the running of the paper, but for the purpose of enjoying the hospitality of Mr. Kurtz, who tendered the board a supper on the evening in question.

At six o'clock war upon the victuals was declared and the blockade of the table ordered until the "cessation of hostilities." Finally peace was declared by the members giving a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Kurtz for the entertainment, after which the guests departed.

Prof. Ford's Recital.

Prof. S.T. Ford, of Baltimore, the well known impersonator, gave a very entertaining program in Bucknell Hall on last Tuesday night. Prof. Ford has the rare faculty of sketching the peculiar characteristics of persons. While several of his selections were old, yet they were presented in such a pleasing and humorous manner that all seemed to enjoy them to their full extent. The proceeds were for the Athletic Association. Although the hall had a few vacant seats a large crowd was present to hear the speaker.

More Students Enlist.

Last week a notice was posted in town for more men to enlist in Co. A. at Mt. Gretna. As soon as this became known Messrs. Trimmer, '98, Koons, '98, LeVan, '99, VanDorster '01, Thomas, Cad, and Frank Miller, '97, sent in their names as men who were ready to go to the front and defend their country's flag. They were sworn in as regular United States soldiers on Friday night by Captain Follmer. The extra men left this morning for Mt. Gretna.

Alumni.

Rev. J. Madison Hare, '85, of Burlington, N. J., chaplain of the Sixth Regt., has been appointed chaplain and postmaster of the First Regt. to succeed Dr. John Kelly, of Newark, who is not physically able to attend camp.

The Phi Gamma Delta boys are the only fellows who have taken advantage of the new rules regulating the tennis courts. They have spent much time and labor in fixing up their court, and they can feel well satisfied with the results for theirs is the finest court has ever been made on the college campus.

RAIN AGAIN.

Saturday's Game Postponed. Gettysburg Next Thursday.

Another disappointment to the Bucknell base ball team was occasioned on last Saturday, when Manager Ritter received a telegram from Dickinson College stating that "it would be impossible to play at Carlisle on account of a heavy rain" which began falling on Friday and continued until Saturday morning. This is the third game, thus far, which has been postponed on account of rain. Old Probabilities seems to be particularly unfavorable to base ball this season. But, like the farmer whose crops failed in a season accompanied by unusual drought, we can be thankful that we are not the only college that has suffered such reverses. The student who contemplates an afternoon outing would be wise to watch closely the base-ball posters and arrange his trip for some day other than that on which a game is scheduled. For base-ball posters seem to have a peculiar influence over the conduct of the elements. Gettysburg will be here on next Thursday May 12, and let us all hope for a nice day and a big attendance. Bucknell has placed a winning team in the field this year and it is safe to say that our boys will do themselves, as well as their college, proud before the close of the season.

By defeating the strong Dickinson nine, our team has certainly demonstrated what it is capable of doing when arrayed against the other college nines with which we have games scheduled.

But something more than good batting and fielding is required to make this season a successful one, and that is the support of every student.

If half the number of students enrolled at Bucknell would attend the games, every guarantee could be admirably met and a small surplus at the close of the season would be realized. Manifest your interest on Thursday by attending the game. Do not give Gettysburg the opportunity to report to their college, that same lack of interest and support, aswas given Dickinson.

For some time the bath room of the gymnasinm has not been in a very clean condition. The janitor keeps the other rooms in a very respectable condition, but this one seems to be left to take care of itself. This ought not to be the case for we all know that it is for the general welfare of all students to have a healthy room in which to take a bath.

Hutchinson, '99, has been elected captain of the second base ball nine.

CHOOSING A VOCATION.

One of the most difficult steps for a young man to take is the choice of a life work. Some are contented, it seems, anywhere, while others are discontented everywhere. Those who lightly consider the importance of being in the right place have little difficulty in entering upon a life work. They are willing to be and act where circumstances place them. But the ambitious, earnest man, unless he has a very decided cast of mind, thinks long and hard before he identifies himself with any calling in life. It is his greatest desire to work in the capacity that will perfect his own character in the best way and also render the most service to humanity. Society is teaching young men to choose professions that are lucrative, regardless of higher ends. No man should enter a life work unless he sees in it the possibility of his highest development and the most natural channels through which he may serve his fellowmen. The man and his calling should become one and inseparable. He should "establish between it and his spirit a sacred relationship." He should be able to glory in his vocation forgetful of the material gain that might be accruing from his labors. He should "strive to subdue it to the higher necessities of life." He should toil "to get from it food for his heart no less than for his body." He should "work over it that he may raise it into a large and beautiful utterance of his humanity." "Ethical good is the goal" and if we choose well our work in life, we shall choose that calling happily adjusted to complete in us the most beautiful elements of Christian character.—Ex.

A new plan for securing finances for the Athletic Association of Dartmouth College is being thoroughly discussed. At the present time all branches of athletics are supported by separate taxes voted by the student body, annually, amounting to about $7.50, apportioned equally among the baseball, football, and track athletic associations. It has invariably been the experience of managers that only about 60 per cent. of the students meet this assessment, and it is a recognized fact that the delinquents are not the poorer students, but those who are fully capable of paying the assessment. What is now proposed is a plan to tax all the students $5, to be payable at the same time as the tuition bill. This would secure about $2,500, enough to meet the requirements of all the teams when added to the average gate receipts at games and tournaments.

It has also been argued that by compelling every student to pay the tax, the method proposed would result in a material decrease as compared with the present tax-rate. A movement is under way to put the system to a popular vote, in which case the trustees would be expected to pass upon the desirability of the proposal.

The above plan seems to be the only feasible way of securing funds sufficient to meet the obligations of our association. This system would do away with all subscriptions to athletics on the part of the student body. It would give us a large attendance at every game, and it would also place a certain amount of responsibility upon the authorities of the institution.

Dr. Enoch Perrine has an article on "Quotation" in the last number of the Commonwealth.

Prof. Llewellyn Phillips preached an excellent sermon in the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning.

Chas. P. Meeker has been elected captain of the Junior track team.

The Seniors are busy writing their Theistic arguments which are due on June 1st.

Miss Mary Bolenius, of Lancaster, is visiting her sister Miss Emma, of the Senior class.

Geo. H. Catterall, '99, was called home on Saturday morning, his father being very ill.

E. W. Cober, '99, and Jerome Fetzer, '97, have been appointed corporals in Co. A, 12th Regt.

The Mandolin and Guitar Club has presented Mr. Schilling, their leader, with a handsome baton.

The Seniors will hold their banquet at the Haag Hotel, in Milton, on Thursday night, May 19th.

Read H. W. Raymond's lecture on "War Ships, Old and New," in the Brown and White of Lehigh University.

Several of the Theta Delta Psi girls entertained their gentleman friends at Mrs. Huth's on Friday night.

Harry Thornton, ex. '00, has returned from the Jefferson Medical College where he has completed his second year.

Several students attended the funeral of Mrs. Eicholtz, the mother of William Eicholtz, '97, on Friday afternoon at Sunbury.

Edward Bell, '00, and H. L. Craig, '00, have both returned from Philadelphia where they tried to enlist as naval recruits.

E. C. Baker, '98, has returned from Mt. Gretna. His physical condition being such that he was unable to enlist in the U. S. Army.

David Howard Robbins, '99, has taken Herbert Harris' position as teacher in the Muncy Normal School. Mr. Harris enlisted in Co. G, 12th Regt., N. G. P.

Frank W. Dillon, '98, who left College some time ago to accept a position in London, England, has an article in the Lewisburg Chronicle upon "English Sentiment in the Cuban War."

Harry Bourn, ex. 95, who has been spending some time with friends in Lewisburg, practiced base ball with the team on Friday evening. Mr. Bourn was captain of our team during the season of '94.

E. N. Evans, of Franklin and Marshall College; W. H. Thomson, of State College, and M. N. Rogers, of Grove City College, visited friends here last week. They are the presidents of the Y. M. C. A. in their respective colleges.

T. M. Shorkley, '00, who is a sergeant in Co. A, 12th Regt. Pa. Vols., brought home on Saturday those who failed to enlist at Mt. Gretna. After assisting Capt. Follmer to enroll new men, he will return to Camp Hastings this morning.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The subject of next Tuesday's meeting is, "Alone with God." John Bogert will lead.

The vacation cards are here and all members of the Y. M. C. A. can secure them by calling upon the treasurer, H. M. Olmsted.

There is a movement on foot to get the Bible Conference, which was to hold its meeting at Hotel Shikellimy, to convene at Bucknell owing to the burning of the hotel. This Conference will meet just before the opening of the fall term of school and will be addressed by D. L. Moody and others. We hope that the movement will be successful.

The calling out of the State militia has caused Bucknell to loose two of her best athletes, E. W. Cober, of the Junior Class, and A. A. Earle, of the Freshman Class. Mr. Cober has been director of Field and Track Athletics for the past two years, and we have made a steady advancement along this line. He is one of the best hammer throwers and shot putters in College. Mr. Earle is the best pole vaulter and high jumper in College. Now, we have men who can do very good work in all lines and especially in these events. They ought not to become disheartened because the director is absent, but continue their practice in a regular and earnest way, so that when the time comes for our annual field day, and our meet with State College we may not be deficient in any event. Leaders will be appointed to take the places of those absent.

Academy Notes.

Beli, '98, accompanied Elliott to his home in Hartleton.

Roberts, Teitsworth, Williams, Elliott and Packer returned yesterday after spending several days at their homes.

Mr. J. D. Thomas was called home by the death of a cousin at Minersville, Pa., last week. He returned Thursday night.

Dr. and Mrs. Harris will entertain the members of the Fourth Form class and their friends on Thursday evening, 12th inst.

Owing to the absence of Dr. Harris, the Semites were not allowed to attend the proposed Y. M. C. A. reception. It was therefore indefinitely postponed.

The prospects for an interscholastic meet this year are good. We need more men to train for the different events. Let every 'Cad man who can run, jump, vault, etc, come out and see what he can do.

Mr. Miller, president of Philogean Literary Society of Bloomsburg Normal School, spent several hours with the representatives of Calliopean Literary Society and completed arrangements for the inter-scholastic debate to be held at Bloomsburg on May 21.

Institute Items.

Miss Grace Williams, 1901, spent Saturday and Sunday at her home in Scranton.

The Literary Seniors had their examination for the Lippincott Prize on Friday morning.

The Fourth Year girls had their picture taken in their Soiree costumes on Saturday morning.

Miss Wheeler has been quite sick during the past week, but hopes to be soon entirely recovered.

After the excitement of Soiree and the "At Home," life at the Institute has been quiet for the past few days.

Swarthmore has chosen for its president Professor William W. Birdsall, principal of the Friends' Central school, of Philadelphia. President DeGarmo has been appointed head of the pedagogical department of Cornell university.

Compulsory education is about to be established throughout European Russia, the minister of public instruction having devised a system which will be enforced as soon as the Czar approves it. This will be a great benefit to that country, as only eight per cent. of her population of 130,000,000 can read and write.

INTER-CLASS SPORTS.

The Sophomore Class Wins the "Mirror" Cup.

Four Running Records Were Broken. Pearse Doing the Hundred Yard Dash in Ten Seconds Flat.

The inter-class sports Saturday afternoon certainly surprised the majority of the spectators who comprised the large crowd present to view the field events. The College, Academy and Seminary were well represented; all college classes vieing with each other to aid their respective representatives in the different contests. Throughout the whole course of events the greatest evidence of interest was shown and applause, when deserved, was freely given. One track and one field event were in progress simultaneously time, thus shortening the time taken in completing the fifteen.

The Sophomore class won the Mirror cup by a good margin. The places taken by each class were as follows:

Sophomore.—56 points; six first, six second, two third, four fourth.

Junior.—45½ points; five first, two second, six third, two fourth.

Freshman.—34½ points; one first, four second, five third, seven fourth.

Senior.—7 points; one first and one third.

In the quarter-mile race, Pearse broke the Bucknell record by five seconds. Meeker broke the half mile Bucknell record by five and two-fifth seconds. The 220 yard dash was the closest race of the day, Morris winning by one-tenth of a second from Reimer. The Bucknell record was broken by three-fifth of a second. But the most exciting race of all was the hundred yard dash in which Pearse was expected to make a good finish; no one was disappointed as he ran it in ten seconds flat, breaking the Bucknell record by two-fifth of a second and the State inter-collegiate record by one-fifth; coming within one-fifth of a second of breaking the world's collegiate record of nine and four-fifth seconds.

Pearse is certainly a wonder and Bucknell can certainly be proud of such a worthy athlete and place him almost second to none amongst college runners. The affair on the whole was well conducted except in that such contests should have one man to whom the judges and others can go for instructions. It should also be so prearranged that no objections could be offered at the time it is in progress. Such a successful and interesting Field Day was not anticipated, and from the present outlook next year will far surpass this as the track will be in better shape and put to good use. The following is the report of the events as they came off:

BUCKNELL VICTORIOUS.

The College Nine Defeats Gettysburg on Thursday Afternoon. Score 6—5.

The home team added another scalp to its belt on Thursday afternoon by defeating the Gettysburg College nine. The campus was in a terrible shape owing to the rain which continued until two o'clock in the afternoon and almost prevented the game being played. The college boys composed the majority of the crowd which was small, but one-half of the expenses being realized. The errors were numerous caused by the muddy condition of the campus. The playing of the visitors was very good. Gladfelter putting up a star game at short while Roehner did effective work at centre field and in the box. Roehner replaced Ketterman in the sixth inning, the former pitcher going to right field and Farnham to center. Both Ketterman and Roehner did good work, the former having a speedy ball while the latter kept the batters guessing with his curves.

For Bucknell Geary played a great game at first, not letting a ball pass him and making the most difficult catches, Weidensaul at center added to his reputation by several pretty catches. Shortell puzzled the batters continously, pitching stronger in ninth inning than in the first. In the seventh inning when three were occupying bases through errors, Eddie kept his nerve and showed his head work. Roehner and Gladfelter made a pretty double play in the second inning while Weidensaul caught out Lantz in the third and made a double with Griffith at second, putting out Roehner. In the sixth inning Geary kept the ball up his sleeve, and surprised Farnham on first. Shortell's two base hit in the sixth brought in two runs, he afterwards being put out fooling at third. Most of the errors on both sides were costly and resulted in runs. The batting was fair, but the team must have more life to beat Dickinson to-day at Carlisle. The next game here will be with Washington and Jefferson.

SENIOR RECEPTION.

Last Tuesday evening the Senior Classes of the College and Institute were entertained by Dr. and Mrs Harris at their home.

About eight o'clock the guests began to arrive. The College Seniors were all attired in cap and gown, except a few who were not able to get their outfit for the evening. The Institute ladies were all in evening dress.

The evening was spent in a very enjoyable manner, all feeling that they had laid aside their books for a good time, and by the opinions expressed afterward, no one failed to receive his part, save perhaps a few who lost their lady friends for refreshments through the cleverness of some class mates.

After refreshments, which were very appropriate for the occasion, the guests spent another half hour in the parlors and then returned to their respective abodes, a few young men having the honor of escorting home their friends who lived in town.

Those present outside of the two classes were Prof. Aviragnet, Misses Stanton, Aiken, Eddelman, Wheeler, Miller, Crawford and Pretzman.

FOURTH FORM RECEPTION.

Thursday evening the graduating class of the Academy were entertained by President and Mrs. Harris. The young men were allowed to bring young ladies of their own choice and this seemed to make the affair one of the most enjoyable events in the history of the class. After refreshments had been served the guests departed feeling well satisfied with their evening's entertainment.

We can certainly feel proud of the excellent records several of the men made on Saturday afternoon. This was due to the constant practice and training of the candidates. Now, do not forget that we are to meet State College in the near future. There will be no regular preliminary contest to select men for this contest, but in several events, another chance will be given those who did not come up to the standard on Saturday. It is very important that the men keep in practice and that they train hard, for we cannot win, if our men depend on past records. Let each candidate make a new record for himself. In two weeks we can improve wonderfully in some of the events, if the men only keep at the work and follow the instructions of their trainers. Do not think that the winners on Saturday will be taken to State College, because there will not be a preliminary contest. The best men will be taken when the time comes for selecting them, and every one will be given a fair and equal trial. This being the first time we have met with State, we want to make a record, which will be an honor to our men and the University.

Northfield.

Perhaps the most potent student gathering in America is the Northfield Student Conference. Potent, not only because of its effects on those who attend, but because it touches and quickens the spiritual life of the colleges, and brings college men to realize that manhood is fully attained only in Christianity and to subordinate all their many interests to the development of strong religious character. It should be a matter for thankfulness to Bucknell men that our college has come within the influence of Northfield, and it behooves us to send a strong delegation to this year's conference, July 1 to 10. Whether we shall continue in relation with Northfield and have communicated to us its spiritual blessings depends on our own willingness to sacrifice in order to send men there.

Directors' Meeting.

The directors of the ORANGE AND BLUE met on Saturday morning after having some trouble in securing a majority in order to do the business. The reports of the Business Manager and Editor-in-Chief were received.

J. E. Parker was elected local editor to succeed H. B. Wassell. The directors decided to run out supplements of the base ball and track athletic teams. Meeting adjourned to meet on June 11.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The Hand-book Committee has almost finished its work and the book will be out soon.

The meeting of the Y. M. C. A. will be held in Bucknell Hall, Tuesday evening, at 7 o'clock and will be in charge of the Northfield committee. Mr. Harvey, the College Secretary, will be present and address the meeting.

Institute Items.

Mr. Booth has been visiting his daughter Evelyn during the past week.

Miss Watkins has been quite sick for the past week but is now almost entirely recovered.

Miss Emily Hanna, of Philadelphia, spent Saturday and Sunday with her cousin, Miss Maud Hanna.

During the last day or two the rooms for next year have been open to choice, and each girl has been selecting her domicile.

On last Tuesday evening the usual meeting of the Alumnæ Club was held in the Institute parlors. The topic for the evening was "Life as Represented by the Painters." Papers were read on "Real and Ideal," "Historical Crises," and "Great Characters." An interesting talk was held on "American Painters of Life." There were several musical selections which were much enjoyed.

"Bucknell's Volunteers" will be worth having.

Soldier Boys.

The boys all looked well and were in good spirits; in fact, the majority of them are fat and sunburnt. They are all cheerful and willing to go—so they told me—even to the Philippines, if necessary. They seemed exceedingly glad to see anybody from Lewisburg and were grateful for the remembrances brought down under charge of Mr. C. V. Gundy.

I feel sure that Mr. LeVan is the happiest one of the lot. He succeeded in getting into the Governor's troop and is waiting now only for a steed that he may mount, like another Richard, to "fright the souls of fearful adversaries." He will, with the rest of our boys, make a good soldier.

Bucknell is well represented in regiments other than the 12th. Hargrave of the 10th I visited. He leaves a large law practice at Greensburg and a political campaign in which on Saturday next he hopes to be nominated for the legislature. Amos T. Williams recognized me as he hurriedly rode past in a wagon, getting ready to go with his regiment, the 16th, which left the next day for Chickamagua. Harvey B. Marsh, they told me, is in the same regiment. Palmer L. Williams, of the Scranton regiment, I did not see, nor Dr. J. K. Weaver, who has just been appointed a surgeon of division of volunteers with the rank of Major.

No treatment could have been kinder than that shown us by the boys both of the town and the college. While they were on the field in the afternoon I was proud of them all. The Orange and Blue hasn't space to name them in this article; but their names are on our hearts and they will be in our minds until they come back safe from their successful attempt to drive across the sea the last vestige of Spanish oppression from this continent.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY.

VOL. II. LEWISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, MAY 24 1898. No. 32

11-10.

Bucknell Achieves a Hard Earned Victory.

In an Eleven Inning Game at Carlisle, Dickinson Receives its Second Defeat from B. U.

On last Tuesday May 17, Bucknell defeated Dickinson college in base-ball on the latter's grounds by a score of 11 to 10.

At precisely 12.30 o'clock our team arrived at Carlisle and, after a moderately good dinner proceeded to the athletic field and began systematic practicing preliminary to the game. At 2.30 Shortell stepped into the box and the game was on. It was a battle royal from the first to the eleventh inning and at no time during the contest could either side claim victory within their grasp.

In the first inning Dickinson took a lead on Bucknell and held it until the fourth when the score stood 6 to 4 in our favor. Both sides drew goose eggs in the fifth and sixth innings. In the seventh and eighth Dickinson scored 6 runs while Bucknell succeeded in sending but one man across the plate. The score was then 10 to 7 in favor of Dickinson. Bucknell fully realized the solemnity of the situation and must either tie the score or suffer defeat. The crowd had already begun to leave the grounds, when by several brilliant plays on the part of Bucknell, Dickinson was retired without a run in their half of the ninth. Bucknell now went to the bat for what was supposed to be the last time but by a series of hits three men succeeded in scoring and the inning resulted in a tie.

According to the rules the games must proceed until one side or the other scored. In the tenth inning both sides were shut out and the score remained the same. Dickinson's half of the eleventh drew them a blank. Bucknell went to the bat and Griffith and Weidensaul made a hit each. Catterall made a hard drive over third base and sent Griffith over the plate scoring the winning run.

The Dickinson boys assert that it was the prettiest game of base ball ever witnessed on their grounds and that Bucknell well deserved the victory in view of the fact that no runs came to us by accident. To comment upon individual playing would be an injustice unless we should review the excellent work of every player on the team. For every man hit and fielded like a veteran. Bucknell had a very fair deal from Umpire Irving and were the recipients of courteous and gentlemanly treatment on the part of the Dickinson boys.

Following is the score:

New Books for the Library.

The classmates of the late Professor William T. Grier are raising a fund to purchase books for the Latin department of the Library. Already twenty carefully selected volumes have been placed on the shelves. The money in hand is sufficient for quite a large addition to this number. The donors intend to form a collection of valuable reference works, to be known as the "Grier Memorial Collection." The Class of '71 deserves the sincere thanks of all Bucknell men for this practical expression of regard for a true-hearted, scholarly classmate, and for this evidence of unfaltering loyalty to Alma Mater.

F. E. R.

The Y. M. C. A. is getting out a very handsome hand book this year. This book far surpasses all previous publications of its kind issued at Bucknell and is a model for neatness as well as beauty.

F. B. Hargrave, '89, a member of Co. I, 10th Regt., Pa. Vols., left with his regiment for Manila, last Wednesday night. Reports from Westmoreland Co. state that Mr. Hargrave was nominated last Saturday for the Assembly, which is said to be equivalent to an election.

Senior Banquet.

On Thursday night and Friday morning, May 19th and 20th happened that customary Senior function, the annual banquet. The occasion could hardly have been more enjoyable, so thoroughly had the committee arranged every detail, and so hospitably were we received by the proprietor of the Haag.

The Menu contained full courses and the most seasonable dishes, while the attractive table decorations added handsomely to the graceful appearance of the dignified yet "free and easy" assemblage.

It was twelve o'clock before toast-master Mulkie slowly arose and began his remarks introducing the first speaker.

Miss Anna Rodgers most ably treated her toast, "Looking Backwards," and surely felt rewarded on seeing smiling and cheerful faces take the places of the most solemn and dejected looks. The "Impromptu" marks on the program bestowed upon the toast-master the privilege of paying up old scores, by calling upon whomsoever he wished. Mr. D. Hayes Elliott, first victim, was requested to speak on some "Improvements in the College Curriculum," but very gracefully evaded the question by introducing Miss Slifer.

Mr. A. Wilson Geary, although somewhat embarrassed by a disagreeable cold, in a very artistic manner, entertained the assembled class brothers and sisters with a classic air. The toast "How to take Hard Things Easy" was given to Mr. George Ritter, as substitute for Mr. Flint, who unfortunately, was absent. George was welcomed most heartily and well sustained his excellent record as an after dinner speaker.

During the five minutes of extemporaneous speaking, Miss Sprague related her experiences in regard to the "Trials of an Editor." The freedom with which she spoke gave evidence of a familiarity with her theme.

"The World's Day After To-morrow," was toasted by R. T. Wiltbank and it is needless to say that his brilliant treatment of the subject received the hearty applause of all his classmates.

Mr. S. W. Gilpin, with his manuscript on the "Ancient Philosophers of '98," held the board in appreciating suspense for ten minutes. Very few in the class escaped his "roasts."

The remainder of the evening was given to extemporaneous speaking, yelling and singing. And just before the yell of "ear waiting," a very fitting toast was assigned to Mr. Herbert Dutton:

"He who fights and run's away,
Lives to fight another day."

The absent warriors of the class received royal tribute from him.

It was two o'clock before the happy throng were well on their way homeward; and it was later than that before they all got to sleep.

D.

Junior Exhibition in Oratory.

The annual contest in Oratory by members of the Junior class was held in Bucknell Hall, Friday evening, May 20.

The program, which opened with music, was pleasantly varied throughout, by the melodies of Dr. Aviragnet's pupils.

It would not be possible, in so little space, for the reporter to criticise individual productions, indeed the ability to do so is not his. It can be safely predicted, however, that the task of the judges will be no easy one, on account of the excellence of each oration both in delivery and subject matter. These contesting Juniors showed in an admirable way the kind of material Bucknell students are composed of. Each speaker presented something to us that contained food for thought, so that each one of the listeners went away feeling that they had enjoyed an intellectual feast.

The audience was large enough to indicate the interest of our students in contests of ability in Rhetorical work.

The following orations were delivered:

Lowell as a Poet of Democracy, Miss Myra A. Sprague

The Religious Sentiments of Burns' Poems, Howard C. Meserve.

Can a Poor Girl go through College? Miss Bertha C. Watkins.

Masters of the Situation, Robert M. Irvins.

Woman's Sphere, Miss Elizabeth S. Hawley.

Evidence of Predestination in Temporal Things, Daniel H. Krise.

A Plea for Xanthippe, Miss Mary M. Sharpless.

Beneficial Effects of War, Cullen E. Shipman.

The prize, offered by the Registrar, will be awarded during Commencement week when the decision of the judges will be announced.

The following acted as judges: Principal Edwards, A. F. Bower, Esq., and the Rev. Mr. Leidy, pastor of the Beaver Memorial M. E. Church.

Col. H. L. Calder, '87, judge advocate on Gen. Snowden's staff, N. G. P., has been ordered to recruit a company at Harrisburg for the Provisional State Guard.

Rev. J. H. Simpson, of Mt. Pleasant, who has three sons and one daughter for next year's Freshman Class, was the guest of Registrar Gretzinger over Sunday.

IMPORTANT!

The philosopher says "that man, in and of himself, has no rights whatever, but duties only;" this is said of man and consequently applies to the student. But it has been evident that most Bucknell students do not realize their duties, or do not care to. Athletics have not received their support; the result being a heavy debt for the financial committee to bear, and a lack of interest in this branch of student work. It is the duty of each and every Bucknell student to support the different lines of college work. If feeling is evidence, athletics is an important branch of college effort to the majority of students outside their studies. The time has come when a change is needed. A number of colleges have successfully carried into effect the plan for support of athletics by students paying different sums of money through the Registrar.

This week there will be laid before every student of the College and Academy a petition to the Board of Trustees, which is appended at the end of this article. There are several things presented for the consideration of the Trustees about which it would be well for all to read carefully and think seriously. The personal attendance of every Bucknell student at the games is needed; it is needless to give the reasons for this; the management this spring had almost decided to cancel the schedule because of non-attendance. The present debt of the association is a reflection upon the College, because outsiders consider that the debt the Athletic Association is the debt of Bucknell University, a proof of this was given some time ago by one of their creditors who desired to cancel a College bill with the Association debt..

We all know how inconvenient it sometimes is to have a subscription paper circulated; this unpleasantness will undoubtedly be rendered unnecessary among the students. Of the large number of students who have thus far been spoken to, every one has favored it. The sum of five dollars to be paid in the three different terms will not break even the poorest and none will need to witness a game from the outskirts without a ticket. It will undoubtedly cause a more pleasant and independent feeling among all, and bring about a unity of action in all departments which is the only way to success.

The petition as it will be presented is as follows:

BOARD OF TRUSTEES,
BUCKNELL UNIVERSARY.

Most Honorable Sirs:—

We, the undersigned, students of Bucknell College and Academy recognizing that in the present condition of finances of the Athletic Association the Athletics of our College can scarcely be maintained not to mention being brought up to the standard of Colleges of our class, do hereby petition the Honorable Board of Trustees to charge each and every student of the College and Academy the sum of five dollars ($5.00) annually, beginning with the fall of 1898; the said sum to be added to the tuition bill and paid through the Registrar to the Athletic Association. The condition being that all College and Academy students be admitted without charge to athletic games and sports on the College campus. We sincerely believe that it will be for the best interests of our college for the following reasons:

I. Athletics being the most important work of the student body outside of studies, the attendance of the entire student body of the College and Academy will be secured, support thereby being given to the teams and resulting in greater interest.

II. It will without doubt relieve the present financial distress of the association.

III. It will render subscription papers unnecessary.

The boys were all delighted to greet "Bobby" McCay, '96, now of Jefferson Medical School, who visited us last Tuesday.

Pierson, '01 visited his parents at Philadelphia, and returned to school on Wednesday last. Ray will leave to-day for Jenkintown, where he has accepted a position as clerk in the Beechwood Inn.

As we go to press, an article in the Phila. Ledger is brought under our notice stating that Bucknell University was defeated in annual debate by the Bloomsburg State Normal School. Now the writer of the above named article either knew nothing of the facts of the case, and was hence incompetent to give any account of the affair, or deliberately caused the publication of a lie. It is true that Bucknell Academy was defeated in debate at Bloomsburg, but it should be borne in mind that the former is simply the preparatory department of Bucknell University. Judging from certain past events, there is good reason to believe that this article is not altogether the result of a mistake, and we take the opportunity of putting readers on their guard against any such statement that might appear in the future, as Bucknell is not likely to enter into any contest whatever with Bloomsburg or any other preparatory school.

Sunbury Defeats Bucknell.

The result of the game at Sunbury on Saturday last was very disappointing both to the players and the Bucknell supporters who accompanied the team. While the score shows a very easy victory for Sunbury, it by no means represents the relative merits of the two teams. With the exception of the first two innings, when the Leaguers by a batting streak, piled up ten runs, the game was very interesting and was marked by many brilliant plays on both sides. Although the outfield was in wretched condition our fielders covered the ground in good form, Weidensaul distinguishing himself by accepting five difficult chances. Bucknell scored in the fifth on singles by Shortell, Geary and Griffith, in the seventh on Geary's single, Clay's muff of Shortell's high fly and Griffith's home run; and in the ninth on hits by Grim and Geary, and Harro's error.

For the home team Russell led in the batting with three hits, two home runs and a single. Ryon also played a great game both in the field and at the bat. Shortell's being unwell during the week affected his pitching and Geary did good work in the box the last two innings. The score:

The old soldiers of the State have started a movement to have General Gregg, of Berks, ex-Auditor General, made a major general of volunteers, and have sent messages to President McKinley, asking him to make the appointment. Gregg is a West Pointer, commanded a cavalry division in the army, doing especially good work at Gettysburg, where he defeated Jeb Stuart, and if he had remained in the army at the close of the Rebellion he would now hold the place held by Gen. Miles.

U TING FANG ON GRANT'S GREATNESS

u Ting Fang, Chinese Ambassador to shington, delivered an eloquent address Grant's Tomb, of which the following re the most effective paragraphs:

Twenty-three centuries ago Mencius, who, xt to Confucius, was the greatest philoso- her that ever flourished in China, said: When heaven is about to confer a great fice on any man, it first exercises his mind with suffering, and his sinews and ones with toil. It exposes his body to hun- ger and subjects him to bodily privation."

In reading the early life of Grant the other day, the above passage in the Chi- nese classics vividly flashed across my memory. If the Chinese sage had had Grant in mind he could not have given a better prophetic description of the early struggles of the American hero. Grant was a thoroughbred soldier. But after going through the Mexican War and many years of garrison life on the frontiers, he liter- ally turned his sword into a ploughshare. Then he turned his hand to business. Still he had a hard time to keep the wolf from the door. These trials and hard knocks of his early days were not endured in vain. They taught him fortitude and persever- ance under the most disheartening circum- stances, which enabled him afterward to overcome formidable difficulties and achieve splendid successes.

The breaking out of the great civil war found Grant ready to answer the country's call. Steadily he arose from comparative obscurity to the foremost rank among the world's great commanders.

He Was Also a Man of Peace.

The foremost soldier of his age, Grant was also a man of peace. During his Presidency, he stood like a rock against appealing to the sword in the settlement of international disputes. The Virginius difficulty may be cited as a case in point.

The successful demonstration of the prac- ticability of arbitration as a method of set- tling international disputes was the crown- ing glory of Grant's Administration. The submission of the so-called Alabama claims by the Governments of the United States and Great Britain to the Geneva Tribunal was a memorable step toward the improve- ment of permanent relations between na- tions.

Nothing shows more clearly the high es- timation in which Grant was held by the world at large than the spontaneous out- bursts of enthusiasm with which he was everywhere greeted when he made his fa- mous tour around the world. Princes, po- tentates and the common people alike vied with one another in paying him the homage due to great rulers. In no country, I dare say, was he received with warmer welcome than in the old Empire of China.

The career of Grant is just such as is calculated to fire the imagination of the Chinese. We Chinese have a great admira- tion for men who have risen by their talents from humble beginnings to be acknowl- edged leaders of the people. Such was Grant. Naturally all China delights to do him honor.

But there was one Chinese official who took an especially keen and personal in- terest in the visit of General Grant. That was the Viceroy of the Province of Chihli, Li Hung Chang. When the United States man-of-war Ashuelot, with General Grant on board, steamed into the harbor of Tien- Tsin, the Viceroy was the first man to bid him a hearty welcome. Thus began that singular friendship between two great men.

Like Li Hung Chang.

The parallelisms which are to be found in their lives are indeed striking. They both sprang from the people; they were born in the same year; they both won their first laurels in war. The American General was twice elected President of the United States. General Grant was fond of cigar smoking and Earl Li was fond of tobacco- pipe smoking. By a strange coincidence Grant's famous tour around the world in 1879 was almost duplicated by that of his friend in 1896.

After Grant's death, Earl Li gave in- structions to the Chinese Legation at Wash- ington to bring every year, as it is done this day, an offering of flowers to the Gen- eral's tomb on Memorial Day as a token of his enduring friendship. When he was in this city during his visit to this country he regarded it as his first duty to make a pilgrimage to the final resting place of his deceased friend.

A nation which has produced such men as Washington, Lincoln and Grant can again produce men like them. A nation which has no lack of men able and ready to cope with every emergency that may arise in its progress is truly great, and will con- tinue to be so.

Veterans of the U. S. Grant Post, permit me to say a word in conclusion. You had the great privilege and honor to serve un- der such an able commander as Grant. I assure you that the glory of Grant's immor- tal achievements and yours will ever in- crease in splendor as time rolls on.

Editor-in-Chief Gilpin was call- ed home Friday on account of the illness of his mother.

S. G. Williams, B. U., '99 left for his home near Carlisle, Cum- berland Co., on Wednesday.

The class of '88, Bucknell, will hold its decennial reunion this Commencement with a dinner at Huth's Cafe, Tuesday, June 21.

The Band will play at the Lewisburg Cycle Club's banquet on Wednesday evening, when the club will celebrate the open- ing of its new quarters.

Sunbury Defeats Bucknell.

The result of the game at Sun- bury on Saturday last was very disappointing both to the play- ers and the Bucknell supporters who accompanied the team. While the score shows a very easy victory for Sunbury, it by no means represents the relative merits of the two teams. With the exception of the first two innings, when the Leaguers by a batting streak, piled up ten runs, the game was very inter- esting and was marked by many brilliant plays on both sides. Al- though the outfield was in wretch- ed condition our fielders covered the ground in good form, Weid- ensaul distinguishing himself by accepting five difficult chances. Bucknell scored in the fifth on singles by Shortell, Geary and Griffith, in the seventh on Geary's single, Clay's muff of Shortell's high fly and Griffith's home run; and in the ninth on hits by Grim and Geary, and Harro's error.

For the home team Russell led in the batting with three hits, two home runs and a single. Ryon also played a great game both in the field and at the bat. Shortell's being unwell during the week affected his pitching and Geary did good work in the box the last two innings. The score:

David McM. Gregg '54.

The old soldiers of the State have started a movement to have General Gregg, of Berks, ex-Aud- itor General, made a major gen- eral of volunteers, and have sent messages to President McKinley, asking him to make the appoint- ment. Gregg is a West Pointer, commanded a cavalry division in the army, doing especially good work at Gettysburg, where he defeated Jeb Stuart, and if he had remained in the army at the close of the Rebellion he would now hold the place held by Gen. Miles.

Intercollegiate Debate.

LEHIGH VS. BUCKNELL.

The Intercollegiate Debate between Bucknell and Lehigh, will be held on May 27th, at 8 o'clock, in Bucknell Hall. Although this is to be the third debate for Bucknell this year, it will be the first held here. The members of the committee have made extra effort to secure judges who are not partially inclined toward either side and believe they have accomplished their aim in securing the following: Senator William C. Sproul, Editor of the Chester Times, Chester, Pa.; Dr. J. P. Welsh, Principal of Bloomsburg Normal; and Prof. J. P. McCaskey, of Lancaster, Pa., who was chosen by Lehigh. Lehigh has not yet sent the names of her debaters, but we understand that they are both from the Senior Class. Bucknell's debaters are A. M. Forester and J. R. L. Diggs, both of '98. These men already have a reputation as debaters, having won respectively, first and second prizes in the Junior Debate last year. Mr. Diggs was also one of the debaters against Dickinson College two years ago. The question for debate is "Resolved that railroad pooling contracts should be legalized." Bucknell has the negative side. Our debaters are working hard to win, hence, you may expect a highly interesting debate.

The Glee Club has consented to render a few selections during the evening, so you will be doubly entertained. The nominal sum of 15 cents will be charged in order to defray expenses of debaters. We hope that every member of the University and all of the town people will buy a ticket. Beside the enjoyment you may get, you will be encouraging the Literary Societies who are arranging the debate.

Band Notes.

Hutchison '99 has been elected Assistant Manager of the University band.

The band has purchased a fine silver baton for their leader H. Paul, of Lewisburg,

"The Nerves of the Maine" is the title of the new piece of music which the band is rehearsing. They will render it for the student body on Decoration Day.

Miss Heim spent Sunday with her friend, Miss Eddelmann.

Miss Bess Wells, 1901, spent Saturday and Sunday with her sister in Williamsport.

The girls are already counting the days till Commencement and the Seniors are groaning in spirit over graduating essays.

An organ grinder and monkey appeared unexpectedly in front of the Institute one morning last week and roused much interest on the part of the girls.

The interest in tennis is evidently increasing. Since the completion of the Phi Gamma Delt, court, the Long Wood Clio has started operations upon theirs, followed by the Round Top Club who have a site in the rear of the College building.

Elliott spent Saturday at his home in Hartleton.

Wittenmeyer, '97, who is now at Cornell, was chosen as one of the Freshman crew a few weeks ago.

Mr. William Davis accompanied the debaters to Bloomsburg on Saturday and reports having had a pleasant time.

Senn, '97, who has just finished his Freshman year at the Medical Chirurgical College, Phila., stopped here on his way home and spent several days with his friends.

Young, '97, who has just completed a successful year as a teacher in the public schools of this county, visited his many friends here on Thursday. He expects to enter College next year.

Owing to the fact that Williamsport High School dropped out of the Interscholastic League of Central Pennsylvania, there will be no meet this year, as the remaining schools, Dickinson Seminary and Bucknell Academy, do not care to engage in a dual contest.

BUCKNELL THE VICTOR.

The Second Defeat this Year Gettysburg Receives From Us.

In a Close Contest the Team Wins the Game by One Point. Score, 6-7.

It is a welcome surprise to hear of so many victories away from home won by our team, as a great many of Bucknell's friends seem to entertain the opinion that the B. U. athletic teams can only win on home grounds. The boys keep together and manage to win even if the margin is close, but it is nevertheless a victory. The boys deserve special commendation for Saturday's victory in consideration of the unfavorable circumstances under which the game was played. Besides the fatigue resulting from the long ride the boys were compelled to play the game without having had anything to eat since breakfast. Nevertheless the visiting team played a sharp, snappy game, and with the exception of the second inning Shortell was very effective, especially in the latter part, when for four innings he shut the home team out, and only letting them get two runs later in the fifth inning. Geary and Griffith had the only double play of the game. Mulkie and Garner both did excellent work, and McGee batted well, accepting a hard chance in left field in good form. For Gettysburg, Farnham pitched an excellent game, but Krout's five errors prevented them from doing effective work. The home team were unfortunate in placing their hits.

Our boys spent Sunday at different places, several visiting Wilson College, but passed most the day inspecting the battle fields, and all report having had and instructive and very delightful trip. The Gettysburg team and friends did much toward making the stay pleasant. The score:

The Governor at Bucknell.

President Harris has secured the services of General Daniel B. Hastings for the address to the Institute graduates, on Tuesday afternoon, June 21st. The other commencement orators are Prof. Sylvester Burnham, Hamilton, N. Y.; W. J. Holland, LL. D., Chancellor of the Western University of Pennsylvania; H. T. King, D. D., of Uniontown, Alumni orator; A. B. Bowser, Danville, Alumni poet; Lemuel C. Barnes, D. D., Pittsburg, preacher before the Education Society.

The exercises this year will be par excellence. Good music is assured. The Third Brigade Band, of Pottsville, has been engaged for three days. The Bucknell Glee and Mandolin Club will also give a concert in Bucknell Hall during the week.

Bucknell Wins From St. Mary's.

The base ball game yesterday with Mt. St. Mary's College resulted in a victory for Bucknell. Score 13-1. Considering the fact that this team is an exceedingly strong one, having defeated many of the best college teams of the east, we can well feel satisfied with the trip our team has made. No full report of the game had been received up to the time of going to press.

Mert Sausser, of Shamokin, was a Bucknell visitor over Decoration Day.

The victory of U. of Pa. at the Mott Haven Games is gratifying to all Pennsylvania colleges. It shows what student interest in athletics can accomplish. Many attribute Pa's. success to the enthusiam of the student body. Bucknell extends her congratulations with the hope that the pennant may be retained in this state for many years to come.

THE DEBATE.

Bucknell Representatives Successful in the Contest.

Messrs. Diggs and Forrester Strongly Defend the Negative Side. Arguments Efficient.

A fair sized audience listened to the intercollegiate debate between Lehigh and Bucknell, which was held in Bucknell Hall on Friday evening, and which resulted in a victory for the latter. The arrangement of the program displayed much taste and forethought on the part of the committee and the excellent music rendered by both the College Glee Club and the choir of mixed voices elicited the hearty applause of all present. The judges selected for the occasion were Fred L. Pattee, A. M., of State College, Pa.; J. P. Welsh, Ph. D., of Bloomsburg, Pa.; and Senator Wm. C. Sproul, of Chester, Pa.; while Hon. Alfred Hayes, of Lewisburg, acted as presiding officer.

At about half past eight o'clock Mr. Hayes took the chair, and after a few remarks, introduced the first speaker Mr. F. M. Kneas Lehigh '98, who together with M. W. Garmas, Lehigh '01, upheld the affirmative side.

After stating the subject for debate "Resolved that pooling contracts should be legalized," and laying special emphasis upon the importance of a thorough understanding of the question, it was explained that pooling contracts are simply optional agreements between two or more railroads to share traffic; that railroads still retain their separate organization and identity; and that the aim is simply to substitute an amicable division of the traffic, in place of the fierce competition that exists in the strife for the trade of the country.

The affirmative held, that prior to 1887, when pooling contracts were prohibited, railroad rates were more uniform, and less fluctuating and for this reason public sentiment has crystallized in favor of pooling, in view of greater knowledge on the subject. A change of rates after purchase of goods might result in great loss to merchants by a change of rates before shipment. Pooling would go far toward mitigating evils of this class. The government encouraged the construction of railroads and is morally bound to do something to save the great interests involved.

Illustrations of gross discrimination were given, and it was argued that pooling would at least minimize these difficulties.

Unrestricted competition has done much to bankrupt roads in which American citizens have large interests at stake. Indeed it is not in accord with the American idea of justice to allow such conditions to continue.

The following contains a short outline of the argument for the negative, so ably sustained by Messrs. A. M. Forrester and J. R. L. Diggs.

Railroad rates should be just rather than equal, and conditions of a financial, industrial, economic, and agricultural character, are so varied in the thousands of localities covered by railroads that no legislative enactment, court decision or commission could possibly arrange a schedule of just rates. Competition is the only solution of this problem.

The object of pooling would be to remove competition, but it would be ineffective. All roads would not pool, and freedom of contracts would prevent compulsion to enter contracts. Besides, it would not be right, as it would remove the only safe-guard the public now has against unjust exactions of railroad companies.

To legalize pooling would be class legislation. Grant that unjust discriminations are sometimes made; pooling treats of effects and not causes. The cause of the unhealthy competition is the superfluous railroads and pooling seeks to give these roads an artificial lease of life, exacting the means of doing it from the people; hence offering a sure field for speculation.

The legalization of pooling would create a stronger lobby, by which a weak legislature would be influenced to an immeasurable extent.

The decision of the judges was given by Senator Wm. C. Sproul, who in a very witty way reviewed the merits of the debate, and succeeded admirably in keeping every one in suspense before the decision was made known. When finally announced it was greeted by great enthusiasm and many were the congratulations received by Messrs. Diggs and Forrester.

Band Concert.

The Lewisburg Cycle Club which was recently organized in town, on Wednesday evening, celebrated the opening of their new quarters. The club generously shared a part of their enjoyment with the public, by procuring the Bucknell Band for an open air concert. In spite of the threatening weather and muddy streets, a large crowd assembled at an early hour to hear the music. During the past school year, the Band has given evidence of steady improvement and the manner in which the many difficult pieces were rendered reflects much credit upon both the leader and the individual members.

If the readers of this paper will go to the library and look at the tenth volume of the Presbyterian Review they will see evidence of what we consider to be about the lowest reach of student morality with which we have met in our somewhat brief college experience. From the volume mentioned an entire article has been cut out. The subject of the article is "Heroism in the Christian Ministry." That any student could so far forget the confidence placed in him by the guardians of the University's property or become so dead to every sense of common honesty as to mutilate a volume drawn from the library we dislike to believe. But how he could bring himself to remove an article on such a subject is hardly to be imagined. No doubt the gentleman will preach with the aid of this article several fervent sermons.

But the librarians say that they also have have some trouble from the general disregard of library rules. Here is their statement: "Important bound magazines are sometimes kept out for two weeks or even longer for an article needing but a half hour's time to read. Ten articles in each number, six numbers in each volume makes sixty important articles kept from the access of the general body for two weeks when a day would be ample time. Histories and books of reference referred to in classes of which there are but a few copies are sometimes secured by a few and kept while others cannot get a sight of them. Such volumes should be but rarely or not at all removed from the library.

"In a surprising number of instances the two week's rule is disregarded entirely, and even calls for overdue books have no effect.

"Such inconveniences of the many is due to the selfishness of the individual who is too inconsiderate to care how much trouble he is causing others."

Our librarians are striving to increase the efficiency of the library and have done so splendidly. Shall we not help them where we can?

Mr. Evan's Death.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Thompson G. Evans with whom all of Bucknell students for the past twenty-five years are acquainted, he having been book-man for the University during that period. Mr. Evans died suddenly on Sunday evening, while the churches were holding their services. The children's names are R. D. Evans, '75, Wilkesbarre, Pa.; Mrs. Margaret MacCallum, '91, New Bedford, Mass., and Miss Anna Evans, Institute '76 of town survive him. THE ORANGE AND BLUE with the students extend their sympathies to the children and family of the deceased.

Misses Juliette Kendrich, Laura Chilson, Evelyn Booth, Amy Gilbert and Lucy Grier, visited their homes over Memorial Day.

David P. Leas, A. M., treasurer of the University, returned to Philadelphia on Monday, after his three month's trip abroad. His return was hastened by the serious illness of his son Fred, now said to be improving.

Mrs. Glorvina Elder McClure, mother of Judge Harold M. McClure, '77, died in Scranton last week and was buried last Wednesday from the residence of her son in Lewisburg.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES.

Gleaned from the Events of the Week on the Campus.

Leroy Hall was a Montgomery visitor over Sunday.

H. F. Liepsner was a State College visitor over Decoration Day.

The University band was the first in line of march to the cemetery for Memorial Day exercises.

Dr. Perrine delivered the address to the graduates of the Mt. Carmel High School, on Wednesday night last.

A number of the boys of the base ball team called on the fair young ladies of Wilson College on Sunday afternoon.

Purdy, '98, is soliciting subscriptions for the Commencement News. Every student should subscribe for the four issues.

Weidensaul visited the guards at Camp Alger, Falls Church, Va., and reports the Bucknell boys to be in good spirits.

Cook brothers and Stewart, '99, accompanied Renn, '00, to his home at Turbotville on a fishing tour, over Decoration Day.

Morris and O. J. Decker, '99, Stabler, '00, Reading, Goodman, Bidlespacher, Kunkle, '01, made visits to their home over Decoration Day.

The Pittsburg Post has it that Sam Wittenmeyer, of Middleburg, who was looked upon by Coach Courtney as the strongest man in his lot of candidates for the Freshman crew, was compelled by his father to stop rowing

Prof. Rockwood left Thursday evening for Franklin, Mass., to attend the funeral of his cousin Hon. W. F. Ray. Mr. Ray was a prominent manufacturer and ex-State Senator. He was roommate of Professor Rockwood's at Brown, and a classmate of Professors Perrine and Rockwood.

Rev. Frank Hollinshead, B. U. '97, who recently assumed charge of the Baptist church at Ashland, assisted Rev. C. E. Hess, of Bethany church, in the Memorial Day exercises at that place. Rev. Hollinshead also preached the Sunday sermon to the Joe Hooker Post.

In a recent issue of the Phila. Press we notice that Dr. P. N. K. Schwenk was unanimously elected attending surgeon of the Wills Hospital. Dr. Schwenk graduated with honors in the class of '76, Bucknell. At the last Bucknell University Alumni Club meeting at Philadelphia he was elected vice president.

Our former local editor and all round friend, Doc. Levan, has made himself eminent amongst the Governor's Troop. At a recent corner stone laying at Mt. Gretna to the honor of their stay there, he delivered an able address. The old saying that there is good stuff in small packages is true in Doc's case. We heartily wish him success and rapid promotion.

Address of Welcome.

Dr. G. G. Groff rendered the address of welcome to the nine hundred physicians who visited the Lancaster County Vaccine Farms of Dr. H. M. Alexander & Co., at Marietta, Pa., Friday, May 20th. The farms were inspected by the State Board of Health, of which Dr. Groff is President, and the large body of medical men who attended the State Medical Convention at Lancaster. Dr Alexander was a former Bucknell student and during his college days experienced great difficulty in completing his course. He is now one of the best known medical men of the state and is an example of what success perseverance and industry can attain. At his own expense he entertained the physicians as his guests.

Another Foot-Ball Player Gone.

Bucknell students seem to have become convinced that matrimony is the only real state of happiness. H. L. Craig, '00, gave a surprise to all last week by his marriage to Mrs. Willis Reitmeyer, of town. He left Wednesday for Philadelphia to accept a position at his trade of machinist at Bailey's, 6th and Jayne Street. The ORANGE AND BLUE cooperate with the students in wishing the couple hearty congratulations and a happy and prosperous life.

There will be but three more meetings of the Association this term and a good attendance for each is very much desired. Let us try and see if our interest in the Association can stand the test of fine weather and examinations.

A GREAT VICTORY.

The Result of the Game at Mt. St. Mary's in Detail.

One of the Most Decisive Base Ball Triumphs of the Season.

Our victory over Mount St. Mary's was a surprise to all not only on account of the formidable record of the latter team, but also on account of the fact that it was the second game away from home. It was certainly a great victory and the boys are all the more proud of it in that they won entirely by superior playing. The game commenced promptly at 2:30 p. m., with Bucknell at the bat, but the first inning ended without scoring on either side. However, in in the second, our team did some good stick work, and a two-base hit by Catterall and Magee's three-bagger, scored an earned run. The Mountaineers were shut out in their half. Neither side scored in the third. In the fourth, by bunched hits and several bases on balls, Bucknell succeeded in adding seven runs, thereby establishing a safe lead. However, feeling that a game is never over until the last man is out, our players did not relax their efforts to increase the score, until, at the end of the seventh, the score stood 13 to 1 in favor of Bucknell.

It was a remarkably clean game, free from disputes, and the onlookers were extremely liberal in their applause of the visiting team. To attribute the victory to the superior playing of anyone man would be a mistake, as the honors were equally divided among the whole nine. Shortell pitched his best game of the season, and held the home team down to ten scattered hits. Catterall played a beautiful game behind the bat and his double play to second from a difficult foul fly, was the occasion of much applause. Weidensaul's running catch of a low drive was also a feature.

To one who had not seen the game, the large score might suggest that the opposing team "went to pieces." The fact is, that, while the Mount St. Mary's team did not play in their best form, they put up a stronger game than any other team we have met thus far and our thirteen runs were the result of hard and timely hitting. The score.

Among the Colleges.

There are 40,623 university students in the United States.

The $1,000,000 recently appropriated by Congress to the U. S. Military Academy, at Annapolis, is being used in making extensive improvements in the buildings.

Dr. Patton will soon conclude his first decade as Princeton's president. During that time eleven structures have been erected and the endowment enormously increased.

Lehigh's newspaper, the Brown and White, in and article on the Lehigh–Bucknell debate commends Bucknell students for the marked courtesy and respect with which the Lehigh team was treated here.

The graduating classes of the University of Pennsylvania number 550, which reveals a very healthy condition indeed. Some of the men have gone to the front in the war, but degrees will be conferred on them in their absence. This is proper. The purpose of a university is to make men as well as scholars, and the under-graduate who responds to his country's call in time of war on the eve of taking his final examinations proves his worthiness to receive the diploma of the University with all its honors.—Phila. Press.

J. K. Weaver, M. D., one of our prominent alumni, and also a member of the board of trustees of the University, has been appointed by President McKinley a brigade surgeon with the rank of Major.

The "Bucknell Company."

Co. A, 12th Regt., Pa. Vols., is known throughout the Third Brigade, second army corps, as the "Bucknell Company," on account of the great number of Bucknell men in it. There are in all 30 Bucknell men in this company, either graduates, former students, or undergraduates, chiefly the latter. Capt. Follmer and Lieut. Shorkley are both alumni of the institution. Five of the present Senior class are also in this company. Bucknell is very well represented in the present volunteer service, better in fact than many Pennsylvania colleges, and in some cases as well as the larger colleges of the country. One Bucknell man belongs to the 10th Regt., P. V., and is now on his way to Manila; one man is in the Governor's troop, one in the 13th Regt., and two in the 16th Regt. Patriotism runs high at Bucknell notwithstanding the statement made not long ago by a gentleman, who said that he had not heard of any one going out from Bucknell in the present Hispano-American struggle.

Resolutions of Condolence.

In consideration of the fact that our class brother Harold Barnes was called home by the death of his mother, at a special meeting of the Fourth Form the following resolutons were drawn up:

WHEREAS, It has pleased God in His infinite wisdom to remove by death, Mrs. Barnes, the beloved mother of our esteemed class brother, Harold Barnes, Bayonne, N. J., therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the members of the class of '98, of Bucknell Academy, do hereby express our most sincere sympathy to our class brother and his bereaved family, and in brotherly love commend Him, the God of all comfort and consolation; and be it

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to our bereaved brother and that they also be published in the ORANGE AND BLUE and Bucknell Mirror.

Third Brigade Band.

Arrangements are being made to secure the Third Brigade Band, of Pottsville, for the commencement. The band is open for the engagement and it all rests upon the fact whether the fund can be secured to pay the expense.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION,
—on—
SATURDAY, JUNE 11, 1898.

The finest cream on the market will be served from the close of the ball game until all have partaken. The committee on arrangements are as follows:
Mrs. Nellie Marsh, chairman, Mrs. A. A. Leiser, Mrs. Wm. Leiser, Mrs. Perrine, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Wm. Walls, Mrs. Gretzinger, Miss Gertrude Grant, of Sem; Miss Genevieve White, of College; Miss Eliza Bell, of Seminary Faculty, assisted by Messrs. Hazen, M. Mulford, Sherwood and Griffith. Music will be furnished by the Mandolin Club and the University Band. The

ONLY 15 CENTS.

——EVERYBODY : COME.——

Received an Appointment.

Dr. Howard R. Bryson, Jefferson Medical College, 1898, and a former student in the medical preparatory department of Bucknell, has been appointed Resident Physician to St. Joseph's Hospital, Lancaster, Pa. This hospital has 80 beds, and is one of the best managed in the State.

Since the work in preparatory medicine was begun at Bucknell, not a single student who desired it, has failed to receive a hospital appointment. Dr. Geo. G. Groff visited Lancaster in Dr. Bryson's behalf.

Commencement Orators.

The Faculty have announced the names of the Senior Class orators at Commencement. Usually there are ten speakers, but this year on account of two having the same grade eleven were chosen. They are as follows: Anderson, Diggs, Dutton, Fithian, Lindeman, Miss Rodgers, Miss Grace Slifer, Miss Ruth Sprague, Stober, Weithaase, Wiltbank.

C. D. Koch, '98, spent Sunday at Williamsport.

Mr. John Cutler, an ex-member of the Class of '96, but now a student at Crozer Theological Seminary, has returned in order to graduate with the Class of '98.

The season of the year has at last returned, when Bucknell's Campus by its beauty bears testimony to the good taste of those who in the beginning chose a spot for the University.

After comparing our grounds with those of other colleges, we believe that we are safe in holding the opinion that our Institution has an almost ideal situation. But the pleasantness of our surroundings could not be maintained long, were it not for the uniform ability of those in whose the care of the grounds lie, and these officials deserve great commendation.

Does Nature and man fail in their endeavor to please our aesthetic feelings? We believe that in some way every Bucknell student should feel the refining and elevating influence of the Nature amidst which our college home is situated.

In the large cities, where folks have little chance to enjoy such scenes, the small public squares are considered real blessings by a heat oppressed and wall surrounded people. Why is our Campus, clothed in its old oaks, not more appreciated? Is it because the students give all their time to the attainment of that one object—Excellence in College studies? Results indicate that this is not entirely so. Many of the college people choose the streets of town as the proper place to spend or rather waste time not devoted to the regular routine work, the post office being very attractive, especially in the evening. Many however, believe that the book and the four dreary walls of their study rooms are the only fit companions at college. The result of a course of conduct of this kind is to produce a class of narrow ascetics, well acquainted with books, but totally ignorant of more practical things. The student body using the campus, during spare moments would become better acquainted with one another, thus making their education more practical, by gaining a larger view of human nature. True college students should be characterized by their power to adapt themselves to surroundings and of attaining more in life on this account. The recluse will hardly gain this essential quality. Let him get out of doors and enjoy the company of his fellows.

Enough to the students. One suggestion to the Institution—benches for use on the campus would greatly enhance the pleasantness of the place.

Wife and children of Prof. Robbins, '98, are Bucknell visitors.

Sausser and Parker made a trip a-wheel to Shamokin on Friday evening.

Prof. Philips visited his brother Rev. David Philips, at Minersville, last week.

Ernest R. Myers, '97, one of the first of Commencement visitors, arrived on Friday evening.

Dr. Hulley delivered the address before the graduating class of the Milton High School, Friday evening.

W. R. Morris returned from Scranton last Thursday, after spending Decoration Day with his parents.

Weymouth, '99, of Lock Haven, visited his parents over Sunday. He assisted in a musical entertainment at that place.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown, of Rochester, Pa., spent several days in town visiting their daughter Miss Emily Brown, of the Institute.

A Dinner to the Base Ball Team.

On Friday evening, June 3, the members of the base ball team were royally entertained by the Σ. A. E. boys at their chapter house, on the corner of 4th and St. George Streets, by a dinner given in honor of the successful result of the recent trip to Gettysburg and Mount St. Mary's. All the members of the team were present, and, according to their testimony, to simply say they had a good time, would be expressing it mildly. The players are very hearty in expressing their thanks to the Σ. A. E. boys, and regard the occasion as a fitting climax to the many enjoyments of the trip.

Band Concert.

The University Band showed their musical talent on Saturday evening. They rendered numerous difficult selections on the different corners of Market Street and were witnessed and applauded by a large crowd.

There is a project on foot by the business men of town to have the band render a musical program on each Saturday night of the term.

Y. M. C. A.

The best way to judge whether any church or young people's society is dead or alive is to find out what interest it takes in Missions. The missionary church is the live church; the church which does nothing for missions is either dead or dying. It is the same, also, with the Y. M. C. A.; and, in order that our interest in missions might not decrease, we have given the missionary committee charge of the next meeting. It will be led by Mr. Dutton.

One Method of Supporting a Team.

The problem of how to support athletic teams without the advantage of an enclosed field has proved to be a difficult one to Bucknell financiers, and judging from the current base-ball season, the out-look for the future does not seem very promising. However, we are pleased to find that all schools do not experience the same difficulty, as the base-ball team, during the recent trip, had the pleasure of playing before a body of students who not only support their teams, but subscribe so liberally as to leave annually a balance in the treasury. The management makes no pretension of charging admission, but simply takes up a collection during the game, depending entirely upon the generosity of the students, and it is an actual fact that while their team was losing to Bucknell more than double the amount necessary for the guarantee was collected. According to our ideas, this seems to be the best kind of "college spirit" and it will be a blessing to athletics at Bucknell when a little more of that very substantial variety is displayed here.

Private Gilchrist, B. U. '96, of Co. A. 12th Reg't Pa. Vols., is in Lewisburg on a five days furlough. He says that all the Bucknell boys at Camp Alger are well and happy.

It is most gratifying to the management of this year's L'Agenda to note the general interest which is taken in the debut of our book, as manifested in the anxious faces and eager questions of those thirsting for knowledge of its date of issue. We can assure you that this delay, to a great extent unavoidable, has occasioned us no less anxiety than it has caused the subscribers. However, we certainly hope that before this time next week L'Agenda, '99, will be in your hands.

We sincerely request that nobody ask for "time" in paying their subscriptions, since it will be almost impossible, in so short time, to meet all obligations, if subscriptions are not paid up immediately.

Academy News.

Willie Hoffa spent several days at his home in Washingtonville.

J. S. Hoffa and Bell took a bicycle trip to Allenwood Saturday afternoon.

Clyde Heddens went home Sunday morning on his wheel and returned yesterday.

The Fourth Form Commencement invitations have been unavoidably delayed, but are expected to-day.

Prof. Kauffman accompanied the Geology class on a geological expedition to Dale's cave on Saturday.

Evans, '99, preached to a large and attentive audience both Sunday morning and evening at Lindsey, Jefferson Co., Pa.

The Fourth Form boys are busy getting ready for Commencement. The class group picture was taken by Ginter & Cook last Thursday.

A telegram informed Barnes, '98, on Friday evening, of the death of his mother at their home in Bayonne, N. J. He left on the early train Saturday morning and will not return this term. The 'Cad boys unite in extending their heartfelt sympathy to their friend in his bereavement.

Institute Items.

Mrs. White spent Sunday with her daughter Genevieve.

Miss Kendrick and Miss Marguerite O'Donnell were Institute visitors over Sunday.

Mrs. Dora E. Spratt and her daughter spent Saturday and Sunday visiting the Institute.

Misses Carrie Devitt, Campbell, Harriet Vaughan, and Jeannette Shepard spent Saturday with Miss Frances Scott, at the home of the latter.

The "At Home," on Monday afternoon, proved fully as pleasant as the other affairs of the same kind and perhaps was even more enjoyed than usual because of its being the last of the year.

On Friday evening the Institute girls went in a body for a boat ride in the moonlight. They returned about ten o'clock and all reported a delightful time.

Paullin '95, received his diploma at Crozer last week.

All the boys are anxiously awaiting the arrival of the '99 L'Agenda.

Pitts is taking advantage of the pleasant weather and spends a great deal of his time rowing.

Bucknell Wins a Slowly Contested Game from Bloomsburg.

Shortell Pitches a Good Game. Garner and Weidensaul Make Difficult Catches.

In the baseball game Saturday our nine defeated the Normal team from Bloomsburg. A small crowd witnessed the game which tends to prove the lack of interest in athletics. The excuse may be war but it is hard on the association. The visitors put up a slow game and should have been shut out. Our team was in the worst kind of luck, twelve men being left on bases in seven innings. In the second when two men were out and bases filled, Shortell made a safe hit to left field, the ball hit Magee on the shoe as he was advancing to third, the umpire declared him out. In the third with bases filled Mulkie made an effective double play with Griffith and Geary. Garner made a phenomenal catch in the fourth; Landis batted a foul to the hill which "Kid" succeeded in landing on a run up among the crowd, he fell as he caught the ball but retained it in his hands. Magee puzzled the basemen in starting to second, and kept the ball busy while Garner slid home. In the sixth Weidensaul made a pretty and difficult running catch near the tennis court, being compelled to go through the crowd of deadbeats. In the seventh the centre-fielder misjudged Landis's hit, the ball rolling far in the field, the runner succeeding in getting home. As it threatened rain and the visitors were compelled to leave the field in order to catch the 4:47 train, the game was called at the beginning of the last half of the eighth. The score:

THE FESTIVAL.

Over Fifty Dollars Realized for Athletics at the Armory Saturday Evening.

As a Result of the Efforts of College Students and Friends.

The Festival which was held in the Armory on Saturday evening, for the benefit of the Athletic Association proved to be a decided success and those in charge are very well satisfied with the results of their labor. The weather was not exactly what one would desire, to assure the success of such an affair, but notwithstanding that fact, a very large crowd attended. The hall was beautifully decorated with greens and flags, and certainly presented a very inviting appearance. In addition to the usual pleasures attendant upon such an occasion, the Mandolin and Guitar Club, under the leadership of Mr. George Schilling, rendered the stay of those present more delightful, by their excellent music.

The Finance Committee takes this opportunity to thank all those who helped with their contributions, and especially the ladies, whose untiring efforts caused the success of the undertaking. The net receipts amounted to about $50.00 which compares very well with the amount realized at last year's festival. The Committee was made up as follows:

Mrs Nellie Marsh, Chairman, Mrs. A. A. Leiser, Mrs. Wm. Leiser, Mrs. Perrine, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Wm. Walls, Mrs. Gretzinger, Miss Gertrude Grant, of the Seminary, Miss Genevieve White, of College, Miss Eliza Bell, of Seminary Faculty, assisted by the Finance Committee.

Examinations.

Wednesday, 10.15 A. M., The Qualitative Analysis Class.

Wednesday, 2.00 P. M., the 10.15 Classes.

Thursday, 8.15 A. M., the 8.15 Classes.

Thursday, 2.00 P. M., the 9.15 Classes.

Friday, 8.15 A. M., the 11.15 Classes.

Friday, 2.00 P. M., the 2.00 P. M. Classes.

Saturday, 8.15 A. M., the 3.00 P. M. Classes.

After all the trouble taken to arrange and advertise the game with the Milton league team, the wet weather prevented its being played. However, the management promises a game with that team in the early part of next week.

The long looked for L'Agenda will be out this week for sure, and all subscribers are requested to procure their copies as soon as they arrive.

The Last Issue.

With this issue, the ORANGE AND BLUE brings to a close its year's work. The staff of the paper has never been in the habit of making retiring bows or of doing anything else that conventional and stereotyped college journalism require. We desire to speak of a more practical matter.

It is a constant source of wonder to many that Bucknell is able to get out a newspaper standing so high among college weeklies as ours does. The seemingly small attempt put forth by our founders a little over a year ago has been so far as circumstances would allow, a success. The weak way in which the financial side of the paper is supported, however, tends in no way to give to those in charge very great hopes of our being able to maintain the position we have gained.

In every student enterprise at Bucknell, the slim support given by the student body is the greatest drawback the leaders in the effort have to suffer. This fact frequently renders the labors of managers a hateful burden instead of a pleasureable recreation. It would be hard to believe that thirty-five per cent. of the money owed us is still due, yet it is the truth. Why should students show such scant courtesy to our editors and so little consideration to a business manager? Such a manifest lack of financial honor is to say the least, highly discreditable to a Bucknell student, as well as a reflection upon our institution.

Some will perhaps judge this a rather harsh criticism upon what they think is mere carelessness. But carelessness is no excuse when it retards the progress of any institution; when in the eyes of anyone it seems to bring disgrace on you.

Be the cause of slow payment or of no payment at all, what it may, common decency should prompt everyone who still owes money to clear this reproach from his name by an immediate remittance.

The manager will attempt to reach all who have not yet settled, before the end of this week. Remember, that to successfully operate any business we must have financial support.

(signed) BUSINESS MANAGER.

Notice!

All members of the Athletic Association are hereby notified that the regular spring meeting will be held in the lecture room of the Laboratory, at 10.15 A. M., Saturday, June 18. The purpose of the meeting is to elect the managers of the Base-ball, Basket-ball and Track teams, and the presence of every member is desired. E. C. CONOVER, Pres.

As this is the last issue of the Orange and Blue there are several things which must be mentioned as a reminder to the forgetters. We trust that every loyal student can say that he has done his duty in signing the petition to the Board of Trustees. The success of '98's foot-ball eleven depends upon the action of the Trustees as there must be some definite arrangement as to finances of next year. The debt of the association amounts to five hundred dollars and is still accumulating, with daily duns from the creditors. If the Trustees have the right college spirit they will pass the request of the students and make it a law. There are some who cannot possibly afford to pay $5.00 annually, but they are few, and the finance committee can make a dispensation in regard to these. In the arrangements for the Benefit Fair and Festival, a lack of interest appeared to be taken by those who should be most interested in the Athletics of the college. The work is left to a few and the majority look on and even will not give their support at the proper time. This should not be so, as those who now take part in preparation cannot be expected to keep up their enthusiasm. If we want the aid of the alumni and town friends all students must become active and push the different lines of work with greater zeal.

We have one of the best foot-ball schedules that has ever been arranged and if it is to be adhered to and every game played, there must be a change, for those who are in charge give warning now that they will not keep a foot-ball team on the gridiron if it is not supported.

Athletics is handicapped by an open field and each student should recognize this fact. If the association could obtain permission from the authorities to erect a fence, it could do so and be well repaid. A good board fence painted green on both sides would add greatly to the beauty of the campus, besides being a joy forever.

Now that the gymnasium instructor is in the army, a man should be chosen for that position who could coach the athletic teams besides giving gymnastic instruction. Exercise of students is most important; as health failing, the student lags and the college loses. It would be to the benefit of the Trustees to look into and think over this matter. It will be found that most colleges have such instructors who can look after all branches of outdoor work.

Professor Aviragnet not being able to go to Mt. Gretna, this summer, to teach the Romance languages, he has recommended Miss Aikin who will do the work in his place and who will be also the official pianist, a situation she had last summer at the Pennsylvania Chautauqua. The catalogue says: "Miss Aikin is an enthusiastic French student, and has taught the language with marked success for the past four years. As a pupil of Dr. Aviragnet, she uses his methods which made French such a popular study at the Chautauqua during the last Assembly."

Quite a number of Sunbury people witnessed the Bloomsburg game.

John Lesher, '97, was a noticed visitor at the Festival on Saturday night.

Christy, '00 spent part of his five days furlough among his college friends last week.

Miss Youngman, of Danville, is spending several days in town as the guest of Miss Clara Russel.

Bob McCay '96, of Jefferson Medical College, came back to see some old friends last Wednesday.

On Friday next Dr. Perrine will make the address at the Commencement exercises of the Keystone Academy, Factoryville.

H. Harris '95, was home on a five day furlough last week. Herb is a member of Williamsport Company G., 12th Regiment.

Mr. John Walls, an ex-member of the Class of '98, but now a student in the Boston school of Technology, is home for the vacation.

Walker '01 and Johnson '99 were elected Superintendent and Assistant Superintendent, respectively, of the Pinegrove mission.

Messrs. Engle, Weymouth, Rittenhouse and Packer went to Sunbury on Saturday, to attend the picnic and dance given by Miss Greenough of Philadelphia.

Owing to the illness of Pastor Judd, Dr. Perrine preached the Sunday morning sermon in the Baptist Church. Prof. Phillips occupied the pulpit in the evening.

Mr. E. Houghton, formerly of the University of Nebraska, but at present traveling salesman for the Morgan and Wright Tire Company, spent Sunday with the Σ. A. E. boys.

The University band received their new torches on Thursday and in the evening entertained the Seminary girls with a few choice selections. On Saturday night, they gave their usual weekly concert on Market St.

1900 L'Agenda.

At a special meeting of the class of 1900, Friday afternoon, the resignation of A. J. Sherwood from the managership of the Class L'Agenda was accepted. Rush H. Kress was elected manager with W. S. Holland as assistant. Mr. Holland resigned as chief artist; G. A. Grimm being elected for that position with S. F. Reed as assistant.

Carringer, editor-in-chief, requested a meeting of the Staff to be held in the Laboratory, Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Foot-Ball Schedule.

The following is the schedule which the manager has arranged for season of 1898:

Sept. 24th, Wyoming Seminary, at Lewisburg.
Oct. 1st, Open.
Oct. 8th, Naval Cadets, Annapolis.
Oct. 15th, University of Maryland, Lewisburg.
Oct. 22nd, Swarthmore, Lewisburg.
Oct. 29th, Lehigh, South Bethlehem.
Nov. 5th, State, Williamsport.
Nov. 12th Franklin & Marshall, Reading.
Nov. 19th, Lafayette, Easton.
Nov. 24th, Villanova.

Several games are yet to be arranged. U. P. has asked for Oct. 5th, but the management has decided that we cannot afford to play at Phila. for the guarantee of last year as we will lose money. What we want is the interest of all, and every student ought to return to college next fall with the determination of helping to put out the best team Bucknell has ever had on the gridiron. If you have any friends who will make foot-ball players, use your influence in getting them here. A successful season depends on every student individually. Now is the time to begin to win, and if you do not aid we do not want to hear the old song of "I told you so" if our opponents defeat us. As college opens Sept. 22nd, the players will begin preliminary practice about Sept. 10th; the place has not yet been decided upon but all candidates will be notified during the vacation.

Any person desiring to correspond with the Manager can address their letters to Lewisburg from where they will be forwarded. All communications will be promptly attended to.

The circulation manager of 1900 L'Agenda will see all seniors and those who do not expect to return to college next fall about their subscription. All who desire it mailed to them speak to Mr. W. S. Holland.

Euepia Society elected officers Friday evening as follows: Pres. Rentz; V. Pres., Stabler; Critic, C. J. Decker; Sec'y., Bidlespacker; Treas., Konkle; Sarg't-at-Arms, Reilly. All bills for the year are squared up.

Y. M. C. A.

Tuesday evening will close another year's work in our Y. M. C. A., and quite a number of those who have been with us for the past four years will at that time sever their connection with the Association. We trust that they have received something from the Association which has helped them during their course, and which will continue to help them throughout life. We have appreciated what they have done for us and the good advice which they have given; and desire, if in our power, to equal or surpass them in service.

The topic for the next meeting is, Character, self-built, God-built. A. M. Forrester leader.
